Faltering Jimmy Durante draws tear-filled accolade

NEW YORK (UPI) — There was the same huskiness in the voice but the words came out slower. The crushed felt hat was tilted to one side as always.

More than 1,000 people sat listening so silently that the slightest tinkle of glass seemed to thunder across the ornate Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria. Tears welled in the eyes of grown men.

Jimmy Durante came home to New York Tuesday and captured the hearts of his audience, as he has done countless times in 64 years of show business, but this time it was done with great effort and courage and, as always, a twinkle in his eyes.

Durante, who celebrated his 81st birthday last Feb. 10, is partly paralyzed in his left arm and left leg, the result of a stroke in November, 1972, that has confined him to a wheelchair.

He was the special guest at the Banshees luncheon, an annual event at the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

William Randolph Hearst Jr., whose Hearst Corporation is host for the lunch, presented the onetime Coney Island piano player with the Banshees' "Silver Lady" award in recognition of his long career.

Durante, seated in his chair on the main floor with a group of friends, spoke slowly in thanking the Banshees, where he had appeared numerous times in the group's 39-year history.

And then, in the glare of a spotlight cutting the smoke-filled room and with the Meyer Davis orchestra playing softly, he sang, starting slowly at first, faltering on some words, pausing before others and then, growing stronger.

First there was "Inka-Dinka-Doo," the song he used as his trademark all these years, from Coney Island where he started in 1910, on Broadway, radio and television in nightclubs and motion pictures.

There was a long, standing ovation and then another when Jimmy sang "Young at Heart."

"Thank You, folks," he said after each wave of applause, nodding, eyes twinkling.

Durante has shown some signs of progress in his recovery in recent weeks. He told a UPI interviewer earlier this year he still practices the piano a few minutes each day in his Beverly Hills, Calif. home.

His wife of 14 years, Marjorie, was with him at the luncheon of editors and publishers and she fought back the tears as her husband sang.

Carol Channing, the actress and singer, presented him with one of her glittering fake diamond rings and called him "the brightest diamond of them all."

Bob Considine, the columnist, was the master of ceremonies, and as the final round of applause ended he told those who may have seen Durante in his final public performance:

"Now you know the meaning of the word star."

Cancer blamed

Comedian Bud Abbott dies at 75

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — William (Bud) Abbott, 75, the skinny straight man to Lou Costello in one of the most famous comedy teams of the 1940s, died today.

Death was attributed to cancer, a family spokesman said. Abbott's widow Betty was with him when he died at 7 a.m. PDT.

Abbott had been in poor health for more than a decade after a series of strokes.

He finished his life living on Social Security after his savings from the huge sums he earned as a star were stripped from him by the government in a tax action in 1959.

Abbott and Costello spent much of their professional lives in obscurity until they achieved spectacular fame in the 1940s with routines which established them as the successors to Laurel and Hardy.

Costello died in 1959.

Widow tax law break upheld by high court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court upheld on a 6-3 vote today the Florida law giving widows, but not widowers, a $500 tax break on grounds that society is inhospitable to working women.

Justice William O. Douglas wrote the majority decision, citing the generally lower economic status of women as a proper basis for the law.

"There can be no dispute that the financial difficulties confronting the lone woman in Florida or in any other state exceed those facing the man," Douglas said.

"Whether from overt discrimination or from the socialization process of a male-dominated culture, the job market is inhospitable to the woman seeking any but the lowest paid jobs."

Douglas said the Florida tax law was "reasonably designed to further the state policy of cushioning the financial impact of spousal loss upon the sex for whom that loss is a disproportionate or heavy burden."

Justices Byron R. White and William J. Brennan Jr. wrote separate dissents, and Justice Thurgood Marshall endorsed Brennan's views.

Pomona School Board breaks tradition

Busing for D.B. students OK'd

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Pomona school board members voted 4-1 Tuesday night to contract with a private carrier to provide busing at 50 cents per day for Ganesha High School students living in north Diamond Bar.

The service, scheduled to begin this September, will break a district tradition of not busing students.

The vote, on a motion by Ken Pine and seconded by Philip S. Wessels, followed an appearance before the board by 15 persons from a near capacity audience. The meeting was moved to the District Education Center auditorium to accommodate the large attendance.

Race was introduced as an issue in deciding the busing matter.

Board chairman James Bell cast the single no vote. He made no explanation. However, Roy Day spoke before the vote was taken, explaining he would liked to have made the motion to approve the proposal, recommended by Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz.

"In no way does this situation remotely resemble the former situation (1972 when a busing integration plan was defeated in the district) and I resent the fact that racial overtones have been introduced here," said Day.

"Diamond Bar is an integral part of our district. They will be paying their way. There just cannot be any trickery in this plan. It is straightforward and well thought out."

Of those who addressed the board, by far the large majority were residents of Diamond Bar requesting the board to approve Wentz' plan.

In that category were Frank Skrah, president of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association, and Clint Parks, Ted Staley, Joe Larutta, Sid Rose and Cecil Hoover, directors or members of the association. Without exception they asked the board to "help us get our kids to school safely."

Mrs. Gene Bundy, a Diamond Bar mother, objected to the 50 cent fare and asked the board to "consider the family with four or five children." She said Diamond Bar has received "special treatment" the past two years, "we've got it right in the neck." She referred, of course, to the fact families had had to provide their own transportation and that it was costly.

Objecting was John Williams of Pomona, who said people living in Diamond Bar are part of the "flight" from Pomona and it seemed to him board members were conspiring with Diamond Bar residents to get busing.

Another opponent was Mrs. Dorothy Peters of Pomona, a parent. "If you bus," she told the school board, "bus two ways. We've got a whole lot of vacant houses in Pomona and the RTD (Rapid Tranist District) runs right through the tracts.

"They went to Diamond Bar to get away from us," she charged. "Let them stay up there and build their own schools."

In making his recommendation, Wentz pointed out that attempts to get RTD to provide service in Diamond Bar had failed, that the gas shortage had created a serious handicap for students who rely upon private automobiles, and that school hours differ from hours of most working parents.

"There appears to be no safe and reasonable route for students to walk or ride a bicycle to school from Diamond Bar," he said.

Also, the board decision to move ninth graders into the high schools in September will mean some 675 students, many unable to drive, will be coming in to Ganesha from Diamond Bar next fall.

Wentz said the district already was involved in providing transportation for Regional Occupational Education students.

He admitted he did not know how much above student fares it would cost the district to contract with a private carrier. "The difference could be as low as approximately $15,000 to a high of $40,000," he said. The answer would not be known until routes and hours of service were explained, he added.

LARGE RUSS CROWDS FOLLOW KENNEDY

Large crowds follow Kennedy on Russ visit

LENINGRAD, USSR (UPI) — U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy today mixed touring with campaign-like appearances in this former Czarist capital. He drew large crowds at the Hermitage museum, a turbine factory and whenever he stepped out of his limousine.

"This is just like Fitchburg (Mass.) the last week of the (senatorial) campaign," Joan Kennedy said as her husband plunged into a crowd outside a souvenir store, grabbing hands clutching at him.

The Massachusetts Democrat arrived Tuesday night from Tbilisi on the last leg of his week-long fact-finding visit to the Soviet Union. He spent his last full day in the country visiting a cemetery for Leningrad's war dead, the Hermitage, the Electrosila generator factory, where he lunched with workers, and the summer palace of Catherine the Great.

Kennedy and his wife placed a spray of red carnations at the Piskarevskoye cemetery, resting place for 470,000 Leningrad citizens and soldiers who died in the city's 900-day World War II Nazi siege.

Pomona teachers ask 16% salary increase

POMONA — Pomona's public school teachers Tuesday asked for a 16 per cent pay hike for 1974-75 in their initial wage proposals presented to the school board.

Along with the pay increase, the teachers asked that a 3 per cent anniversary increment be added to the regular salary at the 15th, 18th, 21st, 24th, 27th and 30th year of teaching.

They requested that the number of steps in the teacher salary schedule be reduced from 14 to 13 next year and from 13 to 12 in 1975-76.

They asked that the district pay a $300 bonus to teachers who hold masters or doctorate degrees.

They asked that teachers at the Children's Center be placed on the regular teacher salary schedule.

The proposals, along with an 87-page Memorandum of Understanding, were accepted for study by the school board.

The 16 per cent salary increase, if granted, would raise the district's minimum pay for teachers from $8,100 to $9,396 and the maximum from $16,200 to $18,792.

"We feel the adjustment requested is justified," said Judson F. Ellson, president of the Associated Pomona Teachers (APT).

"But while salaries are very important, they're not our No. 1 priority. Our No. 1 priority is class size."

Ellson said in order for teachers to do superior work, class size must be reduced "because with individualized

Dismissal of speed conviction booed

By JACK BURSON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The dismissal of a speeding ticket against a Claremont attorney just convicted of the violation drew boos from courtroom spectators here and criticism from the officer who had cited him.

But the action was defended Tuesday by Deputy Dist. Attorney Jack Garofalo. He said that justice would not have been served if the conviction had been allowed to stand. Garofalo's only criticism of the action was that it might not have been timely — that is, that the action which led to the dismissal should have been taken earlier, and not after the case had been tried.

The incident involved a speeding ticket given to Attorney William M. Shernoff the night of March 17. He was cited by California Highway Patrolman Tom Fitch, who charged him with doing 60 miles an hour in a 40 mile-an-hour zone. Shernoff was westbound on Foothill Boulevard near Mills Avenue when he was stopped.

The attorney testified Monday in his own behalf that he was hurrying home from a meeting after his wife had telephoned him, saying their son, Howard, 10, was ill. The youngster subsequently was admitted to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and remains there. His condition is termed fair.

In his testimony, Shernoff never denied that he might have been exceeding the speed limit, observers said. At the end of the testimony, Judge Robert C. Gustaveson said that since there was no evidence presented that Shernoff had not been speeding, and since there was nothing in the law to allow persons to speed under such a situation, he had to find the lawyer guilty. But he suspended the sentence.

A few minutes later, Garofalo appeared before the court and moved for dismissal of the case "in the interests of justice." He cited "severe mental distress" that Shernoff had suffered and Gustaveson granted the motion.

In appearing in the case, however, Garofalo replaced Deputy Dist. Atty. Kirk Newkirk, who had prosecuted the case and won.

Gustaveson said later that while he had been under no obligation to grant the dismissal, the DA's request, plus an investigation which showed the youngster was ill, caused him to dismiss the case in the interests of justice.

But CHP Officer Fitch, who testified at the trial, said Tuesday that the dismissal reflected poorly on the system. He said that his job is to enforce the law, which he had done, and whatever action is taken later is beyond him.

But, he said, he felt that an action to dismiss the ticket should have been taken before the trial, and the way it was handled in the courtroom "was an affront to the system, making everyone look bad."

Shernoff said Tuesday that he had been in a hurry to get home, because of his wife's call, and felt any citizen would do the same under the circumstances. He wasn't even in the courtroom when the case was dismissed, he said.

But, if he had it to do again, he would pay the ticket, he said.

$250 million for Egypt

Nixon proposes $5.1 billion for foreign aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today a $5.1 billion foreign aid program, including $250 million for Egypt to strengthen the "forces of moderation" in the Middle East.

The aid package for the fiscal year starting July 1 would include $1.5 billion in United States assistance to international development institutions. The rest would be for economic and military assistance.

The President also urged Congress to authorize an appropriation of $939.8 million to assist South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos in their efforts to shift their economies from war to peace.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger outlined the program at a meeting with congressional leaders and appealed for support on grounds that foreign aid "has become an indispensable element" of U.S. foreign policy.

The $250 million in assistance to Egypt would be used for clearing the Suez Canal, repairing the war damage in adjacent cities and restoring Egyptian trade, Nixon said.

He said American diplomatic initiatives in the Mideast had helped create conditions "necessary for an end to conflict and violence."

Of the Middle East in general, Nixon said, "the hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter century."

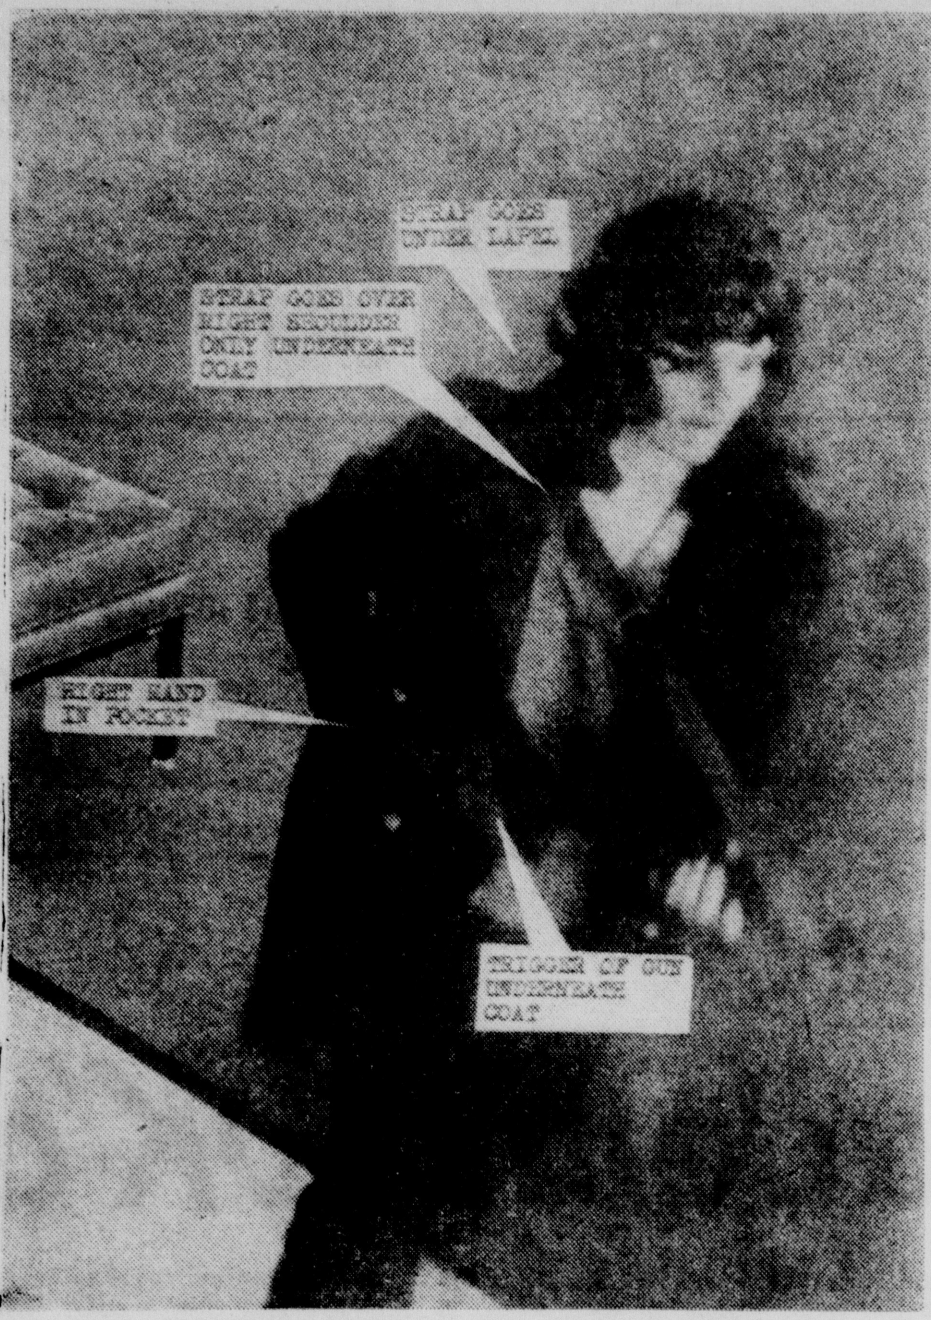
Besides the quarter-billion for Egypt, the President proposed to provide Israel $50 million for security support and $300 million in military credit sales to permit it to continue to defend itself and reduce the prospect of a new conflict.

He also asked $100 million in military assistance grants for Jordan, plus $77.5 million in security supporting assistance, and $30 million in military credit sales.

In addition, Nixon requested a "special requirements fund" of $100 million to be disbursed for new needs that may arise as the outlines of a peaceful settlement in the Mideast takes shape, including provision for peacekeeping forces, aid to refugees and development projects.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., had told reporters after Nixon's meeting with top congressional leaders that while the aid request was "a pretty tidy sum" and that aid was "unpopular with the country," he intended to support it. Mahon is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will consider the program.

Patricia unwilling bank robber, says expert



STRAP GOES UNDER LAPEL
RIGHT HAND IN POCKET
TRIGGER OF GUN UNDERNEATH COAT

HOW EXPERT VIEWS IT

Patricia Hearst was being forced to participate in the April 15 robbery of a San Francisco bank, says a photo expert after examining photos of the robbery taken by a hidden bank camera.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An authority on the 1970 Kent State shootings has decided by an independent study of pictures taken during a bank holdup that kidnaped Patricia Hearst was an unwilling member of the robbery team.

Peter Davies, a Staten Island, N.Y., realtor, said a careful study of the photos taken by a bank camera during the April 15 crime indicated Miss Hearst was being forced to carry an automatic rifle and participate in the crime.

Davies' conclusions were contained in a letter to the Hearst family which released its contents to newsmen Tuesday. The letter was turned over to U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr. with a recommendation it be submitted to the federal grand jury probing the Feb. 4 abduction by the Symbionese Liberation Army and the robbery.

Davies' analyses of photographs taken during the Kent State trouble played a key role in the recent indictments of National Guardsmen in Ohio. He also wrote a book on the shootings.

The letter to the Hearst family said: "The strap of the weapon (Miss Hearst was carrying) does not go around the back of her neck. Apart from the fact that this is a little unusual, that the strap should go over her right shoulder only, what makes it extremely significant is that her coat has been put on after shouldering the gun.

"Consequently, it becomes impossible for her to throw down the weapon without first removing the coat."

Davies also noted that the bank photos showed Miss Hearst with her right hand in her coat pocket.

"With her right hand in the pocket of her coat, how can she possibly get a finger on the trigger mechanism of the gun?" he asked.

Davies said her hand might have been bound inside the coat or strapped to the butt of the rifle.

In another development, FBI agent in charge Charles W. Bates said a tape recording and penciled notes claiming to be from the SLA were apparently a hoax. They had been received by the Sacramento (Calif.) Bee.

The messages said five California policemen would be killed for every SLA member slain.

Wage dispute

State workers mull next step

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Employes Association today studied possible actions, including a strike, it might take in response to Gov. Ronald Reagan's refusal to submit its wage-benefit proposal to arbitration.

Reagan Tuesday flatly rejected CSEA's request that the issue of higher wages and fringe benefits of state employes next year be submitted to arbitration. CSEA had warned that if Reagan refused, a strike vote would be submitted to its 110,000 members.

But after Reagan's rejection, CSEA President John Matheny said his organization "will not be forced into any precipitous confrontations by the governor's unreasonable refusal to submit CSEA's pay and benefit proposal to impartial arbitration."

Matheny said any CSEA action, including a strike, will be decided by its board of directors and taken only after a vote of CSEA membership. A CSEA spokesman said the group's emergency action committee is holding meetings to consider possible actions and will make recommendations to the directors. tors.

Reagan was asked at a news conference Tuesday whether he would agree to arbitration and he replied crisply: "No. I don't believe that we have the right to do such a thing."

The governor said in dealing in pay matters with state employes, elected officeholders as representatives of the people "must have the last word other than the people themselves."

"For the elected representatives to delegate their responsibility to someone else not chosen by the voters is to put into some arbitrator's hands the right to make a settlement that could result in imposing a tax increase on the people," Reagan said.

Reagan repeated a warning that any employe who struck would be fired "at the end of five days of unexcused absence."

CSEA has proposed a $190 million package for the next fiscal year starting July 1. Salaries would consume $110 million, an increase of 10 per cent.

Reagan has proposed a 2.7 per cent pay raise in a $90 million package split evently between salaries and fringe benefits.

However, the governor noted he included in the current budget almost $250 million for employe increases which the federal Cost of Living Council had withheld. The state Supreme Court last week ruled the workers were due $83.4 million in retroactive pay raises for this year.

Those same raises are contained in the proposed new budget, Reagan explained. "But on top of that, what it amounts to is the employes of California will be getting over the two-year period a 19 per cent raise."

Cincy has outbreak of whooping cough

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A whooping cough epidemic has hit Cincinnati.

City Health Commissioner Dr. William R. Elsea reported the epidemic Tuesday, saying there have been 36 cases — or suspected cases — of the contagious disease here since March 1.

Cincinnati usually has three to five cases a year.

Board of Supervisors' offer rejected

County employes threaten strike

A strike by 60,000 Los Angeles County employes including about 800 in Pomona, is expected Monday in the wake of the rejection of a 5½ per cent pay raise offered by the Board of Supervisors.

Victor N. Hochee, general manager of the county employes association, called the offer "unrealistic in the light of recent rises in the cost of living.

"We are willing to sit down and negotiate in good faith to avert a strike," he said. "But unless they come up with something more realistic, a strike willoccur."

The work stoppage by hospital workers, social workers, clerks and probation officers has been set for 12:01 a.m. Monday.

The employees, members of 36 unions and oganizations, are holding out for raises ranging between 8 and 10 per cent.

The county went up 1 per cent from its original offer of 4½ per cent Tuesday, but Hochee said that was far below what the employes sought.

"All we want right now is to stay in line with the rate of inflation," he maintained. "That means about 10 per cent."

The county employes also want a binding arbitration of their grievances, hazard pay for probation officers, and free parking for all employees.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said the demand of the employes was more than the taxpayers would stand for.

He said the 5½ per cent increase would add about $54 million to next year's county budget. To raise that much additional money, Hahn said, the county would have to levy an additional 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Hahn estimated that this would mean an increase of $8.49 in taxes on a home currently worth $24,000.

County personnel director Gordon T. Nesvig said negotiations were going on virtually without break around the clock with state conciliaators in charge.

Drug delays quads' birth, aids survival

CHICAGO (UPI) — Quadruplets, three boys and a girl, born to a suburban Evanston, Ill., woman were "doing very well" today, and doctors said a new drug which delayed their delivery by three weeks has "greatly increased" their chances of survival.

The infants, weighing between 3 pounds 1 ounce, to 4 pounds 2 ounces, were born Monday to Susan Katzen, 27, who had received injections of tiodrine hydochlordie, a compound developed in Europe and successfully researched at the Michael Reese Medical Center in Chicago.

Nader Bozorgi, a member of the Michael Reese team involved in the delivery, said the quads are now better equipped to ward off diseases common to premature infants because of their prolonged stay in the womb.

"The uterus is the best incubator there is," Bozorgi told a news conference Tuesday. "These babies were born with mature lungs because of the extra three weeks and are now much less susceptible to the respiratory diseases so often fatal to premature infants."

Mrs. Katzen, whose husband Larry is a certified public accountant, had been taking a fertility drug and experienced a normal pregnancy until the 32nd week when pain and contractions developed.

"We determined the babies would have a good chance to survive if birth was delayed until 35 weeks," the doctor said. "Within two days after the injection of the drug, the contractions ceased."

Flood waters drop in Canadian areas

By United Press Internaational

Widespread spring floods that have washed over Canada's prairie provinces, driving thousands of families from their homes and causing damages in the millions of dollars, have begun to recede in most places.

But some areas still face rising water levels.

Workers in Moose Jaw, Sask., where most of the downtown area was inundated, have begun to clear away piles of debris. Mayor Herb Taylor estimated damages in his city of 40,000 at between $8 million and $9 million.

Two airmen held in torture slaying of three hostages

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Two airmen were held today on suspicion of torturing five hostages with acid and shooting each of them in the head during a robbery. Three of the victims were killed.

A third airman was questioned but was released.

An 18-year-old girl was raped before she was killed in Monday's robbery at a stereo shop.

Police said the robbers jammed a pen into the ear of one victim and kicked it. The man survived the attack and was found walking around the shop with the pen sticking out of his ear.

The two men surrendered without resistance at their barracks at nearby Hill Air Force Base Tuesday night. They were identified as Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Trinidad, West Indies, and William A. Andrews, 20, of Jonesboro, La.

Ogden Police said the third suspect was questioned at the air base and voluntarily went to police headquarters where he was interrogated further.

The man was released. Police officials said he was "involved" but declined additional comment until consulting with the county attorney.

Police Chief Le Roy Jacobsen said Pierre had been a suspect in an Ogden murder last year but was not arrested because of insufficient evidence. Jacobsen called him a "vicious character" with a record of drug use.

The killers broke into the Hifi Shop Monday night, loaded several thousand dollars worth of stereo equipment into a van and then began the methodical torture of four employes and one employe's father — who blundered into the robbery when he went to the store to see why his son had not come home on time.

"It was one of the most ghastly, grisly things I've ever seen," said a nurse at a local hospital where some of the victims were taken. "They made the people swallow acid and then poured it on their bodies."

The acid apparently came from a basement repair shop, where it was used to make printed circuit boards for stereo equipment.

Boy, depressed by failure to save kin in fire, kills self

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kenneth Richardson had brooded for three weeks, ever since he was unable to rescue four of his relatives from a fire that destroyed the family's suburban Northlake, Ill., home.

Sunday the 14-year-old boy was found hanging from the top of a handrail in his home. He was to be buried today.

"I heard my brothers and sisters calling," Kenneth said in a note found near his body.

Kenny's mother, Edna Walker, said her son had been depressed since the April 1 fire that led to the death of his brother, two sisters and a niece.

At the time of the fire, Kenneth was sleeping in one of three upstairs bedrooms. He roused his half-brother, Thomas Walker, 11, and his sister, Deborah, 15, who also were asleep in on the second floor.

But the lad could not awaken another sister, Sandra Whittington, 19, or her 18-month-old daughter, Shannon, in the third bedroom, so he dashed downstairs to awaken his mother and another half sister, Loretta Walker, 9.

Smoke and heat stopped Kenny from returning to the second floor.

The second floor victims all died.

In his suicide note, which ended with the Lord's Prayer, Kenny asked that he be buried next to his brothers and sisters.

instruction, learning at many levels is going on in one classroom at all times."

APT executive director Delbert A. Pfeifer called the salary request "a hold the line proposal which would allow teachers to catch up on losses in buying power during the current year, make up for losses in 1973-74 agreements, and come up to the average maximum of 27 districts surveyed in Los Angeles County."

Pfeifer showed graphs which depicted a consistent drop in "disposable purchasing power" since 1970-71.

Teachers received a 10.75 per cent pay hike last year.

Administrators said to increase teacher salaries by 1 per cent costs the district $178,000. The district employs approximately 840 teachers.

Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz had said in the past that the district's ability to increase teachers' pay next year hinges on passage of Proposition T on the June 4 ballot, the 72-cent tax override which, if approved, would bring in about $1.5 million.

Rainfall boosts crops in county

LOS ANGELES — During March a number of rain storms in Los Angeles County greatly benefited agrcuiture, according to Ralph W. Lichty, county agricultural commissioner.

Citrus trees now are in full bloom, Lichty reports. The new growth looks excellent. No harvesting is underway except for a few lemons. Valencia fruit is well colored and picking will begin late this spring, Lichty said.

Some avocado trees are blooming and a few growers are harvesting a light crop of Haas variety.

Spring vegetable crops made good growth during March, according to the commissioner. Strawberry harvesting increased in tempo, but peak picks were slowed by the cool weather. Grain fields look excellent and some fields are heading out, Lichty said.

Sales of nursery stock continue on an ever upward spiral with the gasoline shortage playing a part this time as homeowners concentrate on their yards instead of travel.

3½ years standing in corner, unclaimed body awaits burial

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (UPI) — A migrant farm worker, whose unclaimed body stood in a corner of a funeral home for 3 ½ years, must wait a few more months for burial.

The body of James Evans, which was embalmed in 1970, and shows no signs of deterioration, has been in the Woodward Funeral Home since Sept. 22, 1970.

It was unclaimed until a few weeks ago when Evans' sister-in-law, Martha Evans, a beautician who was at the funeral home fixing hair of a deceased person, discovered by accident who Evans was.

Earl Alexander, manager of the funeral home, said Tuesday that Evans was a migrant farm worker who was 80 years old when he died. Alexander said the body was brought to the funeral home when no one claimed it at the hospital. He embalmed it, and prepared it for burial.

"For the last 3 ½ years, it has been upstairs, standing in a corner dressed, with a hat on," Alexander said. He said the funeral home placed the body in the corner to get it out of the way.

"It was convenient for us, you know," he said. "It was out of the way, and nobody was stumbling over it and it was just convenient for us."

Alexander said the body was so perfectly preserved that "we just decided to keep it."

Alexander said the sister-in-law had heard about the body and asked him if she could take a look at it.

"We took her up there and discovered it was her brother-in-law," Alexander said.

He said the burial services have been delayed until July 27 to allow family members in Texas, New Jersey and California to attend. He said the body has now been placed in a makeshift coffin in the funeral home's storage room pending burial.

He's surprised

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Robert E.L. Eaton, the national commander of the American Legion, says he is "very surprised" to learn of the resignation of a past national commander as head of the Veterans Administration.

Eaton referred to Donald Johnson in a statement Tuesday. Johnson announced Monday he will step down as VA chief.

Eaton said the integrating of about 7 million Vietnam era veterans into the VA system "under the stewardship of Mr. Johnson has been commendable."

Praise for Nixon

HONOLULU (UPI) — John S. McCain III, a Navy commander and for six years a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, praised President Nixon Tuesday for strides in foreign policy. McCain said he hoped Watergate would not overshadow Nixon's accomplishments.

"I believe the reputations of presidents most times are based on their foreign policy," he told a Hawaii Freedom Foundation awards banquet. "I hope we will not allow Watergate to obscure some of the wonderful things President Nixon and his administration have done for the country."

Cronkite a witness

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walter Cronkite was called as a defense witness Tuesday in the trial of two young gay activists accused of disrupting Cronkite's CBS Evening News program Dec. 11.

The network news anchorman answered a defense subpoena to testify in the criminal trespass trial of Mark Segal and Harry Langhorne in Manhattan Criminal Court.

While Cronkite was on the witness stand, a brief segment of the Dec. 11 news program was shown in the courtroom. It showed a person whose face could not be seen run in front of Cronkite waving a cardboard sign saying "Gays protest CBS prejudice."

At the time, Cronkite was reporting on security precautions for President Nixon, and in an aside said "perhaps we could use a little of that around here."

Burtons reuniting

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Liz and Dick are still reuniting.

A spokesman for Richard Burton said Tuesday that Burton will be released from St. John's Hospital today or Thursday, and at the same time, Elizabeth Taylor will join him, ending a vacation in Hawaii. Weds seventh time

MIAMI (UPI) — Jack Orr, 54, mayor of Miami's metropolitan Dade County government, has married for the seventh time, just three days after he disclosed he is suffering from lung cancer.

Orr married a secretary, Priscilla Frykholm, 31, of Miami, in a simple ceremony performed by a minister-real estate salesman Monday at Arlington, Va. The wedding was announced Tuesday in Miami.

Orr's sixth marriage ended in divorce in December after three months of marriage.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Singer Carole King, aided by her musician husband, gave birth at her Laurel Canyon home Tuesday to an 8-pound, 4-ounce son.

The delivery was by natural childbirth. Miss King, whose album "Tapestry" sold 12 million copies, and her husband, bass player Charles Larky, said they would name the boy Levi.

Miss King has three daughters, ages 2, 10 and 12.

Too much resistance

Proposal dropped

SAN DIMAS — Resistance sometimes dampens enthusiasm, City Councilman Marvin Ersher has decided.

Ersher decided Monday night to drop his proposal to change present methods of appointing Planning Commission and Parks and Recreation Commission members when he realized other members of the council didn't support his point of view.

Besides members of the council, Ersher also heard complaints of his plan from two former mayors, Thomas Nuss and D. F. Hooper.

Ersher suggested in a written memo to the council that members of major commissions should reflect the wishes of the people. He said this could be accomplished by giving recently elected councilmen the opportunity to suggest names of those to serve and the final selection would be made by vote of the entire council.

He suggested that the terms of members serving on major city commissions expire on May 31 of even-numbered years with the ratio of three-two with three expiring this year. Presently terms for the Planning Commission will expire at the ratio of one in August of this year, one in 1975, one in 1976 and two in 1977.

He also wanted persons interviewed by the council and possibly in public sessions to give citizens the opportunity to sit in on interviews as is the custom in some cities.

Ersher's final suggestion was to limit the terms of commissioners and city councilmen to two terms or eight years total.

Ersher said he wanted to make the appointment process more responsive to the people.

He said he felt planning commissioners should be reevaluated. "City Council members are elected every four years. Why shouldn't the planning commission be reevaluated?"

But he decided it would be "absurd" to make a motion for the council to accept the new policy suggestions after former mayors Hooper and Nuss both spoke against the changes and he had no support from other members of the council.

Hooper said Ersher's plan might as well "do away with the Planning Commission if it reflects the feelings of councilmen." He said the commission should be free of political influences.

Hooper defended the present system saying that the City Council always interviews prospective candidates for the Planning Commission. He also thought that the commission terms shouldn't be cut off at two terms.

He told Ersher he was trying to "tear down what took years to build up. We have a good system going and should keep it," Hooper concluded.

Nuss said Ersher's plan is a "distinct step backward" to enter any agreement where the commission would be beholden to the City Council.

"Although I didn't always agree with the Planning Commission, they gave us their integrity and enterprise and we (the City Council) made the political decisions," Nuss said.

Pause in impeachment probe

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the possible impeachment of President Nixon, halted that process long enough Tuesday to come to the relief of Marcos Rojos Rodriguez, who has waited 49 years.

On May 25, 1925, while he was picking potatoes for pay in a field adjoining Kelly Field outside San Antonio, Tex., Rodriguez, then age 13, found a bomb fuse and banged it against a wagon wheel.

It exploded and he lost a thumb and two fingers. His father, Juan, asked the Army for $3,000 damages. An Army board recommended paying $900.

A bill to compensate the boy's father for $900 was introduced in the 69th Congress in 1927 —and subsequently in the 70th, 71st, 72nd and 73rd Congresses and again in the 91st Congress in 1970 and the 92nd in 1971. It never passed.

Last Nov. 29, with no debate, a measure to pay Rodriguez $15,000 passed the Senate and went to the House Judiciary Committee whose claims subcommittee recommended cutting the award to $10,000 —the amount Rodriguez would now have had he received $900 in 1927 and invested it at 6 per cent interest.

Now the bill was before the full committee. Although the committee has been directed by a 410-4 vote of the House to inquire into whether grounds exist for the impeachment of President Nixon, it had not been relieved of its other duties.

So the members set aside their concern with Richard Nixon long enough to consider Marcos Rodriguez.

It took 10 minutes.

One member wanted to know why Rodriguez had not been compensated by Congress years ago if his cause was just.

"If we pass this bill," asked another, "are we setting a precedent?"

No one could explain the long delay. But the Army, charged with investigating, had recommended paying $15,000. It said it had had to go into the Archives to find records of the claim.

Another member asked how much it had cost the government to process the claim over all these years. No one was willing to estimate.

Then the committee voted by voice, with some audible opposition, to pass the bill providing $10,000, sending it to the House floor.

Then it adjourned. It meets again Thursday, to discuss the possible impeachment of a president.

MARILYNN O'REGAN

Woman in high Chicago police post

By PAMELA REEVES

CHICAGO (UPI) — When the 165 policemen in Chicago's traffic administration division say "Good morning, Chief," a woman answers.

She is Marilynn O'Regan, 53, a 26-year veteran of the force who was appointed to the $27,000 a year job last week in a shakeup of the Chicago Police Department by new Superintendent James Rochford.

It is the highest post ever held by a woman on the 13,750 member force, and one of the highest held by any policewoman in the nation, Mrs. O'Regan, one of only 185 women in the department, says she was "surprised and overwhelmed" by the appointment.

Her job title is deputy chief of the administrative group of the Traffic Division. That means she is in charge of a 165-man force which handles traffic court, traffic records, special events and traffic safety for department cars.

Men handle two other divisions of the Traffic Department which are co-equal to hers, and all three deputies report to Traffic Superintendent James B. Conlisk. Conlisk resigned as superintendent of the Police Department last year after a number of officers were indicted on charges of shaking down tavern owners.

Mrs. O'Regan, a friendly, soft-spoken woman, was administrative assistant to Conlisk before he resigned, and she stayed on in the same job when Rochford took over. When Rochford promoted her last week, he said she would be an example to other women.

"They will have the same opportunities as men have," he said. "Many more will follow her."

Mrs. O'Regan joined the department in 1948 when she was 26 years-old, taking a job as police matron.

"It just came naturally," she said. "My father, brother and several uncles were all policemen. I was the first woman in the family to join, and I can't say my dad encouraged me, but he did say, "If you take the job, do the best you know how."

Mrs. O'Regan, who met and married a deputy police commissioner (now retired) while working in the department, feels women have a definite future as police.

"For a period, it may be the department had lost sight of the value of a woman to the Police Department," she said. "But in the last two years, her value has been recognized again."

"There are some areas where women are just more effective, and many areas in which men and women working together are effective," she said.

Put a woman on an undercover investigation, she said, "and the element of surprise is there, because no one suspects a woman."

Thirsty train had passengers hunting water

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Hundreds of passengers had to get off a train to look for water when the locomotive ran out of water and stalled two miles from the Karachi station, a newspaper reported.

The newspaper said the train engineer forgot to fill the engine with water before he left Karachi.

The passengers borrowed buckets from nearby houses, filled the engine, and the train went on its way.

Informant's role laid to Bugliosi; probe askec

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — William Norris, Democratic candidate for state attorney general, called Tuesday for an investigation into whether his opponent, Vincent Bugliosi, was the mysterious informant in the William Farr contempt case.

Norris produced a deposition by Bugliosi's former assistant in the Charles Manson trial implying it was Bugliosi who gave the newsman a transcript which produced a senational story and led to Farr's going to jail when he refused to reveal his source.

Bugliosi was the deputy district attorney who prosecuted the Manson case. One of his aides was another deputy district attorney, Stephen Kay. Bugliosi has since left the district attorney's office but Kay still works there.

In a story for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner for which he then worked, Farr quoted a cellmate of Manson "family" member Susan Atkins that the sect planned to murder Frank Sinatra and other celebrities.

The information came from the transcript of a statement by the cellmate, Virginia Graham. Copies of the transcript were given to the trial judge and the three prosecution and four defense attorneys bu statement was never i duced into evidence.

Under pressure by Sup Court Judge Charles O Farr said that he receive information from two of lawyers in the trial but

Fire victim crusades for safer color TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man who lost his wife, mother-in-law and infant daughter in a fire believed caused by a color TV set told a government commission Tuesday the American public should be warned to "pull the plug" on such sets when they are not in use.

Peter B. Young told how he was dragged unconscious from his burning home in Summit, N.J., on Jan. 1, 1973, while his family perished—three of 14 persons who died in New Jersey last year in fires traced to color TV sets.

"It is sad but true that the world is apparently constructed in such a way that progress is usually achieved only after good people die," Young, a public relations man for an electronics firm, said in testimony submitted to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

After a parish priest told him during a hospita l visit "you never saw anything so blasted as your TV set," Young said he began a one-man campaign to try to alert the government and the public to the danger.

It was Young's telegram to the commission, after more multiple deaths occurred in New Jersey, that helped trigger hearings to which Young submitted his testimony today. The commission has decided to impose mandatory safety rules for the manufacture of TV sets and is holding the hearings to help it draw them up.

Earlier government reports have estimated there are about 10,000 fires related to TV sets every year. In the last part of 1973 and earlier this year more than 140,000 color TV sets, mostly portable models, were found with fire or shock hazards and were repaired or replaced by their manufactureers. The brands involved were Panasonic, Philco-Ford, Packard Bell, Montgomery Ward, Zenith, Admiral and RCA.

One frequently criticized feature of color TV sets is the "instant-on" device which, Young said in his prepared testimony, means that the set is not really off even though it's been turned off. The only way to be safe, Young said, is to pull the plug.

Kidnaper added to FBI list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted kidnaper James Elsworth Jones, whose victim was shot to death, has been added to FBI's list of most wanted fugitives.

Jones was already under a life sentence for the kidnaping of Leland Morris Davenport when he escaped from a county jail last October while awaiting trial on armed robbery charges.

The kidnaping victim, an 18-year-old college student, was abducted from a service station near Brookwood, Ga., on May 25, 1972. Davenport's body, beaten with a claw hammer and shot twice in the head, was found the same day near Martinsburg, W.Va.

Jones is described as 40 years old, 5 feet 8 inches to 10 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, blue-eyed and having brown hair that may be worn shoulder length with a mustache or beard.

Jones has a scar on his left wrist, a tatto of a heart and a word "Carol" on his upper left arm. He has used the social security number 199-26-9923 for jobs as an assembly line or electrical worker, roofer, salesman or truck driver.

Thought of marriage too much?

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — For nearly two decades, Domingo Gasca Araujo, 52, a shoemaker, had been promising Virginia Rosas Gonzalez, 42, that they would get married.

As time went by, Gasca fathered 17 children by her.

Last week the shoemaker, under increasing pressure by his older children as well as Virginia, finally agreed to be married on Monday.

Sunday night, as she made final preparations for the wedding and a post-wedding fiesta, Gasca went quiently into the bathroom and and killed himself with a bullet in the head.

CLAREMONT — The education department of Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden is sponsoring a workshop, conducted by Mrs. Marie Wilson of Claremont, dealing with "Nature-Related Crafts for the Teacher" this Saturday and May 4.

The workshop, held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. both days, will give teachers methods and ideas for using natural materials such as leaves, flowers and seeds for classroom projects related to art and nature study.

Mrs: Wilson served for 15 years as an instructor at Pratt Institute and as director of the Mexican Art Workshop at Tasco, Mexico.

The workshop will be conducted in the meeting room of the administration building at Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden at 1500 N. College Ave.

A charge of $15 will be made for the two sessions. Mrs. Wilson will supply all materials except small scissors which each participant will be asked to bring.

More information on the workshop may be obtained by contacting the botainc garden at 626-1917.

He'll get official word: he's dead

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Donald A. Helgerson, Immokalee, Fla., will get the word soon. He's officially dead.

Francis X. McCormack, clerk of courts, said he received a letter recently from Helgerson asking when his wife had divorced him. He said he had deserted his family in 1950.

McCormack checked the records and found Helgerson's wife, Josephine, had him declared legally dead by the court in 1957.

McCormack said he would send Helgerson a copy of the judgment with the note, "I don't know if you're aware of it, but according to our records, you're dead. We respectfully request you contact your attorney to re-establish yourself."

CHINO — The Chino City Council committed itself to a more than $3 million civic center development Tuesday night in adopting plans for new city hall and police facilities.

"This is the major redevelopment project for our core city," said Mayor Bob McLeod in urging its approval. "I think it's time to get it going— get it built."

The plans call for the construction of separate city hall and police facilities at Central Avenue and D Street. The buildings will be finished on the exterior, although some areas will be a shell only and set aside for future growth.

Architects for the project will be the Pomona firm of Cashion, Horie and Sata. The project is expected to be ready to go to bid late this year or early next year.

Under the joint powers agreement with San Bernardino County, the project would call for a bond issue of approximately $4 million at 5.75 per cent interest rate.

The annual debt on the bond issue would be approximately $320,000.

Financing of the annual debt will be based on the 25-cent tax override and redevelopment funds spread over an 11-year period beginning with the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The basic financial consideration before the council Tuesday was the commitment of the major share of the city's redevelopment funds over a prolonged period.

Under the present financial schedule, the project will absorb 72 per cent of all available redevelopment funds through fiscal year 1977-78. Thereafter, the percentage will decline annually to about 36 per cent in fiscal year 1984-85.

In terms of dollars, it means that the city will have $75,000 for other redevelopment projects in the coming year, and only $30,000 to $35,000 in each of next three years. In fiscal year 1979-80 the figure will have increased to $90,000 and will then double over the succeeding five years.

The decision to build the new facilities with unfinished areas for future growth was described by City Manager Bob Fast as "a good hedge against inflation and increased building costs.

In other action, the council approved a $150,000 expenditure to equip a new city well that is expected to have a capacity of more than double that originally projected. Fast told the council that because of the higher capacity, the cost of equipping the well had increased by about 40 per cent. Approximately $95,000 of the cost will be covered with federal revenue sharing funds originally slated for storm drain projects.

Hearing set for Chino Hills plans

SAN BERNARDINO — A general plan to guide the Chino Hills' future development will be discussed Thursday by the county Planning Commission.

The public hearing is set for 10 a.m. in the commission chambers, 316 Mountain View Ave., San Bernardino.

Planners had delayed acceptance of the plan at their Jan. 10 meeting pending formulation of an ordinance to regulate planned residential developments. This will allow the clustering of home or apartment units on properties having a mixture of flat land and slopes.

The planning staff began work on the proposed general plan in January, 1973. It encompasses a 40-square mile area generally bounded by the Corona Expressway and the Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange county lines.

In previous hearings, the low residential density proposed for much of the area has been both challenged and supported by area residents.

Owners of some large parcels oppose the suggested limitations since their plans include higher residential densities. Others, however, stated they moved to the area because of the low density and open space concept.

Should the commission approve the general plan, it will be sent to the county Board of Supervisors for further hearings and final adoption.

Scripps pair to speak at alum event

CLAREMONT — Daniel and Helen Horowitz, assistant professors of history at Scripps College, will be the featured speakers Saturday during the college's annual Alumnae Day.

The Horowitzes will discuss the impact of new kinds of indoor and outdoor space — airports, shopping centers, motels and amusmenet parks — on American culture at 11 a.m. in the Humanities Center Auditorium.

Other events include luncheon with Scripps President Mark H. Curtis in the Mary Routt-Frankel Dining Hall, an audio-visual presentation on "Scripps Revisited" by alumna Mrs. Farley O'Brien at 1:50 p.m. in the auditorium and tours of the Asian art collection of Honnold Library.

Dog poisoning cases rising

The Orange Belt Veterinary Medical Association is warning Southern California residents that an increasing number of dog poisoning cases are being reported due to snail and slug baits.

An association spokesman warned that pets should be kept out of the areas where the baits are in use and that the baits should be stored in an inaccessible place.

Although there is no antidote for the poison, if the animal is taken quickly to an animal hospital it can be saved in many cases. The first symptoms of the poisoning are rapid and shallow breathing followed quickly by a loss of equilibrium as the dog staggers about. This is followed by severe twitching and inability to rise.

Boys' Clubs offering film on Caribbean

UPLAND — The West End Boys' Clubs will present a travel film on the Caribbean Friday at 8 p.m. in the Upland High School auditorium.

The multi image presentation, produced by the Eastman Kodak Co., takes the viewer on a 76-minute tour among the major island groups of the Caribbean including, the Netherland Antilles, the American Virgin Islands and Jamaica.

The production involves the use of six slide projectors and a 16mm film projector.

Tickets for the presentation are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. They may be purchased at the Upland branch Boys' Club and at all Gordon Ayers camera shops.

Bugliosi

steadfastly refused to identify them.

All the attorneys were brought into court before Older and each swore under oath that he did not give the transcript to Farr.

At a news conference Tuesday, Norris distributed portions of a deposition given under oath April 15 by Kay in which he described a series of events that occurred on the day after the statement by Mrs. Graham was mimeographed for limited distribution.

Kay said that he gave a number of copies of the Graham statement to Bugliosi and that the prosecutor put them in a briefcase beside his desk. Farr was in the office at the time, Kay said.

Kay said he returned to Bugliosi's office about 10 o'clock that night and Farr was still there.

Three days later Kay said, Farr approached him outside the trial courtroom and handed him a brown manila envelope and asked him to "give this to Vince." Kay said he did not open the envelope but handed it to Bugliosi in the courtroom.

Kay said that at the noon break in the trial, Bugliosi asked him whether he had looked in the envelope.

"I said, no, I didnt' look in the envelope," Kay said, "and at some point Don (Musich, another deputy district attorney) came in and (Bugliosi) got real upset.

"He said that if either one of you asks for a hearing on the matter I will have you taken off the case."

Bugliosi, who was campaigning in San Francisco, issued a statement saying that the events related by Kay were false.

"First of all, I have never given Mr. Farr any transcripts during the Manson trial and Mr. Farr has never stated either publicly or privately that I did.

"Secondly, the events described by Mr. Kay simply did not take place and his statements are untrue."

Bugliosi said he "wondered" if Kay was not motivated by ambition and pressure from Joe Busch, Kay's boss as Los Angeles district attorney and Bugliosi's opponent for the office in 1972.

Norris said that he was releasing the Kay statement because he was a candidate for attorney general and that he felt it was his duty to make public information that casts "gravest suspicions concerning whether Vincent Bugliosi violated a court order and committed perjury."

"If he did, he should be disqualified from practicing law, much less be a candidate for attorney general."

Norris suggested an investigation be made by the state bar association, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger's office or Judge Older. Kay already had given the same information to Younger in December, 1972, but the attorney general's office did not pursue the matter.

Asked Tuesday about his testimony, Kay said: "I don't know what was in the envelope. That is what happened."

Farr was not immediately available for comment.

Methadone rule given L.A. County

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge told county health officials Monday to follow their own guidelines for ending treatment of patients on methadone.

Judge Campbell M. Lucas said the county should develop an appeals procedure for patients who are removed from the methadone treatment program against their will.

Acting on two class-action suits from persons dismissed from the program, Lucas stopped short of ordering the county to conduct full hearings before terminating patients.

While the county was ordered to review the cases of five individuals dropped from treatment, Lucas refused to order their reinstatement.

The plantiffs in the suit

The plaintiffs in the suit claim dismissal from the program without a hearing violates their constitutional right to due process.

Claremont policemen fight fire-fighting program

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Dexter Anderson, president of the Claremont Police Officers Assn., told the City Council Tuesday night that "to a man" local policemen cross-trained to fight fires — whether on or off duty — don't like the present mandatory program, but would rather see it continued or discontinued than be made voluntary.

The council had received a report from Fire Chief Robert A. Lee on the costs, strengths and weaknesses of the program, made mandatory in 1968 because the city didn't receive the desired level of response from policemen.

Although the council received a letter from acting Police Chief Charles Starcher that the "actual operations of the police department have not been adversely affected by the participation of officers in the CTO program," it is awaiting a report from Police Chief Charles Lines who has been on vacation.

Starcher said he believes a voluntary program would succeed. "Those officers that would participate would be more active, better trained and motivated," he said.

Noting that the expenditures for the cross-training program for calendar 1973 were $29,460.75, City Manager Keith Mulrooney explained that problems encountered were inadequacy of on-duty response, inadequate response from off-duty officers, training and attitude.

He said that although the first-alarm agreement with Pomona has been very helpful in supplementing Claremont's manpower, Claremont still needs the program or an equivalent to provide supplemental manpower for the local fire service.

In his report, Lee explained that the council in 1967 began cooperative fire-police fire suppression program primarily because of the high cost of additional manpower for the fire department.

At first the program was voluntary for policemen to be trained as firefighters, but as the number of volunteer officers declined because of promotions, resignations from the program, and terminations from the department, and as the number of mandatory officers increased, attitudes toward the program seemed to dimniish in enthusiasm.

Lee said that response from off-duty cross trained officers has been poor during the entire life of the program and is one of its major weaknesses.

Lee said the police department workload seems to have increased to the point that sufficient cross-trained personnel are not available for fire suppression work.

Of the 221 fire calls requiring response in 1973, in 27 cases a cross trained did not respond, Lee reported.

Mulrooney said he believes that other cities in the Pomona Valley are going to have good reason, with federal legislation calling for a 40-hour work week for firemen, to re-examine a valleywide fire protection plan as was discussed in 1971.

Mayor Bertye Smith said she feels very strongly about discussing with neighboring cities the feasibility of such a valleywide agency.

Mulrooney said the major alternative to the cross-trained program is to work toward a valleywide fire department administered under a joint powers agreement.

Anderson told the council that the Lee report doesn't reflect the policeman's attitude towards the special program.

He recounted how a policeman must work his eight-hour shift, then go through a four or six-hour fire training session, and be on call when he is off duty.

He said that the cross-trained officers don't feel the program is conducive to good morale.

Officer Bob Brinegar told the council he has had two days off with his family in the past month.

Officer Bob Hamilton explained how a police officer may have persons under observation and yet be called to a fire before he has made any arrests. He said that those instances are not reported through the dispatcher.

Pomona's mutual aid agreement with Claremont only extends to fire calls south of Scripps Drive. North of that street, when a fire breaks out and all on-duty manpower is involved, off-duty cross-trained officers are recalled, and Lee reported that response from them has been poor.

The council encouraged the officers to put their attitude towards the program in writing and to forward letters to Mulrooney.

At the beginning of the discussion, Mulrooney stressed that anything to do with salaries should have nothing to do with the discussion Tuesday night.

He recommended that the council refer the matter of improvements in the effectiveness of the program to the staff for recommendations and to the labor negotiations team for inclusion in the present round of discussions with the police association.

Farewell dinner for Cox planned

POMONA — Former Mayor Arthur H. Cox, described by civic leaders as the "epitome of the good citizen," will be honored at a farewell dinner Friday at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

Cox, who was the city's chief executive officer from 1953 to 1961, was the third person to hold the office for four terms. The others were James K. Pettit, 1941 to 1949, and W. A. Vandergrift, 1913 to 1921.

Cox recently resigned as president and member of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District to accept a position as chief loan officer for a savings and loan association in Auburn.

The community dinner will be sponsored by the Pomona City Council in association with the Friends of Arthur H. Cox Committee, the executive members of which include Mayor Ray J. Lepire, Charles Stillinger, Robert Lewis, Currier Thatcher, Jerrold Gonce and Robert E. Oaks.

Lynn Rountree will be the master of ceremonies.

Coordinator of the dinner is Frederick W. Sharp, Pomona's executive director of redevelopment who is retiring Sept. 1. Tickets for the dinner at $5.50 per person may be ordered by calling 620-2067.

The lodge is at 1471 W. Holt Ave.

Checkpoint official checks on his payment

Last November I responded to the pleas of the Baja Sports Committee by working as a checkpoint official for the famed Baja 1000 off-road race from Ensenada to La Paz.

The Baja Sports Committee promised to pay all expenses that I would incur. All I had to do was obtain receipts and after the race turn them over to the committee for a refund.

I have done this and have sent follow up letters to no avail. I am out $181.50 and a lot of donated time. I have found out that some of the class winners have not been paid either.

Maybe you can help. — W. W., Pomona.

Promises and an announcement of a 1974 Baja 500 to be held June 5, 6 and 7 were all we got from the Baja Sports Committee.

Juan Jose Hernandez Limon of the committee said the Baja 1000 didn't make any money but as soon as a new budget was approved and new financing obtained, all obligations would be met.

He reported that all direct participants had been paid and that you and other checkpoint people are next.

I moved to an Upland mobile home park in June 1973.

In the past winter my awnings leaked and I have been trying to get the people at Admiral Awnings, Inc., to fix them.

They have fixed the south awning so it doesn't leak but those on the north side and the west porch leak terribly. Soon I'll need to replace some carpeting.

Even when we have a dew, the water runs down the side of the coach and gets the carpet wet.

A friend told me you would help me. Please do. — R. M., Upland.

Norman D. Carpenter, sales manager for Admiral Awnings, said that your awnings would be resealed. He couldn't give an exact date because the company tries to schedule service men by area.

He explained circumstances faced by awning companies.

"Each and every mobile home manufactured today," he said, "has a different configuration at the roof line where our awnings are attached. Due to these differences, it is very difficult to design one awning hanger that will guarantee a perfect seal in every case.

"Also, it is common knowledge that all mobile homes, due to weather and ground condition, will move periodically. This also makes it extremely difficult to guarantee a perfect seal."

He said Admiral Awnings makes "every attempt" to eliminate this problem common among awning manufacturers but it is not always successful.

Martin added that the building code classifies mobile home awnings as portable structures and they are not required to be totally leakproof.

He cautioned that responsibilities for resealing awnings belong to the customers after they have lived in their home for a period of time. However, he announced that Admiral intends to maintain as many satisfied customers as possible.

We ordered a watch from an Orange County firm through a magazine advertisement nearly 2½ months ago. It cost $20.95.

We still have no watch although we've already paid for it.

Could you please find out what happened? We have written and telephoned without result.

We don't know what to do anymore but wait and hope the company isn't stealing our money. — Mr. and Mrs. S. K., Pomona.

We wrote to the company and received a note a month later stating that the watch had been sent to you.

A note from you confirmed that you had received it. You refrained from saying, "It's about time!"

First class welcomed at Child Care Center

POMONA — A five-year effort to bring child care services to Cal Poly ended successfully Monday as the university's new Child Care Center welcomed its first group of 13 children.

Located in a former horsetrainer's adobe residence on campus, the center is a joint venture between Cal Poly and the Baldy View Regional Occupation Program (ROP), a federally funded organization which will use the facilities as a training center for up to 15 high school and adult students in child care practices each quarter.

In turn, Cal Poly will offer extension course credit for ROP trainees, which will partially fulfill requirements for a day care center certificate.

The center, developed with the aid of a $5,000 grant from the Associated Students, Inc., and a $300 gift from the Cal Poly Women's Club, can accommodate 20 children during each of two sessions from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily.

Services are more extensive than mere babysitting. Children are given instruction and training in such activities as creative music, language skills, social and physical development, basic arithmetic and time concepts.

Children of undergraduate students have first priority for admission, then children of graduate students and then of faculty and staff. The children must be between the ages of 3 and 5 and be toilet-trained.

Fees are based on a sliding scale, adjusted to the parents' income.

The development of the center was spearheaded by Cal Poly's dean of women, Dr. Mary Etta Steele. The newly appointed director is Cynthia Fiore, an instructor in early childhood educational and management at Los Angeles Harbor College in Wilmington and El Camino College in Torrance.

She is assisted by a half-time credentialed teacher, a full-time aide and a number of student trainees.

Opinion

Coal mines are no boon

One of the most intense legislative battles currently being waged in Congress is centered on an amendment to an omnibus land reclamation bill sponsored by Democratic Rep. John F. Seiberling of Ohio.

The basic intent of the amendment, which is now before the House Interior Committee, is to equalize the costs of deep coal mining and strip mining. This would be achieved by levying a fee of $2.50 on each ton of coal mined by either method. The fund would be set aside for reclamation.

Companies could earn a credit of up to 90 per cent against the fee for costs incurred by their own reclamation efforts, but by the nature of their operations, strip-miners would be harder hit than deep-miners.

Without some equalization, however, Seiberling contends, there will be a massive shift of the industry from the east, where most deep mines are located, to the West, where cheaply recoverable coal lies close to the surface.

Not only would this further disrupt the already hard-hit coal economies of Appalachia, but it would lead to the ravaging of vast areas of the West. It would mean, quick, huge profits for the western miners, says Seiberling, but at the cost of the collapse of the deep-mining industry. Deep mines will be needed again as early as the end of the century after the western resources are depleted, he predicts.

"The difficulties of rebuilding the industry from scratch, in order to continue our reliance on coal, will be enormous."

Seiberling's opponents, who include major electric utility, oil and railroad companies controlling western coal reserves, warn that his amendment would cripple efforts to make the nation self-sufficient in energy. The Nixon administration agrees with them.

Former Federal Energy Office chief William E. Simon, now Treasury Secretary, has expressed "great alarm" at the amendment. It would, he charges, result in a 50 per cent increase in the price of clean-burning, low-sulfur western coal that is desperately needed to replace high-sulfur eastern coal, would have severe impact in the conomy and would undermine efforts to offset oil shortages by greater use of coal.

"This is unthinkable," says Simon, "given our present energy crisis."

Oddly, the near 100 per cent increase in the price of petroleum that Americans have experienced in recent months has not only been thinkable to Simon but in his view has been eminently beneficial.

Countering Simon and supporting the amendment is Norman R. Williams, a consultant to the interior Committee. There is still plenty of low sulfur coal in the East, he says. Also, eastern coal burns much hotter than western coal, thus "substantially more western coal will have to be mined, shipped and burned to produce the same amount of heat value as a similar amount of eastern coal."

Not only would we be in the anomalous situation of importing coal into one of the richest coal regions on earth but we would be wasting expensive diesel fuel to do it, says Williams. Moreover, when transportation costs are considered, western coal might in some cases actually cost more than eastern coal.

These are some of the major arguments on both sides. Whatever the resolution of the great coal controversy, there is no argument that it will have significant impact on the lives and life-styles of the ordinary American consumer, who ultimately pays all the bills.

Golda's goodbye

The resignation of Golda Meir as Prime Minister of Israel was called unexpected, but it probably was inevitable. Strong-minded and strong-willed as she is, the seething Mideast situation and the dissensions within her own party over blame for the successful Egyptian surprise attack last October, were enormous burdens.

A time has to come for every great political leader and as Mrs. Meir, at 75, put it in her announcement to the Labor party parliament faction:

"This is an inevitable step for me. This is a burden I no longer want to bear. Don't ask me to change my mind. This is final."

The burden included the bitter problem of what to do with Moshe Dyan, defense minister and scapegoat of those who sought to place blame for Israel's unpreparedness in the October war. His refusal to resign precipitated Mrs. Meir's step, which will force a complete realignment of the cabinet. She saw that as the better way to solve a dilemma involving the man who was such a hero in the past.

The power struggle that is bound to ensue is a cause for worry, of course, even though by law the Meir government will carry on in a caretaker capacity until a new government is welded together or elections are held.

Mrs. Meir has been a great political leader, however, and the strength of purpose and diplomatic skill she has demonstrated will hopefully still give guidance and be a powerful spur toward unity in a nation that is the keystone to a viable and vital peace in the Middle East.

Mafia taking a beating

WASHINGTON — As evidence perhaps of the cynicism about corruption in high places, we are frequently asked whether the Mafia is really manipulating the government from behind the scenes.

We have responded that the Mafia has no influence in Washington, that the Justice Department's task forces have been cracking down on organized crime. Now we have seen evidence in a secret General Accounting Office report that the courts, too, have been harsh on Mafia mobsters.

The roster of crime lords, who have wound up in federal prisons, should lay to rest any idea that Mafia membershp pays. More than 800, including some prominent "godfathers," have drawn prison sentences since 1969.

To cite a couple of examples, a kingpin of the "French connection," Auguste Ricord, is sitting out his life in a federal penitentiary. Another top Mafioso, Aniello Dellacroce, just finished an income-tax sentence in the Atlanta pen. A few days before his release, another Mafioso leader, Frank Valenti, was locked behind federal bars.

The GAO study shows that, despite high-priced lawyers and highly placed friends, a crime syndicate figure can count on going to jail after conviction 54 percent of the time, compared with 49 per cent for ordinary criminals.

Not surprisingly, the syndicate mobsters come before federal judges for sentencing most often on charges of extortion, racketeering, threats, gambling, embezzlement and fraud. For these crimes, Cosa Nostra criminals get longer sentences than do garden variety hoods.

For non-Mafia criminals, an average sentence for embezzlement and fraud is 18 months. But for a Mafia man it is 28 months. For the other crimes, a common hoodlum averages 35 months, the syndicate criminal 41 months.

On narcotics convictions, the syndicate pushers get an average of eight years compared to six for non-Mafia peddlers. Theft and immigration charges also bring longer sentences for organized criminals.

Nowhere in the federal crime spectrum, with the possible exception of assaults, do Mafia mobsters get a better break than common criminals.

Footnote: Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., who requested the GAO study, had feared that federal sentences for the Mafia might be light, as appears to be the case in some state courts. A few state judges, particularly in New York, seem lenient on crime syndicate figures. But in contrast, the federal courts in New York have been even tougher on the crime lords than the national average. On narcotics, for example, Brooklyn federal judges are the roughest in the land.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Sources who have listened to the White House tapes say they were shocked at President Nixon's gutter language and vicious cracks. His profanity had the flavor, they say, of the dialogue in the ribald movie, "The Last Detail." He assailed those who displeased him with ugly invective. In a telephone conversation with ex-Attorney General Richard Kleindients, for example, the President called antitrust chief Richard McLaren a nasty name but later appointed him a federal judge . .

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told confidantes that he received a scorching from Kremlin leader Leonid Brezhnev at their last Moscow meeting. In the strongest language Kissinger has heard from him, Brezhnev castigated United States moves in the Middle East. Kissinger predicted in advance that the Soviets would encourage Syrian shooting on the Golan Heights. Kissinger has done his best, meanwhile, to appease the Kremlin . . .Sources close to the investigation of ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally can't understand why he would pocket $10,000 in milk money, as alleged, since he is a millionaire. Of course, Connally has vigorously denied that he took the money. But at the time of the alleged bribe, White House sources have reported, Connally was complaining that he had to borrow money to avoid selling off investments. His low government salary wasn't enough, he grumped, to keep up with his high living expenses . . .

Nixon in command of his own case

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is telling his top aides he does not expect to be impeached.

Insiders say that Nixon reflects this optimistic attitude during musings with his closest coterie of advisers while charting the strategy of his defense.

Furthermore, the President appears to be in command of his own case before the bar of public opinion.

Up to the present, Nixon's scenario has been to "fight like hell" and then cave in when outside pressure becomes too hot and heavy.

Although they have not had much clout up to the present time, there are some White House aides who have argued all along that Nixon should fight for the principle of confidentiality all the way to the Supreme Court. Under that strategy he would refuse to turn over any tapes or documents. Both the White House and the House impeachment panel agree Congress has no power to force Nixon to be more cooperative.

But an outright rejection of demands for evidence could have severe repercussions on Congress and rally support for the opposition.

The hardliners in this area are taking an "I told you so" attitude. True to their predictions, the committee and special prosecutor Leon Jaworski have asked for more and more evidence as time goes by.

They believe the demands could have been safely rejected.

The President and his spokesman insist they are "cooperating" in a almost impossible task of gathering the material. One tape alone took eight hours to transcribe.

But Nixon apparently does not want a Supreme Court confrontation at this time. He has stopped short of it in every case.

Although presidential aides believe time is on Nixon's side, there are others who see it as exactly the opposite. As weeks go by, the whole process of impeachment has become more familiar to Americans where once it was viewed as a horrendous step.

Besides weighing his options presented by his own aides, pressure is increasing from Republican leaders and personalities for Nixon to cooperate fully with the inquiry.

The GOP leaders, after losing four out of five candidates in special elections, fear that the Watergate albatross will affect the fall congressional races.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford has been particularly vocal on the subject —that Nixon should cooperate with the impeachment investigation.

Former housing secretary George Romney told a Richmond, Va., audience that Nixon must have known what his 1972 reelection campaign staff was doing at the time of the Watergate break-in.

Romney was the first former administration official to imply that Nixon "cleared all actions" of his staff and may have been aware of the planned burglary.

Even those in officialdom who still staunchly support Nixon's assertions of innocence, wonder at his judgment and question how the President could have been so unaware of events that now have some 30 of his closest confidantes and associates under indictment, on trial or having pleaded guilty.

But no one questions Nixon's courage in the face of nearly overwhelming odds that would have caused a President of perhaps lesser stamina to bow out.

Nixon himself has called his ordeal "pure hell."

A simple situation

I myself see no objection to holding of another rock concert at Ontario. It is certainly a simple situation. While we old people may deplore the ugly incidents that took place we certainly cannot stand in the way of clear-eyed grass-puffing youth in such matters. Therefore let them go ahead and have their fun.

The past experience makes certain beyond a doubt that if another such concert is held certain things will inevitably result. Therefore let the organizers and promoters of such a future concert include in their budget a provision for ample security forces to see that they are not repeated. In the unlikely case that they do not do this they will certainly be more than willing out of their more than ample profits to reimburse those for monetary and punitive damages who have had their property defaced or defiled and who have, as a natural recourse, filed suit against them.

Thus everyone will come out ahead. The dirt-and-degradation culture will have had its fling. The promoters will have made a bundle in the good establishment tradition. And many citizens of the Ontario area will have been temporarily enriched, thus boosting the Ontario economy which has been sagging lately. Nobody loses. Sounds to me like a good deal. What do you think? — Philip A. Hastings, Pomona.

Nader's demands

Ralph Nader (Cal Poly, April 19) was remarkable not so much for his negative as for his positive attitude. It surprises me that someone who paints such a grim picture of the pitfalls of the American economy and political scene should stress so repeatedly the potential power of voter control of the Legislature and Congress.

And what revolutionary demands did he make of big business? Only that companies 1. obey the law and 2. reresist "corporate socialism" by competing like small businesses, without government support, in a return to a true free enterprise system. —Jean Bayne, Claremont.

Gossip for today

There's an oft repeated statement that, "Crime doesn't pay." To which might well be added: And neither do most criminals these days. Certainly not the smart operators who are convinced that the longer they put off paying for their sins, the better off they are going to be. And they have good reason to believe that it is only the poor deluded squares who pay up on time for thus far this belief has never failed them. They know that eventually the bleeding hearts will come to their rescue. The trick is to just wait things out until something similar to a "No Penalty on Overdue Traffic Tickets Week" or a "Fine-Free Week for Overdue Library Books" as announced. And if worst comes to worst, they can always follow the sure fire system being used by more and more of our politicians when their crimes finally catch up with them—just plead guilty on one count and have the other three counts dropped.

Stans: a case of misused talent

WASHINGTON — One of the sadder figures caught up in the great maw of Watergate and related issues is former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans.

This is said without in any way trying to pass judgment on the degree of his involvement either in Watergate directly or in such other matters as the Robert Vesco influence case. In this latter, of course, he and former Attorney General John Mitchell have undergone many weeks of formal trial for conspiracy in a New York federal court.

If the official judgments on Stans' conduct finally are harsh, some psychologist surely will be willing to step forward and say: "He had it in him all the time."

Nevertheless, up to the moment of a breaking point (assuming there was one), Stans seemed to countless people, and this includes numerous government insiders, a man beyond reproach.

It is widely accepted that, having served President Nixon heavily as campaign fund-raiser from as far back as 1966 when the task was barnstorming the nation to help elect more U.S. congressmen, Stans took on the 1971-72 money-raising assignment with easy willingness.

He did not. He saw an impropriety in a former cabinet official going back to the cash circuit. And he tried to escape the assignment, in vain. The pressure was kept on him, and he yielded.

There is terrible irony for Stans that he is in such deep trouble today over money matters. Funds to finance Mr. Nixon's 1966 roamings for congressional bidders were not easy to come by. Standing out against any real help was former GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss. But Stans not only proved his skills, he husbanded the collections with scrupulous, tight-fisted honor. He didn't even want to let money go for an election-night party at New York's Hotel Delmonico.

After a 1968 presidential campaign from which the Republicans emerged without a penny of debt, Stans, however, encountered what is surely his greatest disappointment in life.

He wanted very much to be Secretary of the Treasury. A New York financier with a long background in accountancy (part of it as a federal court accounting aide in Chicago), he served — evidently well — as President Eisenhower's budget director in the 1950s. He felt qualified, and deserving.

But the banking community thought Stans lacked stature for the cabinet post. Mr. Nixon, notwithstanding heavy obligation to him, accepted the veto quickly and named the recommended Chicago banker, David Kennedy. He turned out to be one of the early failures in the administration.

Stans, shunted to his secondary post at Commerce, watched a succession of others get the job at Treasury he coveted. Cruelly, he was wholly left out of the secret talks at Camp David in mid-1971 which led to the President's imposition of foreign trade and domestic economic controls on Aug. 15 of that year.

By then he knew he would never make Treasury. This was the very reason he agreed to get out of government and go to fund-raising again. Maybe a stronger man would have resisted. Stans didn't. Some combination of pressure and appeals to loyalty worked. Mr. Nixon chews up people by the dozens. And he has never uttered one public sound in Maurice Stans' defense. So his fall — and it is a fall — may be one of the real tragedies of the Watergate mood.

YOUNG ENVIRONMENTALISTS

Shaun Berosik, left, of Pack 311; Mark Owens of Pack 312; and Clint Goodwin of Pack 332 pick up rubbish and debris in a Montclair field. The boys will join about 70 others in a Cub Scout effort to "Save Our American Resources."

Montclair cubs to launch litter cleanup drive in city

MONTCLAIR — Four Cub Scout packs here will participate in a cleanup campaign Saturday as a part of a national ecology effort of the scouting organization.

Cubmaster Pete Rice of pack 311 reported that Cub Scout packs 311, 314, 312 and 332 will scatter throughout the community collecting rubbish, debris and bottles.

The local cleanup will be part of a national activity of the scouting movement, labeled S.O.A.R. "Save Our American Resources."

Approximately 70 boys are expected to take part in the pickup. It will allow all the opportunity to earn G.I.F.T. (Get Involved for Them) patches. The cost of the patches which are offered in an ecology series to run through 1976 will be underwritten by Montclair Plaza business persons, said Rice.

The local endeavor has received the support of Mayor Harold Hayes and City Administrator Lauren Wasserman.

Rice listed possible cleanup sites as the 40 or so acres behind the Mayfair Shopping Center at Central and Benito avenues and the area around the medical building complex near K-Mart on Central.

The boys, Larry Young, co-chairman of the event, Cubmaster Fred Rumsey of pack 314, Cubmaster Larry Welch of pack 312 and Donna Myers, committee chairman for pack 332, will gather at the Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor parking lot at 9 a.m. Plastic bags, furnished by Hohnstein Disposal Service, will be distributed before the boys organize into teams.

Allen Litwiller, public relations director for Farrell's, will host a free zoo ice cream party for the boys immediately following the cleanup.

County pushes for Euclid Ave. link to Prado Park

CHINO — Visitors to the Prado Regional Park may make their entry off Euclid Avenue rather than a series of back roads.

County Supervisors Monday joined the state division of Highways in requesting that Euclid Avenue be widened south of Pine Avenue to allow for four travel lanes and a long left-turn pocket to accommodate park visitors. Previously, officials had proposed making the park's front door off Johnson Avenue, a narrow street which connects to Pine Avenue.

A county resolution urging the change will be presented to the California Highway Commission for formal adoption.

"We have been able to work out the proper time frame with the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) regarding the Euclid Avenue work," said County Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino.

The roadway project would be completed by October 1975, prior to the park opening in December.

The county had proposed spending $1 million to acquire right-of-way, complete engineering work and make necessary improvements for Johnson Avenue, said Townsend. "We would allocate this money to help pay for the Euclid Avenue project, which is estimated to cost $3 million."

The county proposes to develop initially 260 of the 2,000 acres of land it has leased in the Prado Basin. The site, located east of Euclid Avenue and south of Pine Avenue, will include a 56-acre lake, campsites, picnic areas, hiking, biking trails and concession stands.

Construction is expected to start next summer with the park opening set before Christmas 1975.

2 receive Margarita PTA awards

MONTCLAIR — Marilyn Calhoun and Jim Zajicek are the 1974 recipients of the honorary service awards from Margarita School PTA.

Mrs. Calhoun has been active in PTA since 1969, serving as president during 1971-73 and coordinating such projects as the fashion show, the 1972 holiday program and the 1973 festival. She has also served as workshop coordinator, Margarita Mothers bowling team member, library helper, field trip driver, classroom and center aide at the school.

Mrs. Calhoun has served as secretary, team mother, head team mother, scorekeeper and snack bar worker for the Montclair Central Little League. She has also been involved in Brownies, Indian Maidens and boys' basketball.

Zajicek has been active in PTA since he began teaching at Margarita School in 1969. A sixth grade teacher, he has arranged field trips and sports competitions with other schools, and has participated in holiday programs, variety shows and festivals.

With his help and encouragement, the sixth grade students helped to pay for their class party by collecting cans, bottles and newspapers for recycling.

Zajicek served as director of the March of Dimes bike-a-thon this year and developed a physical education program to meet the needs of the staggered sessions at Margarita. He is also the receiving teacher for the cross-age program, and has been a coach for Montclair Golden Girls Softball since 1970.

MEASURING UP — Henry Huntsman, den chief of Pack 166, gets measured for a uniform by Mrs. William Montgomery, chairman of the Boy Scout uniform bank, and Mrs. Roger Wheeler.

Uniform bank

Operated by Scouts

The Women's Service Board of Old Baldy Council of Boy Scouts of America sponsors a uniform bank with Mrs. William Montgomery and Mrs. Ron Brundage as coordinators.

Any Boy Scout who needs a uniform can go to the Scout office, 120 W. San Jose Ave., Claremont, and get a uniform donated by scouts who have grown to larger sizes or by former scouts.

Final plans for the ice cream booth at the Scoutarama to be held May 11 at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds will be made at a Thursday meeting of the service board at the home of Mrs. Roger Wheeler. Mrs. Robert D. Taylor, president, will call for reports from Mrs. Richard Kirkendall and Mrs. Robert Shacklett, chairmen for the booth at the Scoutarama.

Mrs. Don Des Combes and Mrs. Kenneth Fowlkes will bring members up to date on plans for the annual Evening at Brookside Winery scheduled on Sept. 11.

All proceeds from fund-raising events go to help Old Baldy Council with its service to Boy Scouts.

Methodists will sell rummage

The annual spring rummage sale of the United Methodist Women of La Verne United Methodist Church will be held Friday and Saturday in Marshall Hall, 3205 D. St., La Verne.

Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Robert Bitner and Mrs. Thomas Taylor are cochairmen.

Mrs. Jack Flood and Mrs. Floyd Slagle are chairmen for the snack bar and food booth.

Housewares, furniture, clothing, glassware and assorted novelties will be for sale. Proceeds will be used for mission projects and neighborhood organizations.

Seasonings

Home economists suggest you can pep up the flavors of vegetables with different seasonings. Onions: add a pinch of basil, cayenne pepper, or celery seed; Potatoes: add a bit of bay leaf, sage or poppy seed; Green beans: sprinkle lightly with basil, dill, nutmeg or thyme; Eggplant: try a little garlic, curry powder, allspice or rosemary; Squash: give it a bit of oregano or rosemary; or Corn: add a little cayenne pepper, chili powder or celery seed.

Creates 500 acres

Tropical storm Agnes in the summer of 1972 washed enough sediment down the Susquehanna River to create 500 acres of newborn islands near the upper reaches of Chesapeake Bay.

TODAY'S Women

Diamond Bar women honored by Scouts

Three Diamond Bar women have been honored as volunteers by the Spanish Trails Girl Scouts at a delegates meeting.

Girl Scouting's highest award for adult volunteers was given Mrs. Gerry Bridges, cadette leader of troop 295, a part of the Las Caballeras neighborhood. During her 15 years of service, Mrs. Bridges has been a trainer, camp director, consultant, service team member and leader. She played an important part in the inception of IGOR, a summer program for minority children.

Green Angel awards were presented to Mrs. Ginger Miller and Mrs. Jo Thorne. Mrs. Miller has been a registered Scout for 13 years, serving in the local council for six years. Her special talents are in the fields of singing, arts and crafts.

Mrs. Thorne was cited for her talent as an organizer. She has been service team chairman and assisted with campout and troop projects. She continues to devote her time to the program although she has no daughters in Scouting at this time.

Library recording memories

Friends of the Upland Library members are recording the early history of the valley on tapes for a library collection.

Board members are now interviewing older valley residents and taping their recollections of early times in the area for the library's permanent records.

Persons wishing to participate in the program are asked to call Mrs. Althea Correll, 985-1968, or Mrs. Bernath, Upland librarian, 982-1561.

California Jam set for TV broadcasts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The recent rock concert called "California Jam" held in Ontario, was taped, and the results will make up four of ABC's "In Concert" programs to be aired May 10 and 24 and June 7 and 21. "California Jam" was the first live concert sponsored by ABC Entertainment.

NBC News has a May 30 one-hour special about today's preoccupation with keeping up the appearance of youth at all levels. "The Pursuit of Youth" will explore the economic and psychological reasons behind this.

Actor James Whitmore has been doing a one-man show in concert in which he impersonates the late Will Rogers and uses as text selections from Rogers' writings. CBS will present a special television version of "Will Rogers' U. S. A." in a one-hour program June 9. Whitmore begins a four-week engagement in his "show" at Broadway's Helen Hayes Theater on May 6.

ABC Sports will increase the regular season telecasts of National Football League games on its "NFL Monday Night Football" program to 14 next fall. Pre-season telecasts will be raised to five, and the network also will telecast the annual Pro Bowl game between stars of the NFL's National Football Conference and the American Football Conference.

Hal Holbrook, whose fine acting career has featured his impersonation of Mark Twain in a one-man show, will be Abraham Lincoln in six one-hour drama specials on NBC. MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

by Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

We have new columnists coming up every day, but our younger competition comes from students dining at Pomona Valley Center Betsy Ross:

"MRS. CRISWELL, teacher of room 43 at Lehigh School in Montclair made a bet with a student named CHRIS PLUMB. She said, "if CHRIS knew her times tables to 12s, she would take her and some friends to Betsy Ross, but if she didn't know her times, she would have to take Mrs. Criswell to Espiaus for lunch." CHRIS PLUMB won the bet and MRS. CRISWELL took ten girls and MRS. PLUMB and MRS. PETTY, the judge, to Betsy Ross on April 16th for lunch. A good time was had by all. Reporting: CHRIS MURRAY, CAROL VASQUEZ, NANCY MARINO, and CINDY VASQUEZ. Rm. 43."

Does the name, MRS. CHARLES PEARSON, mean anything to you? Perhaps you know her simply as IRENE. Betsy Ross has been privileged to have her services for sixteen years, two of them at Pomona Valley Center, now at Claremont Coffee Shoppe. IRENE PEARSON is not only a good waitress, who has customers who wait to see where her station is so they may be served by her but also a devoted mother and grandmother. Of her five children, two daughters TERESA and NANCY, have worked for Betsy Ross. IRENE seems to love living things. Along with her four grandchildren, MICHAEL, TINA, GINA and SHEA, she dispenses tender-loving-care to two dogs, four cats of her own, and feeds four stray cats, which she recently got close enough to to pet. Her gardening hobby leads her thither and yon for exotic flowers and shrubs. Happy Birthday, IRENE.

With warmer weather upon us, it seems appropriate to mention our Big George malts and shakes. When you want a refreshing pick-me-up, they fit the bill. Man, could I go for a big malt and club sandwich right now!

Be good to yourselves — take home a half-gallon of energy-giving, delicious Betsy Ross ice cream.

CONCERT CAMPAIGN—Mrs. Josephine D'Auro, center, campaign chairman of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association, goes over plans for the coming membership drive with Mrs. W. Campbell Nelson, left, and Mrs. Stuart Brockway, campaign secretary. The week-long drive will be launched at a dinner meeting at the Arbor Restaurant, Upland, Monday. Memberships are $10, students $5.

P.V. Concert Association to hold membership drive

UPLAND — The membership drive for the 1974-75 season of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association will start with a dinner at the Arbor Restaurant at 7 p.m. Monday.

Campaign chairman Mrs. Joseph D'Auro has set April 29-May 4 as Membership Enrollment Week. Campaign headquarters are Ralph Pierce Music Store at 435 E. Holt Ave., Pomona. The PVCCA telephone number during the week will be 623-0051.

PVCCA is a non-profit organization operated by volunteer help of community leaders. Its goal is to enhance the cultural climate of the area by bringing in concert artists and dance and musical attractions.

Admittance to the programs is by membership card; no tickets are sold at the door.

Membership also brings a reciprocity privilege of attending without charge the programs of other concert associations throughout Southern California.

Memberships are $10 general, $5 for students. At the close of the membership drive, the PVCCA officers and directors select concerts for the coming season. The more memberships sold, the more programs and higher priced attractions that can be brought to the community.

The selection committee has already booked for next season the Hungarian Folk Ballet and Gypsy Orchestra from Budapest, and pianist Paul Schenly. The remaining programs on the series will be announced at the close of the membership campaign.

Persons wishing to earn free memberships by working for the campaign are invited to attend the kickoff dinner. Reservations can be made with Mrs. D'Auro at 622-9933.

Those wishing to sign up for the PVCCA series can call Mrs. Stuart Brockway, campaign secretary, at 986-5789.

Cannery given 40-year lease

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Ports Commission Wednesday took the final step to assure transfer of the Van Camp Seafood Co. plant from Terminal Island to the waterfront here by awarding a 40-year lease to the cannery.

A chief provision, however, is that the cannery be 99.99 per cent free of fishy odors.

An attempt to require that no more than 50 per cent of the employes be nonresidents of the state failed to get approval.

The unionized cannery workers have been fighting the move because they fear the company will hire non-California residents such as Mexicans from nearby Tijuana.

At the fairgrounds

75 Indian tribes to meet

POMONA — Several hundred Indians, representing 75 tribes from across the nation, will take part in a three-day celebration of annual Indian Week at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds May 3-5.

Hostess for the festival will be movie actress Dovie Beams, a part Cherokee whose Indian name is Baby Dove. She is currently starring in Universal's "Guns of a Stranger" with Marty Robbins and Chill Wills. Her autobiography, "Dovie Beams by Me," is to be published soon.

Theme of the Indian Week observance is "Pride, Heritage, Culture." Proceeds from the event are used for a variety of educational projects for Indians.

Organizer of the annual celebration is George Pierre, a full-blooded Nez Perce and hereditary chief of the Colville Confederated tribes of the Pacific Northwest.

The Indians will perform many authentic tribal rituals, ceremonies and war dances. More than $2 million worth of Indian art and artifacts will be on display and sale. The participants will demonstrate rug weaving, beading, sign language, silver and leather working and other crafts.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1.25 for students, and 75 cents for children under 12.

At Spring

West End stages 'Il Trovatore'

By HARVE EDWARDS

ONTARIO — The West End Opera Association in Spring Auditorium Saturday night presented Verdi's "Il Trovatore," an opera with a libretto as exasperating as one is likely to find.

Azucena, a gypsy whose mother was a victim of burning at the stake for bewitching Count di Luna's young brother Manrico, Il Trovatore, (the troubadour) avenges her mother's death by abducting the boy. Supposed to have thrown him to the flames (a story di Luna just can't quite believe) she has mistakenly thrown in her own offspring and with love raised Manrico as her own son. The Count, rejected by Lady Leonora in favor of the troubadour, falsely advises her of her lover's demise. The lady in question hies herself to a nunnery but is prevented from taking this irrevocable step by both suitors, who each have other plans.

Manrico sweeps her off to Di Luna's castle, now in control of the gypsy rebels, and is about to marry her when he receives a message that Azucera has been picked up spying around Di Luna's camp. Off to save mother, he is himself captured, and generous Leonora "offers herself" in exchange for Manrico's freedom — which as it turned out, from Di Luca's point of view, was a poor exchange as she had already poisoned herself. Understandably put out, Di Luca orders Manrico executed and, as he goes up in flames, Azucena cries out in triumph "He was your brother! Mama mia, now you are avenged!" Count di Luna, having been thus gypped by a gypsy collapes with grief as the curtain falls.

With this wealth of dramatic material to work with, albeit unbelievable, the West End's production of "Il Trovatore" was theatrically mild indeed — which may have been the intention.

Musically excellent, the performance was conducted by Maestro Curtis L. Stearns, formerly on the conducting staff of the San Francisco Opera Co. Under his careful direction his professional orchestra, from the opening tympani roll of foreboding to the abrupt denouement of the finale, gave a very refined reading of the score. The lead singers were vocally excellent as well, and I have never heard the chorus sound better.

Opera being what it is — a combined art, both theater and music, both visual and auditory — it is rare that the artistic potential of the two can be equally realized. To have a great singer be a great actor "is a consummation devoutly to be wished," and if we must choose between the two, the West End's performance, in the estimation of this reviewer, correctly weighted the musical side of the scale.

Nitza Niemann, mezzo-soprano, (Azucena) and Wayne Eikenberry, baritone, (Count di Luna) both fine actors, were notable exceptions. Visually and vocally Ester Martinez, soprano, (Leonora) was a luscious delight, and her amor, tenor Dwaine Douglas, (Manrico) a handsome figure of a man, was possessed of a clear, well-modulated voice capable of negotiating whatever challenges the score presented with apparent ease.

Horst Niemann, baritone in the role of Ferranod, captain of di Luna's Guard, with his deeper resonant voice was convincingly well cast for his part. Smaller supporting roles taken by Joan Skousen, Phil Moedt, Paul Laoie, and Norman Baffrey were handled with aplomb adding further jewels to the diadem of stars.

The sets and lighting were tasteful, simple, yet effective, and did not overpower the performers. The sound amplification, which I would have dispensed with as unnecessary, did a little more than reinforce the sound which was unfortunate but not bad enough to really mar a fine production.

It is sad that the present inflationary economic facts of life of opera production do not permit a fine musical event like this to have more than one performance taking it out of the realm of a one night stand for the financially privileged and projecting it as a cultural experience available to all.

Pet rats had field day over vacation

WILLINGBORO, New Jersey (UPI) — While the William Porter family was away on vacation in Florida, their pet white rats did play, and how.

Burlington County environmental coordinator Charles J. Schiers said the two story colonial home has been overrun by more than 300 white rats.

Neighbors complained so much that county health authorities Friday were exterminating the rodents at township expense. The house has been declared unfit for human habitation.

Dodger hitters toughest in pinch

Paciorek hero in 5-3 victory

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — When Los Angeles Dodger manager Walt Alston needs somebody to deliver a key pinch-hit to win a tight game, he doesn't have to look far.

The Dodgers are blessed with an abundance of pinch-hitters.

Their second-stringers came through Tuesday night to give the Dodgers a dramatic come-from-behind 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a contest officially protested by the losers.

Tom Paciorek is the big hero because of his three-run homer into the left field pavilion with one out in the bottom of the ninth to turn around a 3-2 deficit into a win on one pitch.

But Manny Mota and Ken McMullen shared in the glory by delivering key singles.

With three hits in four at-bats for their pinch-hitters Tuesday, the Dodgers are now batting at an incredible .435 clip (10-for-23) in the pinch.

Paciorek, a righthanded batter, was called on by Alston to swing for the lefthanded Bill Buckner after Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark brought in southpaw Mac Scarce from the bullpen.

It was all over seconds later when Paciorek drove Scarce's first pitch into the seats to signal a big celebration at the plate.

"There's not a nicer kid in the world," Alston said about Paciorek. "He doesn't get to play much but he stays in good humor."

Paciorek, who has stated in the past his desire to be traded if he can't win a regular job with the Dodgers, was smiling even more then usual after his game-winning blow.

"That has to be my biggest thrill of my not-too-thrilling major league career," said the reserve outfielder. "Scarce got a slider up and over the meat part of the plate and I hit it good. I thought it had a chance. It was just great."

McMullen came off the bench to start the winning rally with one out with a single up the middle.

Davey Lopes followed with a grounder to second baseman Dave Cash for what looked like a certain double play. But Lee Lacy, running for McMullen, knocked the ball out of Cash's hands as both runners were safe.

Ozark protested the game at that point, claiming Lacy had run out of the baseline. Umpire Shag Crawford disagreed, saying the runner has an obligation to alter his course so that the fielding play can be made.

Mota, who has five hits in seven pinch-hitting at-bats, did his job by hitting a 3-2 pitch from starter Ron Schueler to drive in Bill Russell with the tying run in the seventh inning.

All the excitement about the success of the pinch-hitters took away the memories of the one which failed.

The Dodgers blew a golden opportunity to take the lead in the eighth inning after Ron Cey walked and Willie Crawford singled to put runners on first and third bases with no outs.

After Steve Garvey couldn't score Cey with a ground out, Alston called on the slumping Joe Ferguson (.178) to bat for Steve Yeager, who had already two hits earlier in the game to raise his average to .500. The strategy backfired when Ferguson grounded into a double play.

Philadelphia took the lead in the top of the ninth when pinch-hitter Tony Taylor hit a two-out single off of Jim Brewer, who turned out to be the winner, to score Bill Robinson, who had opened the inning with a hit.

The Phillies jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when powerful Greg Luzinski belted a two-run homer in the first inning off of Doug Rau.

Rau settled down the rest of the way. Mike Marshall came in with two outs in the seventh inning to retire Cash in a tough situation and Brewer hurled the final two frames.

DODGER DATA — Don Sutton (3-1) will face the Phils' Jim Lonborg (1-1) in this evening's 7:30 p.m. middle game of the series . . .

The two male streakers at Sunday's game have been booked for indecent exposure and trespassing with trial date set. Bail was set at $500 . . .

Ferguson and his wife, Mary, have named their new daughter Kristie Michelle . . .

Von Joshua remains in Centinela Valley Hospital with a back injury.

Coggins' hit beats Angels; Stanton hurt

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Even when Earl Weaver isn't around to catch the happy ending, his Baltimore Orioles are beginning to win the close ones.

"Yeah, it's good to win the tough extra inning games," Weaver said following Tuesday's 10-inning, 4-3 verdict over the California Angels. "But it would be even better to win three in a row all by 8-1 scores. Then you would know your club is hitting."

The Orioles, batting a collective .227, saw their coldest bat, Rich Coggins, deliver the knockout blow against Angel reliever Dave Sells. Coggins, who is hitting a meek .086 for 10 games, singled with two out to score winning run Don Baylor from second.

Coggins, a product of Pomona's Garey High School, hit .319 last year in his rookie season.

"I don't worry about Coggins or anyone else at this point," Weaver said. "Baylor was just as bad this time last season and he came on like gangbusters."

Weaver was ejected in the fourth inning by plate umpire Larry Napp for what the Oriole manager thought was "probably hollering from the dugout."

After Oriole pitcher Ross Grimsley struck Angel batter Lee Stanton with a pitch on the left hand in the fourth inning, Weaver argued the hit-batsman call. The debate kept up from the dugout bringing about Napp's heave-ho.

Coach Billy Hunter took over for Weaver, eventually procuring the Orioles' second straight extra inning win.

The Angels lost Stanton for three to six weeks with a fractured bone in his left hand.

Tommy Davis had three of Baltimore's 11 hits and reliever Bob Reynolds picked up his second win after Grimsley went seven innings.

Knicks learn new problem

BOSTON (UPI) — The New York Knicks need another problem today like Adam needed a second apple.

But the New Yorkers, down 3-1 and tottering on the edge of elimination from the National Basketball Association playoffs, have yet another woe.

The Knicks, trying to play with both Dave DeBusschere and Willis Reed in crippled condition, announced Tuesday that Reed had excess fluid drained from his knee earlier in the day.

Reed, who has seen limited action in the semifinal series, made the trip here and hoped to play at least a little.

The net result, however, is that Coach Red Holzman will have to send his Knicks into tonight's fifth game without an effective big man—a situation that has spelled the difference in the series to date.

Leos ranked No. 1 in nation

LA VERNE — The defending SCIAC champion La Verne baseball team has climbed to the number one spot nationally in the latest NAIA ratings.

The Leoopards, now 20-6, jumped five notches in the rankings released today by the newspaper, Collegiate Baseball.

Birmingham - Southern, the previous leader, dropped to second. Grand Canyon slipped from second to third, David-Lipscomb is fourth and Carson-Newman fifth.

UC Irvine retained its top ranking in the college division and Arizona remained first in the university division. The Wildcats are 47-4. Southern California dropped from third to sixth.

Spikers eager for Relays

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — There's only two days left before the Mt. San Antonio relays, and most of the valley schools are ready to put together their best performances for it.

The Relays, the 16th Annual, will begin bright and early Friday monring (9:30) and will take a huge hunk out of the weekend. A total of 12 hours of competition will be on display Friday, with eight more Saturday and six more Sunday.

"I think overall, the entries for this year are as good as any meet we've had in a long time," boasted Mt. San Antonio College track coach Don Ruh. "Right now all the lanes are filled and we even have some stand-bys in case anyone should drop out at the last minute."

Cal Poly head coach Fred Jones will be using the MSAC Relays as a stepping stone towards his team's battle with Cal State Northridge next week and for the CCAA championships on May 17-18.

"The next five weekends will tell us a lot," stated the Bronco skipper. "I'm pleased where we are in regards to conference, and now we want to do a good job at MSAC. We're going to go big at the Relays and will be shooting for the college division championship."

One of the parts of the Poly team which Jones feels should do well is the mile relay team of Doug Dantzler, Jerrold Curry, Ron Stewart and Myron McGill. Dantzler, who has been suffering from a sore leg, holds the fastest time in the conference in the quarter mile at 48.4 seconds.

Curry, who was selected the valley's college division track athlete of the week at this week's valley track luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona Tuesday, posted the second fastest quarter mile time in the conference last week at 48.5 seconds.

Stewart, a transfer from College of the Canyons, has run a 49.2 quarter, while speedster McGill has been clocked as fast as 46.9 on a leg of the relay team.

The junior colleges won't be going for broke in the Relays, however.

Chaffey College coach Chuck "Happy" Hicks said his team won't be putting too much emphasis on the Relays, but will still give it a competitive effort.

"We'll run in three relay events," he said. "We'll put together a distance medley team, an 880 relay team and a mile relay team. We may come up with a sprint medley team later in the day, but I'm not sure about it yet."

Dave Nugent, Chaffey's premier field event athlete, was voted the junior college track athlete of the week after winning the javelin at 208-5, placed second in the triple jump and third in the high jump last weekend against Citrus and Riverside.

Citrus College assistant coach Vince O'Boyle stated that the Owls will not enter their distance men in the Relays, saving them for the Mission Conference finals next week. But he did indicate that he thought Citrus might put together some outstanding performances in a few of the relays.

"Our two mile relay team will be going for a real good time," he stated.

"Our 880 men are really up for the Relays, so we should have a real good time in the two mile relay," he stated. "Also I think we'll run a good sprint medley. Raymond Arnold will probably come out of the blocks, and we'll also have Rick Wilmoth and Browning Allen in it. We're not sure on the fourth guy yet."

Wilmoth won the 100 against Chaffey and Riverside over the weekend in 19.7 seconds, while Allen was clocked in second at 9.8 seconds.

"The junior college competition looks great," inserted Ruh. "Southwestern has been invited to compete in the invitational mile relay, and they could run under 3:10."

Over in the college division again, Pomona-Pitzer coach Pat Mulcahy has indicated that his team will be shooting for school records in the distance medley and the mile relay, and will try to qualify for the nationals in the latter event.

Running the distance medley will be senior Dave Wiggins, freshman Steve DeWindt, sophomore Bob Murrillo and junior Randy Luce.

Wiggins will also run the mile relay along with freshman Bill Taylor and sophomores Gary Goss and Steve Smith.

Comparing the MSAC Relays to the Penn and Drake Relays, which are the top Relays back East, Ruh said, "They're so close I don't know where we stand. Competition-wise I think we rank with them. We're usually ahead of them in the field events, but they have been beating our times in the running events because they've been running on Tartan tracks. If the weather is good all around, we'll find out which meet is better."

Overtime goal gives Chicago 2-1 advantage

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bill White was "just trying to keep the puck in play," and suddenly Jim Pappin had the winning goal in overtime for the Chicago Black Hawks against the Boston Bruins.

Pappin's score from short range at 3:48 of the first overtime period Tuesday night gave the Hawks a come from behind 4-3 triumph over the Bruins and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals playoff series.

"Luckily the puck went over to Jimmy," White said of his drive from the blue line which went through a mass of players and set up Pappin for the score.

"I knew Billy saw me when he picked up the puck," Pappin said. "I was just waiting for it. The goaltender played him to take the shot and left me wide open.

"So I had it all the way. I knew if I hit the net with it, it's going to go in. I didn't want to miss that one. The big one was (Stan) Mikita's."

Mikita scored twice, boosting his total playoff goals to 53, sixth highest in Stanley Cup history, and his second score was the big one.

It came with only 42 seconds left in the game, 20 seconds after Hawk goalie Tony Esposito had been removed to put another skater on the ice, and it tied the score at 3-3.

"It went in on the second whack," Mikita said. "I hit the post at the side of the net and it just laid there. I kind of shoveled it and it went off his butt."

Tampa best bet for NFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Football League owners resumed their long huddle on expansion today, with the city of Tampa, Fla., rated the best bet to receive a new franchise.

Also under consideration are Honolulu, Phoenix, Seattle and Memphis. Any one or all of the five candidates can be accepted by the NFL, which already has 26 teams.

It would seem almost certain that at least one city, and probably more, will be added to the NFL since the league's expansion committee gave a favorable recommendation to the owners during Tuesday's opening eight-hour meeting. However, no vote was taken yesterday.

"We went over all aspects of expansion and there was considerable discussion on each aspect," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who spoke for the owners. "We decided to adjourn for the night and give everyone a chance to think."

While Rozelle refused to speculate on the chances of any of the bidders, it was learned that Tampa had the best chance. One of the team's backers, although discounting the city's favoritism, thought he knew why.

"We are strictly local in our backing while the other groups aren't," said Bill Marcum, who has promoted 12 NFL exhibition games in Tampa since 1968. "Perhaps the other owners will like that. Also, we have been working very hard for this since 1968."

Since the owners will be meeting for at least another two days, there was no certainty that a decision would be arrived at today. Rozelle pointed out that it wasn't simply a matter of voting yes or no on expansion, but of discussing the means and consequences.

"We've got so many different conditions to satisfy, such as the allocation of players," he said. "There are so many factors that have to be reconciled. We have to break each one down and work it out.

"As for reaching a decision tomorrow (Wednesday), it depends on how far we can go."

While Rozelle said the emergence of the World Football League had no effect on NFL expansion, he had strong words about the new league's signing away players already under contract to National League clubs.

"A footbal' team is a delicate mechanism with considerable emotion and physical contact," Rozelle said. "A situation like this provides divided loyalties in that a man is playing with one team and being paid by another.

"There are strong inherent conflicts of interests and it might be a matter of human interest for a player under contract to another team to avoid an injury rather than go out and help the team he is with. My personal view is that it's very, very bad for professional football."

Rangers say goal judge helped Flyers' victory

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Charles Zavorka was the prime subject of conversation after the Philadelphia Flyers' 5-2 win over the New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup semifinal Tuesday night.

Zavorka, a goal judge from St. Louis, made the most controversial decision of the playoffs so far, allowing a second period Flyers' goal that New York goaltender Ed Giacomin hotly disputed.

"I swear on a stack of Bibles that it didn't go in," Giacomin said after the game. "I pulled off my glove and grabbed the puck with my hand to make sure it wouldn't go past the (goal) line."

Goal judge Zavorka disagreed.

"I saw the puck completely over the line and I turned on the light," he said.

The controversial goal came at 10:37 of the second period when Flyer defenseman Ed Van Impe took a slap shot from the right point. The puck hit the stick of New York's Rod Seiling and flipped into the air.

Giacomin juggled the puck. It dropped to the ice and the red light went on.

The score gave the Flyers an important 2-0 lead midway through the game and forced Ranger Coach Emile Francis to replace a fuming Giacomin with backup goaltender Gilles Villemure. Giacomin sat out just 22 seconds before returning.

"I took Eddie out to give him a chance to get his concentration back," said Francis. "They (the Flyers) got every break in the book starting with the officiating and that goal they got. I've never seen Eddie so angry before and that's why I've got to believe him when he said the puck wasn't in."

Giacomin ripped off his mask and pounded with both fists against the glass cage in which Zavorka was seated behind the net.

Phalidelphia Coach Fred Shero, naturally, sided with the goal judge, claiming "any fool could tell it was in," but Francis maintained that none of the officials saw the puck go in and a television replay failed to show it either.

Francis called the goal "the key" to the Flyers' win, a victory that gave Philadelphia a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven semifinals, which move to New York Thursday.

The Rangers, shut out 4-0 by Philadelphia Saturday night, scored their first goal of the series against Bernie Parent midway through the second period when little-used Jack Egers fired it by the Flyers' goaltender.

Cal Poly's defense gets chance to score points

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — The defense will get the opportunity to outscore the offense Thursday night when the Cal Poly football team stages its second public scrimmage of the spring practice sessions.

New coach Andy Vinci has installed a scoring system for Thursday's 60-minute game starting at 7 p.m. at Kellogg Field.

"We're going to put our offensive and defensive units together for this scrimmage," Vinci said. "It will be a regular football game except for kickoffs or punts."

While the offensive unit can score points the normal way with touchdowns, field goals and extra points, Vinci has devised a system for the defense to score points.

The defense will pick up five points for intercepting a pass or recovering a fumble, two points for holding the offense within its 30-yard line on a fourth down plus one point for blocking a field goal or stopping the offense on a fourth down beyond the 30.

If the ofense goes for two extra points and is stopped, the defense picks up the two points instead.

Since there will be no kickoffs or punts, the offense will start on its 30-yard line. When it is stopped on fourth down, the offense will try again with the ball moved back 40 yards—a normal punt—but never beyond its 30.

"It should prove very interesting," Vinci said. "We feel this system gives our defensive unit more incentive and offers more of a challenge to our offense."

Following this week's scrimmage, Vinci will stage a real game situation contest a week from Thursday with no coaches on the field. The Broncos will close their spring drills with the annual Alumni game on May 11.

Jim Zorn, last year's national total offense leader, will direct the offense at quarterback. The other backfield starters are wingbacks Mike Booker and Donald Stevens plus either John Sedia or Joe Jones. Returning lettermen Joe Fabian and Ron Tatum will open as the wide receivers.

The starting offensive line will consist of center Ken LaVigne, tackles Clyde Byrd and Steve Celotto plus guards Jack Murry and Vernon Smith.

"We still have a long way to go," Vinci said, "but it's even tougher this year because of installing a new offense. We had a good crowd last week and hope to have even more Thursday."

Leos rip 17 hits to bury Pomona, 14-1

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — Custer against the Indians was closer. The Valentine's Day Massacre was not as one-sided. Even the Titanic put up a better battle against the Atlantic.

The La Verne Leopards, with their freshly attained number one rating tattooed on their minds, went out and put away Pomona-Pitzer early in rolling to a 14-1 victory before the home fans, Tuesday afternoon.

Despite their unexcelled ranking in the national polls, the Leos are still one game back of Claremont-Mudd in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. But La Verne's next five games in league come against Pomona and Caltech, two teams which should provide little opposition for Ben Hines' crew.

This is exactly what has the Leo coach worried the most. After having these two series, the Leos must then tangle with the Claremont-Mudd three times and Leo fans must hope their team hasn't lost that sharpness displayed in recently sweeping Arizona State.

La Verne wasted no time in picking up victory number 20 on the season by knocking out Sagehen starter Dave Lane after one-third of an inning.

Hank Merenda led things off with a double and then designated hitter Mike "Bubba" Alonso belted a one out homer to quickly make it 2-0. It was the 10th roundtripper of the year for the big righthander.

Wayne Redfearn, who was Chaffey High, followed with a towering drive over the right field fence for the third home run of his freshman year.

Nick Leyva scored, but did things his one way, using a single, stolen base, wild pitch and an error rather than the long ball. Art Sanchez walked, Rich Fielder reached on that error and then Don Snyder singled them both home.

It was exit Lane, enter Jon Blacker and La Verne was through—for an inning, at least.

Jeff O'Connor drove in Sanchez in the third and then the Leos erupted for four more with two outs in the fourth. Singles by Leyva, Sanchez and Fielder were followed by Don Snyder's 2nd homer of the year and it was a question of how high the score would mount.

Only first baseman Paul Fleming played the entire game for La Verne as each starter collected at least one hit and all but O'Connor scored a run. La Verne totaled 17 hits off three Pomona pitchers.

The strength of La Verne this year is its lack of weakness. Evidence of the danger throughout the lineup is that the number seven, eight and nine hitters (Fielder, Snyder and O'Connor) drove in seven of the first 11 runs.

Robb Mayhew picked up the victory as he pitched five innings, allowing four hits. Tim Kelly finished up and lost the shutout when Biff Sherman, the leading hittier in the Pomona Valley, blasted one out of cozy La Verne park.

If the Sagehens had nine Sherman's they could march through anyone, as the strong catcher went 2-4 Tuesday and dropped his average one point of .516.

The two teams square off again in a doubleheader Saturday at Pomona, John Verhoeven and Dan Quisenberry will start for the Leos while Dave Jones and someone else will counter for the Sagehens.

Chris Kiner leads UCLA over Broncos

POMONA — UCLA put together a three-run rally in the seventh inning Tuesday to post a 4-2 baseball victory over Cal Poly Pomona.

Bronco hurler John Riddle took a 1-0 lead into the seventh, but the Bruins combined four singles and a crucial Cal Poly error for the three scores.

Poly had taken a 1-0 lead in the first, as Kevin Thornhill singled, stole second, and Dennis Rogers drove him home with a one-bager.

Riddle, who lost his fourth game in eight decisions, pitched well against the potent UCLA bats, but the three unearned runs in the seventh proved to be the margin of victory.

Riddle had a no-hitter until Tom Finch picked up a bunt single in the fifth, and the Bronco lefty finished with six strikeouts on the contest.

After UCLA had scored another run in the eighth on Chris Kiner's triple, Poly came back to threaten in the last of that frame.

Nick Lusic opened the inning with a walk, and Steve Bruecker and Thornhill followed with singles to score one run. But Bruin hurler Dan Cowan bore down to retire the next three Broncos and set Poly down in the ninth for the win.

UCLA, coming off three straight losses to Pac-8 power USC, improved its season mark to 22-27 with the win. Cal Poly, still struggling to get to the .500 mark, fell to a 18-21 season log.

Chris Kiner, son of ex-major league great Ralph Kiner, paced the Bruin attack with two hits and two RBIs. Thornhill and Bruecker both collected two hits for the Broncos.

Stags win in 15; stay in first place

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — It took Claremont-Mudd four hours and 15 minutes and 15 innings Tuesday to win a game the Stags should have won in nine innings.

Jamie Opatrny's bases-loaded home run in waning light in the last of the 15th gave Claremont-Mudd and Ed Matta (6-4) an 11-7 win over Occidental on the Stags' diamond.

As a result, Claremont-Mudd (9-1) retains its one-game lead over La Verne (8-2) in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC). Overall the Stags are 20-9. La Verne is 20-6.

Both teams were shaky afield. Oxy committed seven errors and the Stags five. Miscues contributed to Stag runs in the eighth, and 13th innings and helped load the bases in the 15th.

C-M errors helped the Tigers score in the eighth, ninth, and 13th innings.

To their credit, the Stags came back to tie the game three times after falling behind. Oxy led 5-3 in the ninth, 6-5 in the 12th and 7-6 in the 13th. But each time C-M came back from the dead on a long, windy, and cold afternoon.

About all a frozen, but happy Bill Arce could say was, "It was a hell of a ball game," several times. Asked about his pitching for Saturday's doubleheader at Oxy, Arce replied, "I'm still thinking about this game. I haven't been able to think anything about Saturday."

It was a well deserved win for Matta. Relieving starter Bred Rehn with one out in the fourth inning, a run in and the Stags trailing 3-1, Matta allowed only one earned run in the remaining 11 and 2-3rds innings.

In the last three innings, Matta allowed only one hit, a single and would have faced only 10 batters the last three innings except for two C errors. Oxy hit only two b out of the infield in t stretch.

Thanks to an unearned r in the first of the eighth, Stags were behind 4-1 wh they came to bat. Gary R tet reached base on an er Brad Koppel doubled a both scored on Steve Lop single.

In the ninth, Oxy sco another unearned run make it 5-3. Bill Vasek st ed C-M off with a pin single. Andy Roundtree p ped out. Wynn Moore singl Gary Rattet popped out, b Koppel came through aga with a two-run single.

Miguel Mejias homered f the Tigers to put them ahea 6-5 in the 12th. But Tom M teson, who had relieved Tig ace George Benson in t 11th, walked Koppel to le off the Stags' 12th. Lop sacrificed. Opatrny grounde out. Gary Burger batted f designated hitter Jim Wi who was hitless in five trip and singled. Greg Thompso swung hard and topped a ba down the third baseline tha nobody could handle and Koppel scored.

A single, a sacrifice, an Opatrny's wild throw put Ox ahead 6-5 in the 13th.

But Roundtree led off wit a triple and scored on an error to again tie the game i the last of the 13th.

In the 15th, Moore beat ou a bunt to open the inning. Rattet sacrificed. Koppel reached base on Mejias' error. Lopez was given an intentional pass loading the bases.

Lopez had been walked intentionally in the ninth inning. That time it worked as Opatrny, who had three singles in his first three at-bats, struck out. But this time Janie was facing the left-handed Matteson. His home run was a towering smash high over the left centerfield fence.

Bonita celebrates, 12-1

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — The Bonita High baseball team had gathered around Harold Drake to help him blow out 17 candles on his birthday cake and help him make a wish after the Bearcats had demolished San Dimas 12-1 behind a 12-hit attack and Bill Bumstead and Rick Ortega's combined four-hitter Tuesday afternoon.

Drake jokingly wished for a couple more hits on the season and then seriously, along with his teammates, wished for a CIF championship.

Coach Dick Salomon knows his team is a long way from a 2-A title but Tuesday's rout moves Bonita closer to the playoffs.

The Bearcats upped their overall mark to 16-6 and Hacienda League slate to 9-1, and held their two game lead over Alta Loma (7-3), a 3-1 winner over Ontario, with four games left.

"A team like this only comes along once in a great while,'' said Salomon. "They're a great bunch of guys and a pleasure to work with."

The San Dimas-Bonita rivalry, although extremely keen in football and basketball, loses some of its flare during baseball season.

The Saints have yet to beat the Bearcats, losing four times in the past two years. In fact, San Dimas has scored just one unearned run this year while yielding 23 markers to Bonita.

Bumstead continued to domination Tuesday allowing just three hits in five innings to run his won-loss record to 10-1 on the season and 7-0 in league while lowering his earned run average to 0.35 against Hacienda foes.

Ortega gave Bumstead the rest of the day off, hurling the final two frames and giving up a harmless single.

The Bearcats rapped starter and losing pitcher Paul Willman (6-5, 3-3) for seven hits and eight runs (five unearned) through four innings.

After the Saints scored an unearned run in the top of the first frame when Jim Richards struck out but reached first base on a passed ball, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Jerry Baird's (.361) double, Bonita retaliated with three runs.

Ortega, who had three hits to raise his average to .371, lead off with a double and moved to third on Jay Lacheur's one-out infield single. Carl Davis singled home Ortega. Following a walk to Bumstead to load the bases, Willman uncorked two wild pitches to allow two runs to score.

San Dimas errors led to two of Bonita's three second-inning runs while a bases load walk to Bumstead accounted for the third run.

Jay Lacheur tripled, Davis singled, a throwing error by Willman contributed to two fourth-inning runs for the Cats.

A four run uprising in the fifth off Steve Brahs and Bruce Bosley gave Bonita its final 12-1 count.

Ortega drove home two runs with a bases loaded single, Drake, who had two hits in four at bats to raise his average to .288, singled home a run to give him 11 RBI's on the league campaign, and Davis (.312), who went 2-for-3, singled home his second run of the game to give him nine ribbies against HL teams.

Fielding folly leads Chino past Damien

By TOM FAHEY
PB Correspondent

CHINO — WHOOPS!

The Chino Cowboys breezed by the Damien Spartans 16-8 thanks to some rather shoddy fielding by the Spartans, Tuesday afternoon at Chino.

The Spartans, who are usually fine fielders, just seem to be playing Hot Potato all afternoon as they committed 16 errors.

Damien started the game scoring six runs in the opening two innings. Bill Karr led off the game with a long double to left center and came home on a single by Bobby Alexander. Alexander moved to third on a sharp single to left by Dean Sickels and then scored on a groundout by John Pignotti.

The Spartans increased their lead in the second with four runs with the big blow being a bases-loaded triple by Alexander. Mark Lopez opened the fireworks with a blistering blast to left good for a double.

After that it was all Chino.

Frank Pastore, the losing pitcher, then fell victim to his usually dependable teammates and a little wildness at the plate.

Paul Briones cracked a double to start things off. He came home on a single by Scott Richartz, the Cowboys fine shortstop, who had two hits and scored three times in the game.

A couple of walks and three errors sent Pastore out of the game and brought in the ace of the Spartan staff, and according to Coach Jim Rawls of Chino. "The finest pitcher in the valley," Larry Pekarcik.

Pekarcik was 5-0 in league play and had not allowed a run in his previous five starts, but his luck was missing. He fanned the first batter he faced to close the inning but his real troubles came in the fourth.

Pekarcik struck out Richard Reyburn to lead off the inning. Emanuel Delgado then reached base on a throwing miscue and moved up on a single by Briones.

Richartz walked to load the bases and set the stage for some more fielding displays. Randy Hobbs and Mark Milton both hit routine ground balls that turned into wild acrobatics with everyone doing everything but catching the ball.

Before Pekarcik knew what happened, he was behind 15-8 after six more errors in the fifth.

Coach Rawls took the game quite happily as most coaches would if they were given 13 unearned runs. "We've had a lot of bad luck this season and it's about time luck started coming our way."

Damien now falls to 6-3 in league, two full games behind front running Upland.

Cavs-Giants play today

MONTCLAIR — A no-show act by the umpires forced postponement of Tuesday's San Antonio League game between Montclair and Ganesha.

The contest was reslated for a 3:15 starting time today at the Cavalier diamond. Montclair was shooting to regain a share of first place in the SAL with a win over the Giants.

Highlanders take over first with 7-3 win over 'Pack

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff writer

UPLAND — Home run power led Upland High to a 7-3 San Antonio League baseball win over Claremont Tuesday afternoon.

The win enabled the Highlanders to take a narrow one-half game SAL lead over Montclair, since the Cavalier-Ganesha contest was postponed until this afternoon.

Homers by Tony Votaw and Steve Smith paced the Highlanders' triumph.

Votaw picked out a Mil Pompa delivery in the fourth and blasted it out of the park in right-center, scoing Russ Feaster and Stu DuVall ahead of him and giving Upland a 4-2 lead.

A two-run round-tripper by Steve Smith off of Pompa in the fifth chased the Wolfpack lefty and gave Upland a big 6-3 lead. Hurler Rich Phillipsl with seventh-inning help from Joe Zamudio, made that lead stand up.

Upland picked up the initial run of the contest in the first, as the Highlanders loaded the bases with no outs and Scheekluth scored as Feaster grounded into a doubleplay.

Claremont took a brief 2-1 lead in the third. After two away, the Pack got to Phillips for three straight hits, with Dave Poling's long double to center driving in the two Claremont runs.

After Votaw's homer put Upland ahead 4-2, Claremont came back to make it close in the top of the fifth.

Pitcher Pompa reached first safely on a Upland error and Todd Ervin followed with a single. Phillips retired Harry Brown and Poling, bu Tony Janusz got the run home with a sharp single to left.

Smith's shot in the bottom of the fifth put Upland up by a comfortable 6-3 margin, and the Highlanders got one more against reliever Brown to post the 7-3 final.

Both squads wound up with seven hits on the game, but the difference proved to be the Upland power-hitting antics.

Dale Arneson had two hits for Upland, while Janusz receipted for three straight singles for the Wolfpack.

With the win Upland advances to a 8-1 SAL mark and a fine 14-4 season record. Claremont, defending SAL champ, is struggling along with a 3-6 San Antonio League ledger.

Upland has a tough assignment Friday as they travel to Damien. Steve Iles is expected to get the mound assignment for the righlanders. Claremont will play host to a tough Montclair squad, with John Huddleston expected to start for the Wolfpack.

Walnut beaten on no-hitter, 1-0

Steve Lipan of Sierra Vista High hurled his second no-hitter on the season Tuesday afternoon as the Dons nipped Walnut 1-0. In other action, Webb continued its Arrowhead League-leading ways with a 4-2 decision over Notre Dame, Chaffey fell to Riverside Poly 6-5 and Rowland nipped Nogales 2-1.

Lipan, who also has a one-hitter to go along with his two no-no's, walked three and struck out four in outdueling the Mustangs' Lance Parrish.

The only run in the game came in the fifth on a walk, Lipan's double and Frank Terrell's squeeze bunt.

Parrish, now 3-1, struck out nine and allowed just four hits.

Gary Zakem fired a three-hitter in Webb's victory over the Riverside school. The righthander, (8-2, 4-0), who entered the game with an 0.33 earned run average, struck out seven as Webb improved it mark to 12-5 on the year.

Zakem also collected two hits, while raising his league average to .571 (8-for-14), and drove in a run. Paul Richards added a pair of hits and an RBI and Wally Pitts, who raised his average to .353 (6 for 17), singled home a pair of runs.

Al Emeterio singled home Ray Duffy in the bottom of the seventh and David Bourque hurled a four-hitter as Rowland nipped its arch rival.

Duffy, Ray Etchebarren and Emeterio all singled to produce the game-winning run. Each had two hits in the game.

Nogales' lone run came on Lou Johnson's sixth inning homer. Johnson finished with two hits.

An error and three walks forced acrossed the winning run in the seventh in Riverside Poly' win over Chaffey High.

Lambert, Wooten pep Pomona past Garey

POMONA — Mark Lambert pitched a two-hitter and Mike Wooten collected three hits as Pomona High shutout Garey 8-0 Tuesday afternoon.

The win moves Pomona (5-12, 4-5) into a tie with Chino, a 16-8 winner over Damien, for fourth place in the San Antonio League standings.

Garey dipped to 2-7 in SAL play and 2-14 overall.

"I thought Mark pitched his finest game of the year," said Red Devil coach Jay Craven after the game. "I'm pleased to see that. Maybe we can end the season on a good note."

Lambert struck out six while scattering the two safeties and was given fine defensive support.

Wooten enjoyed his finest offensive performance of the season going three-for-three and driving in solo runs in the first and fourth innings.

Jim Price, Mike Forsythe and Steve Taylor all went two-for-three to contribute to the Devil 11-hit offense.

Pomona was the recipient of six unearned runs as a result of three errors.

In the fourth inning with the bases loaded and two out and passed ball on a strike out resulted on three Pomona runs. Dan Hess struck out on a Bruce Black offering but catcher Tom Hosack couldn't handle the pitch. The ball rolled to the backstop and was lost under some debris momentarily. Meanwhile the runners circled the bases with three Devils scoring.

John Andrzejewski, who suffered the loss (0-4, 0-2 doubled in the second but was left stranded. Doug Broyles had the other hit in the fourth.

Nettles wins A.L. award

BOSTON (UPI) — Third baseman Craig Nettles of the New York Yankees became the first repeat winner in the weekly American League Star Parade Monday, winning the accolade for the second straight week.

Nettles, honored last Monday for a 5-for-10 performance that included four home runs, ran off a seven-game hitting streak last week in which he added three more homers and collected 11 hits in 26 at-bats.

The Yankee third baseman has batted .444 over a nine-game span through Sunday and leads the majors in home runs with nine.

The American League office chooses the circuit's top player each week, with special winners named each month and a player of the year named after the close of the season.

SAL dual meet season concludes

Pomona ended up in second place, Chino and Montclair in third, and Garey pulled out of the cellar as the San Antonio League track season came to an end as far as team competition goes.

Pomona, which only suffered a loss to league champion Ganesha this year, soundly defeated Upland Tuesday by a 79-38 margin.

In other SAL action, Montclair tripped Chino, and Garey downed Damien 76-42.

Andre Hall did his usual thing for Pomona in the hurdles. Hall won the 120 highs in an incredible 14.2 seconds, which is the second fastest time in CIF 3-A competition this year. Then he came back later in the day to win the 180 lows in 19.7 seconds.

The Red Devils swept six of the 14 events on the varsity level, accounting for 54 of their 79 points.

The Pomona athlete of the meet went to frosh-soph shot putter Hank Zibell, who was wearing a cast on his right arm after an accident which severely cut his hand. But he still won his event, forced to heave the shot with his left arm.

Garey's super sophomore Stanley Webster picked up his usual double against Damien by winning the 220 in 23.7 seconds and capturing the long jump with a leap of 21 feet, 4½ inches. Danny Rosales also claimed a double victory for the Vikings by winning the two mile run in 10:32.6 and taking the shot put at 45-4.

Giants claim second title

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ganesha High made it official Tuesday.

The Giants, defending San Antonio League track champions, collected their second consecutive league title by handing a visiting Claremont club a 77-37 defeat.

The victory not only gave the Giants the championship again, but it also extended their streak of consecutive dual meet wins to 19.

The meet was never really in doubt. In fact, Ganesh coach Bud Petersen anticipated it and did some juggling of his roster.

The Giants' famous half mile Glen Harter didn't run in his premier event, but tried a little speed and distance running instead. He still won the quarter mile in 51.9 seconds, and then came back to capture first in the two mile in 10:06.0.

Distance runner Pat Staley tired a few new things also. Instead of running the two mile, Staley ran the half mile and won it in 2:06.0 and also captured the mile in 4:46.7.

Other double winners for Ganesha included Charles Stewart in the hurdles and Darryl Gardner in the sprints.

Stewart glided to victory in the opening event of the day, the 120 yard high hurdles, in 14.5 seconds. He then completed his double with a victory in the 180 lows in a fast 19.7 seconds.

Ganesha captured firsts in all but two of the varsity events, with the Claremont mile relay team and pole vaulter Jon Powers spoiling the Ginats' clean sweep.

Powers won the pole vault with a not too impressive 11-0, but he was the only vaulter to clear a height primarily due to a mild wind.

The Wolfpack's quintet in the mile relay consisted of Mark Ramstead, John Laast, Mark Hammond and Powers. They came up with a winning time of 3.37.5.

Ganesha, along with Claremont and the rest of the San Antonio League athletes, will compete in the Mt. San Antonio Relays this weekend.

The hosting Bulldogs defeated the Leos by a 78-49 count, and Caltech punished the Leopards by handing them a 111-47 loss.

Jack Gilberg and Mike Grant turned in the best performances for La Verne. Gilberg won the high jump at 5 feet, 6 inches and Grant captured the 120 high hurdles in 15.5 seconds.

Caltech set school records in the mile and the discus in the double dual.

APC beats USIU, 7-2

SAN DIEGO — Azusa Pacific supported Greg Lynch's seven-hit pitching with a 14-hit attack and rolled to an easy 7-2 win over USIU Tuesday in San Diego.

Lynch, notching his fifth victory without a loss, walked three and struck out three.

Designated hitter Ken Nance cracked a home run and double and batted in two runs to lead the Cougars. APC built up a 5-0 lead before USIU scored its two runs in the seventh.

The Cougars scored a single run in the third inning when Westerner pitcher Lee Trodcy walked the bases loaded and then let loose a wild pitch. In the fourth inning, Nance homered, Bob Nall singled and moved to second on EdShaw's ground out. Mike Jones singled him in. That was really all APC needed.

Mounties win; Citrus blanked

Mt. San Antonio College snapped a two-game losing streak Tuesday but it did the Mounties little good in the South Coast Conference.

While MSAC was topping San Diego Mesa, 5-3, front-running Cerritos iced the conference championship for the third year in a row with an 8-5 victory over last place Orange Coast. The Falcons are 15-1, five games up with four games to play.

In the Mission Conference, both Citrus and Chaffey lost, dimming their hopes for a second half championship. The Panthers were bombed at Grossmont, 11-4, while Citrus was edged by San Diego City, 2-0.

Ralph Beltran struck out six and walked three as the Mounties recorded their 25th victory of the year against seven losses. In South Coast Conference play, MSAC is 10-6.

Mike Parkinson led the way for the Mounties with three hits including a double in four at-bats. He stole three bases.

The Mounties scored a pair of runs in the second and a single run in the fourth to take a 3-0 lead. In the fifth, Don Cashen doubled in Frank Marini to make it 4-0.

Mesa scored in the last half of the fifth to make it 4-1.

MSAC got its final run in the eighth when Kevin Bell walked and scored on Mark Bumstead's double. Mesa scored a pair in the last of the eighth but the rally fell two short.

Citrus also down in San Diego, ran into lefthander Jim Valley. Valley did not pitch in the first half of the season but was all the Owls could handle and more Tuesday. He allowed only three hits, struck out 14, and batted in a run.

Citrus drops a 4-3 mark in Mission Conference play and a 19-11 mark overall. SDCC is 7-1 and tied for the league lead.

San Diego scored the only run it really needed in the first inning. Jack Nobles walked, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Valley's single.

In the fourth inning, Bob Locke led off with a triple and scored on Jim Fernandez' single.

Citrus hosts Chaffey Thursday. The Panthers were beaten by Grossmont, 11-3, Tuesday.

Chaffey hit the ball well against Grossmont, but the Griffins hit it better — 17 times — going through five Panther pitchers in the process. The loss dropped Chaffey to 4-4 in the second half, three games off the pace being set by front-running San Diego (7-1) and 2½ games behind Palomar (6-1), the team the Panthers shared the first round title with.

Factors other than price-per-pound in meat-buying

Do you buy meat according to its cost per pound? Is the price sticker your only meat-buying consideration? If so, you may be overlooking better selection criteria — namely, how much you get for your money, the eating quality of the meat, and how much work you have to put into its preparation. Because all of these factors enter into making a satisfying meat purchase, smart shoppers buy meat according to its cost per serving, United States Department of Agriculture quality grade, and how they intend to cook it.

Since the majority of the red meat you buy is beef, USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service suggests here's how you can get the most for your beef buying dollar:

Different beef cuts have different percentages of fat and bone, so each one doesn't necessarily give you the same number of servings per pound. Some cuts with higher costs per pound also give you more servings per pound, making their cost per serving more nearly comparable to those of lower priced cuts. Since the cost per serving isn't on the label, you may not have considered this. But it's a more accurate guide to how much you will get for your money.

To compute the cost per serving of any cut, you need to know about how many servings you'll get from a pound. Here's the approximate number of 3-ounce servings you'll get from an average pound: (information from the National Livestock and Meat Board)

TWO SERVINGS PER POUND — porterhouse steaks, T-bone steaks, top loin (club) steaks, rib steaks and roasts, chuck steaks, and blade chuck and arm chuck roasts.

TWO AND A HALF SERVINGS PER POUND — sirloin steaks and boneless chuck roasts.

THREE SERVINGS PER POUND — rib eye steaks and roasts, tenderloin (filet mignon) steaks, round steaks, flank steaks, sirloin tip roasts, boneless rump roasts, and boneless briskets.

FOUR SERVINGS PER-POUND — ground beef, stewing beef, cubed steak, and liver.

Divide the approximate number of servings per pound into the cost per pound and you'll get the cost per 3-pounce serving for that cut.

Buying according to the cost per serving makes sense. That way you do not buy solely by a cut's price per pound, but by how much you get from it.

Buying according to the USDA quality grade also makes sense. If the meat you buy bears a USDA quality grade shield, you can be assured of its eating quality — meaning its tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. For a specific cut—sirloin steaks for example —you can expect the following differences among the top three USDA quality grades:

USDA prime beef offers the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness and flavor. It has abundant marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which enhances the flavor and juiciness. It is the highest grade available, and most of the more desirable cuts of this grade are sold to restaurants.

USDA Choice beef is very tender, juicy, and flavorful. It has slightly less marbling than Prime, but is still of very high quality. Choice is the grade most commonly found in supermarkets.

USDA Good beef often pleases thrifty shoppers because it is usually somewhat more lean than Prime or Choice. It is only slightly less tender than Choice, but because it has less marbling, it lacks some of the juiciness and flavor of the higher grades.

While all meat is inspected for wholesomeness, not all is federally graded. About 85 per cent of beef sold in supermarkets as steaks and roasts is graded. Grading is a voluntary service available to the meat industry for a fee. So, if you're concerned about the quality of beef you buy, look for cuts bearing the USDA grade shield.

Some cuts are much easier and quicker to cook than others. Consider the amount of time and effort you have to put into cooking each cut properly.

Generally, beef cuts can be divided into two groups with different cooking requirements. The less-tender cuts from the animal's motion muscles in the shoulder and in the front and hind legs take longer to cook and require moist heat. The more tender cuts from the less-used support muscles in the middle of the bake take less time to cook and can be cooked with dry heat.

DRY HEAT: (broiling, roasting, panbroiling, panfrying, or over charcoal) tenderloin steaks, porterhouse steaks, T-bone steaks, top loin (club) steaks, rib steaks, sirloin steaks, ribeye steaks, sirloin tip roasts (in top grades only), rump roasts, rib roasts, and ground beef.

MOIST HEAT: (braising, stewing, pot roasting, cooking in liquid) round steaks, flank steaks, blade chuck steaks and roasts, arm chuck steaks and roasts, stewing beef, corned beef brisket, short ribs, and beef shanks.

Decide how much time and effort you're willing to put into cooking, then select the cut best for you. Remember the more-tender cuts that require the least cooking time are almost always more expensive. Is low price or less cooking time more important to you?

These are some of the most important considerations that wise beef buyers should be aware of, but there is still more you can learn about buying beef. For more information write for a free single copy of "How to Buy Beef Steaks" (G-145), and-or "How to Buy Beef Roasts" (G-146) to: AMS Information Division, USDA, 630 Sansome St., Room 702, San Francisco, CA 94111 or to Office of Communications, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Please mention the booklet by name and number and include your zip code.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has extended to May 31 the deadline for consumers and other interested persons to submit comments on its proposal to amend regulations covering the net weight statements on packages of meat and poultry products.

Because of public interest and requests for additional time for considering the proposal, USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) is extending the time originally allotted for filing comments and presenting oral views. The original deadline was Friday, April 5.

Comments on the proposal should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D.C. 20250. Anyone interested in presenting his comments orally should contact the Systems Development and Sanitation Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250 by May 31, 1974.

Comments received will be available for public review in the Hearing Clerk's office.

ONIONS FOR SPRING

In contrast to last year, a large supply of spring onions is now available at supermarkets.

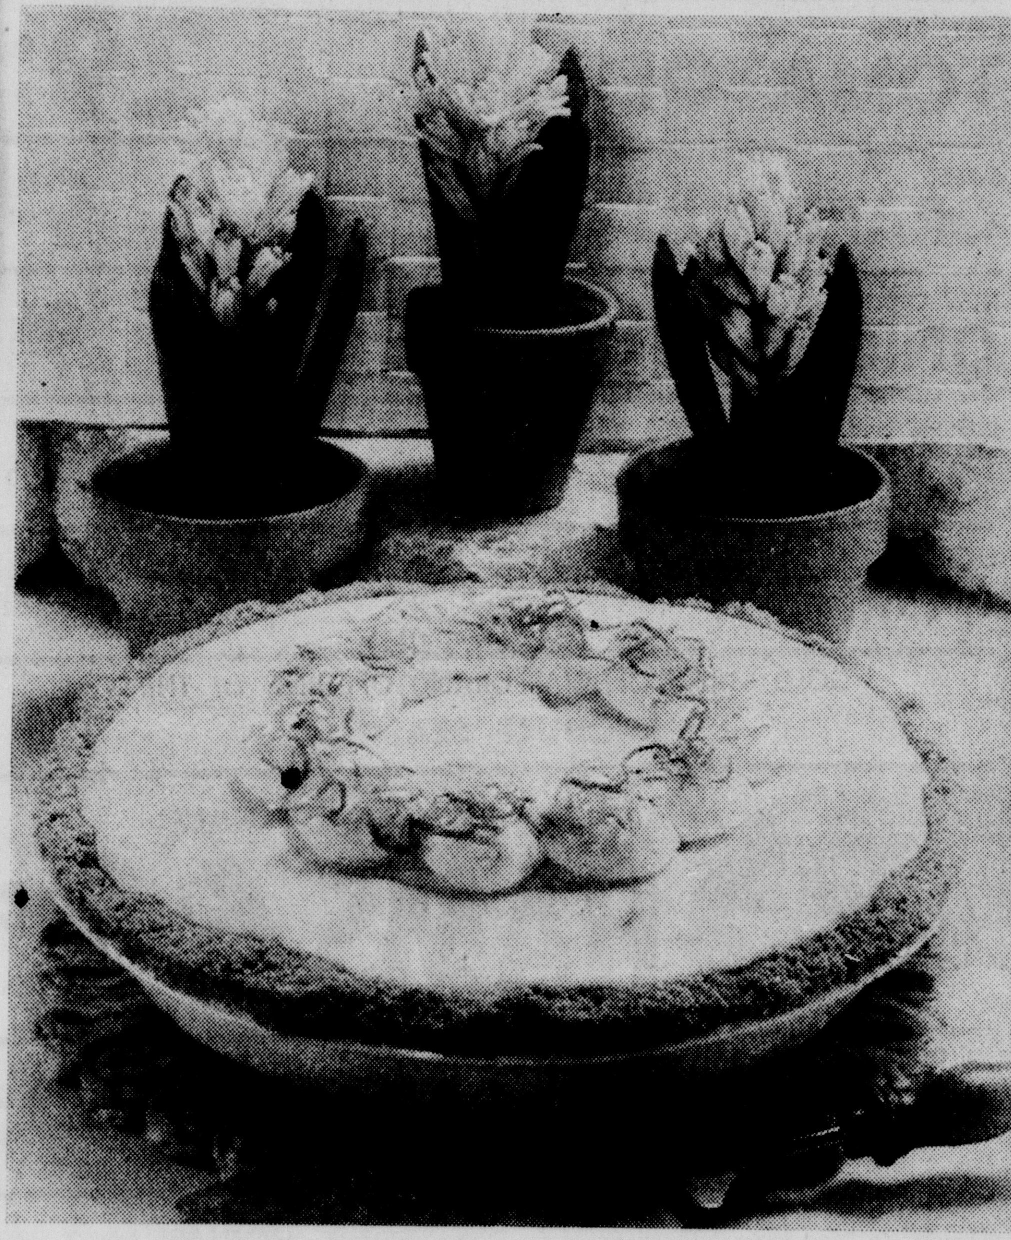
During April, most of the nation's onion supply originates in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. Adverse weather conditions last year caused a shortage of onions on the retail level, but excellent growing conditions this season have given Rio Grande producers the best yield in several years.

Shipping point prices in Texas for medium size onions of 80 per cent U.S. No. 1 or better quality ranged from [illegible] to $2.25 per 50-pound sack on April 4, compared with $10 a year ago.

This year's bumper crop should make many dishes more zestful. Onions can be used to add extra flavor to a wide range of meat and vegetable dishes. They may be used in soups, stews, and with roasts.

When buying fresh onions, look for a firm, dry product. U.S. Department of Agriculture marketing specialists say the individual onion should be covered with a papery outside scale and reasonably free from green sunburn spots and blemishes. Onions with wet or soft necks should be bypassed because they are immature or decayed. Other warning signs are thick, hollow or woody centers in the neck, and fresh green sprouts on the onion.

It appears that onion growers have gone over the top this spring in assuring a large supply of this flavor enhancer for the dinner tables of the nation.



WELCOME TO SPRING

This chiffon pie sets a nice tone for a spring party. In a bowl, combine 1½ cups macaroon crumbs and ¼ cup softened butter. Press into nine-inch pan and bake 8 minutes at 375 degrees. In a pan, combine 1 envelope unflavored gelatin with ¼ cup sugar and add two egg yolks beaten with 1 cup milk. Stir constantly over low heat about 5 minutes until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat and stir in ¼ cup cream sherry. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly. In medium bowl, beat 2 egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar and beat until stiff but not dry. Fold in gelatin mixture, then fold in ½ pint heavy cream whipped. Turn into prepared crust and chill until firm. Garnish with cream and coconut.

LAZY FRIKADELLER — In a bowl, blend 1 pound lean ground beef, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon grated onion. Add 2 slightly beaten eggs combined with ¾ cup milk and beat mixture with large spoon until it is very light. Let rest 10 minutes, then add ¾ cup milk and beat again until very light. In a 10-inch skillet with sloping sides, lightly brown 1 tablespoon each butter and margarine. Arrange half the meat mixture on bottom of pan. Top with ½ cup crumbled blue cheese and 1 cup fresh or frozen peas. Add remainder of meat, covering the filling. Brown meat on medium heat 5 minutes, then cover, reduce heat and cook for 20 minutes. Finally broil about 5 minutes until top is golden brown. Sprinkle chopped parsley on top and garnish with crisply cooked and seasoned carrot slices. Cut into 6 wedges for serving.

Meatballs for party prepared in advance

Everyone is on the search for do-ahead foods. Meatball lovers will be happy to know that a quantity of party meatballs will freeze well. Store in oven cooking bags and cook in the same bag in a roasting pan or heavy oven casserole as needed. If serving is delayed, hold the meatballs in the bag to keep them from drying out. Meatballs will keep safely in freezer storage in the plastic bags. For longer storage, overwrap them with heavy duty aluminum foil and tag with day of storage.

MAKE-AHEAD MEATBALLS

Deadline extended on meat, poultry plant proposal

QUAQITY CONTROL COMMENT DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for receiving public comments on a U.S. Department of Agriculture proposal concerning meat and poultry plant quality control programs has been extended to May 10. The original deadline had been March 22.

USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said the comment period was extended because of public interest and requests for additional time for considering and commenting on the proposal.

USDA officials said the proposal would provide for the approval and use of quality control systems voluntarily installed by meat and poultry processing plants. These systems would in turn be monitored by federal meat and poultry inspectors to augment their own observations and samplings of processed products for wholesomeness and accurate labeling.

Comments on the proposal should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D.C. 20250. Anyone interested in presenting views orally should immediately contact the Systems Development and Sanitation Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. Records of oral comments, as well as written views, will be available for public review in the Hearing Clerk's office during normal business hours.

A notice concerning the extension in the comment period was published in the March 22 Federal Register.

How U.S. Department of Agriculture grades can help you judge the quality of the food you buy is explained in ''Como Servirse de Los Grados del USDA al Comprar Los Comestibles" (How to Use USDA Grades in Buying Food), just issued in Spanish translation by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The booklet, Home and Garden Bulletin No. 196-S, gives brief descriptions of the USDA quality grades for dairy products, poultry, fruits and vegetables, eggs, and meat. Recognizing the USDA grades on foods can help you know more about what you are buying and get the most for your money.

The booklet was prepared by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service More complete information on quality of the various commodities is contained in the "How to Buy Food" series of publications, 13 of which are also available in "Spanish."

TURKEY TIME

In April turkeys will be available in near-record quantities, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. This April's crop will be about 30 per cent greater than the April average for 1971-72-73, and cold storage turkeys will top this 3-year average by 40 per cent.

Turkey is a happy combination of good nutrition and good taste, offering high quaity protein at attractive prices. Treat your Easter guests to Roast Turkey with Sausage-Orange Dressing, or using the convenient turkey roasts or rolls, add a gourmet touch with Apricot-Pineapple Glaze or Curry Amond sauce.

SAUSAGE-ORANGE DRESSING

1 12- to 13-pound turkey
2 teaspoons salt
1 pound ground sausage
1 13-ounce package prepared dressing mix
2 cups finely chopped celery
1 onion, finely chopped
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
½ cup melted butter
4 tablespoons orange juice
Shortening
1 cup orange juice
1 cup sauterne

Rinse turkey in cold water and wipe dry with paper towel. Rub salt into cavity only. To make dressing saute sausage slowly until crumbly and cooked, but not brown; drain. Toss in large bowl with dressing mix, celery, onion, and orange peel. Add melted butter and 4 tablespoons orange juice gradually, tossing to mix well.

Loosely stuff neck and body cavities with dressing. If desired, close body cavities with skewers; tie wings close to body and legs together. Rub shortening over entire bird; place breast-side down on rack in shallow pan. Roast at 325 degrees for 2½ hours; turn breast-side up and roast 1½ to 2 hours longer. During last hour, baste with orange juice and wine. Allow turkey to cook ½ hour for easier carving. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

If you are serving turkey breast, roast, or a turkey roll, add extra flavor by basting it with this apricot-Pineapple Glaze or serving it with Curry Almond Sauce.

APRICOT-PINEAPPLE GLAZE

1 cup apricot-pineapple jam
2 tablespoons chopped chives
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon Pepper marinade
½ cup oil

Combine all ingredients in a blender, and blend well. Baste turkey during last half hour of roasting time. Makes about 1¾ cups glaze.

CURRY ALMOND SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 cup turkey broth
½ cup heavy cream
½ cup blanched slivered almonds
¼ cup lemon juice

Melt butter. Add onion and cook until tender. Add curry powder, and stir to blend. Add turkey broth and cream. Cook stirring frequently until thickened. Stir in lemon and almonds. Serve hot with turkey. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

BEEFY APPETIZERS

For those who love the taste of beef, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has good news . . . beef will be in good supply through April, so watch for beef "specials" at your store.

The good taste of beef lends itself to appetizers as well as entrees. Treat yourself and your friends to these beefy appetizers.

MEAT BALLS BAKED IN SOUR CREAM

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1-3rd cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream at room temperature

In a bowl lightly mix beef, onion, olives, eggs, salt and pepper just until blended; shape into 24 balls. In a skillet melt butter; brown meat balls slowly on all sides and cook until done. Place in 1-quart casserole. Pour off fat in skillet reserving 2 tablespoons; blend in flour. Add water, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, paprika and salt; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook an additional 2 minutes. Remove from heat; carefully blend in sour cream; pour over meat balls.

CALIFORNIA BEEF ROLLS

1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Salt and seasoned pepper
¼ teaspoon dill weed
12 thin slices cold roast beef
1 small cucumber
Ripe olives

Blend cream cheese with horseradish, dill weed and mustard. Sprinkle beef slices with salt and seasoned pepper. Spread each slice with about 1½ tablespoons cheese mixture. Pare and cut cucumber in half crosswise. Cut each half lengthwise into halves and then into thirds. Place 1 cucumber stick on each slice of beef and roll beef around cucumber. Garnish with ripe olives. Makes 12 rolls.

JAPANESE BEEF KEBABS

1 cup tarragon-flavored vinegar
2 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon black pepper
2 pounds beef sirloin steak
2 lemons
About 48 small whole bay leaves or larger ones cut into 1-inch squares
Skewers

Combine vinegar, oil, soy sauce, onion, garlic and pepper in saucepan. Bring to boil; cool throughly. Meanwhile, cut steak into ½-inch cubes; remove any fat. Cut each lemon crosswise into 4 slices; then cut each slice into 8 wedge-shaped pieces. Add beef to marinade and marinate about 1 hour. Thread skewers with a beef cube, a lemon piece, another beef cube, a bay leaf and end with a beef cube. Broil 5 inches below an oven broiler or grill over charcoal to desired doneness. Makes about 4 dozen kebabs.

LIVER EN BROCHETTE

1½ pounds calf or beef liver, sliced ½-inch thick
12 mushrooms caps
½ pound sliced bacon
Salt and pepper
Skewers

Cut liver into pieces 1¼ inch square. Cut bacon into 2-inch lengths. Place a washed mushroom cap on a skewer, then alternate liver and bacon for 1 inch ending with mushroom cap. Broil over charcoal or in oven broiler until desired doneness. Serves 10 to 12.

Driver wins suit against Gen. Motors

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — A man whose car broke down after 25,000 miles bypassed attorneys and singlehandedly took on General Motors in Court—and won.

"It was me against them," said John O'Rourke of San Anselmo. "No high powered lawyers."

O'Rourke, 37, an engineering geologist, emerged the victor Monday in his Marin County small claims court battle with the Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

O'Rourke had to replace the engine in his 1972 Vega when it became damaged because of overheating.

Judge Robert Smallman ruled that a "reasonably prudent person would be unable to keep his engine from burning up."

He ordered the company to reimburse O'Rourke $500 plus $27 in court costs.

The limit of recovery in small claims court, where attorneys are forbidden to take part, is $500. O'Rourke said it cost him $679.83 to repair the car but felt his fight was worth it.

"The people who buy this kind of car just can't afford to put a new engine in," he said.

CHICAGO, March 11, 1974 — In case you hadn't noticed, beef is back!

John L. Huston, vice president, Beef program of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, said more beef is available currently in the nation's meat counters at lower prices. He said more weekend specials are being featured also. He said increased numbers of fed cattle have been moving to market since the end of the truck strike.

"These are animals that would have become part of the beef supply earlier had not the truck strike disrupted transportation,' he explained. "The supply vines are bulging as cattle now reaching market weight are being sold along with those that were delayed in getting to market during the truck strike," he noted. "Alert consumers will take advantage of this bulge in supplies."

"While this represents some exceptional values for shoppers in their beef purchases, the nation's cattle feeders are caught in a critical economic squeeze," Huston said. "The forced delay in marketings added to already inflated feeding costs."

The cost of feed grains, in particular, has continued to rise, while live cattle prices continue to slip. This combination of increased production costs and sliding prices means that feeders are losing money on every head of cattle they sell.

"And they must sell them. With feed costs what they are, the feeder would lose even more on his considerable investment if he held the animals past their market weight."

Huston said cattle feeders, like other farmers and ranchers, are accustomed to ups and downs in the marketplace . . . but not such a sustained period of extensive losses. He said if the situation, which dates back to last fall, doesn't ease soon it will have a severely detrimental effect on beef supplies in the future. He said, however, the law of supply and demand should work in favor of increased beef production.

"More orderly marketing of the product, better weather and more adequate feed supplies — and a return to the profit side of the ledger: that ideal combination of factors would represent the nation's best assurance of an upturn in beef production," Huston said. "Inflation is still a factor for both the producer and the consumer," he added, "along with the uncertainties created by the fuel crisis and world demand. And a recurrence of other market disruptions over which the industry has no control, such as boycotts and price ceilings, would definitely discourage increased production.

"But, basically, if the natural forces of the marketplace are allowed to operate, the result will be more stable supplies and prices — without the wildly fluctuating prices and intermittant periods of building supplies and shortages which have plagued both the industry and the consumer over the past year," Houston said.

Three drinks perfect for any occasion

Conserving precious energy by staying at home? Brew up a bevy of heavenly hot and nutritious cranberry drinks. They're bound to produce a very special berry glow and cozy atmosphere even without burning logs, or that oh, so precious fuel.

Here are three new cranberry concoctions for a variety of cheery berry breaks for different occasions. They're all easy to prepare and perfect for serving in a mug.

Cranberry Soup in a Mug is a hearty creation combining cranberry juice cocktail with clamato, and an onion soup mix. Garnish the mug with a stalk of celery. It's a veritable vegetarian delight.

Having a quilting party or friends for bridge? They'll adore the aromatic and fruitful mixture of a Cranberry Tease which is whipped up in a trice in a blender. For a special teatime treat—or a new cocktail hour delight, the Cranapple Blissful Bounce is a bonny blend of cranberry apple drink, tea, orange, and a bit of bourbon. Brewed in just five minutes.

CRANBERRY SOUP IN A MUG

4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 cups clamato juice
1 envelope dehydrated onion soup mix

Combine all ingredients and simmer until bubbly. Pour into mugs and serve hot garnished with celery stalks.

CRANBERRY TEASE

4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) peeled whole apricots, pitted
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated lemonade, thawed and undiluted
2 cinnamon sticks
2 cups water

In a blender combine 1 cup of the cranberry juice, juice drained from the apricots and pitted apricots. Whirl at high speed until smooth. Pour this mixture into a saucepan. Stir in remaining cranberry juice, lemonade, cinnamon sticks and water. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove cinnamon sticks and pour into mugs. Serve hot with cinnamon sticks as stirrers, if desired.

CRANAPPLE BLISSFUL BOUNCE

4 cups cranberry apple juice
1 tea bag
1 small orange, cut into quarters
1 cup bourbon

In a saucepan combine cranberry apple juice, tea bag and orange. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove tea bag and stir in bourbon. Reheat until mixture just starts to bubble. Pour into mugs adding 1 of the orange quarters to each mug. Serve at once.

Tomatoes need tender loving care

What vegetable is not a vegetable? The tomato, of course. Although it is served mainly as a vegetable, the tomato is technically a fruit. There is no controversy on that point but there is controversy on the color of tomatoes found in grocery stores.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the tomatoes you grow in your garden usually have the best flavor since they are allowed to ripen completely before being picked. But just imagine what condition a fully ripe tomato would be in if it had to be shipped thousands of miles! That's why tomatoes that are shipped to market are usually picked green or just after the color has begun to change to a tannish yellow or pink. They continue ripening on the way to market and can arrive in stores in good condition.

There are many tomato varieties, ranging from the famliar plump round tomato to the smaller plum or cherry tomatoes. In moderate to liberal supply throughout the year, tomatoes are abundant from August through November.

U.S. Department of Agriculture quality grades are sometimes shown on packaged tomatoes. The grade that you are most likely to see is U.S. No. 1. This is the highest grade for wholesale trading, and indicates that at the time of packing the tomatoes generally were clean, not overripe or soft, fairly well-formed, smooth and free from defects. Tomatoes sold in bulk are not usually labeled by grade.

When buying from bulk bins the shopper should look for tomatoes that are fairly firm, with color ranging from pink to red. Avoid tomatoes that are soft, or that have large green or yellow areas or growth cracks around the stem scar. Also avoid tomatoes that have soft spots (bruises) or depressed areas (an indication of decay).

Fully ripe tomatoes should be stored in the refrigerator. To ripen tomatoes, keep them in a warm place. Do not put them in the refrigerator first—this might prevent them from ripening later on.

Cooking in quantity stretches meat $$

One of the better ways to stretch the meat or poultry dollar is to cook large quantities of a roast, for example, or cook a whole turkey and use leftovers in imaginative and tasty dishes. Two such dishes that will help vary the leftovers from Easter entertaining are an Easy Cranberry Cassoulet and a Cranwich Casserole. Even portions of these dishes may be frozen as an added money and energy-saving step.

EASY CRANBERRY CASSOULET

6 slices bacon, chopped
2 onions, chopped
1 pound breakfast sausages, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon thyme
3 cups diced cooked lamb, chicken or beef
3 cans (1 pound, 4 ounces each) cannellini beans, (white kideny beans), drained
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 cup cranberry-orange relish
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed chicken broth
2 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or margarine

In a large Dutch oven or saucepan fry bacon until crisp. Add onions and sausages and saute until all are golden. Do not drain drippings. Stir in garlic, thyme, meat or poultry and beans. Mix tomato paste, relish and chicken broth in a bowl. Pour bean mixture into a 3-quart casserole. Pour tomato paste over bean mixture. Stir to blend. Bake in a preheated 300-degree oven for 2 hours or until brown and crusty. Mix crumbs and butter in a small skillet and stir over low heat until crumbs are brown and crisp. Sprinkle some crumbs over each serving of cassoulet. This bean dish also can be prepared more quickly by simmering in a covered Dutch oven or saucepan for 30 minutes, stirring occasiosally. Serve sprinkled with crumbs. Makes 6 servings.

CRANWICH CASSEROLE

12 white bread slices
1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
6 thick slices leftover cooked ham, chicken or turkey
Butter or margarine
4 eggs
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups (8 ounces) sharp cheddar cheese, grated

Using bread, cranberry sauce and ham, make sandwiches. Spread outside of sandwich with soft butter. Place sandwiches side by side in a greased 9x13x2-inch baking pan. Beat eggs, milk and salt until well blended. Pour over sandwiches. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a preheated 350-dgree oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until brown and puffed. Cut apart sandwiches and remove with a pancake turner to serve. Makes 6 servings.

SLIM CHICKEN BAKE

Chicken out on dieting if you want to cut calories

Counting calories?

Count on chicken.

If you've added unwanted pounds during the winter and want to shed them before you head for the pool or beach, the best way to do it is to cut down on the number of calories consumed.

But you don't have to starve. Just learn to eat correctly, advises the National Broiler Council.

That's when low-calorie, highly nutritious chicken becomes a dieter's best friend.

Chicken has fewer calories than any other meat. A three-ounce portion of broiled, skinless chicken breast contains only 115 calories. Even with the skin, the count is just 185 calories.

Compare this with a serving of roast pork (310 calories), market-ground hamburger (245 calories) or broiled sirloin (330 calories).

Best of all, chicken contains more protein per pound than any other meat. That means you won't be hungry when you finish eating as you often are when following a crash diet.

Chicken has a lower fat content than any other meat and it contains no carbohydrate. Yet chicken outranks other meats in Vitamin A and is a good source of Vitamin B — both important daily nutrients.

Chicken is economical, too. And because it can be prepared in so many tempting ways, you can enjoy it often and still have plenty of variety in your diet.

The delicate flavor of chicken combines well with a number of other low-calorie foods. Today's broiler-fryers are so naturally tender you don't have to add extra calories in cooking either.

When you have learned to live — for keeps — on low-calories foods that satisfy, you'll keep those unwanted pounds off permanently.

Can you think of a better dieting aid than chicken?

You probably already have your own favorite low-calorie ways of preparing chicken. Here are two more pounds-shedding ideas you might want to try:

ROSY-LOW CALORIE CHICKEN

3 broiler-fryer breast halves, skinned
½ teaspoon onion salt
2 tablespoons sherry
¾ cup tomato juice
¼ cup green pepper, diced
½ teaspoon soy sauce

Season chicken breasts with onion salt. Place in baking dish. Combine sherry, tomato juice, diced pepper and soy sauce; pour over chicken. Bake, uncovered, at 400 degrees for 40 minutes. Baste occasionally with tomato juice mixture.

SLIM CHICKEN BAKE

2 broiler-fryer breast halves, skinned
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
4 Spanish Olives, sliced thin

Season chicken breast halves with garlic salt. Sprinkle with paprika. Place chicken in shallow baking dish, rib side up. Combine lemon juice, soy sauce, and basil leaves; pour over chicken. Bake at 400 degrees, uncovered, for 20 minutes. Turn chicken, baste with juices, top with sliced olives and continue baking for 20 minutes.

Oven bag takes care of the bones

Many people say the annoying small bones in fish keep them from eating this high-protein, natural food. If it is their sheer laziness in picking meat off the bones or a fear of swallowing a small bone, then the problem is solved with long, slow cooking in oven bags. This process helps dissolve small bones and makes it possible to serve an economical fine-boned buck shad, for example, or other fish with fine bones with little effort on the part of the eater. Cooking in the bag also cuts down on fish odors and cleanup. To save on fuel costs, prepare the rest of the meal such as canned green beans with tiny onions in the oven, too.

FISH IN THE BAG

OVEN BAG SHAD IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 tablespoon flour
3 shad, cut crosswise into 1 to 1-½ inch steaks
¼ cup vegetable oil, salt and pepper
¼ cup coarsely chopped onion
1-3rd cup coarsely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 can (8-ounce) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, minced

Preheat oven to 225 degrees. Shake flour in small (10 x 16 inch) brown-in-bag and place in two-inch-deep roasting pan. Brush fish steaks with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in bag. Scatter vegetables over fish. Combine tomato sauce and seasonings; pour into bag. Close bag with twist tie. Cut six half-inch slits in top. Cook 6 hours. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Elegant pie good food for emperor

The pinnacle of Napolean's success came in May, 1804, when France became an Empire and Napolean was proclaimed Emperor. Besides his place in history, Napolean's name is associated with cognac, the brandy that comes from the Cognac region of France.

For an elegant dinner on a very special occasion, you might like to close with a memorable flourish by serving Napolean's Cognac Pie. The distinguishing feature of this creation is a touch of cognac brandy. This pie is for that occasion when you are serving a dinner fit for a king —or an emperor.

NAPOLEON'S COGNAC PIE

CRUST — Make a graham cracker crumb pie crust, following package directions. Line a 10-inch pie plate with it. Bake 8 minutes to set.

FILLING — In a mixing bowl, mix 4 egg yolks (reserve the white for a souffle sometime) with 1 heaping cup of granulated sugar. The mixture will be very stiff. Add 1-3rd cup cognac. Mix well. 1 envelope unflavored gelatin melted in 1½ tablespoons warm water. Mix well. Now beat in ½ pint heavy whipping cream until it peaks but is not too stiff. Fold into the mixture. Pour this into the pie shell and refrigerate for 3 hours, or better, over night.

When ready to serve, beat another ½ pint whipping cream. Spread over pie. Grate a piece of bitter chocolate over the whipped cream.

Two favorite ways to barbecue chicken

Chicken is near the top of the list of favorite meats to barbecue indoors or out. In view of the energy shortage and of the fact that, in some areas, cooking over open air fires is discouraged because of its contribution to air pollution, instructions for both indoor and outdoor barbecuing are given.

Included are two versions of sauce basted grilled or broiled chicken. There is also a recipe for a favorite family style cole slaw to serve with the chicken.

The barbecue sauces are easy and inexpensive to make. Corn syrup is used in each sauce since it lends easily with other ingredients and helps to give the sauce a consistency that clings to the chicken pieces during cooking. Brush sauces on during the last half hour of cooking.

BARBECUED CHICKEN CALIFORNIA

1 broiler-fryer chicken, halved or quartered
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
1-3rd cup grapefruit juice
¼ cup light or dark corn syrup
¼ cup corn oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ cup corn oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon hot sauce
¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Rub both sides of chicken with poultry seasoning. Place broiler pan or grate at least 6 inches from source of heat. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, on grate or broiler, Turn while broiling about 1 hour. Mix together grapefruit juice, corn syrup, corn oil, soy sauce, mustard, hot sauce and garlic powder. Baste chicken with sauce during last 30 minutes, turning occasionally. Chicken is done when the leg twists easily out of thigh joint and other pieces are tender when pierced with fork. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

ZESTY BARBECUED CHICKEN

¼ cup corn oil
1 broiler-fryer chicken cut in serving pieces
¾ cup catchup
¼ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup bottled steak sauce

Brush chicken with corn oil. Place skin side up in broiler pan or on grate set 6 inches from source of heat. Boil or grill about 25 minutes, turning once. Mix together catchup, corn syrup and steak sauce. Brush over chicken. Continue cooking at least 20 minutes (depending on size of chicken) until chicken is fork tender and leg twists easily out of thigh joint, basting with sauce mixture and turning frequently. Makes 2 to 4 servings. Any remaining sauce may be heated and served with chicken.

MOTHER'S COLE SLAW

¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 cups shredded cabbage
2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
Paprika

Mix together corn syrup, vinegar, margarine, sugar, salt and pepper in saucepan. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Pour over shredded cabbage; mix well. Chill at least 1 hour. Toss with sour cream just before serving, Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

For a new side dish, serve refried beans

Bargain-starved and protein-conscious homemakers are looking for something new.

A new ingredient that will extend protein in family meals without taxing the already strained meat budget; a new and satisfying side dish with a distinctive flavor; a new and happily inexpensive appetizer dip for guests.

The big news may not be new at all but something that's been a tradition in Mexican menus for centuries; refried beans, "Frijoles refritos."

According to home economists, refried beans are every bit as adaptable as the Irish potato, Italian pasta and Southern grits to menus in U.S. homes.

They fit nicely into major meals from breakfast to late supper. And, between times, are a healthy and hearty part of one of the most favorite pastimes on both sides of the border . . . snacking.

As a side dish convenient canned refried beans can be heated and served as is, or, to suit U.S. tastes, topped with shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese. They also go well in combination with sour cream or cottage cheese.

One of the happiest ways of introducing the family (especially the children) to frijoles refritos is in Mexican Bean Burgers.

MEXICAN BEAN BURGERS

2 tablespoons cooking oil
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon bottled taco sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon chopped canned mild green chilies
1 (7¾ounces) can sauce for tacos, or hot tomato sauce
1 (17 ounces) can refried beans
6 hamburger patties, broiled
6 hamburger buns, toasted, buttered

Heat oil in skillet; add onion and cook 3 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients except patties and buns. Simmer 10 minutes. Place broiled patties on bottom of bun halves; spoon bean mixture over patties. Cover with top bun halves.

Wineries looking toward big crush

The first evidence of California's 1974 wine harvest has appeared on the vines of M. LaMont Vineyards in the Bear Mountain district of the southeastern San Joaquin Valley where winery officials happily announced that the "buds are breaking."

As the first tiny leaves began appearing on the vines, Keith Nylander, president of M. LaMont, estimated that the winery's total crush in 1974 would exceed 140,000 tons.

Nylander, whose pioneer experiments proved that premium quality wine grape varieties could be grown in the area that is known throughout the wine industry as the Bear Mountain district, has a ready explanation for the high quality grapes being produced in the region.

The climate at Bear Mountain is such that it allows a budding which is two to four weeks earlier than any other in California. This means that before mid-summer the grapevines will have a more mature formation of sugar and a luxuriant canopy of protective leaves for these special wine grapes," he explained. "This earlier maturation has helped produce a grape which M. LaMont has used to develop its premium wines which were first introduced two years ago," Nylander said.

The Bear Mountain district is at the foothills of the Tehachapi Mountains on a plain noted for its deep fertile mountain soil. Until Nylander first came to the region in the late 1950's there was little interest in planting wine grape varieties. However, he proved the area's good soil and unique growing conditions were excellent for most wine varieties.

Among the varieties which M. LaMont produces are Emerald Riesling, Semillon, Chein Blanc, French Colombard, Grenache Rose, Barbera, Ruby Cabernet and Zinfandel.

Soy protein stretches the meat dollar

Would you be interested in saving around 63 cents on every 1½ pounds of hamburger you serve?

Then consider the expertise of a young woman in business who prepares dinner for her family, consisting of her husband and two young children, ages 9 and 6. She uses a package of texturized soy protein to do the trick. More home use of soy protein is possible today through use of giant contractors to remove the oil from soybean to form the flakes which are the basis of a wide range of food products. Three such are soy flour, soy concentrate and soy isolate. Because of soybean's high rate of protein, the textured foods have practically the same protein rating as meat products.

Cutting meat costs can result, for example, with use of one package of texturized soy protein with one pound of chopped round steak. The texturized soy protein costs 29 cents.

Water is added to the texturized protein until it is the consistency of bread dough. Then it is blended into the pound of chopped beef. She pan broils it.

"My family is not aware of the addition of soy protein. They just eat it, which is a good way to tell me they like it," she says.

"It does stick a little to the pan because the soy protein absorbs fats and juices. It doesn't shrink quite so much as pure beef, either."

Persons eating this mixture are getting meat with less cholesterol in an almost perfect protein. "So you can understand," the young homemaker adds, "Why I use it often during these days of terrible inflation. I use it in my meat loaves, meat balls and other beef dishes. Everyone likes it."

Most supermarkets now sell textured soy protein. Some is fortified with vitamins or minerals. Read the labels carefully for this information.

Many markets also sell mixtures of chopped beef and soy protein in plastic trays, just like other meats. They are clearly marked. They sell at about 20 to 25 cents less than all-meat and are gaining greater homemaker acceptance daily, markets report.

We asked a spokesman for the American Meat Institute what its attitude was toward use of textured soy protein. The answer was:

"We consider it an important supplement to beef but a substitute. For most satisfactory results use a mixture of 75 per cent beef and 25 per cent textured soy. It is used in school luncheons," he says, "and also in myriad commercial products such as chili con carne, frozen beef patties, meat sauces and the like."

Besides being used as an extender for ground beef, textured soy in form of analogs are used as alternates to meat, fish and poultry protein. People report that these protein analogs often look and taste like meat, fish and poultry. They are intended mainly for people who don't eat meat for religious reasons but are used also by many others. They are on sale in many supermarkets and generally in health food stores.

Grease stains usually will come off wash fabrics if you apply a little butter before washing and rinsing.

Fish is base of two easy new dinners

Anytime is a good time for seafood recipes, but especially now when fish is a much better protein buy than most meats. Two new recipes, Savory Sea Stew and Golden Seafood Bake, created in the test kitchens of the R. T. French Company, will help you save time as well as money.

Savory Sea Stew is made with fish fillets, fresh or frozen, simmered in a hearty tomato sauce that's easily made from an envelope of spaghetti sauce mix. Add a package of frozen peas for bright color. Serve the completed stew over a bed of hot buttered rice, for a dish that will please the eye as well as the tastebuds.

Fresh or frozen fish is also the basic ingredient of the Golden Seafood Bake. The golden key to this recipe is a saucy combination of tangy prepared yellow mustard, sour cream, and crunchy croutons.

Served with hot buttered rice, a salad of lettuce wedges, fruit cup, cookies and coffee of milk, either recipe will provide your family with servings from the four basic food groups needed daily for good nutrition.

SAVORY SEA STEW

1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 envelope (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
1 to 2 pounds fish fillets, cut into 1-inch chunks
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, partially thawed
¼ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Cooked rice

Stir together tomatoes and contents of sauce mix envelope in large skillet or saucepan. Add fish and peas; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Sprinkle with cheese and serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

GOLDEN SEAFOOD BAKE

1 to 2 pounds fish fillets
Salt and pepper
1 cup plain croutons
¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
Parsley flakes

Arrange fish fillets in buttered shallow baking dish; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Stir together croutons, mustard, sour cream, and mayonnaise; spoon over fish. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Garnish with parsley flakes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Extra beef supply shows on price tags

Not all food prices are going up! This good news from groceryland is especially welcome since it comes from the meat case. For while some price tags have been soaring like kites in brisk March winds, the price-per-pound labels on beef, America's favorite meat, have drifted down from winter's high.

Beef cuts — from steaks and roast to cubes and ground beef — are sporting more attractive price tags this spring. The reason for this bonanza for the food budget is an extra supply of beef coming to market now. In addition to lowering the price of all beef cuts, the result of this ample supply is many beef specials. The smart shopper will look to the newspaper ads to spot them.

Now is the time to appease the family's yearning for a juicy steak or tender roast. It's also good timing to buy these special cuts to freeze for future cookouts. For you can't count on finding such favorable prices on these popular grill selections in the coming outdoor season.

Lower beef prices also mean that this nutritious meat can be chosen more frequently now for budget-balancing menus. Pot-roasts and blade and arm steaks from the chuck, round steak, beef for stew, shank cross cuts and ground beef can make economical as well as satisfying meals. These cuts combine well with a variety of other good buys in vegetables and pasta products for appetizing entrees that don't break the budget.

These more economical beef cuts also are excellent candidates for freezing now. When you see an especially good buy, don't pass it up — wrap it up and freeze it! Or save both money and time by doubling stew, meat loaf and casserole recipes and storing the "twin" in your freezer.

Freezing specials for future use is but one of many ways to stretch the beef dollar now. Eleven additional worthwhile tips for making money go further are detailed in a new publication — "A Dozen Ways to Stretch the Beef Dollar." Subject matter includes meal planning, wise buying, storage recommendations and time and money-saving cookery tips.

This helpful 12-page folder can be obtained for the cost of mailing and handling (25 cents). Just mail your request to "A Dozen Ways to Stretch Your Beef Dollar," Box 11168, Dept. MF, Beef Industry Council, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Potent glue given okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission has approved continued sale of a glue so strong it can temporarily bond hands and fingers together.

The glue, called cyanoacrelate and marketed in the U.S. under several brand names, was subjected to a lengthy investigation and public hearings after a consumer group asked whether it should not be declared hazardous.

Manufacturers of the glue demonstrated at hearings that fingers stuck together could be unbonded by slowly peeling them apart or by using a nail polish removal as a solvent.

Although the Commission said that the glue does not "warrant any further action," the product will be required to continue carrying warning labels stating that it can cause eye irritation.

OFF WITH CONTROLS!

Most are aware that federal controls on food prices were ended on April 15. There is some concern that this will mean an immediate increase in the weekly grocery bill, which is already straining the budgets of many homemakers.

We want to assure Alpha Beta customers that although these controls have been lifted, our stores will continue the policy of always offering the finest quality products at the lowest possible prices.

For some time Alpha Beta has felt that the forces of supply and demand and the competitive "give and take" of the marketplace are more effective in bringing the best food buys to the consumer than any type of artificially imposed controls.

It's asparagus season, time to take advantage of the good prices on this succulent spring vegetable. You might like to try a favorite Oriental dish.

ASPARAGUS BEEF

- 1 lb. top round steak
- ½ tsp. garlic salt
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- soy sauce
- 2 lbs. fresh asparagus
- 2 medium onions
- ½ tsp. salt
- salad oil
- 3 tbsp. golden mushroom soup (undiluted)
- ½ tsp. sugar

Prepare all ingredients ahead of time. Cooking is done at last minute. Cut steak into ⅛" strips (2½" long). Put into bowl with garlic salt, cornstarch, and 2 tsp. soy sauce. Wash and trim asparagus, then cut on the sharp diagonal into strips ¼" x 2". Cut onions into ¼" slices.

Cooking: Heat frying pan or wok to highest heat. Add ¼ cup salad oil. Sear meat quickly, then remove meat and juices from skillet to bowl. Add 3 tbsp. salad oil to skillet. Add onions and cook until just clear. Add soup, asparagus, 1 tbsp. soy sauce, salt and sugar. Cover. Stir occasionally, cook until asparagus is tender. Add meat at last minute and heat through. Serve with rice. Serves 6.

Favorite American dishes are from other countries

There's nothing as American as hamburger, hot dogs or pizza . . . and yet, let's face it, they're all foreigners! The almighty hamburger followed the frankfurter from Germany to the United States and pizza, of course, was standard fare in Italy back in Christopher Columbus' time.

Billions of hamburgers are consumed in the United States each year, and there's no doubt that the immigrant from Hamburg, Germany, is Americas's favorite meal and snack-time item.

It is said that German seamen introduced short-order cooks on the New York waterfront to the tasty delights of fried ground meat patties. And, in Hoboken, N.J., they still claim the hamburger is that garden spot's greatest discovery. The fame of this quick-cooking, easy-to-make food spread quickly and became the sensation of the St. Louis World's Fair in 1903.

Today, whole generations of Americans have grown up on hamburgers and there are children whose basic diet consists of "burgers" and "cokes."

Unquestionably, the hamburger has a lot going for it. It can be sandwiched in a bun with melted cheese, onions, relish, mustard and ketchup and become a cheeseburger; it can be stuffed into green peppers or tomatoes; it can be reduced to the size, but not the resiliency of golf balls, and served with spaghetti and lots of tomato sauce; and it can be enlarged to the size of a loaf of bread and become a meat loaf.

Restaurants often serve hamburger with a gravy sauce and call it Salisbury steak, supposedly named after J. E. Salisbury, a 19th century English doctor who was interested in dietary reform.

Roadside hamburger stands have accrued untold wealth while virtually changing the highway scenery of America.

The most aristocratic of all hamburgers is steak tartare. It is made with finely ground lean beef (either sirloin or top round), a raw egg, capers and other spicy seasoning and is eaten raw.

Steak tartare dates back to Genghis Khan, the 12th Century leader of the tarters. He and his tribesmen discovered they could tenderize tough meat by putting it between their saddles and horses. When they had ridden far enough and were hungry, they added a little salt, and, voila, instant dinner. Such an undainty dish probably gave rise to the theory in the middle ages that steak tartare was an aid to male potency.

One obvious benefit of hamburger is its cost. It can be made out of less tender cuts of beef, such as flank, shank, neck or beef trimmings. Prices rise progressively when ground chuck, round or sirloin are used.

One of the more sophisticated hamburger dishes is hamburger au poivre or hamburger with pepper. Roll the hamburger in freshly ground black pepper. Sear it over a high heat in butter and then lower the flame. Add a couple of drops of Worcestershire Sauce. After cooking, rinse the pan with two tablespoons of Courvoisier Cognac and pour it over the meat.

The Scots call their hamburger "mince" and cook the meat with onions in boiling water. This is served with skirl (which is made with oatmeal and onions in boiling water) and the Scottish liquer, Drambuie.

A word of advice about hamburger. Don't buy it already ground, as the finely chopped particles lose their flavor and moisture rather quickly.

The meat should be used within a couple of days at the most. But, if you must keep it longer, separate the patties with waxed paper or wrap individually in foil and freeze.

DANISH MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground round
1 chopped medium-sized onion
1 egg
½ cup bread crumbs
Salt
pepper

Mix all the ingredients together and bake in a loaf pan for 1 hour at 350 degrees. Serves four.

SCOTS BURGER

1 egg
Salt
pepper
1 tablespoon Drambuie

Mix ingredients as for regular hamburger and broil to taste.

STEAK TARTARE

2 pounds ground sirloin
1 medium size onion
1 tablespoon capers
Mustard
Salt
Black pepper
1 egg

Mix together all ingredients except egg. Make a hole in the center of the mixture and drop in the raw egg. Sprinkle lightly with cayenne.

BURGERS POTPOURRI

As for your usual hamburger mixture, let your imagination run wild. Create unique burgers by simply adding exciting flavors such as bacon bits, pieces of ham, cheddar cheese, chili . . . the list is infinite and your culinary reputation will be made.

Peek-'n'-poke cooks waste good energy

Do you "peek and poke" when cooking? If you do, say consumer specialists at the Southern California Gas Co., you are wasting energy and money.

Whenever you open the oven door to check an item cooking inside, the oven temperature can drop from 25 to 50 degrees, they point out.

That means the oven has to work overtime to bring the temperature up to the right setting, burning more natural gas in order to set things right again. That's money and energy being burned up needlessly.

The specialists suggest letting the oven timer do the work, while you sit back and relax. The timer eliminates cooking guesswork and can cut down on cooking time, they say.

You can save additional energy and kitchen work by putting the oven to double use. For instance, use unoccupied oven space to cook foods which can be frozen for a future meal.

To shorten cooking time, thaw frozen meats. A defrosted roast, for example, requires about a third less cooking time than a frozen one, the consumer specialists note.

It is not always necessary to preheat the oven, the specialists say. Preheat only when baking foods which require an exact time and temperature. If you have to preheat, 10 minutes usually does the trick.

An extra reminder from the specialists — never use the oven to heat your kitchen. It wasn't designed for that job.

Vinegar keeps rice unstuck

A small amount of vinegar added to the water when cooking rice will reduce the likelihood of sticking.

Wooden spoon easy on tongue

When tasting soups or gravies during cooking use a wooden spoon and you'll be less apt to burn your tongue.

Consumer guide is meat-money saver

Meat is the big question mark in today's shopping.

Most families spend 33 to 50 per cent of their food budget on meat products. But how much do they actually know about buying cuts of meat economically?

"We don't believe there is really any such thing as an economy cut of meat. Yet it is possible, even today, to purchase meat economically. But you need to know how," a New York meat cutter says.

This idea is part of the wisdom contained in a new, helpful volume entitled "the Meat Book." This is a lucid consumer guide to selecting, buying, storing, freezing and carving. It is the work of David Greene, a prominent meat cutter in New York and teacher of consumer seminars, and Travis Moncure Evans, writer and consumer advocate.

The following ideas are also from "The Meat Book" ($8.95, Scribers):

1) Fully trimmed cuts are not necessarily more expensive because what you are paying for is practically 100 per cent meat. Purchasing meat untrimmed, bone-in cuts at the lowest end of the price spectrum, can be false economy. The higher-priced, fully trimmed piece of meat will have far less waste and enough solid meat to justify the price differential.

2) How much meat will be enough for each person? If a cut contains no bone and very little fat, three ounces, can suffice for each serving. If you are serving something like beef plate meat, breast of lamb or spareribs, however, you are getting very little meat and lots of bone. You may need upwards of a pound per serving.

3) Think hot dogs and luncheon meat are thrifty? Most hot dogs are made up of 10 per cent water, 30 per cent fat and a small percentage of filler (unless the label reads "all meat") — more than 40 per cent non-nutritive foodstuffs.

4) Those innocuous processed "beef patties" or "meat patties" one often finds in the supermarket freezer section contain but a percentage of beef. You also are paying for pork spleens, soya flour, salt, dextrose, vegetable protein, flavoring and water. Most processed patties are more expensive than those you can easily make yourself from pure beef.

The book also contains excellent sections on primal cuts, pork, lamb and veal and soup stock and is a guide to buying meat at the supermarket. The section on buying and storing meat is good, so is the one on freezing meat. In fact, this is a very practical guide to the average shopper.

Turkey supply greater than a year ago

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today that turkey is now available in "unusually generous" volume.

A department economist said he believed prices were down to or below last year's levels.

The glut of turkey supplies, economist William E. Cathcart said, grew at least partly out of high prices last fall when retail prices approached $1 a pound. The price boom touched off an increase in turkey production. At the same time it apparently led to a slowdown in consumer buying.

Another department report said Americans may soon be getting increased supplies of Australian beef because Britons and Japanese are buying less.

W. S. beef imports, which come chiefly from Australia and New Zealand, dipped sharply in February and were 2 per cent below a year earlier in the first two months of the year.

The report said that American offering prices for Australian beef had declined, but Australian shippers might try to increase sales anyway because Japan, normally a big buyer, has suspended imports, and orders from Britain also are down.

Cutting out smoking needn't add pounds

DEAR SELMA:

With all the talk about the problems caused by smoking, I am considering quitting the habit after more than 20 years. The problem is that all of the people I know who have given up smoking ended up by gaining a great deal of weight. Is it possible to quit smoking and not gain weight?

Mrs. L. K.

Dear MRS. L. K.:

Yes, it is possible. I am sure that the body goes through a great change after a long-time smoker kicks the habit. I also know that people I have observed who gave up smoking usually substituted candy or some other food for cigarettes which helped to put on the pounds. If you are particularly careful about your eating habits while going through the process of giving up smoking, you can keep the weight down. In fact, get involved with a sensible weight-reduction program while you are abstaining from cigarettes. I wish you the best of luck.

DEAR SELMA:

Ever since I have been on a particular medicine prescribed by my doctor, I have been gaining weight. He doesn't seem to know why I am gaining. What can I do?

Mrs. Y. B.

Dear MRS. Y. B.:

The only one who can help you is your physician. He knows better than anyone what was prescribed, and the reason why it was prescribed. Since he is aware of your weight problem, I am sure that he will do something to help.

PRICE CONTROLS END...

SAFEWAY VALUES CONTINUE

Although the objectives were worthy, everyone now knows that price controls simply did not work exactly as hoped. Instead, they interfered seriously with food production and marketing. Many shortages developed and prices increased. Now, with controls off, and the food business again operating in its normal, freely competitive manner, supply and demand should start to come into balance. Because some foods take longer to produce than others, not everything will be plentiful at the same time. Meanwhile, we will continue to do everything within our power to give you the kind of values you expect to find at Safeway.

We pledge that in our store near your home, you will continue to find quality foods, priced to save you money. We look forward to more abundant supplies of foods and the opportunity to give our customers even better values.

Want to Know the Honest Truth About Ground Beef?

IT'S THIS:

Nobody can guarantee its exact fat content.

There's been lots of talk lately about the fat/lean ratio in ground beef. So why not label each package. Contains X% of fat? Let us tell you why.

We've been making ground beef just about as long as anyone and we know there's no way to make two batches that are exactly alike. Two samples taken from the same batch (or even the same package) can differ in ratio of fat to lean. Even with meticulous care in selecting ingredients, there are variations in fat/lean ratio. Even with our moist modern grinding and mixing equipment. Even with use of the best available fat-measuring devices.

Yet we know our customers want and expect us to provide them with a choice of ground beef products to meet their varying preferences, tastes and budgets. After long and careful consideration, we have concluded that we can best meet our customers need for variety by offering just two ground beef products—REGULAR and PREMIUM. We make both kinds from fresh chunks of beef. We prepare both kinds with equal care to maintain the top quality which has helped earn our fine meat reputation.

Our REGULAR is made the way we believe most families prefer their ground beef. It contains enough fat to assure full juiciness in the cooked meat. It makes marvelous hamburgers, meat loaves, meat balls, spaghetti sauce, Salisbury steak and other delicious dishes.

Our PREMIUM is made to please families that want a leaner ground beef. It shrinks less in cooking and makes wonderful ground beef dishes of all kinds—plain and fancy.

Why not try both kinds and see which is preferred by the folks at your house? (You might even want to make a mix with some of each.) The famous Safeway money-back guarantee applies, of course, to our ground beef as to all of our other products.

USDA tips on using egg dollar most economically

Eggs serve us deliciously in many ways many days of the year. The question is: how do you buy eggs most economically for a particular use?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture quality grade seen on the carton in most areas of the Far West will help you decide.

There are three consumer grades for eggs: U.S. Grade AA (or Fresh Fancy), U.S. Grade A and U.S. Grade B.

The higher quality eggs (AA or Fresh Fancy, and A) are ideal for frying and poaching where appearance is important. They are also the best choice for hardcooked eggs.

Grade B eggs are good for general cooking and for other uses where appearance is not so important. They are just as nutritious as the higher grade eggs.

Interior quality is checked by running the eggs over lights in a process called candling. A top quality egg has a thick white and the yolk is firm and high. The white in a grade B egg will spread more than grades AA or A and the yolk may be flatter.

After deciding the quality egg you prefer, select by size. Some people think that eggs are better if they are bigger. Not necessarily so. Size and quality are not related — they are entirely different. For example large eggs may be of high or low quality; high quality may be either large or small.

Size refers to the minimum weight per dozen. The sizes most often found are Extra Large (minimum weight per dozen 27 oz.); Large (24 oz.); and Medium (21 oz.).

Egg prices vary by size for the same grade. The amount of price variation depends on the supply of the various sizes. So, to calculate the relative value of various sizes, consider the differences in price by the pound.

Shell color of eggs is important only when you're coloring them for Easter. White shell eggs are better for decorating . . . but for any other purpose shell color doesn't matter. Shell color is determined by breed of the hen and does not affect the grade, nutritive value, flavor, or cooking performance of the egg.

Remember, when cooking eggs — use low to moderate temperature — high temperature and over-cooking toughen eggs.

Turkey goes to a party

Turkey has been the centerpiece of American holiday and other family gatherings literally for centuries. And this year — with springtime being turkey time thanks to abundant supplies through April — turkey can also go to a dinner party any time you like.

It's not necessary to roast a whole turkey every time you think your guests or your family would enjoy the great bird. There's lots of turkey parts and products at your favorite food store now, too.

The USDA suggests turkey parts can be the life of the party. For one thing, there's Turkey Scallopini Gourmet — turkey breast steaks all dressed up in Italian finery. For another, Turkey Shish Kabob — for a Middle Eastern accent at your first barbecue of the season. And Turkey Oriental — tasty, colorful Chinese-style ground turkey meatballs.

Turkey Scallopini Gourmet

1 pound turkey breast steaks, 3/8" thick
4 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3/4 cup dry white wine cube (optional)
2 tablespoons snipped parsley

Pound turkey steaks flat between pieces of waxed paper. Press each, on both sides, into mixture of Parmesan cheese, flour and seasonings. Melt 1/4 cup butter in skillet over medium heat. Saute steaks until golden brown, about 3 minutes on each side. Remove from skillet and keep warm. Saute mushrooms and onions in remaining 1/4 cup butter; add white wine and bouillon cube. Add browned turkey. Cover. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes, or until tender. Remove turkey to hot platter. Pour sauce over and sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Shish Kabob

Allow 1/2 to 3/4 pound of raw boned turkey (either white or dark meat or a combination of each) per person. Cut turkey into 1 1/2 inch cubes and place in a shallow dish. Slice 1 or 2 onions and add to cubed turkey. Pour the marinade over all, stir and marinate 3 to 4 hours. Remove meat from marinade and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put meat on skewers and broil over hot coals, turning frequently until meat is evenly browned and tender.

Marinade

1/2 cup olive oil
1 cup Sauterne wine
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon allpsice
1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger

Combine all ingredients and blend thoroughly.

Turkey Oriental

1 pound fresh ground turkey
3 tablespoons chopped onion
10 water chestnuts, chopped fine
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon Sherry wine
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Cooking oil
1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) whole peeled apricots
1/2 cup chicken stock

Combine turkey, onion, water chestnuts, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, salt, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, wine and egg whites. Form into 18 balls the size of a large walnut. Fry the balls in deep oil until brown. Drain. Drain apricots, reserving liquid. Heat pan, add 1 tablespoon oil, liquid from apricots, chicken stock and remaining 2 tablespoons soy sauce mixed with remaining 2 tablespoons cornstarch; cook a few seconds. Add turkey balls and whole apricots. Heat thoroughly. Makes 4 servings.

Beef is back

Thanks to sizable marketings at prices relatively favorable to consumers — beef is back. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service suggests that if limited beef selection — and your limited budget — have led you to ignore the meat counter at your food store the past few months, you might want to have a close look the next time you're grocery shopping. There should be abundant supplies of beef now through the end of April. And there may be frequent specials.

We all have our favorite beef dishes. But if the novelty of having beef back on your family's menu inspires you to try something new, Pot Roast with Sour Cream Topping offers an unusual glaze on an old favorite. From California's wine country comes Napa Valley Beek Casserole, And Liver Stroganoff gives one of the most nutritious beef products a posh and delicious new role.

Pot Roast with Sour Cream Topping

1 tablespoon butter
3 or 4 pound beef pot roast (round or blade bone)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1/2 cup raw onion rings
1 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons regular all-purpose flour
2 cups drippings

In large skillet melt butter; brown meat slowly. Place in baking dish; sprinkle over salt, pepper and monosodium glutamate. Spread soup over top of roast; add onions. Cover; bake in 325 degree oven 2 1/2 or 3 hours or until meat is tender. Pour off 2 cups drippings; set aside for gravy. Gently blend horseradish into sour cream. Spread on top roast; return to oven, uncovered, 3 to 5 minutes to glaze sour cream.

GRAVY: Gradually add water to flour to make smooth paste. In saucepan heat drippings to boiling. Remove from heat; gradually add flour mixture, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Cook 2 more minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Napa Valley Beef Casserole

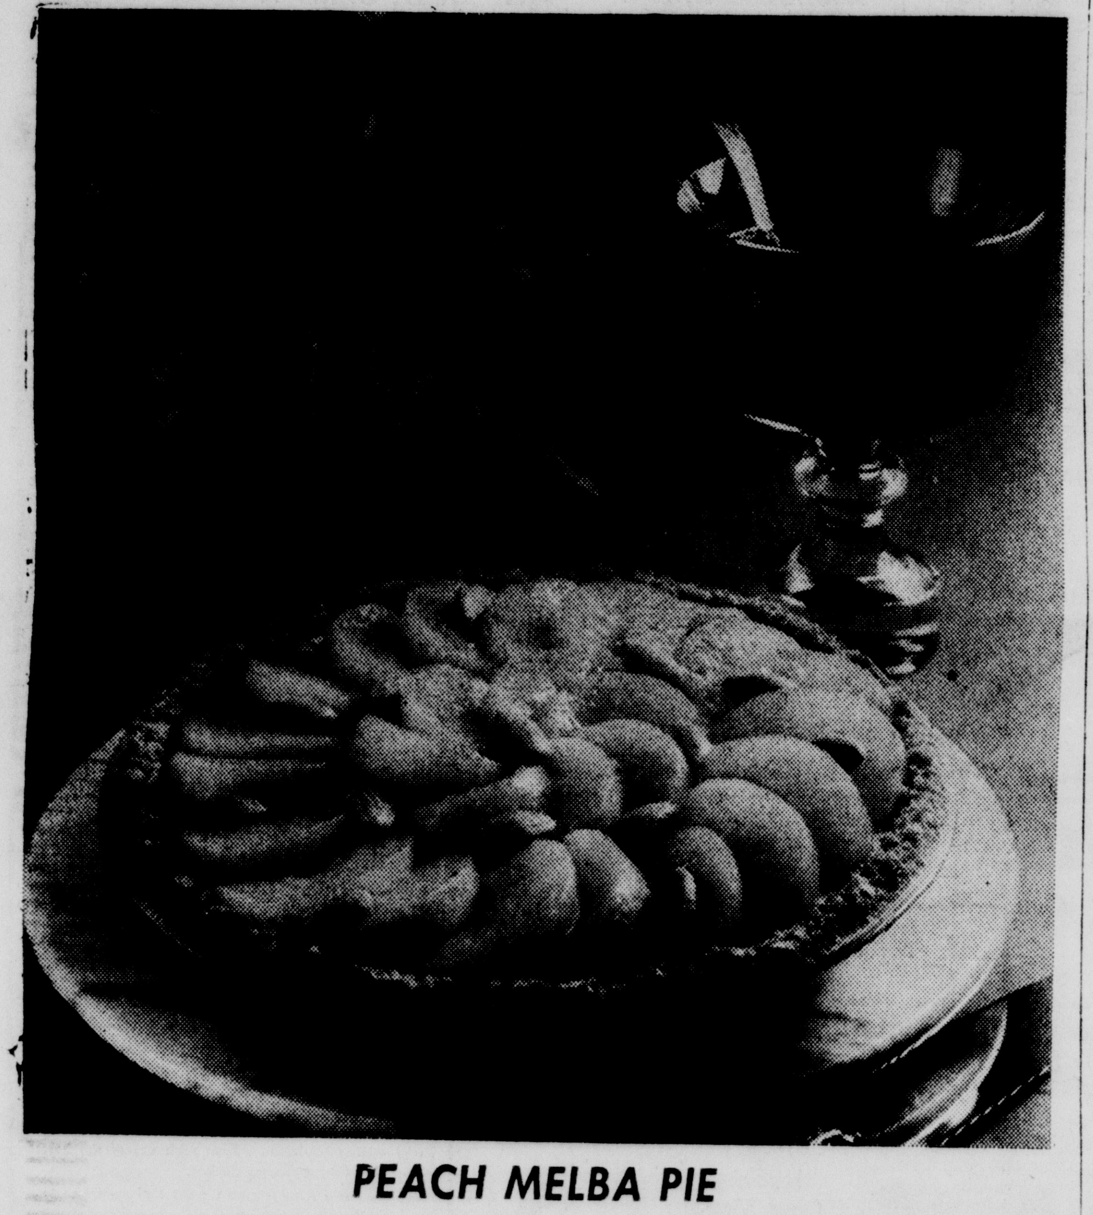
1/2 pound macaroni
2 quarts water
3 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup coarsely chopped parsley
1/4 pound American cheese, diced
1 pound ground lean beef
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 (8 ounce) cans tomato sauce
1/2 cup red dinner wine or water

Cook macaroni in boiling water with 2 teaspoons salt until tender. Drain. Mix with butter, parsley and cheese. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Mix beef with remaining 1 teaspoon salt and onion. Arrange over macaroni. Top with tomato sauce mixed with wine. Cover. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 35 to 40 minutes, removing cover last 10 minutes. Garnish as desired with additional chopped parsley. Makés 6 servings.

Liver Stroganoff

1 pound beef liver
1-3rd cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/2 cup dairy sour cream

Cut liver into thin strips, removing veins and membranes. Coat with flour mixed with salt and pepper. Brown in hot oil. Add tomato juice and onion. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Push liver to one side of skillet. Stir sour cream into pan sauce and heat gently. Serve at once. Makes about 4 servings.



PEACH MELBA PIE

Prepare a 9-inch crumb crust by combining 3/4 cup corn flake crumbs, 1/2 cup finely chopped toasted blanched almonds, 2 tablespoons packed light brown sugar and 1/4 cup melted butter. Press mixture onto bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool completely on wire rack. To prepare pie, spoon 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream into crust to form a smooth, even layer. Cover with foil and freeze several hours until very firm. Transfer to refrigerator 30 minutes before serving. Serve with Melba sauce. Melt 1/2 cup currant jelly over low heat. Stir in 1 cup seedless red raspberry preserves. Arrange 1 can drained cling peach slices on top of pie and garnish with toasted whole almonds. Serve sauce in separate dish.

Carbonade a la Flamande ritzy name for hamburger

Ask any member of your family and they're sure to agree — hamburger is a big favorite. But its popularity doesn't mean it has to be monotonous.

Take this Meatball Carbonnade a la Flamande, for instance. It's not as complicated as the name implies, and it's certain to become one of your family's favorite "hamburger" dinners.

Meatball Carbonnade a la Flamande is simply meatballs and onions in beer sauce. Simply brown the meatballs, saute the onions, combine them in a tangy beer sauce and bake in the oven to a rich golden brown. Sprinkled with a topping of crisp crumbled bacon and served with boiled new potatoes, this is a dish that's kind to the budget and to the palate.

Glasses of ice cold sparkling beer provide the ideal beverage accompaniment.

MEATBALL CARBONNADE A LA FLAMANDE

4 strips bacon
2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Bouquet garni, 3 sprigs parsley and bay leaf tied together
2 tablespoons flour
1 can or bottle (12 oz.) beer
1 cup beef stock
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
1/2 teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
4 cups thinly sliced onion

Cook bacon until crisp, drain on paper towels, crumble and set aside. Pour off most of excess fat into small bowl, leaving thin film in bottom of skillet. Combine ground beef, eggs, bread crumbs, salt and pepper; mix well. Shape into walnut-sized balls.

Brown meatballs in skillet, a few at a time, shaking skillet to keep them round. Remove meatballs to 3 quart casserole. Bury the bouquet garni in the meat. Saute onions in remaining fat in skillet 10 to 15 minutes, until golden. Add onions to casserole.

Stir flour into remaining fat in skillet. (If mixture seems dry, add a little reserved bacon fat.) Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until the roux is amber color being careful it does not burn. Pour in beer and beef stock; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute, then add sugar, vinegar and thyme; simmer 2 to 3 minutes.

Pour sauce over meat and onions. Bring mixture to a boil in top of range. Cover tightly and bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes. discard bouquet garni. Garnish with reserved crumbled bacon and snipped parsley. Serve with boiled potatoes. Yields 6 or 8 servings.

Auto industry switchover has changed very little

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. President Lee A. Iacocca would like to think the $1.8 billion the No. 2 automaker has spent to convert to small car production has changed some thinking about the auto industry. It doesn't appear to have changed anything.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler have invested more than $4 billion in the last four years in the switchover to more economical cars. They still haven't finished and probably won't as long as the fuel crisis continues.

By the time 1975 models begin rolling off assembly lines in late August, the industry will have the capacity to build 5.2 million small cars a year, compared with just 3.4 million small cars last September, when the energy crisis became a national issue.

Iacocca used the occasion of the reopening of an assembly plant in suburban Detroit in February to lash out at critics of the industry.

"I hope the massive changeover will put to rest the tired old cliche that Detroit is too rigid to change and is dead in the water, that we build only what we want to build, and worst of all, that only a new federal law will persuade us to build what people want," Iacocca said.

"We are in the midst of the greatest industrial conversion in history, at least in peacetime," he said. "We are doing it because of the pressures and incentives of the free market place."

Within days of that statement at the Wayne, Mich., assembly plant that now builds compact Mavericks instead of standard-size cars, there were new calls for the government to break up the auto industry to gain more competition. But the major criticism of the industry at the week-long hearings of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee was not against Ford, but against its biggest competitor —General Motors Corp.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee and sponsor of the proposed Industrial Reorganization Act, says that with less dominance of the industry by one, two or three companies, there might be a substantially greater variety of products available to consumers.

"We have been told that when a few companies have 50 per cent or more of the industry's sales, there is little price competition, little innovation, and all interests are poorly served," Hart said before the latest round of hearings began in late February.

And the company that accounts for more than 50 per cent of all auto industry sales is GM, the world's largest automaker, which Bradford Snell, author of a study recommending breakup of the "Big Three," said controls the industry.

In another round of the hearings 16 years ago George Romney, then president of American Motors Corp., complained about General Motors, Ford and Chrysler perpetuating a "big car mentality" through the strength of their advertising budgets.

Even with the big shift to smaller cars, the automakers are pushing hard to maintain the standard-size car market in the face of fuel shortages.

"We are determined to meet our customers' demand for fuel economy and still provide the room and comfort, the convenience and the safety that have made full-size cars the overwhelming choice of America's drivers in the past," Elliott M. Estes, a GM executive vice president, said recently.

Iacocca said one of the reasons Ford has been able to invest $1.8 billion in small car production has been the profits the company has earned. It's the same reason, Iacorca says, that causes Ford to respond to greater demand for small cars.

"It's an old-fashioned system that seems to work rather well," the Ford president said. "I think we ought to keep it."

Casino blames earnings drop on gas crisis

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Harrahs Corporation has reported a hefty drop in earnings for the third quarter of this fiscal year, which it blamed on the gasoline shortage.

It said recently that earnings were $173,060, about one-third of the comparable figure of $544,898 for last year.

But, company President M. F. Sheppard said "gas availability is much improved and the psychological deterrent against automobile travel appears to have greatly eased."

He said Easter Week was excellent for the company's hotel-casino operations in Reno and at Lake Tahoe.

Sheppard said Harrahs was prepared for another decline in the final quarter and launched a heavy promotional effort to bring in tourists.

He said the result was an increase over last year's Easter Week.

He said the company is now looking forward to a good summer with increased promition and an improved gasoline outlook.

Huge hashish haul seized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. and Bahamian officials have seized $15.5 million worth of hashish —largest recorded seizure in the Western Hemisphere — from a disabled freighter off the Florida coast, it was announced recently.

The Drug Enforcement Administration said the freighter Seatrader became disabled 800 miles off the Florida coast and was boarded by U.S. and Bahamian officials after the Coast Guard towed it to an area 60 miles northwest of Nassau.

The DEA said Bahamian police seized about 3,700 pounds of hashish contained in 50 burlap bags and arrested six Americans who were members of the crew. DEA administrator John Bartels Jr. said the ship was bound from Morocco to the United States with the hashish as its only cargo.

Golf rules for clergy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — The chairmen of the May 13 golf tournament at the Gracewell Country Club have been moved to rewrite some of the ground rules for the occasion.

The new stipulations include:

"Thou shalt not use profanity; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's putter; thou shalt not steal thy neighbor's ball; thou shalt not bear false witness in the final tally."

The rule makers are the Revs. J. Kent Hickerson, pastor of the Kentwood Christian Church, and James Smith, pastor of the Trinity Congregational Church.

They are cochairmen of a tournament at which priests, rabbis and pastors of the Grand Rapids area will fight it out on an interdenominational, noncussing basis.

Bronze thieves taking statues in Quaker City

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bronze statues in Fairmount Park have been disappearing so fast during the past six months that the city's park commission believes an organized ring of bronze thieves is responsible.

"They are taking anything that's bronze," said Park Commissioner Robert McConnell. "I think they're organized. They know what they are doing."

In the past three weeks, two 300-pound bronze fish statues have been ripped from their bases in a park pond, and 20 bronze sewer grates have been stolen from the art museum terrace during the past six months.

Also missing are two bronze plaques, and "Seaweed Girl," a 1,000-pound fountain statue was partially ripped from its foundation.

McConnell said he believes the objects have been stolen "mostly because bronze, brass and semi-precious metals are up in value."

City police said they were unaware of such a theft ring and promised to keep a closer watch on the park's 200 statues.

Went off to war 34 years ago, back now

BROCCOSTELLA, Italy (UPI) — Thirty-four years after he went to war, Domenico Gismondi finally came home again.

The Italian news agency ANSA told the story:

Gismondi, drafted to fight in Fascist Italy's Greco-Albanian campaign, left his wife and three children in this village south of Rome in 1940. World War II ended but there was no word of Gismondi.

When the village of Broccostella erected a monument to its war dead, Gismondi's name was one of those carved on the stone.

Then, three years ago, a letter arrived from Albani. Gismondi wrote that the Communist government had not allowed him to return home to Italy. He said he had been working at his old profession as a truck driver.

In the course of the correspondence that followed it developed that Gismondi's real reason for remaining in Albania after the war was a new family he had started in a village near Scutari.

Luisa Gismondi and her children, Loretto, Antonio and Concetta, who were 4, 5 and several months old respectively when Gismondi left home, decided they wanted him back anyway.

On Easter Sunday he arrived at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport with an Albanian passport allowing him to make a 30-day visit to Italy. He had $20 sewn into his jacket lining as his only money.

Once home Gismondi said he planned to ignore the passport restriction and settle again in Italy.

Borrows page from Houdini for freedom

INDIO, Calif. (UPI) — Riverside County sheriff's deputies came up with a clue recently as to how a prisoner, handruffed and chained to several others, escaped from the courthouse.

John V. Radogna, 27, was due to be sentenced on a robbery conviction but when his name was called, he was absent.

A sheriff's spokesman reported a search of his cell turned up a book by the celebrated oldtime escape artist Houdini.

"The pages on handcuffs were dogeared," he said.

Federal study begun

Rights of non-English speaking kids denied?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government is launching a study in 305 school districts in 22 states to see whether children who speak little or no English are illegally discriminated against.

It also will expand to four more big cities a much broader study being conducted in New York City on whether children from minority groups, girls and handicapped children share equally in school services. The cities to be included are Chicago, Houston, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

Both studies are by the Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The language study stems from a Jan. 21 Supreme Court decision that Chinese-speaking children in San Francisco schools were being denied equal educational opportunities.

These are some reported kinds of language discrimination which the study will look into:

—Excluding children from educational programs because of they have difficulty speaking and understanding English.

—Assigning such children to classes for the mentally retarded and denying them access to college preparatory courses.

—Putting them in "dead end" ability groupings instead of teaching them English.

—Failing to notify foreign speaking parents of school activities in the languages they understand.

Martin H. Gerry, deputy director of the civil rights office, said the investigation would begin this spring in 133 elementary and high school systems in Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, New Jersey, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Washington. Another 172 school districts would be added next fall in 12 other states —Alaska, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

In the city studies the issues to be reviewed are whether minority, female and handicapped children receive a proper share of school dollars spent for instructional services, non-instructional services such as food and recreation, and whether they are are treated differently in such areas as discipline, drug abuse programs and extracurricular activities.

The five city school systems enroll 16.7 of all black school children in the country, 23.4 per cent of Spanish surnamed children and 21.2 per cent of Asian children.

The sanction available under the HEW enforcement provisions is a cutoff of federal funds to school districts that are found to be disassigned to inferior classes or criminatory.

Postal service will purchase electric cars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service announced recently it is buying a fleet of electric delivery trucks to cut down on automotive pollution.

The General Services Administration has signed a $1.9 million contract with AM General Corp. of Wayne, Mich., for 350 light mail delivery trucks capable of carrying 500 pound mail payloads with a top speed of 33 miles per hour and a minimum driving range of 20 miles without recharging the batteries.

The Postal Service said it wanted to avoid the pollution caused by gasoline-powered vehicles, particulariy in the "smog area" of Los Angeles and San Bernardino, which will get 300 of the cars. The rest will go to Savannah, Ga.; Evansville, Indiana; Cherry Point, N.J.; Long Island, and Washington, D.C.

A spokesman said the Postal Service has tentative plans to buy 1,000 additional electric trucks in fiscal 1976 and 5,000 in fiscal 1977.

Reagan plan for political reform rapped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposals for political reform are "too little and too late," say proponents of Prop. 9, the political reform initiative on the June ballot.

Reagan unveiled a plan Friday that urged a virtual ban on political activity by business and labor, a prohibition on campaign donations by lobbyists and an end to "on-the-job" political activity by public employes.

Reagan said his proposal was "more effective" than Prop. 9, which is supported by California Common Cause and the People's Lobby.

"After eight years of silence, Gov. Reagan's proposals are too little and too late," said Michael Walsh, chairman of Common Cause, and Harold Willens, coordinator of the California Coalition for Prop 9.

"They are meant to divert attention from real political reforms and to sustain the money and secrecy of the political system upon which he (Reagan) depends," the men said in a joint statement.

Retard, 23, gains rank as Eagle Scout

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A mentally retarded dishwasher who is all but blind in one eye as a result of brain damage suffered at birth has become an Eagle Scout.

Richard Walter Beall Jr., 23, received his Eagle ribbon from Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., at a Boy Scout Court of Honor.

Under the rules, the 21 merit badges needed to attain scouting's highest rank must be acquired before the candidate's 18th birthday. But Scoutmaster Marvin Jones of Troop 233 managed to waive the age rules for Beall. It was the only concession made to his disability.

Beall breezed through the requirements in swimming and life saving and managed the qualifications for railroading, hiking, firemanship, home citizenship, community citizenship, national citizenship, first aid, cooking, safety, basketry, personal fitness, conservation, fishing, stamp collecting, leatherwork, nature and camping.

But then came the two hard ones —rowing and canoeing, which apparently required a type of coordination he lacked. It took him 44 hours of hard work to attain the final merit badge, in canoeing.

"It was frustrating sometimes, but I had a sense of accomplishment when I finally did it. With my mental disability, it was a greater challenge and took more time and harder work. But I wanted to show I could do as well as anybody, handicapped or not," Beall said.

Now that he's an Eagle Scout, Beall has a new goal, a career in forestry. "I don't know much about it, but I can learn. After three years, dishwashing is a bit of a drag."

Waldie bares taxes, flays rival Demos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, C-Calif., who seeks to become governor, has disclosed his 1973 federal and state income tax returns.

"If candidates don't want their tax privacy invaded, then they shouldn't seek public office," he told a rally sponsored by the California Tax Reform Association.

Waldie said that he had a 1973 gross income of $46,930.10 on which he paid $8,684.54 in federal taxes and $1950.80 in state income taxes.

"I don't think it makes sense for Democrats to criticize Governor Reagan, President Nixon or Standard Oil Co. or other major corporations for not paying taxes" when two of the party's candidates also did not pay state taxes, he declared.

Waldie held in his talk that Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco and William Matson Roth, both Democratic candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, had not paid state taxes for "several" years.

The congressman listed his net worth at $117,524.44.

Five arrested in stab death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Five suspects have been arrested in connection with the stabbing death of a 24-year-old West Hollywood woman.

Two other persons were critically wounded in the incident Monday when the residents of an apartment came home and apparently surprised several persons ransacking the apartment.

Booked on suspicion of murder were Elizabeth Ann Cowley, 24, and Debra Lynn Dillwith, 18, of Hollywood; Sharon Bernite McNeir, 20, and Brenda Mary Machado, 18, who lived in the apartment complex where the stabbings occurred and Sherman Ayers, 23.

The slain woman was identified as Patricia Mae Synegal. Her husband, Eugene, 22, and Mercury Washington, 26, were reported in critical condition from stab wounds at UCLA Medical Center.

They're flying paper airplanes in Arkansas

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (UPI) — Seeress Jeanne Dixon visited the Henderson State College campus Jan. 21 and predicted that within seven years the college will produce a man who will become famous in the field of aeronautical research.

Thus inspired, the Society of Physics Students and Sigma Pi Sigma, the national physicis honor society, announced a paper airplane flying contest.

Don't laugh.

"There's a tremendous amount of physics that goes into the design of a paper airplane, contrary to popular belief," said Mike Marshall, 21, a senior physics major from Malvern, Ark., who is contest chairman.

"Origami, the Japanese art of paper folding, is involved," said Marshall. "People who like to fold paper really groove on origami."

And to allay any thoughts that what we have here might be mistaken for springtime campus madness, Dr. Martin B. Garrison, president of Henderson, will throw out the first plane Tuesday to start the contest.

About 100 entries are expected to vie for trophys in four categories: distance, most time airborne, stunt flying and the most unusual design.

Contest sponsors frankly admit they got their idea from the book, "The Great International Paper Airplane Flying Contest," which includes plane designs from the worldwide paper plane fly-off in 1968 sponsored by the monthly magazine Scientific America.

And now to specifics:

Each entrant will be issued one 8 ½ by 11 ½ sheet of 20-weight bond paper. He must fashion his plane from that piece of paper on the spot and under the eye of contest officials. He will get three tosses.

"To a certain degree, I favor a blunted nose design for distance," said Marshall. "It also aids stabilization and does away with the bent nose on crashes."

Entrants will also be allowed to snip with scissors, or cut with razor blade and shore up with scotch tape the designs they work on their piece of 20-weight bond.

"You can get some pretty sophisticated designs," Marshall said.

"You can cut lift flaps on the rear stabilizer and fold the tips of the wings and produce ailerons for aerobatic movement.

"Then you can smooth them back out again and try for distance. One guy can use his piece of paper for all the competition."

There is a 50-cent entry fee to discourage the less serious types. The money will be used to cover costs and pay for refreshments.

Gas station heads cited

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two Hollywood gas station operators were charged Monday with allegedly violating a city law requiring the posting of days and hours of business.

Misdemeanor complaints were filed against Emanuel Betmalec, a Texaco station operator, and Abe Pincashi, owner of Abe's Arco.

Both men allegedly ignored warnings to display their operating hours on signs "clearly visible" from the street. If convicted, they face a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and six months in jail.

Deputy City Attorney City R. Wilson, head of the city attorney's consumer fraud unit, said four other station operators, who have been cited for violating the same ordinance, will be given a hearing May 2. Criminal charges will then be filed if they fail to comply with the ordinance.

The doctor comments

Fad diet encouraged for some athletics

By Lawrence E.Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Reading of your disapproval of fad diets, I think you should comment on some of the weight-losing programs I saw in my association with secondary school wrestling. These are motivated by the desire to compete in a lighter weight class.

It was quite common for heavier boys to lose 15, yes 15 pounds or more the first night of practice. A close friend of mine lost a total of 19 pounds through the season to wrestle at lighter weight. He said the last few pounds really came off hard. All he ate for a week was an orange; on a heavy exercise program to boot. Many of them severely restricted drinking liquids a large part of the time.

The idea was to eat like a king the weekend after the meet, and then starve, run in sweatsuits and take steam baths until the next meet. They sometimes too laxatives for the sake of losing weight. I remember one with two or three pounds to lose about eight hours before weigh-in, so he ran and steamed until it was off.

When the last meet was finished the friend who lost 19 pounds put all 19 pounds back on in two days. I wish I knew whether or not these teenagers took vitamins or mineral supplements while they were fasting, but I doubt that they did.

You would do a public service by warning of the possible repercussions of such starving and drying out. My friend had done things he said that he wouldn't normally do the week he fasted. I find it horrible that our public schools cultivate such things. Don't you?

DEAR READER — That's awful. As your letter demonstrates in the case of your friend who regained all 19 pounds he lost in just two days, most of the loss was water loss. This also means a loss of salt and major disturbance in the body chemistry. Under such circumstances even the amount of blood in the body is decreased by eliminating water from the bloodstream.

Your description is important to other people losing weight because it points out that steam baths and a lot of these procedures, even when you lose 19 pounds, do not eliminate fat — just the water the body normally needs. Most people don't realize that the normal body is about half water. Over 70 per cent of the weight of our muscles is water. When you dry a person out you seriously affect the way all the vital cells in the body work, even those in the brain. Also, such people are more prone to faint.

Water loss from weightlessness in space flight has a similar effect. The loss is nothing like what you describe. Astronaut Ed White lost about nine pounds when he was on the flight with his space walk, but he told me he regained most of it the first day back. He regained the normal amount of water for earthlings. Those interested in losing weight safely without dangerous fads can get more information by writing to me in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on losing weight. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Those 15-pound losses during the first night's practice are mostly water and salt. It comes right back. The sweatsuits simply contribute to draining the water and salt out of the body. This saps energy in a number of instances. This is not the way to train our youth to have a healthy body and develop healthy living patterns. And, I think it is rather poor sportsmanship to try such gimmicks so you can wrestle someone who is really smaller than you.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Bidding small slam not easy

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some 40 years ago the late Ely Culbertson said, "When a hand belongs in six and I am shown all the cards, the Culbertson system will get there."

What Ely meant was that when you see all the cards your bidding problems will disappear, if you want them to. to.

The bidding in the box shows how an expert pair stopped at five clubs, when six was a laydown.

They weren't too upset about it. The hand was played in an IMP team match and the other North-South pair landed at the really horrible contract of three notrump. Still they have asked us to analyze the bidding and show how to reach six clubs scientifically.

We hve two suggested methods. The first comes from Oswald who says that 40 years ago he and Dave Bruce would have reached six because North would have gone to six clubs after South jumped to five. We didn't have too much science then, but whichever one of us sat North would have decided the singleton diamond was what the doctor ordered.

Jim Jacoby suggests that South should bid three hearts over three clubs. North would go to four hearts. South would then bid five clubs and North would be sure that his partner was afraid of two diamond losers and would be able to bid the slam.

A chameleon's diet improved by fruit

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Because I know a lot of people have trouble raising chameleons, or keeping them, and I have been there myself, I'd like to pass along a tip on a good way to feed them, especially from this time of the year on. What I do is to cut a piece of raw fruit and put it right in the terrarium with Gizmo. He's my chameleon. He doesn't eat the fruit but flying insects and mosquitoes do and when they come in to eat the fruit Gizmo eats them. It works out very well, especially for Gizmo. During the winter I kept him going by feeding him baby mealworms and grubs. —P.R.

COMMENT: That type of stimulating diet along with suitable terrarium moisture and a temperature of at least 75 degrees to help stimulate the appetite provides the American chameleon or even the imported (Genuine) species with the essentials for survival.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I have to take issue with your statement about not giving aspirin to cats and dogs. I give my dog aspirin all the time which he appreciates and they have never hurt him. We are very close, my dog and I, and he often has headaches when I do so I naturally give him some aspirin when I take some.

Now, in fact, he insists on it. My point is you shouldn't try to scare people by telling them stories about "deadly" aspirin and similar junk. —D.S.

Dear D.S.: Aspirin CAN be dangerous for any species. Aspirin has killed some canines and made many others desperately ill. Though this would happen most frequently if the dog were to consume large numbers of aspirin, an occasional dog cannot tolerate any at all. (The intestinal irritation caused by this product would certainly be most noticeable in the dog who had acquired an aspirin addiction.)

There are times when aspirin in proper dosage can be beneficial to a dog. A half an aspirin for a cocker-sized animal to relieve an occasional ache is rational though it should not be used if the animal has a gastro-intestinal upset nor for one who is obviously seriously ill — nor should the dosage be repeated without first determining the reason for the continued problem.

Note: The above discussion concerns dogs, NOT cats. Cats ARE highly susceptible to aspirin poisoning. Consequently, aspirin should NEVER be given to a cat.

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A jury of four men and two women has been selected to determine if the film "Deep Throat," seized at a Rockville, Conn., theater in January, is obscene.

One prospective panelist was asked if he had seen the movie and replied that he attended the theater where it was playing, but fell asleep during the performance. He was rejected as a juror.

Rattles & straws

Any sport in a storm

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I always know when summer is here because the pro basketball playoffs start. The final game of the NBA-ABA-WHL-AFL-CIO championship is played July 6, the day of the first pro football exhibition. Who said "long summer"?

Conversely the baseball season ends on Thanksgiving weekend, and football ends with the Pro Bowl April 1, the day of the opening of the next baseball season. Things got so confusing last year that Hank Aaron was named to the Hockey Hall of Fame, and O. J. Simpson won the Cy Young Award.

Apparently Congress has ruled that every city over 100,000 population must have professional baseball, football, basketball, hockey and tennis teams. I used to have trouble distinguishing between Mickey Mantle, Bart Starr and Jerry West. Now I can't even name all the leagues.

It is clear that the only solution to this manic proliferation of teams, divisions and leagues is to combine several sports into one game. The season could then run the year around, like your utilities bills.

SCENE: Ebbets Sport-a-torium, a 100,000-seat covered bowl in Rowland Heights. California's Golden Bare Streakers are playing a crucial with the Central Park Muggers of New York City.

Late in the third period, pitcher Fritz Peterson, who is in foul trouble, fires a fastball and Frank Robinson lines it up the power alley in left, where it is fielded by John Hadl, designated quarterback. He quickly substitutes a football for the baseball and shoots a 30-yard down-and-out to his wide receiver, second baseman Gail Goodrich.

Stumpy exchanges the football for a basketball and executes a pick-and-go with shortstop Abdul Kareen Jabar, who shoots a bounce pass to the catcher, Larry Csonka, in time to catch the sliding runner, Mohammed Ali. Designated mouth Howard Cosell criticizes the call of "out," second-guesses the third base coach, suggests that Peterson is weakening, and turns the camera on a banner dangling from the upper deck, reading "Welcome Howie! You're No. 1!" (He put it up an hour before game time.)

Rule books of the three sports would be revised and coagulated for "Smorgasport." No hand-checking at first-base. Crossblocks permitted only at second. Sacking the umpire prohibited. Spitballs allowed only on third and long. Infield fly rule does not apply to field goal attempts. Only the shortstop and third baseman can tackle a base runner. And so on.

The quick exchange of the various balls and the expertise of a variety of athletes will excite and delight the sports buff. He will find the best of all possible worlds in this athletic goulash. If 20,000 people come out for a Dodger game, 10,000 to see the Lakers, and 70,000 for the Rams, that's 100,000 who will stream into the stadium for Smorgasport.

(Tickets, of course, would be expensive to support a field of $100,000-a-year athletes. Add the prices of a Dodger, Laker and Ram ticket and you have a reserved seat at Smorgasport.)

Her husband a lawn freak

By ERMA BOMBECK

I just figured out if my husband paid just half the attention to me as he does the lawn, my 70-year-old mailman would never have started to look like Robert Redford.

If ever there was a valid suit for alienation of affection, it's that lousy lawn.

There is something about the ability of a man to grow a few blades of grass that contributes to his masculinity. He is either a grass grower or he is not a grass grower. I have seen virile men move into the neighborhood with tattoos on their lips, but if they have fungus on their dwarf tiff, forget it. They're just not one of the boys.

A lawn enthusiast has two moods: irritable and irritable. These are interchangeable depending on whether the grass is growing or whether the grass is not growing.

When the grass is not growing, my husband goes to the library to see what could be missing, has his soil analyzed, waters, soaks, fertilizes, and has the nurseryman who sold him the seed make a house call.

When the grass is growing, he runs the mower back to the store to make sure the blade is cutting, trims, rakes, rolls and makes an obscene phone call to the dog next door who over-fertilized it in the first place.

There is no pleasing a lawn freak.

Some say it is normal for a man to want a pretty lawn. I don't know what is normal anymore. I sent the kids to Mother's, blew an entire food budget on steaks and wine, put a dab of garlic on the lightbulb and slipped into something that had not been paid for. "What are you thinking?" I teased, turning off the TV set.

"Did you turn the hose off?" he asked.

Is it normal for a man to call the police and report a flock of birds who are eating our grass seed? Is it normal for a grown man to mourn a brown spot for three years?

I was all set to tell the mailman about my infatuation with him when he said, "I see your husband uses a chemical fertilizer of nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. Tell him if he invested in a little sheep dip, he'd do away with that crabgrass. Is there something you wanted?"

"I thought you looked like someone I knew," I said. "But I was mistaken. You all look alike."

L. M. Boyd

Humans need animal protein

The innards of animals that graze, as do cows, manufacture some sort of enzyme that breaks down the cellulose in grass fibers, so said grazers can get the grub out of same. But people's gizzards don't pump out that enzyme. Therefore, one Dr. Lendon H. Smith is quoted as claiming that human beings must eat meat. "I'm convinced that vegetarians are jeopardizing their health," says he. "Their tissues need animal protein which is more complete than that in nuts and vegetables." Make mention of this contention because it's a rare one. Usually, the vegetarian is the critic of the meat eater.

Q. "Where does 'got kicked out' rank on that list of major reasons why dropouts leave school?"

A. It's No. 3. Right after No. 2, which is "was flunking." And No. 1, which is "hated classes."

The beds people sleep on determine whether they're highbrow, upper middle brow, lower middle brow or lowbrow. And this clothing they sleep in, if any, determines that, too. Such is the whimsical claim of a pair of Indiana scholars. Beds: Highbrow, double. Upper middle brow, king-size or twin with one headboard. Lower middle brow, twin with matching night tables. Lowbrow, double. Clothing: Highbrow, none. Upper middle brow, a red turtleneck nightshirt for him, a gown with matching peignoir for her. Lower middle brow, pajamas for both. Lowbrow, underwear for him, nightgown for her. Where do you and your matrimonial mate rank on this bedroom brow scale?

Couples who get married in January, February and March wind up with the highest divorce rates. Statistics compiled by the Health Insurance Institute show that. And they indicate June marriages produce the lowest dovorce rates.

To his four-word wisdom list, our language man has added: "Mirth is God's medicine." "Love makes labor light." "Slaves can't teach freedom." "Patience is passion tamed." And "Journalism is organized gossip." Any others?

Do house cats sometime pretend to sleep? The first edition of the Encylopaedia Britannica, published a couple of centuries ago in Scotland, said they do. Specifically: "Domestic cats often assume the appearance of sleeping, when in reality they're meditating mischief."

When pollsters asked college coeds nationwide if they'd ever been in love, one out of every four said no. Sad.

"Cigarette" in Chinese literally translates "paper smoke."

Have you been under the impression that you can lose weight by perspiring profusely? Likewise. But that's wrong, evidently. Or so says an authority with the Food and Drug Administration. It's thought to be the commonest misconception among dieters.

That surgical operation known as the lipectomy of the buttocks, executed to reduce the size of said area, now reportedly costs between $1,000 and $2,000.

CITY LIFE MAY SAVE FALCONS

LINCOLN, Mass. (UPI) — City life may, surprisingly, be the salvation of the wild peregrine falcon, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports. The birds have been nearly killed off by DDT in rural areas.

Until little more than a decade ago, wild peregrines bred throughout the Northwest and occasionally along the Appalachians as far south as Lookout Mountain in Georgia. They began to disappear. Scientific evidence blamed DDT's interference with eggshell production in females.

DDT remains in the environment for years. Experts feel that captivity-reared peregrines released in rural areas would face the same fate. Experts have suggested that only cities are free enough of pesticide costamination to risk a transplant of the birds.

The society said the day may arrive when peregrines reared in captivity will nest on tall buildings in Boston, Hartford, Providence, New York, or even Atlanta.

Short-lived spiders

Few spiders live more than two years, and males, who die soon after mating, rarely survive a year.

New York okays $5 bounty for rattlers

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York State Assembly voted in favor of paying rattlesnake killers at the rate of $5 per snake Monday, despite an opponent of the bill who brought a 4 ½-foot live timber rattler to dramatize his argument.

"No one is going to make friends defending rattlesnakes," said Assemblyman Thomas W. Brown of Albany, gesturing toward the coiled snake inside a screened wooden box he brought. "But I am opposed to a system of bounties to control any species of wildlife."

Several lawmakers hissed as Brown took his seat.

The measure under consideration would reinstate a $5 bounty on poisonous reptiles taken in the counties of Warren and Washington, which overlap the Adirondack State Park.

Solomon said his measure was necessary because of the spectacular increases in the rattler population in wilderness areas of those counties since a bounty was eliminated in 1971.

He said a system of bounties had proven to be the only effective means of controlling the snakes, and that control was necessary for the health of the area's residents and the tourist industry in the area.

When the vote was taken, with the buzzing of the snake audible throughout the large assembly chamber, the measure was approved 100-15 and forwarded to the Senate.

Nation needs dose of nationalism--senator

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Something is wrong with the mood of America, according to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex. But given a "good dose of nationalism," he believes "the patient will recover."

"Wherever Americans gather these days, the meeting often turns into a diagnostic clinic examining the ill sof our sick society and discussing the prognosis for recovery," Bentsen said Sunday at Texas Christian University.

"Everyoe seems to agree that the patient is suffering from a loss of confidence, a loss of direction, a loss of national purpose sense or destiny. But no one has yet named the syndrome or specified a cure.

"I would like to suggest that the patient is suffering from an overdose of 'mea culpa' characterized by the tendency to take the blame for anything that goes wrong in the universe.

"But I think the patient will recover. We should concentrate on rebuilding the inner strength of what we once radiated—a strength we once shared with others in time of need....

"The prescription for now is a good dose of nationalism. We're not likely to forget that we are citizens of the world, but we must not forget first of all that we are citizens of the United States of America."

Woman booked for selling library books

LOS ANGELES (UPI) Sue Cohen, 24, is believed to be the first person ever arrested here for failing to return library books.

Miss Cohen pushed the tolerance of two library systems beyond the breaking point, police said, by allegedly failing to return $2,600 worth of books, borrowed from both the city and county libraries.

Investigators from the bunco squad said she checked out the books under aliases, replaced the covers, sandpapered off the library's identifying numbers and then sold the books.

Critic renews plea: pick chairman (not president) through Congress

NEW YORK (UPI) — Critic Dwight Macdonald has revived, in the May issue of Esquire, proposals he originally made in the October 1968 issue of the magazine calling for drastic revisions of the U.S. Constitution.

Macdonald said the publication's editors felt that his suggestions, which created no ripple when they first appeared, had now become "relevant" in various ways.

Macdonald would add Amendments 26 to 35 to the Constitution, radically altering our present structure of government. First, he would substitute for president of the United States an official with the title of chairman, who would be elected by a caucus of the members of the party with the most members in Congress. The chairman would serve for six years, or until his party lost a majority rule in Congress.

Macdonald's other proposed changes would include increasing the length of terms of members of the House from two to four years; giving grants of money from the federal Treasury to the poor; and appointing a tribune of the people for each congressional district, who would consider complaints about anything from anybody. With certain exceptions, all males between the ages of 18 and 30 could be drafted for terms of not more than two years in the armed forces or in nonmilitary work of social value.

Another amendment would name a council of history preservers with powers to forbid the alteration or destruction of any building or manmade object which it deems of historical or artistic importance, and a council of nature preservers which would protect the nation's natural phenomena.

Macdonald would limit the number of U.S. military employes stationed outside the nation's boundaries to not more than 0.25 per cent of the country's population. A larger number could be authorized as a temporary exception by a vote of four fifths of the members of the House and Senate. The nation's military budget could not exceed 3 per cent of the Gross National Product in any year.

In a move against the space program, it would be forbidden to transport anything or anybody more than 500 miles above the surface of the United States, until the gogernment certified that the number of citizens with incomes below adequate levels is less than 1 per cent of the population.

Finally, Macdonald would replace the present 50 states with new governmental units possessing the same powers and functions as the former states. These new units would be determined by a map revision committee appointed by the chairman, with the advice and consent of Congress and the Supreme Court, in such a way as to correspond to the nation's present economic, social and political geography.

Young men rob dying man on bus

DETROIT (UPI) — As Rudolph Kordich, the former president of Detroit's Serbian Orthdox Church, lay dying on a city bus, two young men on the vehicle reached over his slumped body and stole his wallet, containing $100.

Kordich, 57, died Saturday of an apparent heart attack while traveling from downtown to his home on the city's northeast side. He had been lay leader of his church for the last 17 years until poor health forced him to retire in January.

Police said a woman passenger tapped bus driver Sylvester Bryant on the shoulder and told him that "a man is having a seizure back there."

Police said another witness on the bus said Kordich's seizure occurred as two young men sitting nearby harassed him verbally.

They said the same men went through the stricken Kordich's clothing and took his wallet as he slumped to the floor of the bus. The suspects then got off the bus.

Dale Rice, 21, Detroit, was arrested on a second bus and charged with unarmed robbery. Police said the second suspect escaped but Kordich's empty wallet was found on the second bus.

Kordich's family Sunday said their doctor told them the heart attack might have been brought on by fear.

Kordich, who worked for Chrysler Corp. for 38 years until his retirement Jan. 29, was known to hundreds of Detroit Serbian families. He was one of the most active laymen in helping to build the $1 million Orthodox Church on the northeast side of Detroit.

"That church was his dream," said Karen Todorov, one of Kordich's five daughters.

Kordich presided last fall over the ceremonial burning of the church mortage and he retired from the presidency Jan. 1, feeling his work was done, she said.

His body was to lie in state at the church and funeral services were scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Court rejects NAACP appeal in bus suit

MEMPHIS, tenn. (UPI) — A 14-year legal battle over public school desegregation in Memphis apparently ended Monday with a Supreme Court rejection of an NAACP appeal for the busing of nearly 50,000 students.

The order upheld a ruling last December by the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati which noted that one-race schools are unavoidable in some situations "because minority groups concentrate in urban areas."

Memphis school officials said nearly 20,000 students, mostly white, fled the public school system for private schools after desegregation which resulted in the busing of more than 25,000 of the system's 120,000 children.

For Thursday, April 25

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will be a very unproductive day in the long run if you have too many irons in the fire at one time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're still a bit too loose about money matters. It's likely you'll be spending funds that haven't yet come in.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're not making as fine an impression as you're capable of on one whose opinion carries a lot of weight with others. Shape up!

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It won't take much to make you moody today. Bear this in mind when you get a slight rebuff from one you're fond of. Pass it off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) All is not as it appears where you and your friends are concerned. Be careful you're not drawn into something sticky.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Stay on top of obligations you have at this time. If you fail to come through or break your word, your image will suffer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You look to others to do things for you that you should be doing yourself. They won't appreciate buckpassing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're still going to have to be cautious in a situation where your interest intermingles with another's. Especially if possessions are involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're going to get a lot of static from your mate if you devote more time today to your outside activites than you should.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is one of those days when your self-discipline is very lax. Overindulgence in some manner is likely.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is not a time to let your impulses govern your actions. If they do, the pain you'll later feel will be in your purse.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Give your attention to cleaning up certain material obligations as best you can. Take positive measures now. You'll feel more secure.

James Roosevelt hits Douglas recollections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Roosevelt today disputed Justice William O. Douglas' recollections of White House pressure while chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) during the Roosevelt Administration.

Douglas tells in his new autobiography, "Go East, Young Man," how he felt compelled to tender his resignation soon after President Roosevelt's son, "Jimmy," had called at his office.

According to Douglas, the younger Roosevelt was speaking "a good word" for a man named Charles Schwartz, who had approached the SEC chairman earlier in an effort to act as an intermediary between the commission and the major electric power utilities at $100,000 a year for each.

"Jimmy soon came to my office, raising the roof," Douglas relates. "He said that any stupid fool would know that the only time Democrats could make money was when they were in power: 'What chance do we have when the Republicans take over?'"

Eventually Douglas went to the President, who when he heard the story "put his head on his arm and cried like a child for several minutes."

"Finally, wiping away his tears, he said with a faint smile, 'Jimmy! What a problem he is. Thanks for telling me. Now get back to your desk. Of course you're not resigning.'"

James Roosevelt, who is a businessman in Beverly Hills, Calif., when asked for comment, said he did not want to say "a bad word about Justice Douglas" but what Douglas recalls is "somewhat confused."

"I have no recollection of any such an incident," he said, adding that he was never in Douglas' office during the Justice's term as SEC chairman.

He said he knew a man named Charles Schwartz but that he was a Republican and that it would not have made sense to place him in the framework of the Douglas story.

"My father was not the sort of man who ever cried under any circumstances," he added. "I don't think there is a man or woman alive who ever saw him cry."

Sheriff's car kills boy, 5

EL MONTE (UPI) — A sheriff's patrol car struck and killed a 5-year-old boy Sunday when the child darted into the street in front of his home.

Norman Pacheco died at Baldwin Park Community Hospital.

Deputies said the patrol unit was traveling from 35 to 40 miles an hour when the boy ran into the street between two parked cars and into the path of the patrol unit.

Sgt. Robert Norman, driver of the patrol car, said he was responding to a disturbance call and was unable to avoid hitting the boy.

NOT THE SAME: (Q.) We were good friends with these boys before they started smoking weed. Now our friendship is not so strong. In fact they ignore us and hardly talk to us at all.

We are really worried. When we tell them to stop taking drugs they just laugh. Please don't tell us to find new friends because we think too much of them to just drop them.

Help! — One of Four Unhappy Girls in Ohio

Unless yo do, you are in danger of becoming really unhappy.

ONE OF THREE: (Q.) Kathy keeps insisting that we not get serious because she likes to date other guys too. Right now she dates three guys, including me, and I wonder if I'm crazy to put up with it.

I asked her if the other two guys are as concerned as I am and she said no, but she wants to keep on dating them — and me too.

Can you give me any advice? — Jealous in New Jersey

(A.) You seem to have three choices: (1) Keep dating jut Kathy and being discontented. (2) Date a couple of other girls in addition to Kathy. (3) Find a new one-boy-type girl and date just her. I favor Number 2.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanip,
- normal hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage, used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.

Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.

Proper tire and suspension system maintenace are vital to obtaining maximum tire mileage. Montgomery Ward will therefore rotate your tires and inspect your suspension system free of charge every 5,000 miles, for the entire guarantee mileage, at any of its retail or catalog branches having tire installation facilities. Wheel alignment and balance service available, at regular charge.

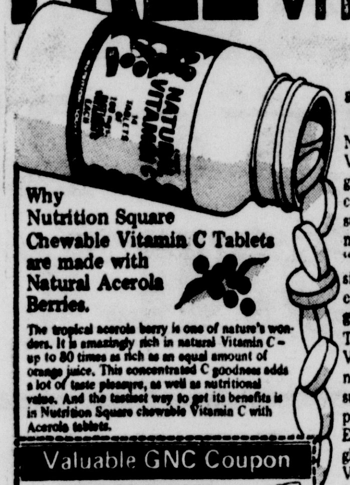
FREE Fruit-Flavored Chewable, Natural VITAMIN C



Why Nutrition Square Chewable Vitamin C Tablets are made with Natural Acerola Berries.

The tropical acerola berry is one of nature's wonders. It is amazingly rich in natural Vitamin C – up to 80 times as rich as an equal amount of orange juice. This concentrated C goodness adds a lot of taste pleasure, as well as nutritional value. And the tastiest way to get its benefits is in Nutrition Square chewable Vitamin C with Acerola tablets.

Taste it . . .
and enjoy the most delicious
and complete Vitamin C nutrition
that ever melted in your mouth!

Nutritional science knows that you need Vitamin C every day. It affects every single cell in your body. Yet your body can't store it. But, without a sufficient supply of Vitamin C, your body can't manufacture a special cement called "collagen" -- the cement that holds every single cell in the body together. So you can see how important it is to be sure of getting enough Vitamin C.

That's where Nutrition Square Natural Vitamin C with Acerola comes in. These new chewable Vitamin C tablets have such a wonderfully tangy true-fruit taste, people love to chew them like candy. Even kids who can't swallow pills will gladly chew their daily Nutrition Square Vitamin C with Acerola. Faltering Jimmy Durante draws tear-filled accolade

NEW YORK (UPI) — There was the same huskiness in the voice but the words came out slower. The crushed felt hat was tilted to one side as always.

More than 1,000 people sat listening so silently that the slightest tinkle of glass seemed to thunder across the ornate Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria. Tears welled in the eyes of grown men.

Jimmy Durante came home to New York Tuesday and captured the hearts of his audience, as he has done countless times in 64 years of show business, but this time it was done with great effort and courage and, as always, a twinkle in his eyes.

Durante, who celebrated his 81st birthday last Feb. 10, is partly paralyzed in his left arm and left leg, the result of a stroke in November, 1972, that has confined him to a wheelchair.

He was the special guest at the Banshees luncheon, an annual event at the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

William Randolph Hearst Jr., whose Hearst Corporation is host for the lunch, presented the onetime Coney Island piano player with the Banshees' "Silver Lady" award in recognition of his long career.

Durante, seated in his chair on the main floor with a group of friends, spoke slowly in thanking the Banshees, where he had appeared numerous times in the group's 39-year history.

And then, in the glare of a spotlight cutting the smoke-filled room and with the Meyer Davis orchestra playing softly, he sang, starting slowly at first, faltering on some words, pausing before others and then, growing stronger.

First there was "Inka-Dinka-Doo," the song he used as his trademark all these years, from Coney Island where he started in 1910, on Broadway, radio and television in nightclubs and motion pictures.

There was a long, standing ovation and then another when Jimmy sang "Young at Heart."

"Thank You, folks," he said after each wave of applause, nodding, eyes twinkling.

Durante has shown some signs of progress in his recovery in recent weeks. He told a UPI interviewer earlier this year he still practices the piano a few minutes each day in his Beverly Hills, Calif. home.

His wife of 14 years, Marjorie, was with him at the luncheon of editors and publishers and she fought back the tears as her husband sang.

Carol Channing, the actress and singer, presented him with one of her glittering fake diamond rings and called him "the brightest diamond of them all."

Bob Considine, the columnist, was the master of ceremonies, and as the final round of applause ended he told those who may have seen Durante in his final public performance:

"Now you know the meaning of the word star."

Cancer blamed

Comedian Bud Abbott dies at 75

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — William (Bud) Abbott, 75, the skinny straight man to Lou Costello in one of the most famous comedy teams of the 1940s, died today.

Death was attributed to cancer, a family spokesman said. Abbott's widow Betty was with him when he died at 7 a.m. PDT.

Abbott had been in poor health for more than a decade after a series of strokes.

He finished his life living on Social Security after his savings from the huge sums he earned as a star were stripped from him by the government in a tax action in 1959.

Abbott and Costello spent much of their professional lives in obscurity until they achieved spectacular fame in the 1940s with routines which established them as the successors to Laurel and Hardy.

Costello died in 1959.

Widow tax law break upheld by high court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court upheld on a 6-3 vote today the Florida law giving widows, but not widowers, a $500 tax break on grounds that society is inhospitable to working women.

Justice William O. Douglas wrote the majority decision, citing the generally lower economic status of women as a proper basis for the law.

"There can be no dispute that the financial difficulties confronting the lone woman in Florida or in any other state exceed those facing the man," Douglas said.

"Whether from overt discrimination or from the socialization process of a male-dominated culture, the job market is inhospitable to the woman seeking any but the lowest paid jobs."

Douglas said the Florida tax law was "reasonably designed to further the state policy of cushioning the financial impact of spousal loss upon the sex for whom that loss is a disproportionate or heavy burden."

Justices Byron R. White and William J. Brennan Jr. wrote separate dissents, and Justice Thurgood Marshall endorsed Brennan's views.

Pomona School Board breaks tradition

Busing for D.B. students OK'd

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Pomona school board members voted 4-1 Tuesday night to contract with a private carrier to provide busing at 50 cents per day for Ganesha High School students living in north Diamond Bar.

The service, scheduled to begin this September, will break a district tradition of not busing students.

The vote, on a motion by Ken Pine and seconded by Philip S. Wessels, followed an appearance before the board by 15 persons from a near capacity audience. The meeting was moved to the District Education Center auditorium to accommodate the large attendance.

Race was introduced as an issue in deciding the busing matter.

Board chairman James Bell cast the single no vote. He made no explanation. However, Roy Day spoke before the vote was taken, explaining he would liked to have made the motion to approve the proposal, recommended by Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz.

"In no way does this situation remotely resemble the former situation (1972 when a busing integration plan was defeated in the district) and I resent the fact that racial overtones have been introduced here," said Day.

"Diamond Bar is an integral part of our district. They will be paying their way. There just cannot be any trickery in this plan. It is straightforward and well thought out."

Of those who addressed the board, by far the large majority were residents of Diamond Bar requesting the board to approve Wentz' plan.

In that category were Frank Skrah, president of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association, and Clint Parks, Ted Staley, Joe Larutta, Sid Rose and Cecil Hoover, directors or members of the association. Without exception they asked the board to "help us get our kids to school safely."

Mrs. Gene Bundy, a Diamond Bar mother, objected to the 50 cent fare and asked the board to "consider the family with four or five children." She said Diamond Bar has received "special treatment" the past two years, "we've got it right in the neck." She referred, of course, to the fact families had had to provide their own transportation and that it was costly.

Objecting was John Williams of Pomona, who said people living in Diamond Bar are part of the "flight" from Pomona and it seemed to him board members were conspiring with Diamond Bar residents to get busing.

Another opponent was Mrs. Dorothy Peters of Pomona, a parent. "If you bus," she told the school board, "bus two ways. We've got a whole lot of vacant houses in Pomona and the RTD (Rapid Tranist District) runs right through the tracts.

"They went to Diamond Bar to get away from us," she charged. "Let them stay up there and build their own schools."

In making his recommendation, Wentz pointed out that attempts to get RTD to provide service in Diamond Bar had failed, that the gas shortage had created a serious handicap for students who rely upon private automobiles, and that school hours differ from hours of most working parents.

"There appears to be no safe and reasonable route for students to walk or ride a bicycle to school from Diamond Bar," he said.

Also, the board decision to move ninth graders into the high schools in September will mean some 675 students, many unable to drive, will be coming in to Ganesha from Diamond Bar next fall.

Wentz said the district already was involved in providing transportation for Regional Occupational Education students.

He admitted he did not know how much above student fares it would cost the district to contract with a private carrier. "The difference could be as low as approximately $15,000 to a high of $40,000," he said. The answer would not be known until routes and hours of service were explained, he added.

LARGE RUSS CROWDS FOLLOW KENNEDY

Large crowds follow Kennedy on Russ visit

LENINGRAD, USSR (UPI) — U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy today mixed touring with campaign-like appearances in this former Czarist capital. He drew large crowds at the Hermitage museum, a turbine factory and whenever he stepped out of his limousine.

"This is just like Fitchburg (Mass.) the last week of the (senatorial) campaign," Joan Kennedy said as her husband plunged into a crowd outside a souvenir store, grabbing hands clutching at him.

The Massachusetts Democrat arrived Tuesday night from Tbilisi on the last leg of his week-long fact-finding visit to the Soviet Union. He spent his last full day in the country visiting a cemetery for Leningrad's war dead, the Hermitage, the Electrosila generator factory, where he lunched with workers, and the summer palace of Catherine the Great.

Kennedy and his wife placed a spray of red carnations at the Piskarevskoye cemetery, resting place for 470,000 Leningrad citizens and soldiers who died in the city's 900-day World War II Nazi siege.

Pomona teachers ask 16% salary increase

POMONA — Pomona's public school teachers Tuesday asked for a 16 per cent pay hike for 1974-75 in their initial wage proposals presented to the school board.

Along with the pay increase, the teachers asked that a 3 per cent anniversary increment be added to the regular salary at the 15th, 18th, 21st, 24th, 27th and 30th year of teaching.

They requested that the number of steps in the teacher salary schedule be reduced from 14 to 13 next year and from 13 to 12 in 1975-76.

They asked that the district pay a $300 bonus to teachers who hold masters or doctorate degrees.

They asked that teachers at the Children's Center be placed on the regular teacher salary schedule.

The proposals, along with an 87-page Memorandum of Understanding, were accepted for study by the school board.

The 16 per cent salary increase, if granted, would raise the district's minimum pay for teachers from $8,160 to $9,396 and the maximum from $16,200 to $18,792.

"We feel the adjustment requested is justified," said Judson F. Ellson, president of the Associated Pomona Teachers (APT).

"But while salaries are very important, they're not our No. 1 priority. Our No. 1 priority is class size."

Ellson said in order for teachers to do superior work, class size must be reduced "because with individualized

Dismissal of speed conviction booed

By JACK BURSON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The dismissal of a speeding ticket against a Claremont attorney just convicted of the violation drew boos from courtroom spectators here and criticism from the officer who had cited him.

But the action was defended Tuesday by Deputy Dist. Attorney Jack Garofalo. He said that justice would not have been served if the conviction had been allowed to stand. Garofalo's only criticism of the action was that it might not have been timely — that is, that the action which led to the dismissal should have been taken earlier, and not after the case had been tried.

The incident involved a speeding ticket given to Attorney William M. Shernoff the night of March 17. He was cited by California Highway Patrolman Tom Fitch, who charged him with doing 60 miles an hour in a 40 mile-an-hour zone. Shernoff was westbound on Foothill Boulevard near Mills Avenue when he was stopped.

The attorney testified Monday in his own behalf that he was hurrying home from a meeting after his wife had telephoned him, saying their son, Howard, 10, was ill. The youngster subsequently was admitted to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and remains there. His condition is termed fair.

In his testimony, Shernoff never denied that he might have been exceeding the speed limit, observers said. At the end of the testimony, Judge Robert C. Gustaveson said that since there was no evidence presented that Shernoff had not been speeding, and since there was nothing in the law to allow persons to speed under such a situation, he had to find the lawyer guilty. But he suspended the sentence.

A few minutes later, Garofalo appeared before the court and moved for dismissal of the case "in the interests of justice." He cited "severe mental distress" that Shernoff had suffered and Gustaveson granted the motion.

In appearing in the case, however, Garofalo replaced Deputy Dist. Atty. Kirk Newkirk, who had prosecuted the case and won.

Gustaveson said later that while he had been under no obligation to grant the dismissal, the DA's request, plus an investigation which showed the youngster was ill, caused him to dismiss the case in the interests of justice.

But CHP Officer Fitch, who testified at the trial, said Tuesday that the dismissal reflected poorly on the system. He said that his job is to enforce the law, which he had done, and whatever action is taken later is beyond him.

But, he said, he felt that an action to dismiss the ticket should have been taken before the trial, and the way it was handled in the courtroom "was an affront to the system, making everyone look bad."

Shernoff said Tuesday that he had been in a hurry to get home, because of his wife's call, and felt any citizen would do the same under the circumstances. He wasn't even in the courtroom when the case was dismissed, he said.

But, if he had it to do again, he would pay the ticket, he said.

$250 million for Egypt

Nixon proposes $5.1 billion for foreign aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today a $5.1 billion foreign aid program, including $250 million for Egypt to strengthen the "forces of moderation" in the Middle East.

The aid package for the fiscal year starting July 1 would include $1.5 billion in United States assistance to international development institutions. The rest would be for economic and military assistance.

The President also urged Congress to authorize an appropriation of $939.8 million to assist South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos in their efforts to shift their economies from war to peace.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger outlined the program at a meeting with congressional leaders and appealed for support on grounds that foreign aid "has become an indispensable element" of U.S. foreign policy.

The $250 million in assistance to Egypt would be used for clearing the Suez Canal, repairing the war damage in adjacent cities and restoring Egyptian trade, Nixon said.

He said American diplomatic initiatives in the Mideast had helped create conditions "necessary for an end to conflict and violence."

Of the Middle East in general, Nixon said, "the hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter century."

Besides the quarter-billion for Egypt, the President proposed to provide Israel $50 million for security support and $300 million in military credit sales to permit it to continue to defend itself and reduce the prospect of a new conflict.

He also asked $100 million in military assistance grants for Jordan, plus $77.5 million in security supporting assistance, and $30 million in military credit sales.

In addition, Nixon requested a "special requirements fund" of $100 million to be disbursed for new needs that may arise as the outlines of a peaceful settlement in the Mideast takes shape, including provision for peacekeeping forces, aid to refugees and development projects.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., had told reporters after Nixon's meeting with top congressional leaders that while the aid request was "a pretty tidy sum" and that aid was "unpopular with the country," he intended to support it. Mahon is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will consider the program.

Patricia unwilling bank robber, says expert

TRIGGER OF GUN UNDERNEATH COAT

HOW EXPERT VIEWS IT

Patricia Hearst was being forced to participate in the April 15 robbery of a San Francisco bank, says a photo expert after examining photos of the robbery taken by a hidden bank camera.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An authority on the 1970 Kent State shootings has decided by an independent study of pictures taken during a bank holdup that kidnaped Patricia Hearst was an unwilling member of the robbery team.

Peter Davies, a Staten Island, N.Y., realtor, said a careful study of the photos taken by a bank camera during the April 15 crime indicated Miss Hearst was being forced to carry an automatic rifle and participate in the crime.

Davies' conclusions were contained in a letter to the Hearst family which released its contents to newsmen Tuesday. The letter was turned over to U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr. with a recommendation it be submitted to the federal grand jury probing the Feb. 4 abduction by the Symbionese Liberation Army and the robbery.

Davies' analyses of photographs taken during the Kent State trouble played a key role in the recent indictments of National Guardsmen in Ohio. He also wrote a book on the shootings.

The letter to the Hearst family said: "The strap of the weapon (Miss Hearst was carrying) does not go around the back of her neck. Apart from the fact that this is a little unusual, that the strap should go over her right shoulder only, what makes it extremely significant is that her coat has been put on after shouldering the gun.

"Consequently, it becomes impossible for her to throw down the weapon without first removing the coat."

Davies also noted that the bank photos showed Miss Hearst with her right hand in her coat pocket.

"With her right hand in the pocket of her coat, how can she possibly get a finger on the trigger mechanism of the gun?" he asked.

Davies said her hand might have been bound inside the coat or strapped to the butt of the rifle.

In another development, FBI agent in charge Charles W. Bates said a tape recording and penciled notes claiming to be from the SLA were apparently a hoax. They had been received by the Sacramento (Calif.) Bee.

The messages said five California policemen would be killed for every SLA member slain.

Board of Supervisors' offer rejected

County employes threaten strike

A strike by 60,000 Los Angeles County employes including about 800 in Pomona, is expected Monday in the wake of the rejection of a 5½ per cent pay raise offered by the Board of Supervisors.

Victor N. Hochee, general manager of the county employes association, called the offer "unrealistic in the light of recent rises in the cost of living.

"We are willing to sit down and negotiate in good faith to avert a strike," he said. "But unless they come up with something more realistic, a strike willoccur."

The work stoppage by hospital workers, social workers, clerks and probation officers has been set for 12:01 a.m. Monday.

The employees, members of 36 unions and oganizations, are holding out for raises ranging between 8 and 10 per cent.

The county went up 1 per cent from its original offer of 4½ per cent Tuesday, but Hochee said that was far below what the employes sought.

"All we want right now is to stay in line with the rate of inflation," he maintained. "That means about 10 per cent."

The county employes also want a binding arbitration of their grievances, hazard pay for probation officers, and free parking for all employees.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said the demand of the employes was more than the taxpayers would stand for.

He said the 5½ per cent increase would add about $54 million to next year's county budget. To raise that much additional money, Hahn said, the county would have to levy an additional 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Hahn estimated that this would mean an increase of $8.49 in taxes on a home currently worth $24,000.

County personnel director Gordon T. Nesvig said negotiations were going on virtually without break around the clock with state conciliaators in charge.

Wage dispute

State workers mull next step

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Employes Association today studied possible actions, including a strike, it might take in response to Gov. Ronald Reagan's refusal to submit its wage-benefit proposal to arbitration.

Reagan Tuesday flatly rejected CSEA's request that the issue of higher wages and fringe benefits of state employes next year be submitted to arbitration. CSEA had warned that if Reagan refused, a strike vote would be submitted to its 110,000 members.

But after Reagan's rejection, CSEA President John Matheny said his organization "will not be forced into any precipitous confrontations by the governor's unreasonable refusal to submit CSEA's pay and benefit proposal to impartial arbitration."

Matheny said any CSEA action, including a strike, will be decided by its board of directors and taken only after a vote of CSEA membership. A CSEA spokesman said the group's emergency action committee is holding meetings to consider possible actions and will make recommendations to the directors. tors.

Reagan was asked at a news conference Tuesday whether he would agree to arbitration and he replied crisply: "No. I don't believe that we have the right to do such a thing."

The governor said in dealing in pay matters with state employes, elected officeholders as representatives of the people "must have the last word other than the people themselves."

"For the elected representatives to delegate their responsibility to someone else not chosen by the voters is to put into some arbitrator's hands the right to make a settlement that could result in imposing a tax increase on the people," Reagan said.

Reagan repeated a warning that any employe who struck would be fired "at the end of five days of unexcused absence."

CSEA has proposed a $190 million package for the next fiscal year starting July 1. Salaries would consume $110 million, an increase of 10 per cent.

Reagan has proposed a 2.7 per cent pay raise in a $90 million package split evently between salaries and fringe benefits.

However, the governor noted he included in the current budget almost $250 million for employe increases which the federal Cost of Living Council had withheld. The state Supreme Court last week ruled the workers were due $83.4 million in retroactive pay raises for this year.

Those same raises are contained in the proposed new budget, Reagan explained. "But on top of that, what it amounts to is the employes of California will be getting over the two-year period a 19 per cent raise."

Cincy has outbreak of whooping cough

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A whooping cough epidemic has hit Cincinnati.

City Health Commissioner Dr. William R. Elsea reported the epidemic Tuesday, saying there have been 36 cases — or suspected cases — of the contagious disease here since March 1.

Cincinnati usually has three to five cases a year.

Drug delays quads' birth, aids survival

CHICAGO (UPI) — Quadruplets, three boys and a girl, born to a suburban Evanston, Ill., woman were "doing very well" today, and doctors said a new drug which delayed their delivery by three weeks has "greatly increased" their chances of survival.

The infants, weighing between 3 pounds 1 ounce, to 4 pounds 2 ounces, were born Monday to Susan Katzen, 27, who had received injections of tiodrine hydochlordie, a compound developed in Europe and successfully researched at the Michael Reese Medical Center in Chicago.

Nader Bozorgi, a member of the Michael Reese team involved in the delivery, said the quads are now better equipped to ward off diseases common to premature infants because of their prolonged stay in the womb.

"The uterus is the best incubator there is," Bozorgi told a news conference Tuesday. "These babies were born with mature lungs because of the extra three weeks and are now much less susceptible to the respiratory diseases so often fatal to premature infants."

Mrs. Katzen, whose husband Larry is a certified public accountant, had been taking a fertility drug and experienced a normal pregnancy until the 32nd week when pain and contractions developed.

"We determined the babies would have a good chance to survive if birth was delayed until 35 weeks," the doctor said. "Within two days after the injection of the drug, the contractions ceased."

Flood waters drop in Canadian areas

By United Press Internaational

Widespread spring floods that have washed over Canada's prairie provinces, driving thousands of families from their homes and causing damages in the millions of dollars, have begun to recede in most places.

But some areas still face rising water levels.

Workers in Moose Jaw, Sask., where most of the downtown area was inundated, have begun to clear away piles of debris. Mayor Herb Taylor estimated damages in his city of 40,000 at between $8 million and $9 million.

Two airmen held in torture slaying of three hostages

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Two airmen were held today on suspicion of torturing five hostages with acid and shooting each of them in the head during a robbery. Three of the victims were killed.

A third airman was questioned but was released.

An 18-year-old girl was raped before she was killed in Monday's robbery at a stereo shop.

Police said the robbers jammed a pen into the ear of one victim and kicked it. The man survived the attack and was found walking around the shop with the pen sticking out of his ear.

The two men surrendered without resistance at their barracks at nearby Hill Air Force Base Tuesday night. They were identified as Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Trinidad, West Indies, and William A. Andrews, 20, of Jonesboro, La.

Ogden Police said the third suspect was questioned at the air base and voluntarily went to police headquarters where he was interrogated further.

The man was released. Police officials said he was "involved" but declined additional comment until consulting with the county attorney.

Police Chief Le Roy Jacobsen said Pierre had been a suspect in an Ogden murder last year but was not arrested because of insufficient evidence. Jacobsen called him a "vicious character" with a record of drug use.

The killers broke into the Hifi Shop Monday night, loaded several thousand dollars worth of stereo equipment into a van and then began the methodical torture of four employes and one employe's father — who blundered into the robbery when he went to the store to see why his son had not come home on time.

"It was one of the most ghastly, grisly things I've ever seen," said a nurse at a local hospital where some of the victims were taken. "They made the people swallow acid and then poured it on their bodies."

The acid apparently came from a basement repair shop, where it was used to make printed circuit boards for stereo equipment.

7 Arab nations will receive French arms

PARIS (UPI) — France will sell $150 million in missiles, night-fighting equipment, mortars and ammunition to seven Arab countries, the newspaper Le Monde said today.

Boy, depressed by failure to save kin in fire, kills self

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kenneth Richardson had brooded for three weeks, ever since he was unable to rescue four of his relatives from a fire that destroyed the family's suburban Northlake, Ill., home.

Sunday the 14-year-old boy was found hanging from the top of a handrail in his home. He was to be buried today.

"I heard my brothers and sisters calling," Kenneth said in a note found near his body.

Kenny's mother, Edna Walker, said her son had been depressed since the April 1 fire that led to the death of his brother, two sisters and a niece.

At the time of the fire, Kenneth was sleeping in one of three upstairs bedrooms. He roused his half-brother, Thomas Walker, 11, and his sister, Deborah, 15, who also were asleep in on the second floor.

But the lad could not awaken another sister, Sandra Whittington, 19, or her 18-month-old daughter, Shannon, in the third bedroom, so he dashed downstairs to awaken his mother and another half sister, Loretta Walker, 9.

Smoke and heat stopped Kenny from returning to the second floor.

The second floor victims all died.

In his suicide note, which ended with the Lord's Prayer, Kenny asked that he be buried next to his brothers and sisters.

instruction, learning at many levels is going on in one classroom at all times."

APT executive director Delbert A. Pfeifer called the salary request "a hold the line proposal which would allow teachers to catch up on losses in buying power during the current year, make up for losses in 1973-74 agreements, and come up to the average maximum of 27 districts surveyed in Los Angeles County."

Pfeifer showed graphs which depicted a consistent drop in "disposable purchasing power" since 1970-71.

Teachers received a 10.75 per cent pay hike last year.

Administrators said to increase teacher salaries by 1 per cent costs the district $178,000. The district employs approximately 840 teachers.

Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz had said in the past that the district's ability to increase teachers' pay next year hinges on passage of Proposition T on the June 4 ballot, the 72-cent tax override which, if approved, would bring in about $1.5 million.

Rainfall boosts crops in county

LOS ANGELES — During March a number of rain storms in Los Angeles County greatly benefited agrcuiture, according to Ralph W. Lichty, county agricultural commissioner.

Citrus trees now are in full bloom, Lichty reports. The new growth looks excellent. No harvesting is underway except for a few lemons. Valencia fruit is well colored and picking will begin late this spring, Lichty said.

Some avocado trees are blooming and a few growers are harvesting a light crop of Haas variety.

Spring vegetable crops made good growth during March, according to the commissioner. Strawberry harvesting increased in tempo, but peak picks were slowed by the cool weather. Grain fields look excellent and some fields are heading out, Lichty said.

Sales of nursery stock continue on an ever upward spiral with the gasoline shortage playing a part this time as homeowners concentrate on their yards instead of travel.

3½ years standing in corner, unclaimed body awaits burial

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (UPI) — A migrant farm worker, whose unclaimed body stood in a corner of a funeral home for 3 ½ years, must wait a few more months for burial.

The body of James Evans, which was embalmed in 1970, and shows no signs of deterioration, has been in the Woodward Funeral Home since Sept. 22, 1970.

It was unclaimed until a few weeks ago when Evans' sister-in-law, Martha Evans, a beautician who was at the funeral home fixing hair of a deceased person, discovered by accident who Evans was.

Earl Alexander, manager of the funeral home, said Tuesday that Evans was a migrant farm worker who was 80 years old when he died. Alexander said the body was brought to the funeral home when no one claimed it at the hospital. He embalmed it, and prepared it for burial.

"For the last 3 ½ years, it has been upstairs, standing in a corner dressed, with a hat on," Alexander said. He said the funeral home placed the body in the corner to get it out of the way.

"It was convenient for us, you know," he said. "It was out of the way, and nobody was stumbling over it and it was just convenient for us."

Alexander said the body was so perfectly preserved that "we just decided to keep it."

Alexander said the sister-in-law had heard about the body and asked him if she could take a look at it.

"We took her up there and discovered it was her brother-in-law," Alexander said.

He said the burial services have been delayed until July 27 to allow family members in Texas, New Jersey and California to attend. He said the body has now been placed in a makeshift coffin in the funeral home's storage room pending burial.

He's surprised

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Robert E. L. Eaton, the national commander of the American Legion, says he is "very surprised" to learn of the resignation of a past national commander as head of the Veterans Administration.

Eaton referred to Donald Johnson in a statement Tuesday. Johnson announced Monday he will step down as VA chief.

Eaton said the integrating of about 7 million Vietnam era veterans into the VA system "under the stewardship of Mr. Johnson has been commendable."

Praise for Nixon

HONOLULU (UPI) — John S. McCain III, a Navy commander and for six years a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, praised President Nixon Tuesday for strides in foreign policy. McCain said he hoped Watergate would not overshadow Nixon's accomplishments.

"I believe the reputations of presidents most times are based on their foreign policy," he told a Hawaii Freedom Foundation awards banquet. "I hope we will not allow Watergate to obscure some of the wonderful things President Nixon and his administration have done for the country."

Cronkite a witness

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walter Cronkite was called as a defense witness Tuesday in the trial of two young gay activists accused of disrupting Cronkite's CBS Evening News program Dec. 11.

The network news anchorman answered a defense subpoena to testify in the criminal trespass trial of Mark Segal and Harry Langhorne in Manhattan Criminal Court.

While Cronkite was on the witness stand, a brief segment of the Dec. 11 news program was shown in the courtroom. It showed a person whose face could not be seen run in front of Cronkite waving a cardboard sign saying "Gays protest CBS prejudice."

At the time, Cronkite was reporting on security precautions for President Nixon, and in an aside said "perhaps we could use a little of that around here."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Liz and Dick are still reuniting.

A spokesman for Richard Burton said Tuesday that Burton will be released from St. John's Hospital today or Thursday, and at the same time, Elizabeth Taylor will join him, ending a vacation in Hawaii. Miss Taylor was in Hawaii when Burton was hospitalized April 14, after falling ill while filming "The Klansman" near Oroville, Calif.

The hospital said he was treated for bronchitis.

Orr's sixth marriage ended in divorce in December after three months of marriage.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Singer Carole King, aided by her musician husband, gave birth at her Laurel Canyon home Tuesday to an 8-pound, 4-ounce son.

Miss King has three daughters, ages 2, 10 and 12.

Too much resistance

Proposal dropped

SAN DIMAS — Resistance sometimes dampens enthusiasm, City Councilman Marvin Ersher has decided.

Ersher decided Monday night to drop his proposal to change present methods of appointing Planning Commission and Parks and Recreation Commission members when he realized other members of the council didn't support his point of view.

Besides members of the council, Ersher also heard complaints of his plan from two former mayors, Thomas Nuss and D. F. Hooper.

Ersher suggested in a written memo to the council that members of major commissions should reflect the wishes of the people. He said this could be accomplished by giving recently elected councilmen the opportunity to suggest names of those to serve and the final selection would be made by vote of the entire council.

He suggested that the terms of members serving on major city commissions expire on May 31 of even-numbered years with the ratio of three-two with three expiring this year. Presently terms for the Planning Commission will expire at the ratio of one in August of this year, one in 1975, one in 1976 and two in 1977.

He also wanted persons interviewed by the council and possibly in public sessions to give citizens the opportunity to sit in on interviews as is the custom in some cities.

Ersher's final suggestion was to limit the terms of commissioners and city councilmen to two terms or eight years total.

Ersher said he wanted to make the appointment process more responsive to the people.

He said he felt planning commissioners should be reevaluated. "City Council members are elected every four years. Why shouldn't the planning commission be reevaluated?"

But he decided it would be "absurd" to make a motion for the council to accept the new policy suggestions after former mayors Hooper and Nuss both spoke against the changes and he had no support from other members of the council.

Hooper said Ersher's plan might as well "do away with the Planning Commission if it reflects the feelings of councilmen." He said the commission should be free of political influences.

Hooper defended the present system saying that the City Council always interviews prospective candidates for the Planning Commission. He also thought that the commission terms shouldn't be cut off at two terms.

He told Ersher he was trying to "tear down what took years to build up. We have a good system going and should keep it," Hooper concluded.

Nuss said Ersher's plan is a "distinct step backward" to enter any agreement where the commission would be beholden to the City Council.

"Although I didn't always agree with the Planning Commission, they gave us their integrity and enterprise and we (the City Council) made the political decisions," Nuss said.

Pause in impeachment probe

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the possible impeachment of President Nixon, halted that process long enough Tuesday to come to the relief of Marcos Rojos Rodriguez, who has waited 49 years.

On May 25, 1925, while he was picking potatoes for pay in a field adjoining Kelly Field outside San Antonio, Tex., Rodriguez, then age 13, found a bomb fuse and banged it against a wagon wheel.

It exploded and he lost a thumb and two fingers. His father, Juan, asked the Army for $3,000 damages. An Army board recommended paying $900.

A bill to compensate the boy's father for $900 was introduced in the 69th Congress in 1927 —and subsequently in the 70th, 71st, 72nd and 73rd Congresses and again in the 91st Congress in 1970 and the 92nd in 1971. It never passed.

Last Nov. 29, with no debate, a measure to pay Rodriguez $15,000 passed the Senate and went to the House Judiciary Committee whose claims subcommittee recommended cutting the award to $10,000 —the amount Rodriguez would now have had he received $900 in 1927 and invested it at 6 per cent interest.

Now the bill was before the full committee. Although the committee has been directed by a 410-4 vote of the House to inquire into whether grounds exist for the impeachment of President Nixon, it had not been relieved of its other duties.

So the members set aside their concern with Richard Nixon long enough to consider Marcos Rodriguez.

It took 10 minutes.

One member wanted to know why Rodriguez had not been compensated by Congress years ago if his cause was just.

"If we pass this bill," asked another, "are we setting a precedent?"

No one could explain the long delay. But the Army, charged with investigating, had recommended paying $15,000. It said it had had to go into the Archives to find records of the claim.

Another member asked how much it had cost the government to process the claim over all these years. No one was willing to estimate.

Then the committee voted by voice, with some audible opposition, to pass the bill providing $10,000, sending it to the House floor.

Then it adjourned. It meets again Thursday, to discuss the possible impeachment of a president.

Boy's finger caught in desk hole

POMONA — The curiosity that goes along with being 5 years old caused Chris Pizzo a few problems Tuesday.

But his problem was finally solved by rescue units from the Pomona Fire Department while his anxious parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pizzo, 285 Center St., stood by.

Chris, a kindergarten student at Hamilton School, was playing around his desk Tuesday when he discovered a hole underneath the fiberglass desk. He put his right index finger in the hole but was unable to pull it out.

MARILYNN O'REGAN

Woman in high Chicago police post

By PAMELA REEVES

CHICAGO (UPI) — When the 165 policemen in Chicago's traffic administration division say "Good morning, Chief," a woman answers.

She is Marilynn O'Regan, 53, a 26-year veteran of the force who was appointed to the $27,000 a year job last week in a shakeup of the Chicago Police Department by new Superintendent James Rochford.

It is the highest post ever held by a woman on the 13,750 member force, and one of the highest held by any policewoman in the nation. Mrs. O'Regan, one of only 185 women in the department, says she was "surprised and overwhelmed" by the appointment.

Her job title is deputy chief of the administrative group of the Traffic Division. That means she is in charge of a 165-man force which handles traffic court, traffic records, special events and traffic safety for department cars.

Men handle two other divisions of the Traffic Department which are co-equal to hers, and all three deputies report to Traffic Superintendent James B. Conlisk. Conlisk resigned as superintendent of the Police Department last year after a number of officers were indicted on charges of shaking down tavern owners.

Mrs. O'Regan, a friendly, soft-spoken woman, was administrative assistant to Conlisk before he resigned, and she stayed on in the same job when Rochford took over. When Rochford promoted her last week, he said she would be an example to other women.

"They will have the same opportunities as men have," he said. "Many more will follow her."

Mrs. O'Regan joined the department in 1948 when she was 26 years-old, taking a job as police matron.

"It just came naturally," she said. "My father, brother and several uncles were all policemen. I was the first woman in the family to join, and I can't say my dad encouraged me, but he did say, "If you take the job, do the best you know how."

Mrs. O'Regan, who met and married a deputy police commissioner (now retired) while working in the department, feels women have a definite future as police.

"For a period, it may be the department had lost sight of the value of a woman to the Police Department," she said. "But in the last two years, her value has been recognized again."

"There are some areas where women are just more effective, and many areas in which men and women working together are effective," she said.

Put a woman on an undercover investigation, she said, "and the element of surprise is there, because no one suspects a woman."

Thirsty train had passengers hunting water

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Hundreds of passengers had to get off a train to look for water when the locomotive ran out of water and stalled two miles from the Karachi station, a newspaper reported.

The newspaper said the train engineer forgot to fill the engine with water before he left Karachi.

The passengers borrowed buckets from nearby houses, filled the engine, and the train went on its way.

Informant's role laid to Bugliosi; probe askec

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — William Norris, Democratic candidate for state attorney general, called Tuesday for an investigation into whether his opponent, Vincent Bugliosi, was the mysterious informant in the William Farr contempt case.

Norris produced a deposition by Bugliosi's former assistant in the Charles Manson trial implying it was Bugliosi who gave the newsman a transcript which produced a senational story and led to Farr's going to jail when he refused to reveal his source.

Bugliosi was the deputy district attorney who prosecuted the Manson case. One of his aides was another deputy district attorney, Stephen Kay. Bugliosi has since left the district attorney's office but Kay still works there.

In a story for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner for which he then worked, Farr quoted a cellmate of Manson "family" member Susan Atkins that the sect planned to murder Frank Sinatra and other celebrities.

The information came from the transcript of a statement by the cellmate, Virginia Graham. Copies of the transcript were given to the trial judge and the three prosecution and four defense attorneys bu statement was never i duced into evidence.

Under pressure by Sup Court Judge Charles O Farr said that he receive information from two of lawyers in the trial but

Fire victim crusades for safer color TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man who lost his wife, mother-in-law and infant daughter in a fire believed caused by a color TV set told a government commission Tuesday the American public should be warned to "pull the plug" on such sets when they are not in use.

Peter B. Young told how he was dragged unconscious from his burning home in Summit, N.J., on Jan. 1, 1973, while his family perished —three of 14 persons who died in New Jersey last year in fires traced to color TV sets.

"It is sad but true that the world is apparently constructed in such a way that progress is usually achieved only after good people die," Young, a public relations man for an electronics firm, said in testimony submitted to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

After a parish priest told him during a hospital visit "you never saw anything so blasted as your TV set," Young said he began a one-man campaign to try to alert the government and the public to the danger.

It was Young's telegram to the commission, after more multiple deaths occurred in New Jersey, that helped trigger hearings to which Young submitted his testimony today. The commission has decided to impose mandatory safety rules for the manufacture of TV sets and is holding the hearings to help it draw them up.

Earlier government reports have estimated there are about 10,000 fires related to TV sets every year. In the last part of 1973 and earlier this year more than 140,000 color TV sets, mostly portable models, were found with fire or shock hazards and were repaired or replaced by their manufactureers. The brands involved were Panasonic, Philco-Ford, Packard Bell, Montgomery Ward, Zenith, Admiral and RCA.

One frequently criticized feature of color TV sets is the "instant-on" device which, Young said in his prepared testimony, means that the set is not really off even though it's been turned off. The only way to be safe, Young said, is to pull the plug.

Kidnaper added to FBI list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted kidnaper James Elsworth Jones, whose victim was shot to death, has been added to FBI's list of most wanted fugitives.

Jones was already under a life sentence for the kidnaping of Leland Morris Davenport when he escaped from a county jail last October while awaiting trial on armed robbery charges.

The kidnaping victim, an 18-year-old college student, was abducted from a service station near Brookwood, Ga., on May 25, 1972. Davenport's body, beaten with a claw hammer and shot twice in the head, was found the same day near Martinsburg, W.Va.

Jones is described as 40 years old, 5 feet 8 inches to 10 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, blue-eyed and having brown hair that may be worn shoulder length with a mustache or beard.

Jones has a scar on his left wrist, a tatto of a heart and a word "Carol" on his upper left arm. He has used the social security number 199-26-9923 for jobs as an assembly line or electrical worker, roofer, salesman or truck driver.

Thought of marriage too much?

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — For nearly two decades, Domingo Gasca Araujo, 52, a shoemaker, had been promising Virginia Rosas Gonzalez, 42, that they would get married.

As time went by, Gasca fathered 17 children by her.

Last week the shoemaker, under increasing pressure by his older children as well as Virginia, finally agreed to be married on Monday.

Sunday night, as she made final preparations for the wedding and a post-wedding fiesta, Gasca went quiently into the bathroom and and killed himself with a bullet in the head.

He'll get official word: he's dead

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Donald A. Helgerson, Immokalee, Fla., will get the word soon. He's officially dead.

Francis X. McCormack, clerk of courts, said he received a letter recently from Helgerson asking when his wife had divorced him. He said he had deserted his family in 1950.

McCormack checked the records and found Helgerson's wife, Josephine, had him declared legally dead by the court in 1957.

McCormack said he would send Helgerson a copy of the judgment with the note, "I don't know if you're aware of it, but according to our records, you're dead. We respectfully request you contact your attorney to re-establish yourself."

Chino civic job okayed

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The Chino City Council committed itself to a more than $3 million civic center development Tuesday night in adopting plans for new city hall and police facilities.

"This is the major redevelopment project for our core city," said Mayor Bob McLeod in urging its approva. "I think it's time to get it going— get it built."

The plans call for the construction of separate city hall and police facilities at Central Avenue and D Street. The buildings will be finished on the exterior, although some areas will be a shell only and set aside for future growth.

Architects for the project will be the Pomona firm of Cashion, Horie and Sata. The project is expected to be ready to go to bid late this year or early next year.

Under the joint powers agreement with San Bernardino County, the project would call for a bond issue of approximately $4 million at 5.75 per cent interest rate.

The annual debt on the bond issue would be approximately $320,000.

Financing, of the annual debt will be based on the 25-cent tax override and redevelopment funds spread over an 11-year period beginning with the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The basic financial consideration before the council Tuesday was the commitment of the major share of the city's redevelopment funds over a prolonged period.

Under the present financial schedule, the project will absorb 72 per cent of all available redevelopment funds through fiscal year 1977-78. Thereafter, the percentage will decline annually to about 36 per cent in fiscal year 1984-85.

In terms of dollars, it means that the city will have $75,000 for other redevelopment projects in the coming year, and only $30,000 to $35,000 in each of next three years. In fiscal year 1979-80 the figure will have increased to $90,000 and will then double over the succeeding five years.

The decision to build the new facilities with unfinished areas for future growth was described by City Manager Bob Fast as "a good hedge against inflation and increased building costs.

In other action, the council approved a $150,000 expenditure to equip a new city well that is expected to have a capacity of more than double that originally projected. Fast told the council that because of the higher capacity, the cost of equipping the well had increased by about 40 per cent. Approximately $95,000 of the cost will be covered with federal revenue sharing funds originally slated for storm drain projects.

Hearing set for Chino Hills plans

SAN BERNARDINO — A general plan to guide the Chino Hills' future development will be discussed Thursday by the county Planning Commission.

The public hearing is set for 10 a.m. in the commission chambers, 316 Mountain View Ave., San Bernardino.

Planners had delayed acceptance of the plan at their Jan. 10 meeting pending formulation of an ordinance to regulate planned residential developments. This will allow the clustering of home or apartment units on properties having a mixture of flat land and slopes.

The planning staff began work on the proposed general plan in January, 1973. It encompasses a 40-square mile area generally bounded by the Corona Expressway and the Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange county lines.

In previous hearings, the low residential density proposed for much of the area has been both challenged and supported by area residents.

Owners of some large parcels oppose the suggested limitations since their plans include higher residential densities. Others, however, stated they moved to the area because of the low density and open space concept.

Should the commission approve the general plan, it will be sent to the county Board of Supervisors for further hearings and final adoption.

Scripps pair to speak at alum event

CLAREMONT — Daniel and Helen Horowitz, assistant professors of history at Scripps College, will be the featured speakers Saturday during the college's annual Alumnae Day.

The Horowitzes will discuss the impact of new kinds of indoor and outdoor space — airports, shopping centers, motels and amusmenet parks — on American culture at 11 a.m. in the Humanities Center Auditorium.

Other events include luncheon with Scripps President Mark H. Curtis in the Mary Routt-Frankel Dining Hall, an audio-visual presentation on "Scripps Revisited" by alumna Mrs. Farley O'Brien at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium and tours of the Asian art collection of Honnold Library.

Dog poisoning cases rising

The Orange Belt Veterinary Medical Association is warning Southern California residents that an increasing number of dog poisoning cases are being reported due to snail and slug baits.

An association spokesman warned that pets should be kept out of the areas where the baits are in use and that the baits should be stored in an inaccessible place.

Although there is no antidote for the poison, if the animal is taken quickly to an animal hospital it can be saved in many cases. The first symptoms of the poisoning are rapid and shallow breathing followed quickly by a loss of equilibrium as the dog staggers about. This is followed by severe twitching and inability to rise.

The tour will take 28 days, leaving June 23 and returning July 20. It is open to high school and college students.

Boys' Clubs offering film on Caribbean

UPLAND — The West End Boys' Clubs will present a travel film on the Caribbean Friday at 8 p.m. in the Upland High School auditorium.

The multi image presentation, produced by the Eastman Kodak Co., takes the viewer on a 76-minute tour among the major island groups of the Caribbean including, the Netherland Antilles, the American Virgin Islands and Jamaica.

The production involves the use of six slide projectors and a 16mm film projector.

Tickets for the presentation are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. They may be purchased at the Upland branch Boys' Club [illegible] Gordon Ayers camera shops.

steadfastly refused to identify them.

All the attorneys were brought into court before Older and each swore under oath that he did not give the transcript to Farr.

At a news conference Tuesday, Norris distributed portions of a deposition given under oath April 15 by Kay in which he described a series of events that occurred on the day after the statement by Mrs. Graham was mimeographed for limited distribution.

Kay said that he gave a number of copies of the Graham statement to Bugliosi and that the prosecutor put them in a briefcase beside his desk. Farr was in the office at the time, Kay said.

Kay said he returned to Bugliosi's office about 10 o'clock that night and Farr was still there.

Three days later Kay said, Farr approached him outside the trial courtroom and handed him a brown manila envelope and asked him to "give this to Vince." Kay said he did not open the envelope but handed it to Bugliosi in the courtroom.

Kay said that at the noon break in the trial, Bugliosi asked him whether he had looked in the envelope.

"I said, no, I didnt' look in the envelope," Kay said, "and at some point Don (Musich, another deputy district attorney) came in and (Bugliosi) got real upset.

"He said that if either one of you asks for a hearing on the matter I will have you taken off the case."

Bugliosi, who was campaigning in San Francisco, issued a statement saying that the events related by Kay were false.

"First of all, I have never given Mr. Farr any transcripts during the Manson trial and Mr. Farr has never stated either publicly or privately that I did.

"Secondly, the events described by Mr. Kay simply did not take place and his statements are untrue."

Bugliosi said he "wondered" if Kay was not motivated by ambition and pressure from Joe Busch, Kay's boss as Los Angeles district attorney and Bugliosi's opponent for the office in 1972.

Norris said that he was releasing the Kay statement because he was a candidate for attorney general and that he felt it was his duty to make public information that casts "gravest suspicions concerning whether Vincent Bugliosi violated a court order and committed perjury."

"If he did, he should be disqualified from practicing law, much less be a candidate for attorney general."

Norris suggested an investigation be made by the state bar association, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger's office or Judge Older. Kay already had given the same information to Younger in December, 1972, but the attorney general's office did not pursue the matter.

Asked Tuesday about his testimony, Kay said: "I don't know what was in the envelope. That is what happened."

Farr was not immediately available for comment.

Methadone rule given L.A. County

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge told county health officials Monday to follow their own guidelines for ending treatment of patients on methadone.

Judge Campbell M. Lucas said the county should develop an appeals procedure for patients who are removed from the methadone treatment program against their will.

Acting on two class-action suits from persons dismissed from the program, Lucas stopped short of ordering the county to conduct full hearings before terminating patients.

While the county was ordered to review the cases of five individuals dropped from treatment, Lucas refused to order their reinstatement.

The plantiffs in the suit

The plaintiffs in the suit claim dismissal from the program without a hearing violates their constitutional right to due process.

Claremont policemen fight fire-fighting program

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Dexter Anderson, president of the Claremont Police Officers Assn., told the City Council Tuesday night that "to a man" local policemen cross-trained to fight fires — whether on or off duty — don't like the present mandatory program, but would rather see it continued or discontinued than be made voluntary.

The council had received a report from Fire Chief Robert A. Lee on the costs, strengths and weaknesses of the program, made mandatory in 1968 because the city didn't receive the desired level of response from policemen.

Although the council received a letter from acting Police Chief Charles Starcher that the "actual operations of the police department have not been adversely affected by the participation of officers in the CTO program," it is awaiting a report from Police Chief Charles Lines who has been on vacation.

Starcher said he believes a voluntary program would succeed. "Those officers that would participate would be more active, better trained and motivated," he said.

Noting that the expenditures for the cross-training program for calendar 1973 were $29,460.75, City Manager Keith Mulrooney explained that problems encountered were inadequacy of on-duty response, inadequate response from off-duty officers, training and attitude.

He said that although the first-alarm agreement with Pomona has been very helpful in supplementing Claremont's manpower, Claremont still needs the program or an equivalent to provide supplemental manpower for the local fire service.

In his report, Lee explained that the council in 1967 began cooperative fire-police fire suppression program primarily because of the high cost of additional manpower for the fire department.

At first the program was voluntary for policemen to be trained as firefighters, but as the number of volunteer officers declined because of promotions, resignations from the program, and terminations from the department, and as the number of mandatory officers increased, attitudes toward the program seemed to dimniish in enthusiasm.

Lee said that response from off-duty cross trained officers has been poor during the entire life of the program and is one of its major weaknesses.

Lee said the police department workload seems to have increased to the point that sufficient cross-trained personnel are not available for fire suppression work.

Of the 221 fire calls requiring response in 1973, in 27 cases a cross trained did not respond, Lee reported.

Mulrooney said he believes that other cities in the Pomona Valley are going to have good reason, with federal legislation calling for a 40-hour work week for firemen, to re-examine a valleywide fire protection plan as was discussed in 1971.

Mayor Bertye Smith said she feels very strongly about discussing with neighboring cities the feasibility of such a valleywide agency.

Mulrooney said the major alternative to the cross-trained program is to work toward a valleywide fire department administered under a joint powers agreement.

Anderson told the council that the Lee report doesn't reflect the policeman's attitude towards the special program.

He recounted how a policeman must work his eight-hour shift, then go through a four or six-hour fire training session, and be on call when he is off duty.

He said that the cross-trained officers don't feel the program is conducive to good morale.

Officer Bob Brinegar told the council he has had two days off with his family in the past month.

Officer Bob Hamilton explained how a police officer may have persons under observation and yet be called to a fire before he has made any arrests. He said that those instances are not reported through the dispatcher.

Pomona's mutual aid agreement with Claremont only extends to fire calls south of Scripps Drive. North of that street, when a fire breaks out and all on-duty manpower is involved, off-duty cross-trained officers are recalled, and Lee reported that response from them has been poor.

The council encouraged the officers to put their attitude towards the program in writing and to forward letters to Mulrooney.

At the beginning of the discussion, Mulrooney stressed that anything to do with salaries should have nothing to do with the discussion Tuesday night.

He recommended that the council refer the matter of improvements in the effectiveness of the program to the staff for recommendations and to the labor negotiations team for inclusion in the present round of discussions with the police association.

Farewell dinner for Cox planned

POMONA — Former Mayor Arthur H. Cox, described by civic leaders as the "epitome of the good citizen," will be honored at a farewell dinner Friday at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

Cox, who was the city's chief executive officer from 1953 to 1961, was the third person to hold the office for four terms. The others were James K. Pettit, 1941 to 1949, and W. A. Vandergrift, 1913 to 1921.

Cox recently resigned as president and member of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District to accept a position as chief loan officer for a savings and loan association in Auburn.

The community dinner will be sponsored by the Pomona City Council in association with the Friends of Arthur H. Cox Committee, the executive members of which include Mayor Ray J. Lepire, Charles Stillinger, Robert Lewis, Currier Thatcher, Jerrold Gonce and Robert E. Oaks.

Lynn Rountree will be the master of ceremonies.

Coordinator of the dinner is Frederick W. Sharp, Pomona's executive director of redevelopment who is retiring Sept. 1. Tickets for the dinner at $5.50 per person may be ordered by calling 620-2067.

The lodge is at 1471 W. Holt Ave.

Checkpoint official checks on his payment

Last November I responded to the pleas of the Baja Sports Committee by working as a checkpoint official for the famed Baja 1000 off-road race from Ensenada to La Paz.

The Baja Sports Committee promised to pay all expenses that I would incur. All I had to do was obtain receipts and after the race turn them over to the committee for a refund.

I have done this and have sent follow up letters to no avail. I am out $181.50 and a lot of donated time. I have found out that some of the class winners have not been paid either.

Maybe you can help. — W. W., Pomona.

Promises and an announcement of a 1974 Baja 500 to be held June 5, 6 and 7 were all we got from the Baja Sports Committee.

Juan Jose Hernandez Limon of the committee said the Baja 1000 didn't make any money but as soon as a new budget was approved and new financing obtained, all obligations would be met.

He reported that all direct participants had been paid and that you and other checkpoint people are next.

I moved to an Upland mobile home park in June 1973.

In the past winter my awnings leaked and I have been trying to get the people at Admiral Awnings, Inc., to fix them.

They have fixed the south awning so it doesn't leak but those on the north side and the west porch leak terribly. Soon I'll need to replace some carpeting.

Even when we have a dew, the water runs down the side of the coach and gets the carpet wet.

A friend told me you would help me. Please do. — R. M., Upland.

Norman D. Carpenter, sales manager for Admiral Awnings, said that your awnings would be resealed. He couldn't give an exact date because the company tries to schedule service men by area.

He explained circumstances faced by awning companies.

"Each and every mobile home manufactured today," he said, "has a different configuration at the roof line where our awnings are attached. Due to these differences, it is very difficult to design one awning hanger that will guarantee a perfect seal in every case.

"Also, it is common knowledge that all mobile homes, due to weather and ground condition, will move periodically. This also makes it extremely difficult to guarantee a perfect seal."

He said Admiral Awnings makes "every attempt" to eliminate this problem common among awning manufacturers but it is not always successful.

Martin added that the building code classifies mobile home awnings as portable structures and they are not required to be totally leakproof.

He cautioned that responsibilities for resealing awnings belong to the customers after they have lived in their home for a period of time. However, he announced that Admiral intends to maintain as many satisfied customers as possible.

First class welcomed at Child Care Center

POMONA — A five-year effort to bring child care services to Cal Poly ended successfully Monday as the university's new Child Care Center welcomed its first group of 13 children.

Located in a former horsetrainer's adobe residence on campus, the center is a joint venture between Cal Poly and the Baldy View Regional Occupation Program (ROP), a federally funded organization which will use the facilities as a training center for up to 15 high school and adult students in child care practices each quarter.

In turn, Cal Poly will offer extension course credit for ROP trainees, which will partially fulfill requirements for a day care center certificate.

The center, developed with the aid of a $5,000 grant from the Associated Students, Inc., and a $300 gift from the Cal Poly Women's Club, can accommodate 20 children during each of two sessions from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily.

Services are more extensive than mere babysitting. Children are given instruction and training in such activities as creative music, language skills, social and physical development, basic arithmetic and time concepts.

Children of undergraduate students have first priority for admission, then children of graduate students and then of faculty and staff. The children must be between the ages of 3 and 5 and be toilet-trained.

Fees are based on a sliding scale, adjusted to the parents' income.

The development of the center was spearheaded by Cal Poly's dean of women, Dr. Mary Etta Steele. The newly appointed director is Cynthia Fiore, an instructor in early childhood educational and management at Los Angeles Harbor College in Wilmington and El Camino College in Torrance.

She is assisted by a half-time credentialed teacher, a full-time aide and a number of student trainees.

Opinion

Coal mines are no boon

One of the most intense legislative battles currently being waged in Congress is centered on an amendment to an omnibus land reclamation bill sponsored by Democratic Rep. John F. Seiberling of Ohio.

The basic intent of the amendment, which is now before the House Interior Committee, is to equalize the costs of deep coal mining and strip mining. This would be achieved by levying a fee of $2.50 on each ton of coal mined by either method. The fund would be set aside for reclamation.

Companies could earn a credit of up to 90 per cent against the fee for costs incurred by their own reclamation efforts, but by the nature of their operations, strip-miners would be harder hit than deep-miners.

Without some equalization, however, Seiberling contends, there will be a massive shift of the industry from the east, where most deep mines are located, to the West, where cheaply recoverable coal lies close to the surface.

Not only would this further disrupt the already hard-hit coal economies of Appalachia, but it would lead to the ravaging of vast areas of the West. It would mean, quick, huge profits for the western miners, says Seiberling, but at the cost of the collapse of the deep-mining industry. Deep mines will be needed again as early as the end of the century after the western resources are depleted, he predicts.

"The difficulties of rebuilding the industry from scratch, in order to continue our reliance on coal, will be enormous."

Seiberling's opponents, who include major electric utility, oil and railroad companies controlling western coal reserves, warn that his amendment would cripple efforts to make the nation self-sufficient in energy. The Nixon administration agrees with them.

Former Federal Energy Office chief William E. Simon, now Treasury Secretary, has expressed "great alarm" at the amendment. It would, he charges, result in a 50 per cent increase in the price of clean-burning, low-sulfur western coal that is desperately needed to replace high-sulfur eastern coal, would have severe impact in the conomy and would undermine efforts to offset oil shortages by greater use of coal.

"This is unthinkable," says Simon, "given our present energy crisis."

Oddly, the near 100 per cent increase in the price of petroleum that Americans have experienced in recent months has not only been thinkable to Simon but in his view has been eminently beneficial.

Countering Simon and supporting the amendment is Norman R. Williams, a consultant to the interior Committee. There is still plenty of low sulfur coal in the East, he says. Also, eastern coal burns much hotter than western coal, thus "substantially more western coal will have to be mined, shipped and burned to produce the same amount of heat value as a similar amount of eastern coal."

Not only would we be in the anomalous situation of importing coal into one of the richest coal regions on earth but we would be wasting expensive diesel fuel to do it, says Williams. Moreover, when transportation costs are considered, western coal might in some cases actually cost more than eastern coal.

These are some of the major arguments on both sides. Whatever the resolution of the great coal controversy, there is no argument that it will have significant impact on the lives and life-styles of the ordinary American consumer, who ultimately pays all the bills.

Golda's goodbye

The resignation of Golda Meir as Prime Minister of Israel was called unexpected, but it probably was inevitable. Strong-minded and strong-willed as she is, the seething Mideast situation and the dissensions within her own party over blame for the successful Egyptian surprise attack last October, were enormous burdens.

A time has to come for every great political leader and as Mrs. Meir, at 75, put it in her announcement to the Labor party parliament faction:

"This is an inevitable step for me. This is a burden I no longer want to bear. Don't ask me to change my mind. This is final."

The burden included the bitter problem of what to do with Moshe Dyan, defense minister and scapegoat of those who sought to place blame for Israel's unpreparedness in the October war. His refusal to resign precipitated Mrs. Meir's step, which will force a complete realignment of the cabinet. She saw that as the better way to solve a dilemma involving the man who was such a hero in the past.

The power struggle that is bound to ensue is a cause for worry, of course, even though by law the Meir government will carry on in a caretaker capacity until a new government is welded together or elections are held.

Mrs. Meir has been a great political leader, however, and the strength of purpose and diplomatic skill she has demonstrated will hopefully still give guidance and be a powerful spur toward unity in a nation that is the keystone to a viable and vital peace in the Middle East.

Mafia taking a beating

WASHINGTON — As evidence perhaps of the cynicism about corruption in high places, we are frequently asked whether the Mafia is really manipulating the government from behind the scenes.

We have responded that the Mafia has no influence in Washington, that the Justice Department's task forces have been cracking down on organized crime. Now we have seen evidence in a secret General Accounting Office report that the courts, too, have been harsh on Mafia mobsters.

The roster of crime lords, who have wound up in federal prisons, should lay to rest any idea that Mafia membershp pays. More than 800, including some prominent "godfathers," have drawn prison sentences since 1969.

To cite a couple of examples, a kingpin of the "French connection," Auguste Ricord, is sitting out his life in a federal penitentiary. Another top Mafioso, Aniello Dellacroce, just finished an income-tax sentence in the Atlanta pen. A few days before his release, another Mafioso leader, Frank Valenti, was locked behind federal bars.

The GAO study shows that, despite high-priced lawyers and highly placed friends, a crime syndicate figure can count on going to jail after conviction 54 percent of the time, compared with 49 per cent for ordinary criminals.

Not surprisingly, the syndicate mobsters come before federal judges for sentencing most often on charges of extortion, racketeering, threats, gambling, embezzlement and fraud. For these crimes, Cosa Nostra criminals get longer sentences than do garden variety hoods.

For non-Mafia criminals, an average sentence for embezzlement and fraud is 18 months. But for a Mafia man it is 28 months. For the other crimes, a common hoodlum averages 35 months, the syndicate criminal 41 months.

On narcotics convictions, the syndicate pushers get an average of eight years compared to six for non-Mafia peddlers. Theft and immigration charges also bring longer sentences for organized criminals.

Nowhere in the federal crime spectrum, with the possible exception of assaults, do Mafia mobsters get a better break than common criminals.

Footnote: Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., who requested the GAO study, had feared that federal sentences for the Mafia might be light, as appears to be the case in some state courts. A few state judges, particularly in New York, seem lenient on crime syndicate figures. But in contrast, the federal courts in New York have been even tougher on the crime lords than the national average. On narcotics, for example, Brooklyn federal judges are the roughest in the land.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Sources who have listened to the White House tapes say they were shocked at President Nixon's gutter language and vicious cracks. His profanity had the flavor, they say, of the dialogue in the ribald movie, "The Last Detail." He assailed those who displeased him with ugly invective. In a telephone conversation with ex-Attorney General Richard Kleindients, for example, the President called antitrust chief Richard McLaren a nasty name but later appointed him a federal judge . .

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told confidantes that he received a scorching from Kremlin leader Leonid Brezhnev at their last Moscow meeting. In the strongest language Kissinger has heard from him, Brezhnev castigated United States moves in the Middle East. Kissinger predicted in advance that the Soviets would encourage Syrian shooting on the Golan Heights. Kissinger has done his best, meanwhile, to appease the Kremlin . . .Sources close to the investigation of ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally can't understand why he would pocket $10,000 in milk money, as alleged, since he is a millionaire. Of course, Connally has vigorously denied that he took the money. But at the time of the alleged bribe, White House sources have reported, Connally was complaining that he had to borrow money to avoid selling off investments. His low government salary wasn't enough, he grumped, to keep up with his high living expenses . . .

Nixon in command of his own case

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is telling his top aides he does not expect to be impeached.

Insiders say that Nixon reflects this optimistic attitude during musings with his closest coterie of advisers while charting the strategy of his defense.

Furthermore, the President appears to be in command of his own case before the bar of public opinion.

Up to the present, Nixon's scenario has been to "fight like hell" and then cave in when outside pressure becomes too hot and heavy.

Although they have not had much clout up to the present time, there are some White House aides who have argued all along that Nixon should fight for the principle of confidentiality all the way to the Supreme Court. Under that strategy he would refuse to turn over any tapes or documents. Both the White House and the House impeachment panel agree Congress has no power to force Nixon to be more cooperative.

But an outright rejection of demands for evidence could have severe repercussions on Congress and rally support for the opposition.

The hardliners in this area are taking an "I told you so" attitude. True to their predictions, the committee and special prosecutor Leon Jaworski have asked for more and more evidence as time goes by.

They believe the demands could have been safely rejected.

The President and his spokesman insist they are "cooperating" in a almost impossible task of gathering the material. One tape alone took eight hours to transcribe.

But Nixon apparently does not want a Supreme Court confrontation at this time. He has stopped short of it in every case.

Although presidential aides believe time is on Nixon's side, there are others who see it as exactly the opposite. As weeks go by, the whole process of impeachment has become more familiar to Americans where once it was viewed as a horrendous step.

Besides weighing his options presented by his own aides, pressure is increasing from Republican leaders and personalities for Nixon to cooperate fully with the inquiry.

The GOP leaders, after losing four out of five candidates in special elections, fear that the Watergate albatross will affect the fall congressional races.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford has been particularly vocal on the subject —that Nixon should cooperate with the impeachment investigation.

Former housing secretary George Romney told a Richmond, Va., audience that Nixon must have known what his 1972 reelection campaign staff was doing at the time of the Watergate break-in.

Romney was the first former administration official to imply that Nixon "cleared all actions" of his staff and may have been aware of the planned burglary.

Even those in officialdom who still staunchly support Nixon's assertions of innocence, wonder at his judgment and question how the President could have been so unaware of events that now have some 30 of his closest confidantes and associates under indictment, on trial or having pleaded guilty.

But no one questions Nixon's courage in the face of nearly overwhelming odds that would have caused a President of perhaps lesser stamina to bow out.

Nixon himself has called his ordeal "pure hell."

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

A simple situation

I myself see no objection to holding of another rock concert at Ontario. It is certainly a simple situation. While we old people may deplore the ugly incidents that took place we certainly cannot stand in the way of clear-eyed grass-puffing youth in such matters. Therefore let them go ahead and have their fun.

The past experience makes certain beyond a doubt that if another such concert is held certain things will inevitably result. Therefore let the organizers and promoters of such a future concert include in their budget a provision for ample security forces to see that they are not repeated. In the unlikely case that they do not do this they will certainly be more than willing out of their more than ample profits to reimburse those for monetary and punitive damages who have had their property defaced or defiled and who have, as a natural recourse, filed suit against them.

Thus everyone will come out ahead. The dirt-and-degradation culture will have had its fling. The promoters will have made a bundle in the good establishment tradition. And many citizens of the Ontario area will have been temporarily enriched, thus boosting the Ontario economy which has been sagging lately. Nobody loses. Sounds to me like a good deal. What do you think? —Philip A. Hastings, Pomona.

Nader's demands

Ralph Nader (Cal Poly, April 19) was remarkable not so much for his negative as for his positive attitude. It surprises me that someone who paints such a grim picture of the pitfalls of the American economy and political scene should stress so repeatedly the potential power of voter control of the Legislature and Congress.

And what revolutionary demands did he make of big business? Only that companies 1. obey the law and 2. reresist "corporate socialism" by competing like small businesses, without government support, in a return to a true free enterprise system. —Jean Bayne, Claremont.

Gossip for today

There's an oft repeated statement that, "Crime doesn't pay." To which might well be added: And neither do most criminals these days. Certainly not the smart operators who are convinced that the longer they put off paying for their sins, the better off they are going to be. And they have good reason to believe that it is only the poor deluded squares who pay up on time for thus far this belief has never failed them. They know that eventually the bleeding hearts will come to their rescue. The trick is to just wait things out until something similar to a "No Penalty on Overdue Traffic Tickets Week" or a "Fine-Free Week for Overdue Library Books" as announced. And if worst comes to worst, they can always follow the sure fire system being used by more and more of our politicians when their crimes finally catch up with them—just plead guilty on one count and have the other three counts dropped.

Stans: a case of misused talent

WASHINGTON — One of the sadder figures caught up in the great maw of Watergate and related issues is former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans.

This is said without in any way trying to pass judgment on the degree of his involvement either in Watergate directly or in such other matters as the Robert Vesco influence case. In this latter, of course, he and former Attorney General John Mitchell have undergone many weeks of formal trial for conspiracy in a New York federal court.

If the official judgments on Stans' conduct finally are harsh, some psychologist surely will be willing to step forward and say: "He had it in him all the time."

Nevertheless, up to the moment of a breaking point (assuming there was one), Stans seemed to countless people, and this includes numerous government insiders, a man beyond reproach.

It is widely accepted that, having served President Nixon heavily as campaign fund-raiser from as far back as 1966 when the task was barnstorming the nation to help elect more U.S. congressmen, Stans took on the 1971-72 money-raising assignment with easy willingness.

He did not. He saw an impropriety in a former cabinet official going back to the cash circuit. And he tried to escape the assignment, in vain. The pressure was kept on him, and he yielded.

There is terrible irony for Stans that he is in such deep trouble today over money matters. Funds to finance Mr. Nixon's 1966 roamings for congressional bidders were not easy to come by. Standing out against any real help was former GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss. But Stans not only proved his skills, he husbanded the collections with scrupulous, tight-fisted honor. He didn't even want to let money go for an election-night party at New York's Hotel Delmonico.

After a 1968 presidential campaign from which the Republicans emerged without a penny of debt, Stans, however, encountered what is surely his greatest disappointment in life.

He wanted very much to be Secretary of the Treasury. A New York financier with a long background in accountancy (part of it as a federal court accounting aide in Chicago), he served — evidently well — as President Eisenhower's budget director in the 1950s. He felt qualified, and deserving.

But the banking community thought Stans lacked stature for the cabinet post. Mr. Nixon, notwithstanding heavy obligation to him, accepted the veto quickly and named the recommended Chicago banker, David Kennedy. He turned out to be one of the early failures in the administration.

Stans, shunted to his secondary post at Commerce, watched a succession of others get the job at Treasury he coveted. Cruelly, he was wholly left out of the secret talks at Camp David in mid-1971 which led to the President's imposition of foreign trade and domestic economic controls on Aug. 15 of that year.

By then he knew he would never make Treasury. This was the very reason he agreed to get out of government and go to fund-raising again. Maybe a stronger man would have resisted. Stans didn't. Some combination of pressure and appeals to loyalty worked. Mr. Nixon chews up people by the dozens. And he has never uttered one public sound in Maurice Stans' defense. So his fall — and it is a fall — may be one of the real tragedies of the Watergate mood.

Montclair's donations goal is $3,100.

YOUNG ENVIRONMENTALISTS

Shaun Berosik, left, of Pack 311; Mark Owens of Pack 312; and Clint Goodwin of Pack 332 pick up rubbish and debris in a Montclair field. The boys will join about 70 others in a Cub Scout effort to "Save Our American Resources."

Montclair cubs to launch litter cleanup drive in city

MONTCLAIR — Four Cub Scout packs here will participate in a cleanup campaign Saturday as a part of a national ecology effort of the scouting organization.

Cubmaster Pete Rice of pack 311 reported that Cub Scout packs 311, 314, 312 and 332 will scatter throughout the community collecting rubbish, debris and bottles.

The local cleanup will be part of a national activity of the scouting movement, labeled S.O.A.R. "Save Our American Resources."

Approximately 70 boys are expected to take part in the pickup. It will allow all the opportunity to earn G.I.F.T. (Get Involved for Them) patches. The cost of the patches which are offered in an ecology series to run through 1976 will be underwritten by Montclair Plaza business persons, said Rice.

The local endeavor has received the support of Mayor Harold Hayes and City Administrator Lauren Wasserman.

Rice listed possible cleanup sites as the 40 or so acres behind the Mayfair Shopping Center at Central and Benito avenues and the area around the medical building complex near K-Mart on Central.

The boys, Larry Young, co-chairman of the event, Cubmaster Fred Rumsey of pack 314, Cubmaster Larry Welch of pack 312 and Donna Myers, committee chairman for pack 332, will gather at the Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor parking lot at 9 a.m. Plastic bags, furnished by Hohnstein Disposal Service, will be distributed before the boys organize into teams.

Allen Litwiller, public relations director for Farrell's, will host a free zoo ice cream party for the boys immediately following the cleanup.

County pushes for Euclid Ave. link to Prado Park

CHINO — Visitors to the Prado Regional Park may make their entry off Euclid Avenue rather than a series of back roads.

County Supervisors Monday joined the state division of Highways in requesting that Euclid Avenue be widened south of Pine Avenue to allow for four travel lanes and a long left-turn pocket to accommodate park visitors. Previously, officials had proposed making the park's front door off Johnson Avenue, a narrow street which connects to Pine Avenue.

A county resolution urging the change will be presented to the California Highway Commission for formal adoption.

"We have been able to work out the proper time frame with the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) regarding the Euclid Avenue work," said County Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino.

The roadway project would be completed by October 1975, prior to the park opening in December.

The county had proposed spending $1 million to acquire right-of-way, complete engineering work and make necessary improvements for Johnson Avenue, said Townsend. "We would allocate this money to help pay for the Euclid Avenue project, which is estimated to cost $3 million."

The county proposes to develop initially 260 of the 2,000 acres of land it has leased in the Prado Basin. The site, located east of Euclid Avenue and south of Pine Avenue, will include a 56-acre lake, campsites, picnic areas, hiking, biking trails and concession stands.

Construction is expected to start next summer with the park opening set before Christmas 1975.

2 receive Margarita PTA awards

MONTCLAIR — Marilyn Calhoun and Jim Zajicek are the 1974 recipients of the honorary service awards from Margarita School PTA.

Mrs. Calhoun has been active in PTA since 1969, serving as president during 1971-73 and coordinating such projects as the fashion show, the 1972 holiday program and the 1973 festival. She has also served as workshop coordinator, Margarita Mothers bowling team member, library helper, field trip driver, classroom and center aide at the school.

Mrs. Calhoun has served as secretary, team mother, head team mother, scorekeeper and snack bar worker for the Montclair Central Little League. She has also been involved in Brownies, Indian Maidens and boys' basketball.

Zajicek has been active in PTA since he began teaching at Margarita School in 1969. A sixth grade teacher, he has arranged field trips and sports competitions with other schools, and has participated in holiday programs, variety shows and festivals.

With his help and encouragement, the sixth grade students helped to pay for their class party by collecting cans, bottles and newspapers for recycling.

Zajicek served as director of the March of Dimes bike-a-thon this year and developed a physical education program to meet the needs of the staggered sessions at Margarita. He is also the receiving teacher for the cross-age program, and has been a coach for Montclair Golden Girls Softball since 1970.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The recent rock concert called "California Jam" held in Ontario, was taped, and the results will make up four of ABC's "In Concert" programs to be aired May 10 and 24 and June 7 and 21. "California Jam" was the first live concert sponsored by ABC Entertainment.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

by Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

We have new columnists coming up every day, but our younger competition comes from students dining at Pomona Valley Center Betsy Ross:

"MRS. CRISWELL, teacher of room 43 at Lehigh School in Montclair made a bet with a student named CHRIS PLUMB. She said, "if CHRIS knew her times tables to 12s, she would take her and some friends to Betsy Ross, but if she didn't know her times, she would have to take Mrs. Criswell to Espiaus for lunch." CHRIS PLUMB won the bet and MRS. CRISWELL took ten girls and MRS. PLUMB and MRS. PETTY, the judge, to Betsy Ross on April 16th for lunch. A good time was had by all. Reporting: CHRIS MURRAY, CAROL VASQUEZ, NANCY MARINO, and CINDY VASQUEZ. Rm. 43."

Does the name, MRS. CHARLES PEARSON, mean anything to you? Perhaps you know her simply as IRENE. Betsy Ross has been privileged to have her services for sixteen years, two of them at Pomona Valley Center, now at Claremont Coffee Shoppe. IRENE PEARSON is not only a good waitress, who has customers who wait to see where her station is so they may be served by her but also a devoted mother and grandmother. Of her five children, two daughters TERESA and NANCY, have worked for Betsy Ross. IRENE seems to love living things. Along with her four grandchildren, MICHAEL, TINA, GINA and SHEA, she dispenses tender-loving-care to two dogs, four cats of her own, and feeds four stray cats, which she recently got close enough to to pet. Her gardening hobby leads her thither and yon for exotic flowers and shrubs. Happy Birthday, IRENE.

With warmer weather upon us, it seems appropriate to mention our Big George malts and shakes. When you want a refreshing pick-me-up, they fit the bill. Man, could I go for a big malt and club sandwich right now!

Be good to yourselves — take home a half-gallon of energy-giving, delicious Betsy Ross ice cream.

CONCERT CAMPAIGN—Mrs. Josephine D'Auro, center, campaign chairman of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association, goes over plans for the coming membership drive with Mrs. W. Campbell Nelson, left, and Mrs. Stuart Brockway, campaign secretary. The week-long drive will be launched at a dinner meeting at the Arbor Restaurant, Upland, Monday. Memberships are $10, students $5.

P.V. Concert Association to hold membership drive

UPLAND — The membership drive for the 1974-75 season of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association will start with a dinner at the Arbor Restaurant at 7 p.m. Monday.

Campaign chairman Mrs. Joseph D'Auro has set April 29-May 4 as Membership Enrollment Week. Campaign headquarters are Ralph Pierce Music Store at 435 E. Holt Ave., Pomona. The PVCCA telephone number during the week will be 623-0051.

PVCCA is a non-profit organization operated by volunteer help of community leaders. Its goal is to enhance the cultural climate of the area by bringing in concert artists and dance and musical attractions.

Admittance to the programs is by membership card; no tickets are sold at the door.

Membership also brings a reciprocity privilege of attending without charge the programs of other concert associations throughout Southern California.

Memberships are $10 general, $5 for students. At the close of the membership drive, the PVCCA officers and directors select concerts for the coming season. The more memberships sold, the more programs and higher priced attractions that can be brought to the community.

The selection committee has already booked for next season the Hungarian Folk Ballet and Gypsy Orchestra from Budapest, and pianist Paul Schenly. The remaining programs on the series will be announced at the close of the membership campaign.

Persons wishing to earn free memberships by working for the campaign are invited to attend the kickoff dinner. Reservations can be made with Mrs. D'Auro at 622-9933.

Those wishing to sign up for the PVCCA series can call Mrs. Stuart Brockway, campaign secretary, at 986-5789.

SID CAESAR, popular comic of stage and television, this week opened a night club act in the posh Rainbow Grill in New York City. The occasion marked the 30th anniversary of his first Broadway show, "Tars and Spars."

Cannery given 40-year lease

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Ports Commission Wednesday took the final step to assure transfer of the Van Camp Seafood Co. plant from Terminal Island to the waterfront here by awarding a 40-year lease to the cannery.

A chief provision, however, is that the cannery be 99.99 per cent free of fishy odors.

An attempt to require that no more than 50 per cent of the employes be nonresidents of the state failed to get approval.

The unionized cannery workers have been fighting the move because they fear the company will hire non-California residents such as Mexicans from nearby Tijuana.

At the fairgrounds

75 Indian tribes to meet

GEORGE PIERRE

POMONA — Several hundred Indians, representing 75 tribes from across the nation, will take part in a three-day celebration of annual Indian Week at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds May 3-5.

Hostess for the festival will be movie actress Dovie Beams, a part Cherokee whose Indian name is Baby Dove. She is currently starring in Universal's "Guns of a Stranger" with Marty Robbins and Chill Wills. Her autobiography, "Dovie Beams by Me," is to be published soon.

Theme of the Indian Week observance is "Pride, Heritage, Culture." Proceeds from the event are used for a variety of educational projects for Indians.

Organizer of the annual celebration is George Pierre, a full-blooded Nez Perce and hereditary chief of the Colville Confederated tribes of the Pacific Northwest.

The Indians will perform many authentic tribal rituals, ceremonies and war dances. More than $2 million worth of Indian art and artifacts will be on display and sale. The participants will demonstrate rug weaving, beading, sign language, silver and leather working and other crafts.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1.25 for students, and 75 cents for children under 12.

At Spring

West End stages 'Il Trovatore'

By HARVE EDWARDS

ONTARIO — The West End Opera Association in Spring Auditorium Saturday night presented Verdi's "Il Trovatore," an opera with a libretto as exasperating as one is likely to find.

Azucena, a gypsy whose mother was a victim of burning at the stake for bewitching Count di Luna's young brother Manrico, Il Trovatore, (the troubadour) avenges her mother's death by abducting the boy. Supposed to have thrown him to the flames (a story di Luna just can't quite believe) she has mistakenly thrown in her own offspring and with love raised Manrico as her own son. The Count, rejected by Lady Leonora in favor of the troubadour, falsely advises her of her lover's demise. The lady in question hies herself to a nunnery but is prevented from taking this irrevocable step by both suitors, who each have other plans.

Manrico sweeps her off to Di Luna's castle, now in control of the gypsy rebels, and is about to marry her when he receives a message that Azucera has been picked up spying around Di Luna's camp. Off to save mother, he is himself captured, and generous Leonora "offers herself" in exchange for Manrico's freedom — which as it turned out, from Di Luca's point of view, was a poor exchange as she had alreadv poisoned herself. Understandably put out, Di Luca orders Manrico executed and, as he goes up in flames, Azucena cries out in triumph "He was your brother! Mama mia, now you are avenged!" Count di Luna, having been thus gypped by a gypsy collapes with grief as the curtain falls.

With this wealth of dramatic material to work with, albeit unbelievable, the West End's production of "Il Trovatore" was theatrically mild indeed — which may have been the intention.

Musically excellent, the performance was conducted by Maestro Curtis L. Stearns, formerly on the conducting staff of the San Francisco Opera Co. Under his careful direction his professional orchestra, from the opening tympani roll of foreboding to the abrupt denouement of the finale, gave a very refined reading of the score. The lead singers were vocally excellent as well, and I have never heard the chorus sound better.

Opera being what it is — a combined art, both theater and music, both visual and auditory — it is rare that the artistic potential of the two can be equally realized. To have a great singer be a great actor "is a consummation devoutly to be wished," and if we must choose between the two, the West End's performance, in the estimation of this reviewer, correctly weighted the musical side of the scale.

Nitza Niemann, mezzo-soprano, (Azucena) and Wayne Eikenberry, baritone, (Count di Luna) both fine actors, were notable exceptions. Visually and vocally Ester Martinez, soprano, (Leonora) was a luscious delight, and her amor, tenor Dwaine Douglas, (Manrico) a handsome figure of a man, was possessed of a clear, well-modulated voice capable of negotiating whatever challenges the score presented with apparent ease.

Horst Niemann, baritone in the role of Ferranod, captain of di Luna's Guard, with his deeper resonant voice was convincingly well cast for his part. Smaller supporting roles taken by Joan Skousen, Phil Moedt, Paul Laoie, and Norman Baffrey were handled with aplomb adding further jewels to the diadem of stars.

The sets and lighting were tasteful, simple, yet effective, and did not overpower the performers. The sound amplification, which I would have dispensed with as unnecessary, did a little more than reinforce the sound which was unfortunate but not bad enough to really mar a fine production.

It is sad that the present inflationary economic facts of life of opera production do not permit a fine musical event like this to have more than one performance taking it out of the realm of a one night stand for the financially privileged and projecting it as a cultural experience available to all.

Pet rats had field day over vacation

WILLINGBORO, New Jersey (UPI) — While the William Porter family was away on vacation in Florida, their pet white rats did play, and how.

Burlington County environmental coordinator Charles J. Schiers said the two story colonial home has been overrun by more than 300 white rats.

Neighbors complained so much that county health authorities Friday were exterminating the rodents at township expense. The house has been declared unfit for human habitation.

Dodger hitters toughest in pinch

Paciorek hero in 5-3 victory

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — When Los Angeles Dodger manager Walt Alston needs somebody to deliver a key pinch-hit to win a tight game, he doesn't have to look far.

The Dodgers are blessed with an abundance of pinch-hitters.

Their second-stringers came through Tuesday night to give the Dodgers a dramatic come-from-behind 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a contest officially protested by the losers.

Tom Paciorek is the big hero because of his three-run homer into the left field pavilion with one out in the bottom of the ninth to turn around a 3-2 deficit into a win on one pitch.

But Manny Mota and Ken McMullen shared in the glory by delivering key singles.

With three hits in four at-bats for their pinch-hitters Tuesday, the Dodgers are now batting at an incredible .435 clip (10-for-23) in the pinch.

Paciorek, a righthanded batter, was called on by Alston to swing for the lefthanded Bill Buckner after Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark brought in southpaw Mac Scarce from the bullpen.

It was all over seconds later when Paciorek drove Scarce's first pitch into the seats to signal a big celebration at the plate.

"There's not a nicer kid in the world," Alston said about Paciorek. "He doesn't get to play much but he stays in good humor."

Paciorek, who has stated in the past his desire to be traded if he can't win a regular job with the Dodgers, was smiling even more then usual after his game-winning blow.

"That has to be my biggest thrill of my not-too-thrilling major league career," said the reserve outfielder. "Scarce got a slider up and over the meat part of the plate and I hit it good. I thought it had a chance. It was just great."

McMullen came off the bench to start the winning rally with one out with a single up the middle.

Davey Lopes followed with a grounder to second baseman Dave Cash for what looked like a certain double play. But Lee Lacy, running for McMullen, knocked the ball out of Cash's hands as both runners were safe.

Ozark protested the game at that point, claiming Lacy had run out of the baseline. Umpire Shag Crawford disagreed, saying the runner has an obligation to alter his course so that the fielding play can be made.

Mota, who has five hits in seven pinch-hitting at-bats, did his job by hitting a 3-2 pitch from starter Ron Schueler to drive in Bill Russell with the tying run in the seventh inning.

All the excitement about the success of the pinch-hitters took away the memories of the one which failed.

The Dodgers blew a golden opportunity to take the lead in the eighth inning after Ron Cey walked and Willie Crawford singled to put runners on first and third bases with no outs.

After Steve Garvey couldn't score Cey with a ground out, Alston called on the slumping Joe Ferguson (.178) to bat for Steve Yeager, who had already two hits earlier in the game to raise his average to .500. The strategy backfired when Ferguson grounded into a double play.

Philadelphia took the lead in the top of the ninth when pinch-hitter Tony Taylor hit a two-out single off of Jim Brewer, who turned out to be the winner, to score Bill Robinson, who had opened the inning with a hit.

The Phillies jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when powerful Greg Luzinski belted a two-run homer in the first inning off of Doug Rau.

Rau settled down the rest of the way. Mike Marshall came in with two outs in the seventh inning to retire Cash in a tough situation and Brewer hurled the final two frames.

DODGER DATA — Don Sutton (3-1) will face the Phils' Jim Lonborg (1-1) in this evening's 7:30 p.m. middle game of the series . . .

The two male streakers at Sunday's game have been booked for indecent exposure and trespassing with trial date set. Bail was set at $500 . . .

Ferguson and his wife, Mary, have named their new daughter Kristie Michelle . . .

Von Joshua remains in Centinela Valley Hospital with a back injury.

LOCAL-NATIONAL Sports

Coggins' hit beats Angels; Stanton hurt

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Even when Earl Weaver isn't around to catch the happy ending, his Baltimore Orioles are beginning to win the close ones.

"Yeah, it's good to win the tough extra inning games," Weaver said following Tuesday's 10-inning, 4-3 verdict over the California Angels. "But it would be even better to win three in a row all by 8-1 scores. Then you would know your club is hitting."

The Orioles, batting a collective .227, saw their coldest bat, Rich Coggins, deliver the knockout blow against Angel reliever Dave Sells. Coggins, who is hitting a meek .086 for 10 games, singled with two out to score winning run Don Baylor from second.

Coggins, a product of Pomona's Garey High School, hit .319 last year in his rookie season.

"I don't worry about Coggins or anyone else at this point," Weaver said. "Baylor was just as bad this time last season and he came on like gangbusters."

Weaver was ejected in the fourth inning by plate umpire Larry Napp for what the Oriole manager thought was "probably hollering from the dugout."

Coach Billy Hunter took over for Weaver, eventually procuring the Orioles' second straight extra inning win.

The Angels lost Stanton for three to six weeks with a fractured bone in his left hand.

Tommy Davis had three of Baltimore's 11 hits and reliever Bob Reynolds picked up his second win after Grimsley went seven innings.

Knicks learn new problem

BOSTON (UPI) — The New York Knicks need another problem today like Adam needed a second apple.

But the New Yorkers, down 3-1 and tottering on the edge of elimination from the National Basketball Association playoffs, have yet another woe.

The Knicks, trying to play with both Dave DeBusschere and Willis Reed in crippled condition, announced Tuesday that Reed had excess fluid drained from his knee earlier in the day.

Reed, who has seen limited action in the semifinal series, made the trip here and hoped to play at least a little.

The net result, however, is that Coach Red Holzman will have to send his Knicks into tonight's fifth game without an effective big man—a situation that has spelled the difference in the series to date.

Leos ranked No. 1 in nation

LA VERNE — The defending SCIAC champion La Verne baseball team has climbed to the number one spot nationally in the latest NAIA ratings.

The Leoopards, now 20-6, jumped five notches in the rankings released today by the newspaper, Collegiate Baseball.

Birmingham - Southern, the previous leader, dropped to second. Grand Canyon slipped from second to third, David-Lipscomb is fourth and Carson-Newman fifth.

UC Irvine retained its top ranking in the college division and Arizona remained first in the university division. The Wildcats are 47-4. Southern California dropped from third to sixth.

Spikers eager for Relays

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — There's only two days left before the Mt. San Antonio relays, and most of the valley schools are ready to put together their best performances for it.

The Relays, the 16th Annual, will begin bright and early Friday monring (9:30) and will take a huge hunk out of the weekend. A total of 12 hours of competition will be on display Friday, with eight more Saturday and six more Sunday.

"I think overall, the entries for this year are as good as any meet we've had in a long time," boasted Mt. San Antonio College track coach Don Ruh. "Right now all the lanes are filled and we even have some stand-bys in case anyone should drop out at the last minute."

Cal Poly head coach Fred Jones will be using the MSAC Relays as a stepping stone towards his team's battle with Cal State Northridge next week and for the CCAA championships on May 17-18.

"The next five weekends will tell us a lot," stated the Bronco skipper. "I'm pleased where we are in regards to conference, and now we want to do a good job at MSAC. We're going to go big at the Relays and will be shooting for the college division championship."

One of the parts of the Poly team which Jones feels should do well is the mile relay team of Doug Dantzler, Jerrold Curry, Ron Stewart and Myron McGill. Dantzler, who has been suffering from a sore leg, holds the fastest time in the conference in the quarter mile at 48.4 seconds.

Curry, who was selected the valley's college division track athlete of the week at this week's valley track luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona Tuesday, posted the second fastest quarter mile time in the conference last week at 48.5 seconds.

Stewart, a transfer from College of the Canyons, has run a 49.2 quarter, while speedster McGill has been clocked as fast as 46.9 on a leg of the relay team.

The junior colleges won't be going for broke in the Relays, however.

Chaffey College coach Chuck "Happy" Hicks said his team won't be putting too much emphasis on the Relays, but will still give it a competitive effort.

"We'll run in three relay events," he said. "We'll put together a distance medley team, an 880 relay team and a mile relay team. We may come up with a sprint medley team later in the day, but I'm not sure about it yet."

Dave Nugent, Chaffey's premier field event athlete, was voted the junior college track athlete of the week after winning the javelin at 208-5, placed second in the triple jump and third in the high jump last weekend against Citrus and Riverside.

Citrus College assistant coach Vince O'Boyle stated that the Owls will not enter their distance men in the Relays, saving them for the Mission Conference finals next week. But he did indicate that he thought Citrus might put together some outstanding performances in a few of the relays.

"Our two mile relay team will be going for a real good time," he stated.

"Our 880 men are really up for the Relays, so we should have a real good time in the two mile relay," he stated. "Also I think we'll run a good sprint medley. Raymond Arnold will probably come out of the blocks, and we'll also have Rick Wilmoth and Browning Allen in it. We're not sure on the fourth guy yet."

Wilmoth won the 100 against Chaffey and Riverside over the weekend in 19.7 seconds, while Allen was clocked in second at 9.8 seconds.

"The junior college competition looks great," inserted Ruh. "Southwestern has been invited to compete in the invitational mile relay, and they could run under 3:10."

Over in the college division again, Pomona-Pitzer coach Pat Mulcahy has indicated that his team will be shooting for school records in the distance medley and the mile relay, and will try to qualify for the nationals in the latter event.

Running the distance medley will be senior Dave Wiggins, freshman Steve DeWindt, sophomore Bob Murrillo and junior Randy Luce.

Wiggins will also run the mile relay along with freshman Bill Taylor and sophomores Gary Goss and Steve Smith.

Comparing the MSAC Relays to the Penn and Drake Relays, which are the top Relays back East, Ruh said, "They're so close I don't know where we stand. Competition-wise I think we rank with them. We're usually ahead of them in the field events, but they have been beating our times in the running events because they've been running on Tartan tracks. If the weather is good all around, we'll find out which meet is better."

Overtime goal gives Chicago 2-1 advantage

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bill White was "just trying to keep the puck in play," and suddenly Jim Pappin had the winning goal in overtime for the Chicago Black Hawks against the Boston Bruins.

Pappin's score from short range at 3:48 of the first overtime period Tuesday night gave the Hawks a come from behind 4-3 triumph over the Bruins and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals playoff series.

"Luckily the puck went over to Jimmy," White said of his drive from the blue line which went through a mass of players and set up Pappin for the score.

"I knew Billy saw me when he picked up the puck," Pappin said. "I was just waiting for it. The goaltender played him to take the shot and left me wide open.

"So I had it all the way. I knew if I hit the net with it, it's going to go in. I didn't want to miss that one. The big one was (Stan) Mikita's."

Mikita scored twice, boosting his total playoff goals to 53, sixth highest in Stanley Cup history, and his second score was the big one.

It came with only 42 seconds left in the game, 20 seconds after Hawk goalie Tony Esposito had been removed to put another skater on the ice, and it tied the score at 3-3.

"It went in on the second whack," Mikita said. "I hit the post at the side of the net and it just laid there. I kind of shoveled it and it went off his butt."

Tampa best bet for NFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Football League owners resumed their long huddle on expansion today, with the city of Tampa, Fla., rated the best bet to receive a new franchise.

Also under consideration are Honolulu, Phoenix, Seattle and Memphis. Any one or all of the five candidates can be accepted by the NFL, which already has 26 teams.

It would seem almost certain that at least one city, and probably more, will be added to the NFL since the league's expansion committee gave a favorable recommendation to the owners during Tuesday's opening eight-hour meeting. However, no vote was taken yesterday.

"We went over all aspects of expansion and there was considerable discussion on each aspect," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who spoke for the owners. "We decided to adjourn for the night and give everyone a chance to think."

While Rozelle refused to speculate on the chances of any of the bidders, it was learned that Tampa had the best chance. One of the team's backers, although discounting the city's favoritism, thought he knew why.

"We are strictly local in our backing while the other groups aren't," said Bill Marcum, who has promoted 12 NFL exhibition games in Tampa since 1968. "Perhaps the other owners will like that. Also, we have been working very hard for this since 1968."

Since the owners will be meeting for at least another two days, there was no certainty that a decision would be arrived at today. Rozelle pointed out that it wasn't simply a matter of voting yes or no on expansion, but of discussing the means and consequences.

"We've got so many different conditions to satisfy, such as the allocation of players," he said. "There are so many factors that have to be reconciled. We have to break each one down and work it out.

"As for reaching a decision tomorrow (Wednesday), it depends on how far we can go."

While Rozelle said the emergence of the World Football League had no effect on NFL expansion, he had strong words about the new league's signing away players already under contract to National League clubs.

"A footbal' team is a delicate mechanism with considerable emotion and physical contact," Rozelle said. "A situation like this provides divided loyalties in that a man is playing with one team and being paid by another.

"There are strong inherent conflicts of interests and it might be a matter of human interest for a player under contract to another team to avoid an injury rather than go out and help the team he is with. My personal view is that it's very, very bad for professional football."

Rangers say goal judge helped Flyers' victory

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Charles Zavorka was the prime subject of conversation after the Philadelphia Flyers' 5-2 win over the New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup semifinal Tuesday night.

Zavorka, a goal judge from St. Louis, made the most controversial decision of the playoffs so far, allowing a second period Flyers' goal that New York goaltender Ed Giacomin hotly disputed.

"I swear on a stack of Bibles that it didn't go in," Giacomin said after the game. "I pulled off my glove and grabbed the puck with my hand to make sure it wouldn't go past the (goal) line."

Goal judge Zavorka disagreed.

"I saw the puck completely over the line and I turned on the light," he said.

The controversial goal came at 10:37 of the second period when Flyer defenseman Ed Van Impe took a slap shot from the right point. The puck hit the stick of New York's Rod Seiling and flipped into the air.

Giacomin juggled the puck. It dropped to the ice and the red light went on.

The score gave the Flyers an important 2-0 lead midway through the game and forced Ranger Coach Emile Francis to replace a fuming Giacomin with backup goaltender Gilles Villemure. Giacomin sat out just 22 seconds before returning.

"I took Eddie out to give him a chance to get his concentration back," said Francis. "They (the Flyers) got every break in the book starting with the officiating and that goal they got. I've never seen Eddie so angry before and that's why I've got to believe him when he said the puck wasn't in."

Giacomin ripped off his mask and pounded with both fists against the glass cage in which Zavorka was seated behind the net.

Phalidelphia Coach Fred Shero, naturally, sided with the goal judge, claiming "any fool could tell it was in," but Francis maintained that none of the officials saw the puck go in and a television replay failed to show it either.

Francis called the goal "the key" to the Flyers' win, a victory that gave Philadelphia a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven semifinals, which move to New York Thursday.

The Rangers, shut out 4-0 by Philadelphia Saturday night, scored their first goal of the series against Bernie Parent midway through the second period when little-used Jack Egers fired it by the Flyers' goaltender.

Cal Poly's defense gets chance to score points

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — The defense will get the opportunity to outscore the offense Thursday night when the Cal Poly football team stages its second public scrimmage of the spring practice sessions.

New coach Andy Vinci has installed a scoring system for Thursday's 60-minute game starting at 7 p.m. at Kellogg Field.

"We're going to put our offensive and defensive units together for this scrimmage," Vinci said. "It will be a regular football game except for kickoffs or punts."

While the offensive unit can score points the normal way with touchdowns, field goals and extra points, Vinci has devised a system for the defense to score points.

The defense will pick up five points for intercepting a pass or recovering a fumble, two points for holding the offense within its 30-yard line on a fourth down plus one point for blocking a field goal or stopping the offense on a fourth down beyond the 30.

If the ofense goes for two extra points and is stopped, the defense picks up the two points instead.

Since there will be no kickoffs or punts, the offense will start on its 30-yard line. When it is stopped on fourth down, the offense will try again with the ball moved back 40 yards—a normal punt—but never beyond its 30.

"It should prove very interesting," Vinci said. "We feel this system gives our defensive unit more incentive and offers more of a challenge to our offense."

Following this week's scrimmage, Vinci will stage a real game situation contest a week from Thursday with no coaches on the field. The Broncos will close their spring drills with the annual Alumni game on May 11.

Jim Zorn, last year's national total offense leader, will direct the offense at quarterback. The other backfield starters are wingbacks Mike Booker and Donald Stevens plus either John Sedia or Joe Jones. Returning lettermen Joe Fabian and Ron Tatum will open as the wide receivers.

The starting offensive line will consist of center Ken LaVigne, tackles Clyde Byrd and Steve Celotto plus guards Jack Murry and Vernon Smith.

"We still have a long way to go," Vinci said, "but it's even tougher this year because of installing a new offense. We had a good crowd last week and hope to have even more Thursday."

Leos rip 17 hits to bury Pomona, 14-1

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — Custer against the Indians was closer. The Valentine's Day Massacre was not as one-sided. Even the Titanic put up a better battle against the Atlantic.

The La Verne Leopards, with their freshly attained number one rating tattooed on their minds, went out and put away Pomona-Pitzer early in rolling to a 14-1 victory before the home fans, Tuesday afternoon.

Despite their unexcelled ranking in the national polls, the Leos are still one game back of Claremont-Mudd in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. But La Verne's next five games in league come against Pomona and Caltech, two teams which should provide little opposition for Ben Hines' crew.

This is exactly what has the Leo coach worried the most. After having these two series, the Leos must then tangle with the Claremont-Mudd three times and Leo fans must hope their team hasn't lost that sharpness displayed in recently sweeping Arizona State.

La Verne wasted no time in picking up victory number 20 on the season by knocking out Sagehen starter Dave Lane after one-third of an inning.

Hank Merenda led things off with a double and then designated hitter Mike "Bubba" Alonso belted a one out homer to quickly make it 2-0. It was the 10th roundtripper of the year for the big righthander.

Wayne Redfearn, who was Chaffey High, followed with a towering drive over the right field fence for the third home run of his freshman year.

Nick Leyva scored, but did things his one way, using a single, stolen base, wild pitch and an error rather than the long ball. Art Sanchez walked, Rich Fielder reached on that error and then Don Snyder singled them both home.

It was exit Lane, enter Jon Blacker and La Verne was through—for an inning, at least.

Jeff O'Connor drove in Sanchez in the third and then the Leos erupted for four more with two outs in the fourth. Singles by Leyva, Sanchez and Fielder were followed by Don Snyder's 2nd homer of the year and it was a question of how high the score would mount.

Only first baseman Paul Fleming played the entire game for La Verne as each starter collected at least one hit and all but O'Connor scored a run. La Verne totaled 17 hits off three Pomona pitchers.

The strength of La Verne this year is its lack of weakness. Evidence of the danger throughout the lineup is that the number seven, eight and nine hitters (Fielder, Snyder and O'Connor) drove in seven of the first 11 runs.

Robb Mayhew picked up the victory as he pitched five innings, allowing four hits. Tim Kelly finished up and lost the shutout when Biff Sherman, the leading hittier in the Pomona Valley, blasted one out of cozy La Verne park.

If the Sagehens had nine Sherman's they could march through anyone, as the strong catcher went 2-4 Tuesday and dropped his average one point of .516.

The two teams square off again in a doubleheader Saturday at Pomona, John Verhoeven and Dan Quisenberry will start for the Leos while Dave Jones and someone else will counter for the Sagehens.

Chris Kiner leads UCLA over Broncos

POMONA — UCLA put together a three-run rally in the seventh inning Tuesday to post a 4-2 baseball victory over Cal Poly Pomona.

Bronco hurler John Riddle took a 1-0 lead into the seventh, but the Bruins combined four singles and a crucial Cal Poly error for the three scores.

Poly had taken a 1-0 lead in the first, as Kevin Thornhill singled, stole second, and Dennis Rogers drove him home with a one-bager.

Riddle, who lost his fourth game in eight decisions, pitched well against the potent UCLA bats, but the three unearned runs in the seventh proved to be the margin of victory.

Riddle had a no-hitter until Tom Finch picked up a bunt single in the fifth, and the Bronco lefty finished with six strikeouts on the contest.

After UCLA had scored another run in the eighth on Chris Kiner's triple, Poly came back to threaten in the last of that frame.

Nick Lusic opened the inning with a walk, and Steve Bruecker and Thornhill followed with singles to score one run. But Bruin hurler Dan Cowan bore down to retire the next three Broncos and set Poly down in the ninth for the win.

UCLA, coming off three straight losses to Pac-8 power USC, improved its season mark to 22-27 with the win. Cal Poly, still struggling to get to the .500 mark, fell to a 18-21 season log.

Chris Kiner, son of ex-major league great Ralph Kiner, paced the Bruin attack with two hits and two RBIs. Thornhill and Bruecker both collected two hits for the Broncos.

Stags win in 15; stay in first place

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — It took Claremont-Mudd four hours and 15 minutes and 15 innings Tuesday to win a game the Stags should have won in nine innings.

Jamie Opatrny's bases-loaded home run in waning light in the last of the 15th gave Claremont-Mudd and Ed Matta (6-4) an 11-7 win over Occidental on the Stags' diamond.

As a result, Claremont-Mudd (9-1) retains its one-game lead over La Verne (8-2) in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC). Overall the Stags are 20-9. La Verne is 20-6.

Both teams were shaky afield. Oxy committed seven errors and the Stags five. Miscues contributed to Stag runs in the eighth, and 13th innings and helped load the bases in the 15th.

C-M errors helped the Tigers score in the eighth, ninth, and 13th innings.

To their credit, the Stags came back to tie the game three times after falling behind. Oxy led 5-3 in the ninth, 6-5 in the 12th and 7-6 in the 13th. But each time C-M came back from the dead on a long, windy, and cold afternoon.

About all a frozen, but happy Bill Arce could say was, "It was a hell of a ball game," several times. Asked about his pitching for Saturday's doubleheader at Oxy, Arce replied, "I'm still thinking about this game. I haven't been able to think anything about Saturday."

It was a well deserved win for Matta. Relieving starter Bred Rehn with one out in the fourth inning, a run in and the Stags trailing 3-1, Matta allowed only one earned run in the remaining 11 and 2-3rds innings.

In the last three innings, Matta allowed only one hit, a single and would have faced only 10 batters the last three innings except for two C-M errors. Oxy hit only two balls out of the infield in that stretch.

Thanks to an unearned run in the first of the eighth, the Stags were behind 4-1 when they came to bat. Gary Rattet reached base on an error Brad Koppel doubled and both scored on Steve Lopez' single.

In the ninth, Oxy scored another unearned run to make it 5-3. Bill Vasek started C-M off with a pinch single. Andy Roundtree popped out. Wynn Moore sngled. Gary Rattet popped out, but Koppel came through again with a two-run single.

Miguel Mejias homered for the Tigers to put them ahead, 6-5 in the 12th. But Tom Matteson, who had relieved Tiger ace George Benson in the 11th, walked Koppel to lead off the Stags' 12th. Lopez sacrificed. Opatrny grounded out. Gary Burger batted for designated hitter Jim Wind who was hitless in five trips and singled. Greg Thompson swung hard and topped a ball down the third baseline that nobody could handle and Koppel scored.

A single, a sacrifice, and Opatrny's wild throw put Oxy ahead 6-5 in the 13th.

But Roundtree led off with a triple and scored on an error to again tie the game in the last of the 13th.

In the 15th, Moore beat out a bunt to open the inning. Rattet sacrificed. Koppel reached base on Mejias' error. Lopez was given an intentional pass loading the bases.

Lopez had been walked intentionally in the ninth inning. That time it worked as Opatrny, who had three singles in his first three at-bats, struck out. But this time Janie was facing the left-handed Matteson. His home run was a towering smash high over the left centerfield fence.

Bonita celebrates, 12-1

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — The Bonita High baseball team had gathered around Harold Drake to help him blow out 17 candles on his birthday cake and help him make a wish after the Bearcats had demolished San Dimas 12-1 behind a 12-hit attack and Bill Bumstead and Rick Ortega's combined four-hitter Tuesday afternoon.

Drake jokingly wished for a couple more hits on the season and then seriously, along with his teammates, wished for a CIF championship.

Coach Dick Salomon knows his team is a long way from a 2-A title but Tuesday's rout moves Bonita closer to the playoffs.

The Bearcats upped their overall mark to 16-6 and Hacienda League slate to 9-1, and held their two game lead over Alta Loma (7-3), a 3-1 winner over Ontario, with four games left.

Alta Loma at Sierra Vista, 3:15 p.m.

"A team like this only comes along once in a great while,'' said Salomon. "They're a great bunch of guys and a pleasure to work with."

The San Dimas-Bonita rivalry, although extremely keen in football and basketball, loses some of its flare during baseball season.

The Saints have yet to beat the Bearcats, losing four times in the past two years. In fact, San Dimas has scored just one unearned run this year while yielding 23 markers to Bonita.

Bumstead continued to domination Tuesday allowing just three hits in five innings to run his won-loss record to 10-1 on the season and 7-0 in league while lowering his earned run average to 0.35 against Hacienda foes.

Ortega gave Bumstead the rest of the day off, hurling the final two frames and giving up a harmless single.

The Bearcats rapped starter and losing pitcher Paul Willman (6-5, 3-3) for seven hits and eight runs (five unearned) through four innings.

After the Saints scored an unearned run in the top of the first frame when Jim Richards struck out but reached first base on a passed ball, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Jerry Baird's (.361) double, Bonita retaliated with three runs.

Ortega, who had three hits to raise his average to .371, lead off with a double and moved to third on Jay Lacheur's one-out infield single. Carl Davis singled home Ortega. Following a walk to Bumstead to load the bases, Willman uncorked two wild pitches to allow two runs to score.

San Dimas errors led to two of Bonita's three second-inning runs while a bases load walk to Bumstead accounted for the third run.

Jay Lacheur tripled, Davis singled, a throwing error by Willman contributed to two fourth-inning runs for the Cats.

A four run uprising in the fifth off Steve Brahs and Bruce Bosley gave Bonita its final 12-1 count.

Ortega drove home two runs with a bases loaded single, Drake, who had two hits in four at bats to raise his average to .288, singled home a run to give him 11 RBI's on the league campaign, and Davis (.312), who went 2-for-3, singled home his second run of the game to give him nine ribbies against HL teams.

Fielding folly leads Chino past Damien

By TOM FAHEY
PB Correspondent

CHINO — WHOOPS!

The Chino Cowboys breezed by the Damien Spartans 16-8 thanks to some rather shoddy fielding by the Spartans, Tuesday afternoon at Chino.

The Spartans, who are usually fine fielders, just seem to be playing Hot Potato all afternoon as they committed 16 errors.

Damien started the game scoring six runs in the opening two innings. Bill Karr led off the game with a long double to left center and came home on a single by Bobby Alexander. Alexander moved to third on a sharp single to left by Dean Sickels and then scored on a groundout by John Pignotti.

The Spartans increased their lead in the second with four runs with the big blow being a bases-loaded triple by Alexander. Mark Lopez opened the fireworks with a blistering blast to left good for a double.

After that it was all Chino.

Frank Pastore, the losing pitcher, then fell victim to his usually dependable teammates and a little wildness at the plate.

Paul Briones cracked a double to start things off. He came home on a single by Scott Richartz, the Cowboys fine shortstop, who had two hits and scored three times in the game.

A couple of walks and three errors sent Pastore out of the game and brought in the ace of the Spartan staff, and according to Coach Jim Rawls of Chino. "The finest pitcher in the valley," Larry Pekarcik.

Pekarcik was 5-0 in league play and had not allowed a run in his previous five starts, but his luck was missing. He fanned the first batter he faced to close the inning but his real troubles came in the fourth.

Pekarcik struck out Richard Reyburn to lead off the inning. Emanuel Delgado then reached base on a throwing miscue and moved up on a single by Briones.

Richartz walked to load the bases and set the stage for some more fielding displays. Randy Hobbs and Mark Milton both hit routine ground balls that turned into wild acrobatics with everyone doing everything but catching the ball.

Before Pekarcik knew what happened, he was behind 15-8 after six more errors in the fifth.

Coach Rawls took the game quite happily as most coaches would if they were given 13 unearned runs. "We've had a lot of bad luck this season and it's about time luck started coming our way."

Damien now falls to 6-3 in league, two full games behind front running Upland.

Cavs-Giants play today

MONTCLAIR — A no-show act by the umpires forced postponement of Tuesday's San Antonio League game between Montclair and Ganesha.

The contest was reslated for a 3:15 starting time today at the Cavalier diamond. Montclair was shooting to regain a share of first place in the SAL with a win over the Giants.

Highlanders take over first with 7-3 win over 'Pack

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff writer

UPLAND — Home run power led Upland High to a 7-3 San Antonio League baseball win over Claremont Tuesday afternoon.

The win enabled the Highlanders to take a narrow one-half game SAL lead over Montclair, since the Cavalier-Ganesha contest was postponed until this afternoon.

Homers by Tony Votaw and Steve Smith paced the Highlanders' triumph.

Votaw picked out a Mil Pompa delivery in the fourth and blasted it out of the park in right-center, scoing Russ Feaster and Stu DuVall ahead of him and giving Upland a 4-2 lead.

A two-run round-tripper by Steve Smith off of Pompa in the fifth chased the Wolfpack lefty and gave Upland a big 6-3 lead. Hurler Rich Phillipsl with seventh-inning help from Joe Zamudio, made that lead stand up.

Upland picked up the initial run of the contest in the first, as the Highlanders loaded the bases with no outs and Scheekluth scored as Feaster grounded into a doubleplay.

Claremont took a brief 2-1 lead in the third. After two away, the Pack got to Phillips for three straight hits, with Dave Poling's long double to center driving in the two Claremont runs.

After Votaw's homer put Upland ahead 4-2, Claremont came back to make it close in the top of the fifth.

Upland at Damien, 3:15 p.m.

Smith's shot in the bottom of the fifth put Upland up by a comfortable 6-3 margin, and the Highlanders got one more against reliever Brown to post the 7-3 final.

Both squads wound up with seven hits on the game, but the difference proved to be the Upland power-hitting antics.

Dale Arneson had two hits for Upland, while Janusz receipted for three straight singles for the Wolfpack.

With the win Upland advances to a 8-1 SAL mark and a fine 14-4 season record. Claremont, defending SAL champ, is struggling along with a 3-6 San Antonio League ledger.

Upland has a tough assignment Friday as they travel to Damien. Steve Iles is expected to get the mound assignment for the righlanders. Claremont will play host to a tough Montclair squad, with John Huddleston expected to start for the Wolfpack.

Walnut beaten on no-hitter, 1-0

Steve Lipan of Sierra Vista High hurled his second no-hitter on the season Tuesday afternoon as the Dons nipped Walnut 1-0. In other action, Webb continued its Arrowhead League-leading ways with a 4-2 decision over Notre Dame, Chaffey fell to Riverside Poly 6-5 and Rowland nipped Nogales 2-1.

Lipan, who also has a one-hitter to go along with his two no-no's, walked three and struck out four in outdueling the Mustangs' Lance Parrish.

The only run in the game came in the fifth on a walk, Lipan's double and Frank Terrell's squeeze bunt.

Parrish, now 3-1, struck out nine and allowed just four hits.

Gary Zakem fired a three-hitter in Webb's victory over the Riverside school. The righthander, (8-2, 4-0), who entered the game with an 0.33 earned run average, struck out seven as Webb improved it mark to 12-5 on the year.

Zakem also collected two hits, while raising his league average to .571 (8-for-14), and drove in a run. Paul Richards added a pair of hits and an RBI and Wally Pitts, who raised his average to .353 (6 for 17), singled home a pair of runs.

Al Emeterio singled home Ray Duffy in the bottom of the seventh and David Bourque hurled a four-hitter as Rowland nipped its arch rival.

Duffy, Ray Etchebarren and Emeterio all singled to produce the game-winning run. Each had two hits in the game.

Nogales' lone run came on Lou Johnson's sixth inning homer. Johnson finished with two hits.

An error and three walks forced acrossed the winning run in the seventh in Riverside Poly' win over Chaffey High.

Lambert, Wooten pep Pomona past Garey

POMONA — Mark Lambert pitched a two-hitter and Mike Wooten collected three hits as Pomona High shutout Garey 8-0 Tuesday afternoon.

The win moves Pomona (5-12, 4-5) into a tie with Chino, a 16-8 winner over Damien, for fourth place in the San Antonio League standings.

Garey dipped to 2-7 in SAL play and 2-14 overall.

"I thought Mark pitched his finest game of the year,'' said Red Devil coach Jay Craven after the game. "I'm pleased to see that. Maybe we can end the season on a good note.''

Lambert struck out six while scattering the two safeties and was given fine defensive support.

Wooten enjoyed his finest offensive performance of the season going three-for-three and driving in solo runs in the first and fourth innings.

Jim Price, Mike Forsythe and Steve Taylor all went two-for-three to contribute to the Devil 11-hit offense.

Pomona was the recipient of six unearned runs as a result of three errors.

In the fourth inning with the bases loaded and two out and passed ball on a strike out resulted on three Pomona runs. Dan Hess struck out on a Bruce Black offering but catcher Tom Hosack couldn't handle the pitch. The ball rolled to the backstop and was lost under some debris momentarily. Meanwhile the runners circled the bases with three Devils scoring.

John Andrzejewski, who suffered the loss (0-4, 0-2 doubled in the second but was left stranded. Doug Broyles had the other hit in the fourth.

Nettles wins A.L. award

BOSTON (UPI) — Third baseman Craig Nettles of the New York Yankees became the first repeat winner in the weekly American League Star Parade Monday, winning the accolade for the second straight week.

Nettles, honored last Monday for a 5-for-10 performance that included four home runs, ran off a seven-game hitting streak last week in which he added three more homers and collected 11 hits in 26 at-bats.

The Yankee third baseman has batted .444 over a nine-game span through Sunday and leads the majors in home runs with nine.

The American League office chooses the circuit's top player each week, with special winners named each month and a player of the year named after the close of the season.

SAL dual meet season concludes

Pomona ended up in second place, Chino and Montclair in third, and Garey pulled out of the cellar as the San Antonio League track season came to an end as far as team competition goes.

Pomona, which only suffered a loss to league champion Ganesha this year, soundly defeated Upland Tuesday by a 79-38 margin.

In other SAL action, Montclair tripped Chino, and Garey downed Damien 76-42.

Andre Hall did his usual thing for Pomona in the hurdles. Hall won the 120 highs in an incredible 14.2 seconds, which is the second fastest time in CIF 3-A competition this year. Then he came back later in the day to win the 180 lows in 19.7 seconds.

The Red Devils swept six of the 14 events on the varsity level, accounting for 54 of their 79 points.

The Pomona athlete of the meet went to frosh-soph shot putter Hank Zibell, who was wearing a cast on his right arm after an accident which severely cut his hand. But he still won his event, forced to heave the shot with his left arm.

Garey's super sophomore Stanley Webster picked up his usual double against Damien by winning the 220 in 23.7 seconds and capturing the long jump with a leap of 21 feet, 4½ inches. Danny Rosales also claimed a double victory for the Vikings by winning the two mile run in 10:32.6 and taking the shot put at 45-4.

Giants claim second title

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ganesha High made it official Tuesday.

The Giants, defending San Antonio League track champions, collected their second consecutive league title by handing a visiting Claremont club a 77-37 defeat.

The victory not only gave the Giants the championship again, but it also extended their streak of consecutive dual meet wins to 19.

The meet was never really in doubt. In fact, Ganesh coach Bud Petersen anticipated it and did some juggling of his roster.

The Giants' famous half mile Glen Harter didn't run in his premier event, but tried a little speed and distance running instead. He still won the quarter mile in 51.9 seconds, and then came back to capture first in the two mile in 10:06.0.

Distance runner Pat Staley tired a few new things also. Instead of running the two mile, Staley ran the half mile and won it in 2:06.0 and also captured the mile in 4:46.7.

Other double winners for Ganesha included Charles Stewart in the hurdles and Darryl Gardner in the sprints.

Stewart glided to victory in the opening event of the day, the 120 yard high hurdles, in 14.5 seconds. He then completed his double with a victory in the 180 lows in a fast 19.7 seconds.

Ganesha captured firsts in all but two of the varsity events, with the Claremont mile relay team and pole vaulter Jon Powers spoiling the Ginats' clean sweep.

Powers won the pole vault with a not too impressive 11-0, but he was the only vaulter to clear a height primarily due to a mild wind.

The Wolfpack's quintet in the mile relay consisted of Mark Ramstead, John Laast, Mark Hammond and Powers. They came up with a winning time of 3.37.5.

Ganesha, along with Claremont and the rest of the San Antonio League athletes, will compete in the Mt. San Antonio Relays this weekend.

Leos drop two meets in one day

REDLANDS — La Verne College's track team came up on the short end twice Tuesday afternoon in an SCIAC double dual meet with Caltech and host Redlands.

The hosting Bulldogs defeated the Leos by a 78-49 count, and Caltech punished the Leopards by handing them a 111-47 loss.

Jack Gilberg and Mike Grant turned in the best performances for La Verne. Gilberg won the high jump at 5 feet, 6 inches and Grant captured the 120 high hurdles in 15.5 seconds.

Caltech set school records in the mile and the discus in the double dual.

La Verne will now travel to Ambassador for a dual meet Friday.

APC beats USIU, 7-2

SAN DIEGO — Azusa Pacific supported Greg Lynch's seven-hit pitching with a 14-hit attack and rolled to an easy 7-2 win over USIU Tuesday in San Diego.

Lynch, notching his fifth victory without a loss, walked three and struck out three.

Designated hitter Ken Nance cracked a home run and double and batted in two runs to lead the Cougars. APC built up a 5-0 lead before USIU scored its two runs in the seventh.

The Cougars scored a single run in the third inning when Westerner pitcher Lee Trodcy walked the bases loaded and then let loose a wild pitch. In the fourth inning, Nance homered, Bob Nall singled and moved to second on EdShaw's ground out. Mike Jones singled him in. That was really all APC needed.

Mounties win; Citrus blanked

Mt. San Antonio College snapped a two-game losing streak Tuesday but it did the Mounties little good in the South Coast Conference.

While MSAC was topping San Diego Mesa, 5-3, front-running Cerritos iced the conference championship for the third year in a row with an 8-5 victory over last place Orange Coast. The Falcons are 15-1, five games up with four games to play.

In the Mission Conference, both Citrus and Chaffey lost, dimming their hopes for a second half championship. The Panthers were bombed at Grossmont, 11-4, while Citrus was edged by San Diego City, 2-0.

Ralph Beltran struck out six and walked three as the Mounties recorded their 25th victory of the year against seven losses. In South Coast Conference play, MSAC is 10-6.

Mike Parkinson led the way for the Mounties with three hits including a double in four at-bats. He stole three bases.

The Mounties scored a pair of runs in the second and a single run in the fourth to take a 3-0 lead. In the fifth, Don Cashen doubled in Frank Marini to make it 4-0.

Mesa scored in the last half of the fifth to make it 4-1.

MSAC got its final run in the eighth when Kevin Bell walked and scored on Mark Bumstead's double. Mesa scored a pair in the last of the eighth but the rally fell two short.

Citrus also down in San Diego, ran into lefthander Jim Valley. Valley did not pitch in the first half of the season but was all the Owls could handle and more Tuesday. He allowed only three hits, struck out 14, and batted in a run.

Citrus drops a 4-3 mark in Mission Conference play and a 19-11 mark overall. SDCC is 7-1 and tied for the league lead.

San Diego scored the only run it really needed in the first inning. Jack Nobles walked, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Valley's single.

In the fourth inning, Bob Locke led off with a triple and scored on Jim Fernandez' single.

Citrus hosts Chaffey Thursday. The Panthers were beaten by Grossmont, 11-3, Tuesday.

Chaffey hit the ball well against Grossmont, but the Griffins hit it better — 17 times — going through five Panther pitchers in the process. The loss dropped Chaffey to 4-4 in the second half, three games off the pace being set by front-running San Diego (7-1) and 2½ games behind Palomar (6-1), the team the Panthers shared the first round title with.

Factors other than price-per-pound in meat-buying

Do you buy meat according to its cost per pound? Is the price sticker your only meat-buying consideration? If so, you may be overlooking better selection criteria — namely, how much you get for your money, the eating quality of the meat, and how much work you have to put into its preparation. Because all of these factors enter into making a satisfying meat purchase, smart shoppers buy meat according to its cost per serving, United States Department of Agriculture quality grade, and how they intend to cook it.

Since the majority of the red meat you buy is beef, USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service suggests here's how you can get the most for your beef buying dollar:

Different beef cuts have different percentages of fat and bone, so each one doesn't necessarily give you the same number of servings per pound. Some cuts with higher costs per pound also give you more servings per pound, making their cost per serving more nearly comparable to those of lower priced cuts. Since the cost per serving isn't on the label, you may not have considered this. But it's a more accurate guide to how much you will get for your money.

To compute the cost per serving of any cut, you need to know about how many servings you'll get from a pound. Here's the approximate number of 3-ounce servings you'll get from an average pound: (information from the National Livestock and Meat Board)

TWO SERVINGS PER POUND — porterhouse steaks, T-bone steaks, top loin (club) steaks, rib steaks and roasts, chuck steaks, and blade chuck and arm chuck roasts.

TWO AND A HALF SERVINGS PER POUND — sirloin steaks and boneless chuck roasts.

THREE SERVINGS PER POUND — rib eye steaks and roasts, tenderloin (filet mignon) steaks, round steaks, flank steaks, sirloin tip roasts, boneless rump roasts, and boneless briskets.

FOUR SERVINGS PER POUND — ground beef, stewing beef, cubed steak, and liver.

Divide the approximate number of servings per pound into the cost per pound and you'll get the cost per 3-pounce serving for that cut.

Buying according to the cost per serving makes sense. That way you do not buy solely by a cut's price per pound, but by how much you get from it.

Buying according to the USDA quality grade also makes sense. If the meat you buy bears a USDA quality grade shield, you can be assured of its eating quality — meaning its tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. For a specific cut—sirloin steaks for example —you can expect the following differences among the top three USDA quality grades:

USDA prime beef offers the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness and flavor. It has abundant marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which enhances the flavor and juiciness. It is the highest grade available, and most of the more desirable cuts of this grade are sold to restaurants.

USDA Choice beef is very tender, juicy, and flavorful. It has slightly less marbling than Prime, but is still of very high quality. Choice is the grade most commonly found in supermarkets.

USDA Good beef often pleases thrifty shoppers because it is usually somewhat more lean than Prime or Choice. It is only slightly less tender than Choice, but because it has less marbling, it lacks some of the juiciness and flavor of the higher grades.

While all meat is inspected for wholesomeness, not all is federally graded. About 85 per cent of beef sold in supermarkets as steaks and roasts is graded. Grading is a voluntary service available to the meat industry for a fee. So, if you're concerned about the quality of beef you buy, look for cuts bearing the USDA grade shield.

Some cuts are much easier and quicker to cook than others. Consider the amount of time and effort you have to put into cooking each cut properly.

Generally, beef cuts can be divided into two groups with different cooking requirements. The less-tender cuts from the animal's motion muscles in the shoulder and in the front and hind legs take longer to cook and require moist heat. The more tender cuts from the less-used support muscles in the middle of the bake take less time to cook and can be cooked with dry heat.

Here's a list of recommended cooking methods for each beef cut:

DRY HEAT: (broiling, roasting, panbroiling, panfrying, or over charcoal) tenderloin steaks, porterhouse steaks, T-bone steaks, top loin (club) steaks, rib steaks, sirloin steaks, ribeye steaks, sirloin tip roasts (in top grades only), rump roasts, rib roasts, and ground beef.

MOIST HEAT: (braising, stewing, pot roasting, cooking in liquid) round steaks, flank steaks, blade chuck steaks and roasts, arm chuck steaks and roasts, stewing beef, corned beef brisket, short ribs, and beef shanks.

Decide how much time and effort you're willing to put into cooking, then select the cut best for you. Remember the more-tender cuts that require the least cooking time are almost always more expensive. Is low price or less cooking time more important to you?

These are some of the most important considerations that wise beef buyers should be aware of, but there is still more you can learn about buying beef. For more information write for a free single copy of "How to Buy Beef Steaks" (G-145), and-or "How to Buy Beef Roasts" (G-146) to: AMS Information Division, USDA, 630 Sansome St., Room 702, San Francisco, CA 94111 or to Office of Communications, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. DEADLINE EXTENDED

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has extended to May 31 the deadline for consumers and other interested persons to submit comments on its proposal to amend regulations covering the net weight statements on packages of meat and poultry products.

Because of public interest and requests for additional time for considering the proposal, USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) is extending the time originally allotted for filing comments and presenting oral views. The original deadline was Friday, April 5.

Comments on the proposal should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D.C. 20250. Anyone interested in presenting his comments orally should contact the Systems Development and Sanitation Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250 by May 31, 1974.

Comments received will be available for public review in the Hearing Clerk's office.

ONIONS FOR SPRING

In contrast to last year, a large supply of spring onions is now available at supermarkets.

During April, most of the nation's onion supply originates in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. Adverse weather conditions last year caused a shortage of onions on the retail level, but excellent growing conditions this season have given Rio Grande producers the best yield in several years.

Shipping point prices in Texas for medium size onions of 80 per cent U.S. No. 1 or better quality ranged from [illegible] to $2.25 per 50-pound sack on April 4, compared with $10 a year ago.

This year's bumper crop should make many dishes more zestful. Onions can be used to add extra flavor to a wide range of meat and vegetable dishes. They may be used in soups, stews, and with roasts.

When buying fresh onions, look for a firm, dry product. U.S. Department of Agriculture marketing specialists say the individual onion should be covered with a papery outside scale and reasonably free from green sunburn spots and blemishes. Onions with wet or soft necks should be bypassed because they are immature or decayed. Other warning signs are thick, hollow or woody centers in the neck, and fresh green sprouts on the onion.

It appears that onion growers have gone over the top this spring in assuring a large supply of this flavor enhancer for the dinner tables of the nation.

WELCOME TO SPRING

This chiffon pie sets a nice tone for a spring party. In a bowl, combine 1½ cups macaroon crumbs and ¼ cup softened butter. Press into nine-inch pan and bake 8 minutes at 375 degrees. In a pan, combine 1 envelope unflavored gelatin with ¼ cup sugar and add two egg yolks beaten with 1 cup milk. Stir constantly over low heat about 5 minutes until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat and stir in ¼ cup cream sherry. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly. In medium bowl, beat 2 egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar and beat until stiff but not dry. Fold in gelatin mixture, then fold in ½ pint heavy cream whipped. Turn into prepared crust and chill until firm. Garnish with cream and coconut.

LAZY FRIKADELLER — In a bowl, blend 1 pound lean ground beef, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon grated onion. Add 2 slightly beaten eggs combined with ¾ cup milk and beat mixture with large spoon until it is very light. Let rest 10 minutes, then add ¾ cup milk and beat again until very light. In a 10-inch skillet with sloping sides, lightly brown 1 tablespoon each butter and margarine. Arrange half the meat mixture on bottom of pan. Top with ½ cup crumbled blue cheese and 1 cup fresh or frozen peas. Add remainder of meat, covering the filling. Brown meat on medium heat 5 minutes, then cover, reduce heat and cook for 20 minutes. Finally broil about 5 minutes until top is golden brown. Sprinkle chopped parsley on top and garnish with crisply cooked and seasoned carrot slices. Cut into 6 wedges for serving.

Meatballs for party prepared in advance

Everyone is on the search for do-ahead foods. Meatball lovers will be happy to know that a quantity of party meatballs will freeze well. Store in oven cooking bags and cook in the same bag in a roasting pan or heavy oven casserole as needed. If serving is delayed, hold the meatballs in the bag to keep them from drying out. Meatballs will keep safely in freezer storage in the plastic bags. For longer storage, overwrap them with heavy duty aluminum foil and tag with day of storage.

MAKE-AHEAD MEATBALLS

- 2 pounds ground beef
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon sage
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 4 slices soft bread, broken in small pieces
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 package (1½ ounces) dry spaghetti sauce mix

Combine spaghetti sauce mix, water and tomato sauce. Pour over meatballs. Close bag with twist tie. Freeze. For prolonged storage, overwrap with heavy duty aluminum foil. When ready to cook, remove bag from freezer and preheat oven to 350 degrees Place in oven bag in two-inch deep roasting pan. Make six half-inch slits in top of bag. Cook for one hour. Deadline extended on meat, poultry plant proposal

QUAQITY CONTROL COMMENT DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for receiving public comments on a U.S. Department of Agriculture proposal concerning meat and poultry plant quality control programs has been extended to May 10. The original deadline had been March 22.

USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said the comment period was extended because of public interest and requests for additional time for considering and commenting on the proposal.

USDA officials said the proposal would provide for the approval and use of quality control systems voluntarily installed by meat and poultry processing plants. These systems would in turn be monitored by federal meat and poultry inspectors to augment their own observations and samplings of processed products for wholesomeness and accurate labeling.

Comments on the proposal should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D.C. 20250. Anyone interested in presenting views orally should immediately contact the Systems Development and Sanitation Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. Records of oral comments, as well as written views, will be available for public review in the Hearing Clerk's office during normal business hours.

A notice concerning the extension in the comment period was published in the March 22 Federal Register.

How U.S. Department of Agriculture grades can help you judge the quality of the food you buy is explained in "Como Servirse de Los Grados del USDA al Comprar Los Comestibles" (How to Use USDA Grades in Buying Food), just issued in Spanish translation by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The booklet, Home and Garden Bulletin No. 196-S, gives brief descriptions of the USDA quality grades for dairy products, poultry, fruits and vegetables, eggs, and meat. Recognizing the USDA grades on foods can help you know more about what you are buying and get the most for your money.

The booklet was prepared by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service More complete information on quality of the various commodities is contained in the "How to Buy Food" series of publications, 13 of which are also available in "Spanish."

TURKEY TIME

In April turkeys will be available in near-record quantities, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. This April's crop will be about 30 per cent greater than the April average for 1971-72-73, and cold storage turkeys will top this 3-year average by 40 per cent.

Turkey is a happy combination of good nutrition and good taste, offering high quaity protein at attractive prices. Treat your Easter guests to Roast Turkey with Sausage-Orange Dressing, or using the convenient turkey roasts or rolls, add a gourmet touch with Apricot-Pineapple Glaze or Curry Amond sauce.

SAUSAGE-ORANGE DRESSING

1 12- to 13-pound turkey
2 teaspoons salt
1 pound ground sausage
1 13-ounce package prepared dressing mix
2 cups finely chopped celery
1 onion, finely chopped
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
½ cup melted butter
4 tablespoons orange juice
Shortening
1 cup orange juice
1 cup sauterne

Rinse turkey in cold water and wipe dry with paper towel. Rub salt into cavity only. To make dressing saute sausage slowly until crumbly and cooked, but not brown; drain. Toss in large bowl with dressing mix, celery, onion, and orange peel. Add melted butter and 4 tablespoons orange juice gradually, tossing to mix well.

Loosely stuff neck and body cavities with dressing. If desired, close body cavities with skewers; tie wings close to body and legs together. Rub shortening over entire bird; place breast-side down on rack in shallow pan. Roast at 325 degrees for 2½ hours; turn breast-side up and roast 1½ to 2 hours longer. During last hour, baste with orange juice and wine. Allow turkey to cook ½ hour for easier carving. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

If you are serving turkey breast, roast, or a turkey roll, add extra flavor by basting it with this apricot-Pineapple Glaze or serving it with Curry Almond Sauce.

APRICOT-PINEAPPLE GLAZE

1 cup apricot-pineapple jam
2 tablespoons chopped chives
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon Pepper marinade
½ cup oil

Combine all ingredients in a blender, and blend well. Baste turkey during last half hour of roasting time. Makes about 1¾ cups glaze.

CURRY ALMOND SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 cup turkey broth
½ cup heavy cream
½ cup blanched slivered almonds
¼ cup lemon juice

Melt butter. Add onion and cook until tender. Add curry powder, and stir to blend. Add turkey broth and cream. Cook stirring frequently until thickened. Stir in lemon and almonds. Serve hot with turkey. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

BEEFY APPETIZERS

For those who love the taste of beef, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has good news . . . beef will be in good supply through April, so watch for beef "specials" at your store.

The good taste of beef lends itself to appetizers as well as entrees. Treat yourself and your friends to these beefy appetizers.

MEAT BALLS BAKED IN SOUR CREAM

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1-3rd cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream at room temperature

In a bowl lightly mix beef, onion, olives, eggs, salt and pepper just until blended; shape into 24 balls. In a skillet melt butter; brown meat balls slowly on all sides and cook until done. Place in 1-quart casserole. Pour off fat in skillet reserving 2 tablespoons; blend in flour. Add water, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, paprika and salt; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook an additional 2 minutes. Remove from heat; carefully blend in sour cream; pour over meat balls.

CALIFORNIA BEEF ROLLS

1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Salt and seasoned pepper
¼ teaspoon dill weed
12 thin slices cold roast beef
1 small cucumber
Ripe olives

Blend cream cheese with horseradish, dill weed and mustard. Sprinkle beef slices with salt and seasoned pepper. Spread each slice with about 1½ tablespoons cheese mixture. Pare and cut cucumber in half crosswise. Cut each half lengthwise into halves and then into thirds. Place 1 cucumber stick on each slice of beef and roll beef around cucumber. Garnish with ripe olives. Makes 12 rolls.

JAPANESE BEEF KEBABS

1 cup tarragon-flavored vinegar
2 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon black pepper
2 pounds beef sirloin steak
2 lemons
About 48 small whole bay leaves or larger ones cut into 1-inch squares
Skewers

Combine vinegar, oil, soy sauce, onion, garlic and pepper in saucepan. Bring to boil; cool throughly. Meanwhile, cut steak into ½-inch cubes; remove any fat. Cut each lemon crosswise into 4 slices; then cut each slice into 8 wedge-shaped pieces. Add beef to marinade and marinate about 1 hour. Thread skewers with a beef cube, a lemon piece, another beef cube, a bay leaf and end with a beef cube. Broil 5 inches below an oven broiler or grill over charcoal to desired doneness. Makes about 4 dozen kebabs.

LIVER EN BROCHETTE

1½ pounds calf or beef liver, sliced ½-inch thick
12 mushrooms caps
½ pound sliced bacon
Salt and pepper
Skewers

Cut liver into pieces 1¼ inch square. Cut bacon into 2-inch lengths. Place a washed mushroom cap on a skewer, then alternate liver and bacon for 1 inch ending with mushroom cap. Broil over charcoal or in oven broiler until desired doneness. Serves 10 to 12.

Driver wins suit against Gen. Motors

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — A man whose car broke down after 25,000 miles bypassed attorneys and single-handedly took on General Motors in Court—and won.

"It was me against them," said John O'Rourke of San Anselmo. "No high powered lawyers."

O'Rourke, 37, an engineering geologist, emerged the victor Monday in his Marin County small claims court battle with the Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

O'Rourke had to replace the engine in his 1972 Vega when it became damaged because of overheating.

Judge Robert Smallman ruled that a "reasonably prudent person would be unable to keep his engine from burning up."

He ordered the company to reimburse O'Rourke $500 plus $27 in court costs.

The limit of recovery in small claims court, where attorneys are forbidden to take part, is $500. O'Rourke said it cost him $679.83 to repair the car but felt his fight was worth it.

"The people who buy this kind of car just can't afford to put a new engine in," he said.

Beef growers caught in economic squeeze

CHICAGO, March 11, 1974 — In case you hadn't noticed, beef is back!

John L. Huston, vice president, Beef program of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, said more beef is available currently in the nation's meat counters at lower prices. He said more weekend specials are being featured also. He said increased numbers of fed cattle have been moving to market since the end of the truck strike.

"These are animals that would have become part of the beef supply earlier had not the truck strike disrupted transportation,' he explained. 'The supply vines are bulging as cattle now reaching market weight are being sold along with those that were delayed in getting to market during the truck strike," he noted. "Alert consumers will take advantage of this bulge in supplies."

"While this represents some exceptional values for shoppers in their beef purchases, the nation's cattle feeders are caught in a critical economic squeeze," Huston said. "The forced delay in marketings added to already inflated feeding costs."

The cost of feed grains, in particular, has continued to rise, while live cattle prices continue to slip. This combination of increased production costs and sliding prices means that feeders are losing money on every head of cattle they sell.

"And they must sell them. With feed costs what they are, the feeder would lose even more on his considerable investment if he held the animals past their market weight."

Huston said cattle feeders, like other farmers and ranchers, are accustomed to ups and downs in the marketplace . . . but not such a sustained period of extensive losses. He said if the situation, which dates back to last fall, doesn't ease soon it will have a severely detrimental effect on beef supplies in the future. He said, however, the law of supply and demand should work in favor of increased beef production.

"More orderly marketing of the product, better weather and more adequate feed supplies — and a return to the profit side of the ledger: that ideal combination of factors would represent the nation's best assurance of an upturn in beef production," Huston said. "Inflation is still a factor for both the producer and the consumer," he added, "along with the uncertainties created by the fuel crisis and world demand. And a recurrence of other market disruptions over which the industry has no control, such as boycotts and price ceilings, would definitely discourage increased production.

"But, basically, if the natural forces of the marketplace are allowed to operate, the result will be more stable supplies and prices — without the wildly fluctuating prices and intermittant periods of building supplies and shortages which have plagued both the industry and the consumer over the past year," Houston said.

Three drinks perfect for any occasion

Conserving precious energy by staying at home? Brew up a bevy of heavenly hot and nutritious cranberry drinks. They're bound to produce a very special berry glow and cozy atmosphere even without burning logs, or that oh, so precious fuel.

Here are three new cranberry concoctions for a variety of cheery berry breaks for different occasions. They're all easy to prepare and perfect for serving in a mug.

Cranberry Soup in a Mug is a hearty creation combining cranberry juice cocktail with clamato, and an onion soup mix. Garnish the mug with a stalk of celery. It's a veritable vegetarian delight.

Having a quilting party or friends for bridge? They'll adore the aromatic and fruitful mixture of a Cranberry Tease which is whipped up in a trice in a blender. For a special teatime treat—or a new cocktail hour delight, the Cranapple Blissful Bounce is a bonny blend of cranberry apple drink, tea, orange, and a bit of bourbon. Brewed in just five minutes.

CRANBERRY SOUP IN A MUG

4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 cups clamato juice
1 envelope dehydrated onion soup mix

Combine all ingredients and simmer until bubbly. Pour into mugs and serve hot garnished with celery stalks.

CRANBERRY TEASE

4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) peeled whole apricots, pitted
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated lemonade, thawed and undiluted
2 cinnamon sticks
2 cups water

In a blender combine 1 cup of the cranberry juice, juice drained from the apricots and pitted apricots. Whirl at high speed until smooth. Pour this mixture into a saucepan. Stir in remaining cranberry juice, lemonade, cinnamon sticks and water. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove cinnamon sticks and pour into mugs. Serve hot with cinnamon sticks as stirrers, if desired.

CRANAPPLE BLISSFUL BOUNCE

4 cups cranberry apple juice
1 tea bag
1 small orange, cut into quarters
1 cup bourbon

In a saucepan combine cranberry apple juice, tea bag and orange. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove tea bag and stir in bourbon. Reheat until mixture just starts to bubble. Pour into mugs adding 1 of the orange quarters to each mug. Serve at once.

Tomatoes need tender loving care

What vegetable is not a vegetable? The tomato, of course. Although it is served mainly as a vegetable, the tomato is technically a fruit. There is no controversy on that point but there is controversy on the color of tomatoes found in grocery stores.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the tomatoes you grow in your garden usually have the best flavor since they are allowed to ripen completely before being picked. But just imagine what condition a fully ripe tomato would be in if it had to be shipped thousands of miles! That's why tomatoes that are shipped to market are usually picked green or just after the color has begun to change to a tannish yellow or pink. They continue ripening on the way to market and can arrive in stores in good condition.

There are many tomato varieties, ranging from the famliar plump round tomato to the smaller plum or cherry tomatoes. In moderate to liberal supply throughout the year, tomatoes are abundant from August through November.

U.S. Department of Agriculture quality grades are sometimes shown on packaged tomatoes. The grade that you are most likely to see is U.S. No. 1. This is the highest grade for wholesale trading, and indicates that at the time of packing the tomatoes generally were clean, not overripe or soft, fairly well-formed, smooth and free from defects. Tomatoes sold in bulk are not usually labeled by grade.

When buying from bulk bins the shopper should look for tomatoes that are fairly firm, with color ranging from pink to red. Avoid tomatoes that are soft, or that have large green or yellow areas or growth cracks around the stem scar. Also avoid tomatoes that have soft spots (bruises) or depressed areas (an indication of decay).

Fully ripe tomatoes should be stored in the refrigerator. To ripen tomatoes, keep them in a warm place. Do not put them in the refrigerator first—this might prevent them from ripening later on.

Cooking in quantity stretches meat $$

One of the better ways to stretch the meat or poultry dollar is to cook large quantities of a roast, for example, or cook a whole turkey and use leftovers in imaginative and tasty dishes. Two such dishes that will help vary the leftovers from Easter entertaining are an Easy Cranberry Cassoulet and a Cranwich Casserole. Even portions of these dishes may be frozen as an added money and energy-saving step.

EASY CRANBERRY CASSOULET

6 slices bacon, chopped
2 onions, chopped
1 pound breakfast sausages, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon thyme
3 cups diced cooked lamb, chicken or beef
3 cans (1 pound, 4 ounces each) cannellini beans, (white kideny beans), drained
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 cup cranberry-orange relish
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed chicken broth
2 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or margarine

In a large Dutch oven or saucepan fry bacon until crisp. Add onions and sausages and saute until all are golden. Do not drain drippings. Stir in garlic, thyme, meat or poultry and beans. Mix tomato paste, relish and chicken broth in a bowl. Pour bean mixture into a 3-quart casserole. Pour tomato paste over bean mixture. Stir to blend. Bake in a preheated 300-degree oven for 2 hours or until brown and crusty. Mix crumbs and butter in a small skillet and stir over low heat until crumbs are brown and crisp. Sprinkle some crumbs over each serving of cassoulet. This bean dish also can be prepared more quickly by simmering in a covered Dutch oven or saucepan for 30 minutes, stirring occasiosally. Serve sprinkled with crumbs. Makes 6 servings.

CRANWICH CASSEROLE

12 white bread slices
1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
6 thick slices leftover cooked ham, chicken or turkey
Butter or margarine
4 eggs
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups (8 ounces) sharp cheddar cheese, grated

Using bread, cranberry sauce and ham, make sandwiches. Spread outside of sandwich with soft butter. Place sandwiches side by side in a greased 9x13x2-inch baking pan. Beat eggs, milk and salt until well blended. Pour over sandwiches. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a preheated 350-dgree oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until brown and puffed. Cut apart sandwiches and remove with a pancake turner to serve. Makes 6 servings.

SLIM CHICKEN BAKE

Chicken out on dieting if you want to cut calories

Counting calories?

Count on chicken.

If you've added unwanted pounds during the winter and want to shed them before you head for the pool or beach, the best way to do it is to cut down on the number of calories consumed.

But you don't have to starve. Just learn to eat correctly, advises the National Broiler Council.

That's when low-calorie, highly nutritious chicken becomes a dieter's best friend.

Chicken has fewer calories than any other meat. A three-ounce portion of broiled, skinless chicken breast contains only 115 calories. Even with the skin, the count is just 185 calories.

Compare this with a serving of roast pork (310 calories), market-ground hamburger (245 calories) or broiled sirloin (330 calories).

Best of all, chicken contains more protein per pound than any other meat. That means you won't be hungry when you finish eating as you often are when following a crash diet.

Chicken has a lower fat content than any other meat and it contains no carbohydrate. Yet chicken outranks other meats in Vitamin A and is a good source of Vitamin B — both important daily nutrients.

Chicken is economical, too. And because it can be prepared in so many tempting ways, you can enjoy it often and still have plenty of variety in your diet.

The delicate flavor of chicken combines well with a number of other low-calorie foods. Today's broiler-fryers are so naturally tender you don't have to add extra calories in cooking either.

When you have learned to live — for keeps — on low-calories foods that satisfy, you'll keep those unwanted pounds off permanently.

Can you think of a better dieting aid than chicken?

You probably already have your own favorite low-calorie ways of preparing chicken. Here are two more pounds-shedding ideas you might want to try:

ROSY-LOW CALORIE CHICKEN

3 broiler-fryer breast halves, skinned
½ teaspoon onion salt
2 tablespoons sherry
¾ cup tomato juice
¼ cup green pepper, diced
½ teaspoon soy sauce

Season chicken breasts with onion salt. Place in baking dish. Combine sherry, tomato juice, diced pepper and soy sauce; pour over chicken. Bake, uncovered, at 400 degrees for 40 minutes. Baste occasionally with tomato juice mixture.

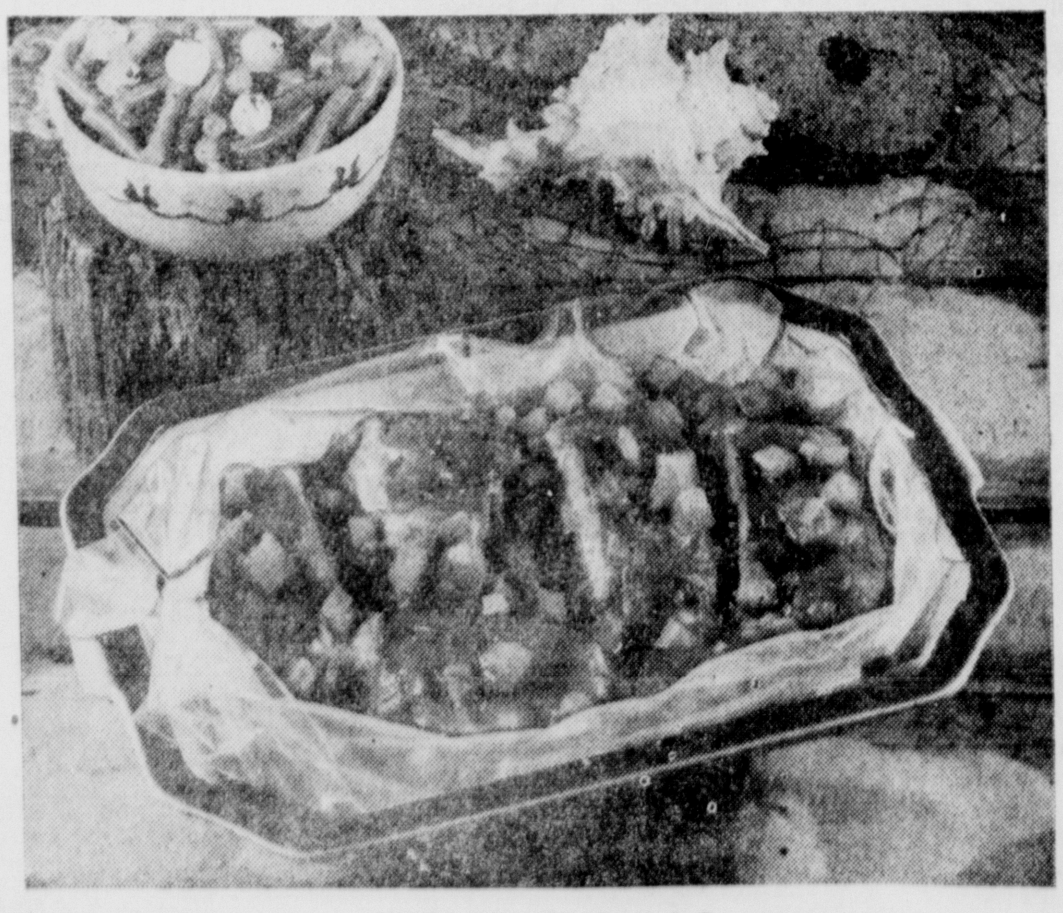
SLIM CHICKEN BAKE

2 broiler-fryer breast halves, skinned
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
4 Spanish Olives, sliced thin

Season chicken breast halves with garlic salt. Sprinkle with paprika. Place chicken in shallow baking dish, rib side up. Combine lemon juice, soy sauce, and basil leaves; pour over chicken. Bake at 400 degrees, uncovered, for 20 minutes. Turn chicken, baste with juices, top with sliced olives and continue baking for 20 minutes.

Oven bag takes care of the bones

Many people say the annoying small bones in fish keep them from eating this high-protein, natural food. If it is their sheer laziness in picking meat off the bones or a fear of swallowing a small bone, then the problem is solved with long, slow cooking in oven bags. This process helps dissolve small bones and makes it possible to serve an economical fine-boned buck shad, for example, or other fish with fine bones with little effort on the part of the eater. Cooking in the bag also cuts down on fish odors and cleanup. To save on fuel costs, prepare the rest of the meal such as canned green beans with tiny onions in the oven, too.



FISH IN THE BAG

OVEN BAG SHAD IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 tablespoon flour
3 shad, cut crosswise into 1 to 1-½ inch steaks
¼ cup vegetable oil, salt and pepper
¼ cup coarsely chopped onion
1-3rd cup coarsely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 can (8-ounce) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, minced

Preheat oven to 225 degrees. Shake flour in small (10 x 16 inch) brown-in-bag and place in two-inch-deep roasting pan. Brush fish steaks with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in bag. Scatter vegetables over fish. Combine tomato sauce and seasonings; pour into bag. Close bag with twist tie. Cut six half-inch slits in top. Cook 6 hours. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Elegant pie good food for emperor

The pinnacle of Napolean's success came in May, 1804, when France became an Empire and Napolean was proclaimed Emperor. Besides his place in history, Napolean's name is associated with cognac, the brandy that comes from the Cognac region of France.

For an elegant dinner on a very special occasion, you might like to close with a memorable flourish by serving Napolean's Cognac Pie. The distinguishing feature of this creation is a touch of cognac brandy. This pie is for that occasion when you are serving a dinner fit for a king —or an emperor.

NAPOLEON'S COGNAC PIE

CRUST — Make a graham cracker crumb pie crust, following package directions. Line a 10-inch pie plate with it. Bake 8 minutes to set.

FILLING — In a mixing bowl, mix 4 egg yolks (reserve the white for a souffle sometime) with 1 heaping cup of granulated sugar. The mixture will be very stiff. Add 1-3rd cup cognac. Mix well. 1 envelope unflavored gelatin melted in 1½ tablespoons warm water. Mix well. Now beat in ½ pint heavy whipping cream until it peaks but is not too stiff. Fold into the mixture. Pour this into the pie shell and refrigerate for 3 hours, or better, over night.

When ready to serve, beat another ½ pint whipping cream. Spread over pie. Grate a piece of bitter chocolate over the whipped cream.

Two favorite ways to barbecue chicken

Chicken is near the top of the list of favorite meats to barbecue indoors or out. In view of the energy shortage and of the fact that, in some areas, cooking over open air fires is discouraged because of its contribution to air pollution, instructions for both indoor and outdoor barbecuing are given.

Included are two versions of sauce basted grilled or broiled chicken. There is also a recipe for a favorite family style cole slaw to serve with the chicken.

The barbecue sauces are easy and inexpensive to make. Corn syrup is used in each sauce since it lends easily with other ingredients and helps to give the sauce a consistency that clings to the chicken pieces during cooking. Brush sauces on during the last half hour of cooking.

BARBECUED CHICKEN CALIFORNIA

1 broiler-fryer chicken, halved or quartered
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
1-3rd cup grapefruit juice
¼ cup light or dark corn syrup
¼ cup corn oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ cup corn oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon hot sauce
¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Rub both sides of chicken with poultry seasoning. Place broiler pan or grate at least 6 inches from source of heat. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, on grate or broiler. Turn while broiling about 1 hour. Mix together grapefruit juice, corn syrup, corn oil, soy sauce, mustard, hot sauce and garlic powder. Baste chicken with sauce during last 30 minutes, turning occasionally. Chicken is done when the leg twists easily out of thigh joint and other pieces are tender when pierced with fork. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

ZESTY BARBECUED CHICKEN

¼ cup corn oil
1 broiler-fryer chicken cut in serving pieces
¾ cup catchup
¼ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup bottled steak sauce

Brush chicken with corn oil. Place skin side up in broiler pan or on grate set 6 inches from source of heat. Boil or grill about 25 minutes, turning once. Mix together catchup, corn syrup and steak sauce. Brush over chicken. Continue cooking at least 20 minutes (depending on size of chicken) until chicken is fork tender and leg twists easily out of thigh joint, basting with sauce mixture and turning frequently. Makes 2 to 4 servings. Any remaining sauce may be heated and served with chicken.

MOTHER'S COLE SLAW

¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 cups shredded cabbage
2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
Paprika

Mix together corn syrup, vinegar, margarine, sugar, salt and pepper in saucepan. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Pour over shredded cabbage; mix well. Chill at least 1 hour. Toss with sour cream just before serving. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

For a new side dish, serve refried beans

Bargain-starved and protein-conscious homemakers are looking for something new.

A new ingredient that will extend protein in family meals without taxing the already strained meat budget; a new and satisfying side dish with a distinctive flavor; a new and happily inexpensive appetizer dip for guests.

The big news may not be new at all but something that's been a tradition in Mexican menus for centuries; refried beans, "Frijoles refritos."

According to home economists, refried beans are every bit as adaptable as the Irish potato, Italian pasta and Southern grits to menus in U.S. homes.

They fit nicely into major meals from breakfast to late supper. And, between times, are a healthy and hearty part of one of the most favorite pastimes on both sides of the border . . . snacking.

As a side dish convenient canned refried beans can be heated and served as is, or, to suit U.S. tastes, topped with shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese. They also go well in combination with sour cream or cottage cheese.

One of the happiest ways of introducing the family (especially the children) to frijoles refritos is in Mexican Bean Burgers.

MEXICAN BEAN BURGERS

2 tablespoons cooking oil
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon bottled taco sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon chopped canned mild green chilies
1 (7¾ounces) can sauce for tacos, or hot tomato sauce
1 (17 ounces) can refried beans
6 hamburger patties, broiled
6 hamburger buns, toasted, buttered

Heat oil in skillet; add onion and cook 3 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients except patties and buns. Simmer 10 minutes. Place broiled patties on bottom of bun halves; spoon bean mixture over patties. Cover with top bun halves.

Wineries looking toward big crush

The first evidence of California's 1974 wine harvest has appeared on the vines of M. LaMont Vineyards in the Bear Mountain district of the southeastern San Joaquin Valley where winery officials happily announced that the "buds are breaking."

As the first tiny leaves began appearing on the vines, Keith Nylander, president of M. LaMont, estimated that the winery's total crush in 1974 would exceed 140,000 tons.

Nylander, whose pioneer experiments proved that premium quality wine grape varieties could be grown in the area that is known throughout the wine industry as the Bear Mountain district, has a ready explanation for the high quality grapes being produced in the region.

The climate at Bear Mountain is such that it allows a budding which is two to four weeks earlier than any other in California. This means that before mid-summer the grapevines will have a more mature formation of sugar and a luxuriant canopy of protective leaves for these special wine grapes," he explained. "This earlier maturation has helped produce a grape which M. LaMont has used to develop its premium wines which were first introduced two years ago," Nylander said.

The Bear Mountain district is at the foothills of the Tehachapi Mountains on a plain noted for its deep fertile mountain soil. Until Nylander first came to the region in the late 1950's there was little interest in planting wine grape varieties. However, he proved the area's good soil and unique growing conditions were excellent for most wine varieties.

Among the varieties which M. LaMont produces are Emerald Riesling, Semillon, Chein Blanc, French Colombard, Grenache Rose, Barbera, Ruby Cabernet and Zinfandel.

Soy protein stretches the meat dollar

Would you be interested in saving around 63 cents on every 1½ pounds of hamburger you serve?

Then consider the expertise of a young woman in business who prepares dinner for her family, consisting of her husband and two young children, ages 9 and 6. She uses a package of texturized soy protein to do the trick. More home use of soy protein is possible today through use of giant contractors to remove the oil from soybean to form the flakes which are the basis of a wide range of food products. Three such are soy flour, soy concentrate and soy isolate. Because of soybean's high rate of protein, the textured foods have practically the same protein rating as meat products.

Cutting meat costs can result, for example, with use of one package of texturized soy protein with one pound of chopped round steak. The texturized soy protein costs 29 cents.

Water is added to the texturized protein until it is the consistency of bread dough. Then it is blended into the pound of chopped beef. She pan broils it.

"My family is not aware of the addition of soy protein. They just eat it, which is a good way to tell me they like it," she says.

"It does stick a little to the pan because the soy protein absorbs fats and juices. It doesn't shrink quite so much as pure beef, either."

Persons eating this mixture are getting meat with less cholesterol in an almost perfect protein. "So you can understand," the young homemaker adds, "Why I use it often during these days of terrible inflation. I use it in my meat loaves, meat balls and other beef dishes. Everyone likes it."

Most supermarkets now sell textured soy protein. Some is fortified with vitamins or minerals. Read the labels carefully for this information.

Many markets also sell mixtures of chopped beef and soy protein in plastic trays, just like other meats. They are clearly marked. They sell at about 20 to 25 cents less than all-meat and are gaining greater homemaker acceptance daily, markets report.

We asked a spokesman for the American Meat Institute what its attitude was toward use of textured soy protein. The answer was:

"We consider it an important supplement to beef but a substitute. For most satisfactory results use a mixture of 75 per cent beef and 25 per cent textured soy. It is used in school luncheons," he says, "and also in myriad commercial products such as chili con carne, frozen beef patties, meat sauces and the like."

Besides being used as an extender for ground beef, textured soy in form of analogs are used as alternates to meat, fish and poultry protein. People report that these protein analogs often look and taste like meat, fish and poultry. They are intended mainly for people who don't eat meat for religious reasons but are used also by many others. They are on sale in many supermarkets and generally in health food stores.

Grease stains usually will come off wash fabrics if you apply a little butter before washing and rinsing.

Fish is base of two easy new dinners

Anytime is a good time for seafood recipes, but especially now when fish is a much better protein buy than most meats. Two new recipes, Savory Sea Stew and Golden Seafood Bake, created in the test kitchens of the R. T. French Company, will help you save time as well as money.

Savory Sea Stew is made with fish fillets, fresh or frozen, simmered in a hearty tomato sauce that's easily made from an envelope of spaghetti sauce mix. Add a package of frozen peas for bright color. Serve the completed stew over a bed of hot buttered rice, for a dish that will please the eye as well as the tastebuds.

Fresh or frozen fish is also the basic ingredient of the Golden Seafood Bake. The golden key to this recipe is a saucy combination of tangy prepared yellow mustard, sour cream, and crunchy croutons.

Served with hot buttered rice, a salad of lettuce wedges, fruit cup, cookies and coffee of milk, either recipe will provide your family with servings from the four basic food groups needed daily for good nutrition.

SAVORY SEA STEW

1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 envelope (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
1 to 2 pounds fish fillets, cut into 1-inch chunks
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, partially thawed
¼ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Cooked rice

Stir together tomatoes and contents of sauce mix envelope in large skillet or saucepan. Add fish and peas; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Sprinkle with cheese and serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

GOLDEN SEAFOOD BAKE

1 to 2 pounds fish fillets
Salt and pepper
1 cup plain croutons
¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
Parsley flakes

Arrange fish fillets in buttered shallow baking dish; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Stir together croutons, mustard, sour cream, and mayonnaise; spoon over fish. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Garnish with parsley flakes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Extra beef supply shows on price tags

Not all food prices are going up! This good news from groceryland is especially welcome since it comes from the meat case. For while some price tags have been soaring like kites in brisk March winds, the price-per-pound labels on beef, America's favorite meat, have drifted down from winter's high.

Beef cuts — from steaks and roast to cubes and ground beef — are sporting more attractive price tags this spring. The reason for this bonanza for the food budget is an extra supply of beef coming to market now. In addition to lowering the price of all beef cuts, the result of this ample supply is many beef specials. The smart shopper will look to the newspaper ads to spot them.

Now is the time to appease the family's yearning for a juicy steak or tender roast. It's also good timing to buy these special cuts to freeze for future cookouts. For you can't count on finding such favorable prices on these popular grill selections in the coming outdoor season.

Lower beef prices also mean that this nutritious meat can be chosen more frequently now for budget-balancing menus. Pot-roasts and blade and arm steaks from the chuck, round steak, beef for stew, shank cross-cuts and ground beef can make economical as well as satisfying meals. These cuts combine well with a variety of other good buys in vegetables and pasta products for appetizing entrees that don't break the budget.

These more economical beef cuts also are excellent candidates for freezing now. When you see an especially good buy, don't pass it up — wrap it up and freeze it! Or save both money and time by doubling stew, meat loaf and casserole recipes and storing the "twin" in your freezer.

Freezing specials for future use is but one of many ways to stretch the beef dollar now. Eleven additional worthwhile tips for making money go further are detailed in a new publication — "A Dozen Ways to Stretch the Beef Dollar." Subject matter includes meal planning, wise buying, storage recommendations and time and money-saving cookery tips.

This helpful 12-page folder can be obtained for the cost of mailing and handling (25 cents). Just mail your request to "A Dozen Ways to Stretch Your Beef Dollar," Box 11168, Dept. MF, Beef Industry Council, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Potent glue given okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission has approved continued sale of a glue so strong it can temporarily bond hands and fingers together.

The glue, called cyanoacrelate and marketed in the U.S. under several brand names, was subjected to a lengthy investigation and public hearings after a consumer group asked whether it should not be declared hazardous.

Manufacturers of the glue demonstrated at hearings that fingers stuck together could be unbonded by slowly peeling them apart or by using a nail polish removal as a solvent.

Although the Commission said that the glue does not "warrant any further action," the product will be required to continue carrying warning labels stating that it can cause eye irritation.

WHAT'S IN STORE...

OFF WITH CONTROLS!

Most are aware that federal controls on food prices were ended on April 15. There is some concern that this will mean an immediate increase in the weekly grocery bill, which is already straining the budgets of many homemakers.

We want to assure Alpha Beta customers that although these controls have been lifted, our stores will continue the policy of always offering the finest quality products at the lowest possible prices.

For some time Alpha Beta has felt that the forces of supply and demand and the competitive "give and take" of the marketplace are more effective in bringing the best food buys to the consumer than any type of artificially imposed controls.

Favorite American dishes are from other countries

There's nothing as American as hamburger, hot dogs or pizza . . . and yet, let's face it, they're all foreigners! The almighty hamburger followed the frankfurter from Germany to the United States and pizza, of course, was standard fare in Italy back in Christopher Columbus' time.

Billions of hamburgers are consumed in the United States each year, and there's no doubt that the immigrant from Hamburg, Germany, is Americas's favorite meal and snack-time item.

It is said that German seamen introduced short-order cooks on the New York waterfront to the tasty delights of fried ground meat patties. And, in Hoboken, N.J., they still claim the hamburger is that garden spot's greatest discovery. The fame of this quick-cooking, easy-to-make food spread quickly and became the sensation of the St. Louis World's Fair in 1903.

Today, whole generations of Americans have grown up on hamburgers and there are children whose basic diet consists of "burgers" and "cokes."

Unquestionably, the hamburger has a lot going for it. It can be sandwiched in a bun with melted cheese, onions, relish, mustard and ketchup and become a cheeseburger; it can be stuffed into green peppers or tomatoes; it can be reduced to the size, but not the resiliency of golf balls, and served with spaghetti and lots of tomato sauce; and it can be enlarged to the size of a loaf of bread and become a meat loaf.

Restaurants often serve hamburger with a gravy sauce and call it Salisbury steak, supposedly named after J. E. Salisbury, a 19th century English doctor who was interested in dietary reform.

Roadside hamburger stands have accrued untold wealth while virtually changing the highway scenery of America.

The most aristocratic of all hamburgers is steak tartare. It is made with finely ground lean beef (either sirloin or top round), a raw egg, capers and other spicy seasoning and is eaten raw.

Steak tartare dates back to Genghis Khan, the 12th Century leader of the tarters. He and his tribesmen discovered they could tenderize tough meat by putting it between their saddles and horses. When they had ridden far enough and were hungry, they added a little salt, and, voila, instant dinner. Such an undainty dish probably gave rise to the theory in the middle ages that steak tartare was an aid to male potency.

One obvious benefit of hamburger is its cost. It can be made out of less tender cuts of beef, such as flank, shank, neck or beef trimmings. Prices rise progressively when ground chuck, round or sirloin are used.

One of the more sophisticated hamburger dishes is hamburger au poivre or hamburger with pepper. Roll the hamburger in freshly ground black pepper. Sear it over a high heat in butter and then lower the flame. Add a couple of drops of Worcestershire Sauce. After cooking, rinse the pan with two tablespoons of Courvoisier Cognac and pour it over the meat.

The Scots call their hamburger "mince" and cook the meat with onions in boiling water. This is served with skirl (which is made with oatmeal and onions in boiling water) and the Scottish liquer, Drambuie.

A word of advice about hamburger. Don't buy it already ground, as the finely chopped particles lose their flavor and moisture rather quickly.

The meat should be used within a couple of days at the most. But, if you must keep it longer, separate the patties with waxed paper or wrap individually in foil and freeze.

DANISH MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground round
1 chopped medium-sized onion
1 egg
½ cup bread crumbs
Salt
pepper

Mix all the ingredients together and bake in a loaf pan for 1 hour at 350 degrees. Serves four.

SCOTS BURGER

1 egg
Salt
pepper
1 tablespoon Drambuie

Mix ingredients as for regular hamburger and broil to taste.

STEAK TARTARE

2 pounds ground sirloin
1 medium size onion
1 tablespoon capers
Mustard
Salt
Black pepper
1 egg

Mix together all ingredients except egg. Make a hole in the center of the mixture and drop in the raw egg. Sprinkle lightly with cayenne.

BURGERS POTPOURRI

As for your usual hamburger mixture, let your imagination run wild. Create unique burgers by simply adding exciting flavors such as bacon bits, pieces of ham, cheddar cheese, chili . . . the list is infinite and your culinary reputation will be made.

Peek-'n'-poke cooks waste good energy

Do you "peek and poke" when cooking? If you do, say consumer specialists at the Southern California Gas Co., you are wasting energy and money.

Whenever you open the oven door to check an item cooking inside, the oven temperature can drop from 25 to 50 degrees, they point out.

That means the oven has to work overtime to bring the temperature up to the right setting, burning more natural gas in order to set things right again. That's money and energy being burned up needlessly.

The specialists suggest letting the oven timer do the work, while you sit back and relax. The timer eliminates cooking guesswork and can cut down on cooking time, they say.

You can save additional energy and kitchen work by putting the oven to double use. For instance, use unoccupied oven space to cook foods which can be frozen for a future meal.

To shorten cooking time, thaw frozen meats. A defrosted roast, for example, requires about a third less cooking time than a frozen one, the consumer specialists note.

It is not always necessary to preheat the oven, the specialists say. Preheat only when baking foods which require an exact time and temperature. If you have to preheat, 10 minutes usually does the trick.

An extra reminder from the specialists — never use the oven to heat your kitchen. It wasn't designed for that job.

Vinegar keeps rice unstuck

A small amount of vinegar added to the water when cooking rice will reduce the likelihood of sticking.

Wooden spoon easy on tongue

When tasting soups or gravies during cooking use a wooden spoon and you'll be less apt to burn your tongue.

Consumer guide is meat-money saver

Meat is the big question mark in today's shopping.

Most families spend 33 to 50 per cent of their food budget on meat products. But how much do they actually know about buying cuts of meat economically?

"We don't believe there is really any such thing as an economy cut of meat. Yet it is possible, even today, to purchase meat economically. But you need to know how," a New York meat cutter says.

This idea is part of the wisdom contained in a new, helpful volume entitled "the Meat Book." This is a lucid consumer guide to selecting, buying, storing, freezing and carving. It is the work of David Greene, a prominent meat cutter in New York and teacher of consumer seminars, and Travis Moncure Evans, writer and consumer advocate.

The following ideas are also from "The Meat Book" ($8.95, Scribers):

1) Fully trimmed cuts are not necessarily more expensive because what you are paying for is practically 100 per cent meat. Purchasing meat untrimmed, bone-in cuts at the lowest end of the price spectrum, can be false economy. The higher-priced, fully trimmed piece of meat will have far less waste and enough solid meat to justify the price differential.

2) How much meat will be enough for each person? If a cut contains no bone and very little fat, three ounces, can suffice for each serving. If you are serving something like beef plate meat, breast of lamb or spareribs, however, you are getting very little meat and lots of bone. You may need upwards of a pound per serving.

3) Think hot dogs and luncheon meat are thrifty? Most hot dogs are made up of 10 per cent water, 30 per cent fat and a small percentage of filler (unless the label reads "all meat") — more than 40 per cent non-nutritive foodstuffs.

4) Those innocuous processed "beef patties" or "meat patties" one often finds in the supermarket freezer section contain but a percentage of beef. You also are paying for pork spleens, soya flour, salt, dextrose, vegetable protein, flavoring and water. Most processed patties are more expensive than those you can easily make yourself from pure beef.

The book also contains excellent sections on primal cuts, pork, lamb and veal and soup stock and is a guide to buying meat at the supermarket. The section on buying and storing meat is good, so is the one on freezing meat. In fact, this is a very practical guide to the average shopper.

Turkey supply greater than a year ago

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today that turkey is now available in "unusually generous" volume.

A department economist said he believed prices were down to or below last year's levels.

The glut of turkey supplies, economist William E. Cathcart said, grew at least partly out of high prices last fall when retail prices approached $1 a pound. The price boom touched off an increase in turkey production. At the same time it apparently led to a slowdown in consumer buying.

Another department report said Americans may soon be getting increased supplies of Australian beef because Britons and Japanese are buying less.

W. S. beef imports, which come chiefly from Australia and New Zealand, dipped sharply in February and were 2 per cent below a year earlier in the first two months of the year.

The report said that American offering prices for Australian beef had declined, but Australian shippers might try to increase sales anyway because Japan, normally a big buyer, has suspended imports, and orders from Britain also are down.

Cutting out smoking needn't add pounds

DEAR SELMA:

With all the talk about the problems caused by smoking, I am considering quitting the habit after more than 20 years. The problem is that all of the people I know who have given up smoking ended up by gaining a great deal of weight. Is it possible to quit smoking and not gain weight?

Mrs. L. K.

Dear MRS. L. K.:

Yes, it is possible. I am sure that the body goes through a great change after a long-time smoker kicks the habit. I also know that people I have observed who gave up smoking usually substituted candy or some other food for cigarettes which helped to put on the pounds. If you are particularly careful about your eating habits while going through the process of giving up smoking, you can keep the weight down. In fact, get involved with a sensible weight-reduction program while you are abstaining from cigarettes. I wish you the best of luck.

DEAR SELMA:

Ever since I have been on a particular medicine prescribed by my doctor, I have been gaining weight. He doesn't seem to know why I am gaining. What can I do?

Mrs. Y. B.

Dear MRS. Y. B.:

The only one who can help you is your physician. He knows better than anyone what was prescribed, and the reason why it was prescribed. Since he is aware of your weight problem, I am sure that he will do something to help.

Questions to be answered in this column should be sent to Selma Rifkin, Weight Watchers, 3322 W. Beverly Blvd., Montebello. Persons desiring a personal reply should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PRICE CONTROLS END...

SAFEWAY VALUES CONTINUE

Although the objectives were worthy, everyone now knows that price controls simply did not work exactly as hoped. Instead, they interfered seriously with food production and marketing. Many shortages developed and prices increased. Now, with controls off, and the food business again operating in its normal, freely competitive manner, supply and demand should start to come into balance. Because some foods take longer to produce than others, not everything will be plentiful at the same time. Meanwhile, we will continue to do everything within our power to give you the kind of values you expect to find at Safeway.

We pledge that in our store near your home, you will continue to find quality foods, priced to save you money. We look forward to more abundant supplies of foods and the opportunity to give our customers even better values.

Want to Know the Honest Truth About Ground Beef?

IT'S THIS:

Nobody can guarantee its exact fat content.

There's been lots of talk lately about the fat/lean ratio in ground beef. So why not label each package. Contains X% of fat? Let us tell you why.

We've been making ground beef just about as long as anyone and we know there's no way to make two batches that are exactly alike. Two samples taken from the same batch (or even the same package) can differ in ratio of fat to lean. Even with meticulous care in selecting ingredients, there are variations in fat/lean ratio. Even with our moist modern grinding and mixing equipment. Even with use of the best available fat-measuring devices.

Yet we know our customers want and expect us to provide them with a choice of ground beef products to meet their varying preferences, tastes and budgets. After long and careful consideration, we have concluded that we can best meet our customers need for variety by offering just two ground beef products—REGULAR and PREMIUM. We make both kinds from fresh chunks of beef. We prepare both kinds with equal care to maintain the top quality which has helped earn our fine meat reputation.

Our REGULAR is made the way we believe most families prefer their ground beef. It contains enough fat to assure full juiciness in the cooked meat. It makes marvelous hamburgers, meat loaves, meat balls, spaghetti sauce, Salisbury steak and other delicious dishes.

Our PREMIUM is made to please families that want a leaner ground beef. It shrinks less in cooking and makes wonderful ground beef dishes of all kinds—plain and fancy.

Why not try both kinds and see which is preferred by the folks at your house? (You might even want to make a mix with some of each.) The famous Safeway money-back guarantee applies, of course, to our ground beef as to all of our other products.

USDA tips on using egg dollar most economically

Eggs serve us deliciously in many ways many days of the year. The question is: how do you buy eggs most economically for a particular use?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture quality grade seen on the carton in most areas of the Far West will help you decide.

There are three consumer grades for eggs: U.S. Grade AA (or Fresh Fancy), U.S. Grade A and U.S. Grade B.

The higher quality eggs (AA or Fresh Fancy, and A) are ideal for frying and poaching where appearance is important. They are also the best choice for hardcooked eggs.

Grade B eggs are good for general cooking and for other uses where appearance is not so important. They are just as nutritious as the higher grade eggs.

Interior quality is checked by running the eggs over lights in a process called candling. A top quality egg has a thick white and the yolk is firm and high. The white in a grade B egg will spread more than grades AA or A and the yolk may be flatter.

After deciding the quality egg you prefer, select by size. Some people think that eggs are better if they are bigger. Not necessarily so. Size and quality are not related — they are entirely different. For example large eggs may be of high or low quality; high quality may be either large or small.

Size refers to the minimum weight per dozen. The sizes most often found are Extra Large (minimum weight per dozen 27 oz.); Large (24 oz.); and Medium (21 oz.).

Egg prices vary by size for the same grade. The amount of price variation depends on the supply of the various sizes. So, to calculate the relative value of various sizes, consider the differences in price by the pound.

Shell color of eggs is important only when you're coloring them for Easter. White shell eggs are better for decorating . . . but for any other purpose shell color doesn't matter. Shell color is determined by breed of the hen and does not affect the grade, nutritive value, flavor, or cooking performance of the egg.

Remember, when cooking eggs — use low to moderate temperature — high temperature and over-cooking toughen eggs.

Turkey goes to a party

Turkey has been the centerpiece of American holiday and other family gatherings literally for centuries. And this year — with springtime being turkey time thanks to abundant supplies through April — turkey can also go to a dinner party any time you like.

It's not necessary to roast a whole turkey every time you think your guests or your family would enjoy the great bird. There's lots of turkey parts and products at your favorite food store now, too.

The USDA suggests turkey parts can be the life of the party. For one thing, there's Turkey Scallopini Gourmet — turkey breast steaks all dressed up in Italian finery. For another, Turkey Shish Kabob — for a Middle Eastern accent at your first barbecue of the season. And Turkey Oriental — tasty, colorful Chinese-style ground turkey meatballs.

Turkey Scallopini Gourmet

1 pound turkey breast steaks, 3/8" thick
4 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3/4 cup dry white wine
cube (optional)
2 tablespoons snipped parsley

Pound turkey steaks flat between pieces of waxed paper. Press each, on both sides, into mixture of Parmesan cheese, flour and seasonings. Melt 1/4 cup butter in skillet over medium heat. Saute steaks until golden brown, about 3 minutes on each side. Remove from skillet and keep warm. Saute mushrooms and onions in remaining 1/4 cup butter; add white wine and bouillon cube. Add browned turkey. Cover. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes, or until tender. Remove turkey to hot platter. Pour sauce over and sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Shish Kabob

Allow 1/2 to 3/4 pound of raw boned turkey (either white or dark meat or a combination of each) per person. Cut turkey into 1 1/2 inch cubes and place in a shallow dish. Slice 1 or 2 onions and add to cubed turkey. Pour the marinade over all, stir and marinate 3 to 4 hours. Remove meat from marinade and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put meat on skewers and broil over hot coals, turning frequently until meat is evenly browned and tender.

Marinade

1/2 cup olive oil
1 cup Sauterne wine
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon allpsice
1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger

Combine all ingredients and blend thoroughly.

Turkey Oriental

1 pound fresh ground turkey
3 tablespoons chopped onion
10 water chestnuts, chopped fine
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon Sherry wine
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Cooking oil
1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) whole peeled apricots
1/2 cup chicken stock

Combine turkey, onion, water chestnuts, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, salt, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, wine and egg whites. Form into 18 balls the size of a large walnut. Fry the balls in deep oil until brown. Drain. Drain apricots, reserving liquid. Heat pan, add 1 tablespoon oil, liquid from apricots, chicken stock and remaining 2 tablespoons soy sauce mixed with remaining 2 tablespoons cornstarch; cook a few seconds. Add turkey balls and whole apricots. Heat thoroughly. Makes 4 servings.

Beef is back

Thanks to sizable marketings at prices relatively favorable to consumers — beef is back. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service suggests that if limited beef selection — and your limited budget — have led you to ignore the meat counter at your food store the past few months, you might want to have a close look the next time you're grocery shopping. There should be abundant supplies of beef now through the end of April. And there may be frequent specials.

We all have our favorite beef dishes. But if the novelty of having beef back on your family's menu inspires you to try something new, Pot Roast with Sour Cream Topping offers an unusual glaze on an old favorite. From California's wine country comes Napa Valley Beek Casserole, And Liver Stroganoff gives one of the most nutritious beef products a posh and delicious new role.

Pot Roast with Sour Cream Topping

1 tablespoon butter
3 or 4 pound beef pot roast (round or blade bone)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1/2 cup raw onion rings
1 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons regular all-purpose flour
2 cups drippings

In large skillet melt butter; brown meat slowly. Place in baking dish; sprinkle over salt, pepper and monosodium glutamate. Spread soup over top of roast; add onions. Cover; bake in 325 degree oven 2 1/2 or 3 hours or until meat is tender. Pour off 2 cups drippings; set aside for gravy. Gently blend horseradish into sour cream. Spread on top roast; return to oven, uncovered, 3 to 5 minutes to glaze sour cream.

GRAVY: Gradually add water to flour to make smooth paste. In saucepan heat drippings to boiling. Remove from heat; gradually add flour mixture, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Cook 2 more minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Napa Valley Beef Casserole

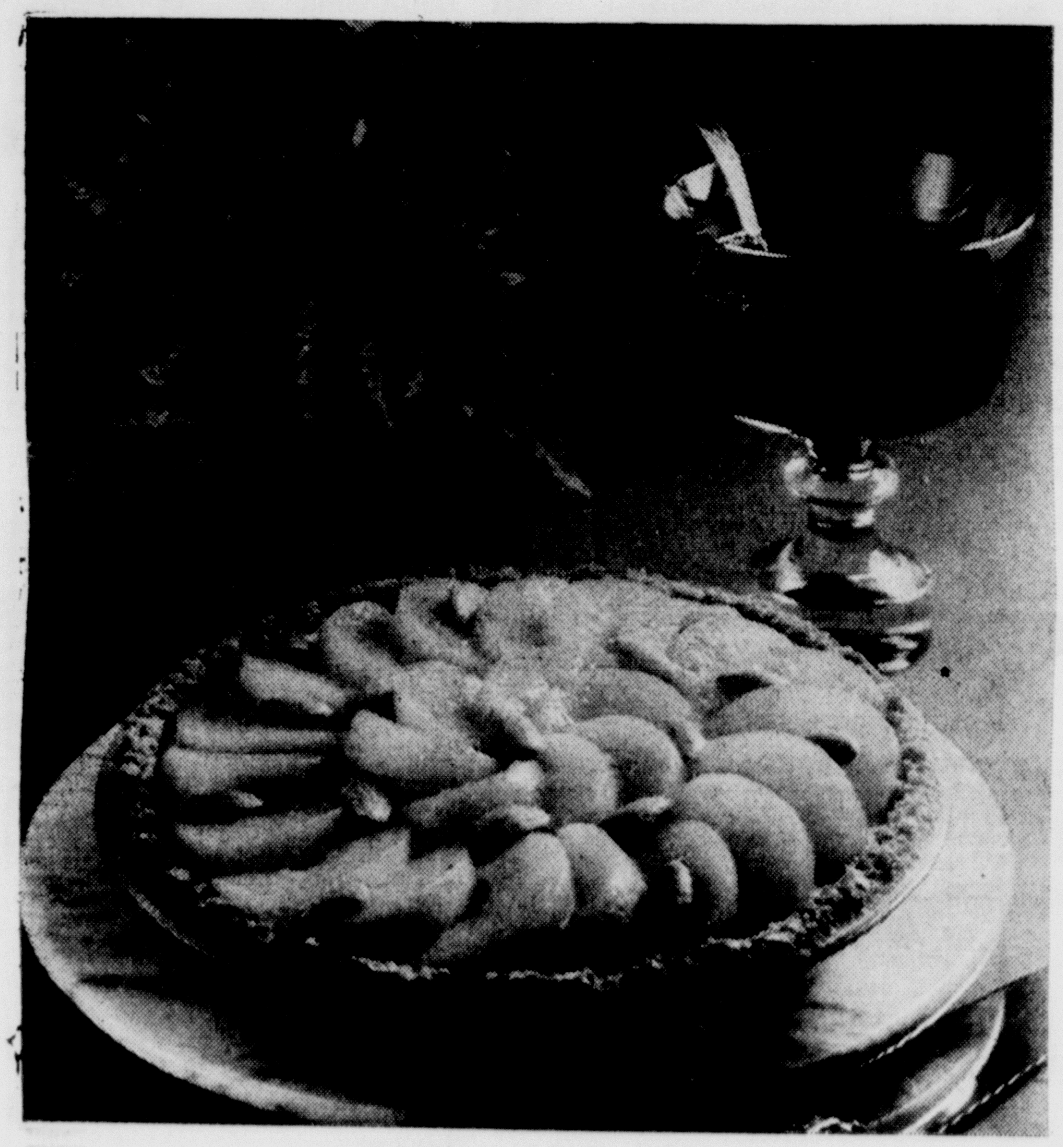
1/2 pound macaroni
2 quarts water
3 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup coarsely chopped parsley
1/4 pound American cheese, diced
1 pound ground lean beef
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 (8 ounce) cans tomato sauce
1/2 cup red dinner wine or water

Cook macaroni in boiling water with 2 teaspoons salt until tender. Drain. Mix with butter, parsley and cheese. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Mix beef with remaining 1 teaspoon salt and onion. Arrange over macaroni. Top with tomato sauce mixed with wine. Cover. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 35 to 40 minutes, removing cover last 10 minutes. Garnish as desired with additional chopped parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Liver Stroganoff

1 pound beef liver
1-3rd cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/2 cup dairy sour cream

Cut liver into thin strips, removing veins and membranes. Coat with flour mixed with salt and pepper. Brown in hot oil. Add tomato juice and onion. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Push liver to one side of skillet. Stir sour cream into pan sauce and heat gently. Serve at once. Makes about 4 servings.



PEACH MELBA PIE

Prepare a 9-inch crumb crust by combining 3/4 cup corn flake crumbs, 1/2 cup finely chopped toasted blanched almonds, 2 tablespoons packed light brown sugar and 1/4 cup melted butter. Press mixture onto bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool completely on wire rack. To prepare pie, spoon 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream into crust to form a smooth, even layer. Cover with foil and freeze several hours until very firm. Transfer to refrigerator 30 minutes before serving. Serve with Melba sauce. Melt 1/2 cup currant jelly over low heat. Stir in 1 cup seedless red raspberry preserves. Arrange 1 can drained cling peach slices on top of pie and garnish with toasted whole almonds. Serve sauce in separate dish.

Carbonade a la Flamande ritzy name for hamburger

Ask any member of your family and they're sure to agree — hamburger is a big favorite. But its popularity doesn't mean it has to be monotonous.

Take this Meatball Carbonnade a la Flamande, for instance. It's not as complicated as the name implies, and it's certain to become one of your family's favorite "hamburger" dinners.

Meatball Carbonnade a la Flamande is simply meatballs and onions in beer sauce. Simply brown the meatballs, saute the onions, combine them in a tangy beer sauce and bake in the oven to a rich golden brown. Sprinkled with a topping of crisp crumbled bacon and served with boiled new potatoes, this is a dish that's kind to the budget and to the palate.

Glasses of ice cold sparkling beer provide the ideal beverage accompaniment.

MEATBALL CARBONNADE A LA FLAMANDE

4 strips bacon
2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Bouquet garni, 3 sprigs parsley and bay leaf tied together
2 tablespoons flour
1 can or bottle (12 oz.) beer
1 cup beef stock
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
1/2 teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
4 cups thinly sliced onion

Cook bacon until crisp, drain on paper towels, crumble and set aside. Pour off most of excess fat into small bowl, leaving thin film in bottom of skillet. Combine ground beef, eggs, bread crumbs, salt and pepper; mix well. Shape into walnut-sized balls.

Brown meatballs in skillet, a few at a time, shaking skillet to keep them round. Remove meatballs to 3 quart casserole. Bury the bouquet garni in the meat. Saute onions in remaining fat in skillet 10 to 15 minutes, until golden. Add onions to casserole.

Stir flour into remaining fat in skillet. (If mixture seems dry, add a little reserved bacon fat.) Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until the roux is amber color being careful it does not burn. Pour in beer and beef stock; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute, then add sugar, vinegar and thyme; simmer 2 to 3 minutes.

Pour sauce over meat and onions. Bring mixture to a boil in top of range. Cover tightly and bake in 350 degree oven 45 minutes. discard bouquet garni. Garnish with reserved crumbled bacon and snipped parsley. Serve with boiled potatoes. Yields 6 or 8 servings.

Auto industry switchover has changed very little

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. President Lee A. Iacocca would like to think the $1.8 billion the No. 2 automaker has spent to convert to small car production has changed some thinking about the auto industry. It doesn't appear to have changed anything.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler have invested more than $4 billion in the last four years in the switchover to more economical cars. They still haven't finished and probably won't as long as the fuel crisis continues.

By the time 1975 models begin rolling off assembly lines in late August, the industry will have the capacity to build 5.2 million small cars a year, compared with just 3.4 million small cars last September, when the energy crisis became a national issue.

Iacocca used the occasion of the reopening of an assembly plant in suburban Detroit in February to lash out at critics of the industry.

"I hope the massive changeover will put to rest the tired old cliche that Detroit is too rigid to change and is dead in the water, that we build only what we want to build, and worst of all, that only a new federal law will persuade us to build what people want," Iacocca said.

"We are in the midst of the greatest industrial conversion in history, at least in peacetime," he said. "We are doing it because of the pressures and incentives of the free market place."

Within days of that statement at the Wayne, Mich., assembly plant that now builds compact Mavericks instead of standard-size cars, there were new calls for the government to break up the auto industry to gain more competition. But the major criticism of the industry at the week-long hearings of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee was not against Ford, but against its biggest competitor —General Motors Corp.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee and sponsor of the proposed Industrial Reorganization Act, says that with less dominance of the industry by one, two or three companies, there might be a substantially greater variety of products available to consumers.

"We have been told that when a few companies have 50 per cent or more of the industry's sales, there is little price competition, little innovation, and all interests are poorly served," Hart said before the latest round of hearings began in late February.

And the company that accounts for more than 50 per cent of all auto industry sales is GM, the world's largest automaker, which Bradford Snell, author of a study recommending breakup of the "Big Three," said controls the industry.

In another round of the hearings 16 years ago George Romney, then president of American Motors Corp., complained about General Motors, Ford and Chrysler perpetuating a "big car mentality" through the strength of their advertising budgets.

Even with the big shift to smaller cars, the automakers are pushing hard to maintain the standard-size car market in the face of fuel shortages.

"We are determined to meet our customers' demand for fuel economy and still provide the room and comfort, the convenience and the safety that have made full-size cars the overwhelming choice of America's drivers in the past," Elliott M. Estes, a GM executive vice president, said recently.

Iacocca said one of the reasons Ford has been able to invest $1.8 billion in small car production has been the profits the company has earned. It's the same reason, Iacorca says, that causes Ford to respond to greater demand for small cars.

"It's an old-fashioned system that seems to work rather well," the Ford president said. "I think we ought to keep it."

Bronze thieves taking statues in Quaker City

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bronze statues in Fairmount Park have been disappearing so fast during the past six months that the city's park commission believes an organized ring of bronze thieves is responsible.

"They are taking anything that's bronze," said Park Commissioner Robert McConnell. "I think they're organized. They know what they are doing."

In the past three weeks, two 300-pound bronze fish statues have been ripped from their bases in a park pond, and 20 bronze sewer grates have been stolen from the art museum terrace during the past six months.

Also missing are two bronze plaques, and "Seaweed Girl," a 1,000-pound fountain statue was partially ripped from its foundation.

McConnell said he believes the objects have been stolen "mostly because bronze, brass and semi-precious metals are up in value."

City police said they were unaware of such a theft ring and promised to keep a closer watch on the park's 200 statues.

Casino blames earnings drop on gas crisis

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Harrahs Corporation has reported a hefty drop in earnings for the third quarter of this fiscal year, which it blamed on the gasoline shortage.

It said recently that earnings were $173,060, about one-third of the comparable figure of $544,898 for last year.

But, company President M. F. Sheppard said "gas availability is much improved and the psychological deterrent against automobile travel appears to have greatly eased."

He said Easter Week was excellent for the company's hotel-casino operations in Reno and at Lake Tahoe.

Sheppard said Harrahs was prepared for another decline in the final quarter and launched a heavy promotional effort to bring in tourists.

He said the result was an increase over last year's Easter Week.

He said the company is now looking forward to a good summer with increased promition and an improved gasoline outlook.

Huge hashish haul seized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. and Bahamian officials have seized $15.5 million worth of hashish —largest recorded seizure in the Western Hemisphere — from a disabled freighter off the Florida coast, it was announced recently.

The Drug Enforcement Administration said the freighter Seatrader became disabled 800 miles off the Florida coast and was boarded by U.S. and Bahamian officials after the Coast Guard towed it to an area 60 miles northwest of Nassau.

The DEA said Bahamian police seized about 3,700 pounds of hashish contained in 50 burlap bags and arrested six Americans who were members of the crew. DEA administrator John Bartels Jr. said the ship was bound from Morocco to the United States with the hashish as its only cargo.

Golf rules for clergy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — The chairmen of the May 13 golf tournament at the Gracewell Country Club have been moved to rewrite some of the ground rules for the occasion.

The new stipulations include:

"Thou shalt not use profanity; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's putter; thou shalt not steal thy neighbor's ball; thou shalt not bear false witness in the final tally."

The rule makers are the Revs. J. Kent Hickerson, pastor of the Kentwood Christian Church, and James Smith, pastor of the Trinity Congregational Church.

They are cochairmen of a tournament at which priests, rabbis and pastors of the Grand Rapids area will fight it out on an interdenominational, noncussing basis.

Went off to war 34 years ago, back now

BROCCOSTELLA, Italy (UPI) — Thirty-four years after he went to war, Domenico Gismondi finally came home again.

The Italian news agency ANSA told the story:

Gismondi, drafted to fight in Fascist Italy's Greco-Albanian campaign, left his wife and three children in this village south of Rome in 1940. World War II ended but there was no word of Gismondi.

When the village of Broccostella erected a monument to its war dead, Gismondi's name was one of those carved on the stone.

Then, three years ago, a letter arrived from Albani. Gismondi wrote that the Communist government had not allowed him to return home to Italy. He said he had been working at his old profession as a truck driver.

In the course of the correspondence that followed it developed that Gismondi's real reason for remaining in Albania after the war was a new family he had started in a village near Scutari.

Luisa Gismondi and her children, Loretto, Antonio and Concetta, who were 4, 5 and several months old respectively when Gismondi left home, decided they wanted him back anyway.

On Easter Sunday he arrived at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport with an Albanian passport allowing him to make a 30-day visit to Italy. He had $20 sewn into his jacket lining as his only money.

Once home Gismondi said he planned to ignore the passport restriction and settle again in Italy.

Borrows page from Houdini for freedom

INDIO, Calif. (UPI) — Riverside County sheriff's deputies came up with a clue recently as to how a prisoner, handruffed and chained to several others, escaped from the courthouse.

John V. Radogna, 27, was due to be sentenced on a robbery conviction but when his name was called, he was absent.

A sheriff's spokesman reported a search of his cell turned up a book by the celebrated oldtime escape artist Houdini.

"The pages on handcuffs were dogeared," he said.

Federal study begun

Rights of non-English speaking kids denied?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government is launching a study in 305 school districts in 22 states to see whether children who speak little or no English are illegally discriminated against.

It also will expand to four more big cities a much broader study being conducted in New York City on whether children from minority groups, girls and handicapped children share equally in school services. The cities to be included are Chicago, Houston, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

Both studies are by the Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The language study stems from a Jan. 21 Supreme Court decision that Chinese-speaking children in San Francisco schools were being denied equal educational opportunities.

These are some reported kinds of language discrimination which the study will look into:

—Excluding children from educational programs because of they have difficulty speaking and understanding English.

—Assigning such children to classes for the mentally retarded and denying them access to college preparatory courses.

—Putting them in "dead end" ability groupings instead of teaching them English.

—Failing to notify foreign speaking parents of school activities in the languages they understand.

Martin H. Gerry, deputy director of the civil rights office, said the investigation would begin this spring in 133 elementary and high school systems in Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, New Jersey, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Washington. Another 172 school districts would be added next fall in 12 other states —Alaska, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

In the city studies the issues to be reviewed are whether minority, female and handicapped children receive a proper share of school dollars spent for instructional services, non-instructional services such as food and recreation, and whether they are are treated differently in such areas as discipline, drug abuse programs and extracurricular activities.

The five city school systems enroll 16.7 of all black school children in the country, 23.4 per cent of Spanish surnamed children and 21.2 per cent of Asian children.

The sanction available under the HEW enforcement provisions is a cutoff of federal funds to school districts that are found to be dis-assigned to inferior classes or criminatory.

Postal service will purchase electric cars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service announced recently it is buying a fleet of electric delivery trucks to cut down on automotive pollution.

The General Services Administration has signed a $1.9 million contract with AM General Corp. of Wayne, Mich., for 350 light mail delivery trucks capable of carrying 500 pound mail payloads with a top speed of 33 miles per hour and a minimum driving range of 20 miles without recharging the batteries.

The Postal Service said it wanted to avoid the pollution caused by gasoline-powered vehicles, particularly in the "smog area" of Los Angeles and San Bernardino, which will get 300 of the cars. The rest will go to Savannah, Ga.; Evansville, Indiana; Cherry Point, N.J.; Long Island, and Washington, D.C.

A spokesman said the Postal Service has tentative plans to buy 1,000 additional electric trucks in fiscal 1976 and 5,000 in fiscal 1977.

Reagan plan for political reform rapped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposals for political reform are "too little and too late," say proponents of Prop. 9, the political reform initiative on the June ballot.

Reagan unveiled a plan Friday that urged a virtual ban on political activity by business and labor, a prohibition on campaign donations by lobbyists and an end to "on-the-job" political activity by public employes.

Reagan said his proposal was "more effective" than Prop. 9, which is supported by California Common Cause and the People's Lobby.

"After eight years of silence, Gov. Reagan's proposals are too little and too late," said Michael Walsh, chairman of Common Cause, and Harold Willens, coordinator of the California Coalition for Prop 9.

"They are meant to divert attention from real political reforms and to sustain the money and secrecy of the political system upon which he (Reagan) depends," the men said in a joint statement.

Court site was a hospital

The British Court is called the Court of St. James because the site on which it stands was once occupied by a religious establishment dedicated to St. James the Less. The order, dating back before the Norman Conquest, once operated a hospital for leprous women on the same site.

Retard, 23, gains rank as Eagle Scout

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A mentally retarded dishwasher who is all but blind in one eye as a result of brain damage suffered at birth has become an Eagle Scout.

Richard Walter Beall Jr., 23, received his Eagle ribbon from Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., at a Boy Scout Court of Honor.

Under the rules, the 21 merit badges needed to attain scouting's highest rank must be acquired before the candidate's 18th birthday. But Scoutmaster Marvin Jones of Troop 233 managed to waive the age rules for Beall. It was the only concession made to his disability.

Beall breezed through the requirements in swimming and life saving and managed the qualifications for railroading, hiking, firemanship, home citizenship, community citizenship, national citizenship, first aid, cooking, safety, basketry, personal fitness, conservation, fishing, stamp collecting, leatherwork, nature and camping.

But then came the two hard ones —rowing and canoeing, which apparently required a type of coordination he lacked. It took him 44 hours of hard work to attain the final merit badge, in canoeing.

"It was frustrating sometimes, but I had a sense of accomplishment when I finally did it. With my mental disability, it was a greater challenge and took more time and harder work. But I wanted to show I could do as well as anybody, handicapped or not," Beall said.

Now that he's an Eagle Scout, Beall has a new goal, a career in forestry. "I don't know much about it, but I can learn. After three years, dishwashing is a bit of a drag."

Waldie bares taxes, flays rival Demos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, C-Calif., who seeks to become governor, has disclosed his 1973 federal and state income tax returns.

"If candidates don't want their tax privacy invaded, then they shouldn't seek public office," he told a rally sponsored by the California Tax Reform Association.

Waldie said that he had a 1973 gross income of $46,930.10 on which he paid $8,684.54 in federal taxes and $1950.80 in state income taxes.

"I don't think it makes sense for Democrats to criticize Governor Reagan, President Nixon or Standard Oil Co. or other major corporations for not paying taxes" when two of the party's candidates also did not pay state taxes, he declared.

Waldie held in his talk that Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco and William Matson Roth, both Democratic candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, had not paid state taxes for "several" years.

The congressman listed his net worth at $117,524.44.

Five arrested in stab death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Five suspects have been arrested in connection with the stabbing death of a 24-year-old West Hollywood woman.

Two other persons were critically wounded in the incident Monday when the residents of an apartment came home and apparently surprised several persons ransacking the apartment.

Booked on suspicion of murder were Elizabeth Ann Cowley, 24, and Debra Lynn Dillwith, 18, of Hollywood; Sharon Bernite McNeir, 20, and Brenda Mary Machado, 18, who lived in the apartment complex where the stabbings occurred and Sherman Ayers, 23.

The slain woman was identified as Patricia Mae Synegal. Her husband, Eugene, 22, and Mercury Washington, 26, were reported in critical condition from stab wounds at UCLA Medical Center.

They're flying paper airplanes in Arkansas

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (UPI) — Seeress Jeanne Dixon visited the Henderson State College campus Jan. 21 and predicted that within seven years the college will produce a man who will become famous in the field of aeronautical research.

Thus inspired, the Society of Physics Students and Sigma Pi Sigma, the national physicis honor society, announced a paper airplane flying contest.

Don't laugh.

"There's a tremendous amount of physics that goes into the design of a paper airplane, contrary to popular belief," said Mike Marshall, 21, a senior physics major from Malvern, Ark., who is contest chairman.

"Origami, the Japanese art of paper folding, is involved," said Marshall. "People who like to fold paper really groove on origami."

And to allay any thoughts that what we have here might be mistaken for springtime campus madness, Dr. Martin B. Garrison, president of Henderson, will throw out the first plane Tuesday to start the contest.

About 100 entries are expected to vie for trophys in four categories: distance, most time airborne, stunt flying and the most unusual design.

Contest sponsors frankly admit they got their idea from the book, "The Great International Paper Airplane Flying Contest," which includes plane designs from the worldwide paper plane fly-off in 1968 sponsored by the monthly magazine Scientific America.

And now to specifics:

Each entrant will be issued one 8 ½ by 11 ½ sheet of 20-weight bond paper. He must fashion his plane from that piece of paper on the spot and under the eye of contest officials. He will get three tosses.

"To a certain degree, I favor a blunted nose design for distance," said Marshall. "It also aids stabilization and does away with the bent nose on crashes."

Entrants will also be allowed to snip with scissors, or cut with razor blade and shore up with scotch tape the designs they work on their piece of 20-weight bond.

"You can get some pretty sophisticated designs," Marshall said.

"You can cut lift flaps on the rear stabilizer and fold the tips of the wings and produce ailerons for aerobatic movement.

"Then you can smooth them back out again and try for distance. One guy can use his piece of paper for all the competition."

There is a 50-cent entry fee to discourage the less serious types. The money will be used to cover costs and pay for refreshments.

Gas station heads cited

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two Hollywood gas station operators were charged Monday with allegedly violating a city law requiring the posting of days and hours of business.

Misdemeanor complaints were filed against Emanuel Betmalec, a Texaco station operator, and Abe Pincashi, owner of Abe's Arco.

Both men allegedly ignored warnings to display their operating hours on signs "clearly visible" from the street. If convicted, they face a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and six months in jail.

Deputy City Attorney City R. Wilson, head of the city attorney's consumer fraud unit, said four other station operators, who have been cited for violating the same ordinance, will be given a hearing May 2. Criminal charges will then be filed if they fail to comply with the ordinance.

The doctor comments

Fad diet encouraged for some athletics

By Lawrence E.Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Reading of your disapproval of fad diets, I think you should comment on some of the weight-losing programs I saw in my association with secondary school wrestling. These are motivated by the desire to compete in a lighter weight class.

It was quite common for heavier boys to lose 15, yes 15 pounds or more the first night of practice. A close friend of mine lost a total of 19 pounds through the season to wrestle at lighter weight. He said the last few pounds really came off hard. All he ate for a week was an orange; on a heavy exercise program to boot. Many of them severely restricted drinking liquids a large part of the time.

The idea was to eat like a king the weekend after the meet, and then starve, run in sweatsuits and take steam baths until the next meet. They sometimes too laxatives for the sake of losing weight. I remember one with two or three pounds to lose about eight hours before weigh-in, so he ran and steamed until it was off.

When the last meet was finished the friend who lost 19 pounds put all 19 pounds back on in two days. I wish I knew whether or not these teenagers took vitamins or mineral supplements while they were fasting, but I doubt that they did.

You would do a public service by warning of the possible repercussions of such starving and drying out. My friend had done things he said that he wouldn't normally do the week he fasted. I find it horrible that our public schools cultivate such things. Don't you?

DEAR READER — That's awful. As your letter demonstrates in the case of your friend who regained all 19 pounds he lost in just two days, most of the loss was water loss. This also means a loss of salt and major disturbance in the body chemistry. Under such circumstances even the amount of blood in the body is decreased by eliminating water from the bloodstream.

Your description is important to other people losing weight because it points out that steam baths and a lot of these procedures, even when you lose 19 pounds, do not eliminate fat — just the water the body normally needs. Most people don't realize that the normal body is about half water. Over 70 per cent of the weight of our muscles is water. When you dry a person out you seriously affect the way all the vital cells in the body work, even those in the brain. Also, such people are more prone to faint.

Water loss from weightlessness in space flight has a similar effect. The loss is nothing like what you describe. Astronaut Ed White lost about nine pounds when he was on the flight with his space walk, but he told me he regained most of it the first day back. He regained the normal amount of water for earthlings. Those interested in losing weight safely without dangerous fads can get more information by writing to me in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on losing weight. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Those 15-pound losses during the first night's practice are mostly water and salt. It comes right back. The sweatsuits simply contribute to draining the water and salt out of the body. This saps energy in a number of instances. This is not the way to train our youth to have a healthy body and develop healthy living patterns. And, I think it is rather poor sportsmanship to try such gimmicks so you can wrestle someone who is really smaller than you.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Bidding small slam not easy

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some 40 years ago the late Ely Culbertson said, "When a hand belongs in six and I am shown all the cards, the Culbertson system will get there."

What Ely meant was that when you see all the cards your bidding problems will disappear, if you want them to. to.

The bidding in the box shows how an expert pair stopped at five clubs, when six was a laydown.

They weren't too upset about it. The hand was played in an IMP team match and the other North-South pair landed at the really horrible contract of three notrump. Still they have asked us to analyze the bidding and show how to reach six clubs scientifically.

We hve two suggested methods. The first comes from Oswald who says that 40 years ago he and Dave Bruce would have reached six because North would have gone to six clubs after South jumped to five. We didn't have too much science then, but whichever one of us sat North would have decided the singleton diamond was what the doctor ordered.

Jim Jacoby suggests that South should bid three hearts over three clubs. North would go to four hearts. South would then bid five clubs and North would be sure that his partner was afraid of two diamond losers and would be able to bid the slam.

Rattles & straws

Any sport in a storm

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I always know when summer is here because the pro basketball playoffs start. The final game of the NBA-ABA-WHL-AFL-CIO championship is played July 6, the day of the first pro football exhibition. Who said "long summer"?

Conversely the baseball season ends on Thanksgiving weekend, and football ends with the Pro Bowl April 1, the day of the opening of the next baseball season. Things got so confusing last year that Hank Aaron was named to the Hockey Hall of Fame, and O. J. Simpson won the Cy Young Award.

Apparently Congress has ruled that every city over 100,000 population must have professional baseball, football, basketball, hockey and tennis teams. I used to have trouble distinguishing between Mickey Mantle, Bart Starr and Jerry West. Now I can't even name all the leagues.

It is clear that the only solution to this manic proliferation of teams, divisions and leagues is to combine several sports into one game. The season could then run the year around, like your utilities bills.

SCENE: Ebbets Sport-a-torium, a 100,000-seat covered bowl in Rowland Heights. California's Golden Bare Streakers are playing a crucial with the Central Park Muggers of New York City.

Late in the third period, pitcher Fritz Peterson, who is in foul trouble, fires a fastball and Frank Robinson lines it up the power alley in left, where it is fielded by John Hadl, designated quarterback. He quickly substitutes a football for the baseball and shoots a 30-yard down-and-out to his wide receiver, second baseman Gail Goodrich.

Stumpy exchanges the football for a basketball and executes a pick-and-go with shortstop Abdul Kareen Jabar, who shoots a bounce pass to the catcher, Larry Csonka, in time to catch the sliding runner, Mohammed Ali. Designated mouth Howard Cosell criticizes the call of "out," second-guesses the third base coach, suggests that Peterson is weakening, and turns the camera on a banner dangling from the upper deck, reading "Welcome Howie! You're No. 1!" (He put it up an hour before game time.)

Rule books of the three sports would be revised and coagulated for "Smorgasport." No hand-checking at first-base. Crossblocks permitted only at second. Sacking the umpire prohibited. Spitballs allowed only on third and long. Infield fly rule does not apply to field goal attempts. Only the shortstop and third baseman can tackle a base runner. And so on.

The quick exchange of the various balls and the expertise of a variety of athletes will excite and delight the sports buff. He will find the best of all possible worlds in this athletic goulash. If 20,000 people come out for a Dodger game, 10,000 to see the Lakers, and 70,000 for the Rams, that's 100,000 who will stream into the stadium for Smorgasport.

(Tickets, of course, would be expensive to support a field of $100,000-a-year athletes. Add the prices of a Dodger, Laker and Ram ticket and you have a reserved seat at Smorgasport.)

A chameleon's diet improved by fruit

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Because I know a lot of people have trouble raising chameleons, or keeping them, and I have been there myself, I'd like to pass along a tip on a good way to feed them, especially from this time of the year on. What I do is to cut a piece of raw fruit and put it right in the terrarium with Gizmo. He's my chameleon. He doesn't eat the fruit but flying insects and mosquitoes do and when they come in to eat the fruit Gizmo eats them. It works out very well, especially for Gizmo. During the winter I kept him going by feeding him baby mealworms and grubs. —P.R.

COMMENT: That type of stimulating diet along with suitable terrarium moisture and a temperature of at least 75 degrees to help stimulate the appetite provides the American chameleon or even the imported (Genuine) species with the essentials for survival.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I have to take issue with your statement about not giving aspirin to cats and dogs. I give my dog aspirin all the time which he appreciates and they have never hurt him. We are very close, my dog and I, and he often has headaches when I do so I naturally give him some aspirin when I take some.

Now, in fact, he insists on it. My point is you shouldn't try to scare people by telling them stories about "deadly" aspirin and similar junk. —D.S.

Dear D.S.: Aspirin CAN be dangerous for any species. Aspirin has killed some canines and made many others desperately ill. Though this would happen most frequently if the dog were to consume large numbers of aspirin, an occasional dog cannot tolerate any at all. (The intestinal irritation caused by this product would certainly be most noticeable in the dog who had acquired an aspirin addiction.)

There are times when aspirin in proper dosage can be beneficial to a dog. A half an aspirin for a cocker-sized animal to relieve an occasional ache is rational though it should not be used if the animal has a gastro-intestinal upset nor for one who is obviously seriously ill — nor should the dosage be repeated without first determining the reason for the continued problem.

Note: The above discussion concerns dogs, NOT cats. Cats ARE highly susceptible to aspirin poisoning. Consequently, aspirin should NEVER be given to a cat.

Found 'Deep Throat' boring performance

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A jury of four men and two women has been selected to determine if the film "Deep Throat," seized at a Rockville, Conn., theater in January, is obscene.

One prospective panelist was asked if he had seen the movie and replied that he attended the theater where it was playing, but fell asleep during the performance. He was rejected as a juror.

Her husband a lawn freak

By ERMA BOMBECK

I just figured out if my husband paid just half the attention to me as he does the lawn, my 70-year-old mailman would never have started to look like Robert Redford.

If ever there was a valid suit for alienation of affection, it's that lousy lawn.

There is something about the ability of a man to grow a few blades of grass that contributes to his masculinity. He is either a grass grower or he is not a grass grower. I have seen virile men move into the neighborhood with tattoos on their lips, but if they have fungus on their dwarf tiff, forget it. They're just not one of the boys.

A lawn enthusiast has two moods: irritable and irritable. These are interchangeable depending on whether the grass is growing or whether the grass is not growing.

When the grass is not growing, my husband goes to the library to see what could be missing, has his soil analyzed, waters, soaks, fertilizes, and has the nurseryman who sold him the seed make a house call.

When the grass is growing, he runs the mower back to the store to make sure the blade is cutting, trims, rakes, rolls and makes an obscene phone call to the dog next door who overfertilized it in the first place.

There is no pleasing a lawn freak.

Some say it is normal for a man to want a pretty lawn. I don't know what is normal anymore. I sent the kids to Mother's, blew an entire food budget on steaks and wine, put a dab of garlic on the lightbulb and slipped into something that had not been paid for. "What are you thinking?" I teased, turning off the TV set.

"Did you turn the hose off?" he asked.

Is it normal for a man to call the police and report a flock of birds who are eating our grass seed? Is it normal for a grown man to mourn a brown spot for three years?

I was all set to tell the mailman about my infatuation with him when he said, "I see your husband uses a chemical fertilizer of nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. Tell him if he invested in a little sheep dip, he'd do away with that crabgrass. Is there something you wanted?"

"I thought you looked like someone I knew," I said. "But I was mistaken. You all look alike."

L. M. Boyd

Humans need animal protein

The innards of animals that graze, as do cows, manufacture some sort of enzyme that breaks down the cellulose in grass fibers, so said grazers can get the grub out of same. But people's gizzards don't pump out that enzyme. Therefore, one Dr. Lendon H. Smith is quoted as claiming that human beings must eat meat. "I'm convinced that vegetarians are jeopardizing their health," says he. "Their tissues need animal protein which is more complete than that in nuts and vegetables." Make mention of this contention because it's a rare one. Usually, the vegetarian is the critic of the meat eater.

Q. "Where does 'got kicked out' rank on that list of major reasons why dropouts leave school?"

A. It's No. 3. Right after No. 2, which is "was flunking." And No. 1, which is "hated classes."

The beds people sleep on determine whether they're highbrow, upper middle brow, lower middle brow or lowbrow. And this clothing they sleep in, if any, determines that, too. Such is the whimsical claim of a pair of Indiana scholars. Beds: Highbrow, double. Upper middle brow, king-size or twin with one headboard. Lower middle brow, twin with matching night tables. Lowbrow, double. Clothing: Highbrow, none. Upper middle brow, a red turtleneck nightshirt for him, a gown with matching peignoir for her. Lower middle brow, pajamas for both. Lowbrow, underwear for him, nightgown for her. Where do you and your matrimonial mate rank on this bedroom brow scale?

Couples who get married in January, February and March wind up with the highest divorce rates. Statistics compiled by the Health Insurance Institute show that. And they indicate June marriages produce the lowest dovorce rates.

To his four-word wisdom list, our language man has added: "Mirth is God's medicine." "Love makes labor light." "Slaves can't teach freedom." "Patience is passion tamed." And "Journalism is organized gossip." Any others?

Do house cats sometime pretend to sleep? The first edition of the Encylopaedia Britannica, published a couple of centuries ago in Scotland, said they do. Specifically: "Domestic cats often assume the appearance of sleeping, when in reality they're meditating mischief."

When pollsters asked college coeds nationwide if they'd ever been in love, one out of every four said no. Sad.

"Cigarette" in Chinese literally translates "paper smoke."

Have you been under the impression that you can lose weight by perspiring profusely? Likewise. But that's wrong, evidently. Or so says an authority with the Food and Drug Administration. It's thought to be the commonest misconception among dieters.

That surgical operation known as the lipectomy of the buttocks, executed to reduce the size of said area, now reportedly costs between $1,000 and $2,000.

CITY LIFE MAY SAVE FALCONS

LINCOLN, Mass. (UPI) — City life may, surprisingly, be the salvation of the wild peregrine falcon, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports. The birds have been nearly killed off by DDT in rural areas.

Until little more than a decade ago, wild peregrines bred throughout the Northwest and occasionally along the Appalachians as far south as Lookout Mountain in Georgia. They began to disappear. Scientific evidence blamed DDT's interference with eggshell production in females.

DDT remains in the environment for years. Experts feel that captivity-reared peregrines released in rural areas would face the same fate. Experts have suggested that only cities are free enough of pesticide costamination to risk a transplant of the birds.

The society said the day may arrive when peregrines reared in captivity will nest on tall buildings in Boston, Hartford, Providence, New York, or even Atlanta.

Short-lived spiders

New York okays $5 bounty for rattlers

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York State Assembly voted in favor of paying rattlesnake killers at the rate of $5 per snake Monday, despite an opponent of the bill who brought a 4 ½-foot live timber rattler to dramatize his argument.

"No one is going to make friends defending rattlesnakes," said Assemblyman Thomas W. Brown of Albany, gesturing toward the coiled snake inside a screened wooden box he brought. "But I am opposed to a system of bounties to control any species of wildlife."

Several lawmakers hissed as Brown took his seat.

The measure under consideration would reinstate a $5 bounty on poisonous reptiles taken in the counties of Warren and Washington, which overlap the Adirondack State Park.

Solomon said his measure was necessary because of the spectacular increases in the rattler population in wilderness areas of those counties since a bounty was eliminated in 1971.

He said a system of bounties had proven to be the only effective means of controlling the snakes, and that control was necessary for the health of the area's residents and the tourist industry in the area.

When the vote was taken, with the buzzing of the snake audible throughout the large assembly chamber, the measure was approved 100-15 and forwarded to the Senate.

Nation needs dose of nationalism--senator

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Something is wrong with the mood of America, according to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex. But given a "good dose of nationalism," he believes "the patient will recover."

"Wherever Americans gather these days, the meeting often turns into a diagnostic clinic examining the ill sof our sick society and discussing the prognosis for recovery," Bentsen said Sunday at Texas Christian University.

"Everyoe seems to agree that the patient is suffering from a loss of confidence, a loss of direction, a loss of national purpose sense or destiny. But no one has yet named the syndrome or specified a cure.

"I would like to suggest that the patient is suffering from an overdose of 'mea culpa' characterized by the tendency to take the blame for anything that goes wrong in the universe.

"But I think the patient will recover. We should concentrate on rebuilding the inner strength of what we once radiated—a strength we once shared with others in time of need....

"The prescription for now is a good dose of nationalism. We're not likely to forget that we are citizens of the world, but we must not forget first of all that we are citizens of the United States of America."

Woman booked for selling library books

LOS ANGELES (UPI) Sue Cohen, 24, is believed to be the first person ever arrested here for failing to return library books.

Miss Cohen pushed the tolerance of two library systems beyond the breaking point, police said, by allegedly failing to return $2,600 worth of books, borrowed from both the city and county libraries.

Investigators from the bunco squad said she checked out the books under aliases, replaced the covers, sandpapered off the library's identifying numbers and then sold the books.

Critic renews plea: pick chairman (not president) through Congress

NEW YORK (UPI) — Critic Dwight Macdonald has revived, in the May issue of Esquire, proposals he originally made in the October 1968 issue of the magazine calling for drastic revisions of the U.S. Constitution.

Macdonald said the publication's editors felt that his suggestions, which created no ripple when they first appeared, had now become "relevant" in various ways.

Macdonald would add Amendments 26 to 35 to the Constitution, radically altering our present structure of government. First, he would substitute for president of the United States an official with the title of chairman, who would be elected by a caucus of the members of the party with the most members in Congress. The chairman would serve for six years, or until his party lost a majority rule in Congress.

Macdonald's other proposed changes would include increasing the length of terms of members of the House from two to four years; giving grants of money from the federal Treasury to the poor; and appointing a tribune of the people for each congressional district, who would consider complaints about anything from anybody. With certain exceptions, all males between the ages of 18 and 30 could be drafted for terms of not more than two years in the armed forces or in nonmilitary work of social value.

Another amendment would name a council of history preservers with powers to forbid the alteration or destruction of any building or manmade object which it deems of historical or artistic importance, and a council of nature preservers which would protect the nation's natural phenomena.

Macdonald would limit the number of U.S. military employes stationed outside the nation's boundaries to not more than 0.25 per cent of the country's population. A larger number could be authorized as a temporary exception by a vote of four fifths of the members of the House and Senate. The nation's military budget could not exceed 3 per cent of the Gross National Product in any year.

In a move against the space program, it would be forbidden to transport anything or anybody more than 500 miles above the surface of the United States, until the gogernment certified that the number of citizens with incomes below adequate levels is less than 1 per cent of the population.

Finally, Macdonald would replace the present 50 states with new governmental units possessing the same powers and functions as the former states. These new units would be determined by a map revision committee appointed by the chairman, with the advice and consent of Congress and the Supreme Court, in such a way as to correspond to the nation's present economic, social and political geography.

Young men rob dying man on bus

DETROIT (UPI) — As Rudolph Kordich, the former president of Detroit's Serbian Orthdox Church, lay dying on a city bus, two young men on the vehicle reached over his slumped body and stole his wallet, containing $100.

Kordich, 57, died Saturday of an apparent heart attack while traveling from downtown to his home on the city's northeast side. He had been lay leader of his church for the last 17 years until poor health forced him to retire in January.

Police said a woman passenger tapped bus driver Sylvester Bryant on the shoulder and told him that "a man is having a seizure back there."

Police said another witness on the bus said Kordich's seizure occurred as two young men sitting nearby harassed him verbally.

They said the same men went through the stricken Kordich's clothing and took his wallet as he slumped to the floor of the bus. The suspects then got off the bus.

Dale Rice, 21, Detroit, was arrested on a second bus and charged with unarmed robbery. Police said the second suspect escaped but Kordich's empty wallet was found on the second bus.

Kordich's family Sunday said their doctor told them the heart attack might have been brought on by fear.

Kordich, who worked for Chrysler Corp. for 38 years until his retirement Jan. 29, was known to hundreds of Detroit Serbian families. He was one of the most active laymen in helping to build the $1 million Orthodox Church on the northeast side of Detroit.

"That church was his dream," said Karen Todorov, one of Kordich's five daughters.

Kordich presided last fall over the ceremonial burning of the church mortage and he retired from the presidency Jan. 1, feeling his work was done, she said.

His body was to lie in state at the church and funeral services were scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Court rejects NAACP appeal in bus suit

MEMPHIS, tenn. (UPI) — A 14-year legal battle over public school desegregation in Memphis apparently ended Monday with a Supreme Court rejection of an NAACP appeal for the busing of nearly 50,000 students.

The order upheld a ruling last December by the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati which noted that one-race schools are unavoidable in some situations "because minority groups concentrate in urban areas."

Memphis school officials said nearly 20,000 students, mostly white, fled the public school system for private schools after desegregation which resulted in the busing of more than 25,000 of the system's 120,000 children.

For Thursday, April 25

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will be a very unproductive day in the long run if you have too many irons in the fire at one time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're still a bit too loose about money matters. It's likely you'll be spending funds that haven't yet come in.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're not making as fine an impression as you're capable of on one whose opinion carries a lot of weight with others. Shape up!

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It won't take much to make you moody today. Bear this in mind when you get a slight rebuff from one you're fond of. Pass it off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) All is not as it appears where you and your friends are concerned. Be careful you're not drawn into something sticky.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Stay on top of obligations you have at this time. If you fail to come through or break your word, your image will suffer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You look to others to do things for you that you should be doing yourself. They won't appreciate buckpassing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're still going to have to be cautious in a situation where your interest intermingles with another's. Especially if possessions are involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're going to get a lot of static from your mate if you devote more time today to your outside activites than you should.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is one of those days when your self-discipline is very lax. Overindulgence in some manner is likely.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is not a time to let your impulses govern your actions. If they do, the pain you'll later feel will be in your purse.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Give your attention to cleaning up certain material obligations as best you can. Take positive measures now. You'll feel more secure.

James Roosevelt hits Douglas recollections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Roosevelt today disputed Justice William O. Douglas' recollections of White House pressure while chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) during the Roosevelt Administration.

Douglas tells in his new autobiography, "Go East, Young Man," how he felt compelled to tender his resignation soon after President Roosevelt's son, "Jimmy," had called at his office.

According to Douglas, the younger Roosevelt was speaking "a good word" for a man named Charles Schwartz, who had approached the SEC chairman earlier in an effort to act as an intermediary between the commission and the major electric power utilities at $100,000 a year for each.

"Jimmy soon came to my office, raising the roof," Douglas relates. "He said that any stupid fool would know that the only time Democrats could make money was when they were in power: 'What chance do we have when the Republicans take over?'"

Eventually Douglas went to the President, who when he heard the story "put his head on his arm and cried like a child for several minutes."

"Finally, wiping away his tears, he said with a faint smile, 'Jimmy! What a problem he is. Thanks for telling me. Now get back to your desk. Of course you're not resigning.'"

James Roosevelt, who is a businessman in Beverly Hills, Calif., when asked for comment, said he did not want to say "a bad word about Justice Douglas" but what Douglas recalls is "somewhat confused."

"I have no recollection of any such an incident," he said, adding that he was never in Douglas' office during the Justice's term as SEC chairman.

He said he knew a man named Charles Schwartz but that he was a Republican and that it would not have made sense to place him in the framework of the Douglas story.

"My father was not the sort of man who ever cried under any circumstances," he added. "I don't think there is a man or woman alive who ever saw him cry."

Sheriff's car kills boy, 5

EL MONTE (UPI) — A sheriff's patrol car struck and killed a 5-year-old boy Sunday when the child darted into the street in front of his home.

Norman Pacheco died at Baldwin Park Community Hospital.

Deputies said the patrol unit was traveling from 35 to 40 miles an hour when the boy ran into the street between two parked cars and into the path of the patrol unit.

Sgt. Robert Norman, driver of the patrol car, said he was responding to a disturbance call and was unable to avoid hitting the boy.

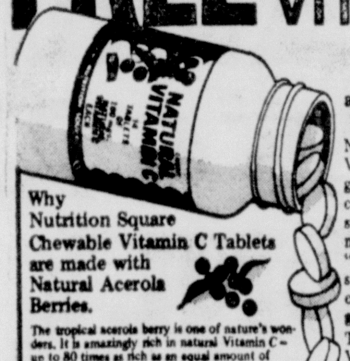
FREE Fruit-Flavored Chewable, Natural VITAMIN C



Taste it . . .
and enjoy the most delicious
and complete Vitamin C nutrition
that ever melted in your mouth!

Nutritional science knows that you need Vitamin C every day. It affects every single cell in your body. Yet your body can't store it. But, without a sufficient supply of Vitamin C, your body can't manufacture a special cement called "collagen" -- the cement that holds every single cell in the body together. So you can see how important it is to be sure of getting enough Vitamin C.

That's where Nutrition Square Natural Vitamin C with Acerola comes in. These new chewable Vitamin C tablets have such a wonderfully tangy true-fruit taste, people love to chew them like candy. Even kids who can't swallow pills will gladly chew their daily Nutrition Square Vitamin C with Acerola. They'll look forward to its melt-in-your-mouth goodness so much, they'll remind you to give it to them. (In fact, they'll probably ask for more -- but how many you give them is between you and your doctor.)

We're so sure that, once your family tastes Nutrition Square Natural Vitamin C with Acerola tablets, everyone in your family will insist on them . . . we're offering you this free taste test.

Just fill out the coupon and bring it in to any of the General Nutrition Centers listed here . . . and we'll give you your FREE 14-day supply.

Why Nutrition Square Chewable Vitamin C Tablets are made with Natural Acerola Berries.

The tropical acerola berry is one of nature's wonders. It is amazingly rich in natural Vitamin C -- up to 80 times as rich as an equal amount of orange juice. This concentrated C goodness adds a lot of taste pleasure, as well as nutritional value. And the tastiest way to get its benefits is in Nutrition Square chewable Vitamin C with Acerola tablets.
